FOREWORD

It is undisputed that domestic violence against women and girls remains one of the most extreme forms of gender inequality, a violation of human rights, and a development issue. Domestic violence against women and girls takes many forms, including physical, sexual, emotional, and economic. As a result, women and girls’ lives are endangered with negative consequences not only for them, but also for their households, their communities, and society as a whole. It is an epidemic that leads to girls dropping out of school and affects women’s ability to acquire more and better jobs; it increases absenteeism at work and limits mobility that hinder productivity and earnings. Altogether, domestic violence impedes women and girls from thriving, and takes away their voice, agency, rights and opportunities. This in turn affects every country’s growth and development.

The international community recognizes that domestic violence is an important development challenge, and strides have been made to support countries in acquiring the tools and resources needed to end it along with other forms of discriminatory practices. Twenty-five years ago, the United Nations Declaration on the Elimination of Violence Against Women first called upon States to adopt legislation which prohibits domestic violence and to provide legal protection to end all forms of violence and harmful practices against women and girls in public and private spheres. More recent efforts have called for stronger action to address the underlying structural causes that increase the risks of domestic violence.

The share of countries with laws on domestic violence increased from 70.9 percent to 75.9 percent thanks to legal reforms in seven countries over the last four years, but more remains to be done, as 49 countries still do not have specific laws against domestic violence. Laws are an important step that countries can and should take towards ending violence against women and girls. We must support and strengthen the tools and means to end domestic violence everywhere.

I am pleased to share the following Compendium of International and National Legal Frameworks on Domestic Violence. In it you will find international and regional instruments that address domestic violence, and national legislations adopted to prevent and prosecute such crimes. This is a practical online legal tool to empower those fighting domestic violence and help shape change for the elimination of domestic violence.

We hope this responds to the needs of all persons and professionals interested in this subject as well as those who work with and support women and girls affected or at risk.

INTRODUCTION, DISCLAIMER AND LIMITATIONS

Domestic Violence (DV) is a universal phenomenon that affects millions of women of all social strata worldwide. It is the most pervasive, common, underrecognized, underestimated and underreported type of violence against women. It reflects discriminatory social norms, stereotypes, impunity and gender inequality. It is all too often considered as a “private, family issue”, widely accepted and minimized although it impairs the full enjoyment of life and fundamental rights and freedoms by victims and survivors who are overwhelmingly women.

Domestic Violence (DV) is a development challenge and has a high economic and social cost, including health and medical costs, death, suicide, depression, lost productivity, lost income, psychological consequences and trauma, increased stress, reactive violence, reduced ability to study or find and hold a job, judicial and prison costs, economic insecurity and abuse, debt, housing instability, homelessness, inter alia. Beyond data and statistics, DV undermines autonomy and represents an enormous loss in terms of wellbeing not only for the women affected but also for the men who share their lives, for their children, their families and their societies.

The Compendium on International and National Legal Frameworks on Domestic Violence (the “Compendium”) provides a survey of the key international and regional instruments as well as national legislation as they relate to domestic violence.

In this Compendium, DV is understood and defined as gender-specific violence, commonly directed against women, occurring in the family and in interpersonal intimate relationships, and can encompass different types of abuse. As such, it includes legislation addressing DV as any type of violence (physical, sexual, psychological/emotional or financial/economic) committed by an intimate partner or family member. A number of countries have adopted legislation on DV against women specifically while others have not defined the gender of the victim or survivor.

The Compendium is a working document intended as a reference tool for anyone interested in the topic of DV – survivors, advocates, development practitioners, lawyers, policy makers, academics, among others. It does not constitute an exhaustive treatment of the legal framework on DV and may be updated from time to time.

The Compendium consists of topical chapters with jump links to source documents, such as United Nations conventions, regional treaties, and national legislations. It is based on information available online, offline or both, and relies on research conducted, verified and 1 Some research shows that DV costs USD 460 billion each year in the USA and USD 4.3 trillion internationally. The content of the Compendium does not necessarily reflect the views of the World Bank, its Board of Executive Directors, or the governments they represent. Furthermore, the World Bank does not guarantee the accuracy of the data included in this work.

The research on country-level DV legislation builds on the Women Business and the Law database and includes additional legislation found during the course and time-frame for compiling the research. The Compendium is limited to countries that have adopted specific laws or provisions addressing DV and includes legislation from almost 160 countries; as such, the absence of a country’s name may be due to the fact that no DV legislation has yet been enacted or that no information was available online.

Ending all forms of gender-based violence, including domestic violence, is a critical development objective and comprehensive legislation addressing DV is a key first step towards ensuring prevention and protection. It is also a sine qua non condition for any effective strategy to address the problem. Nonetheless, many countries worldwide have yet to adopt laws against DV, while many others have adopted legislation that fails to comprehensively offer protection for the different types of survivors and against the different forms of abuse.

4 Because it was developed primarily based on information publicly available online, the Compendium includes references to more than several hundred URLs and links to available treaties, laws and electronically published documents. All referenced URLs and links were verified and active at the time they were inserted. There is no guarantee as to their future accessibility nor as to the continued accuracy of the information contained therein after the last date on which they were last accessed and verified.

6 Specific provisions addressing DV may include those in domestic violence laws, criminal codes, or laws on gender-based violence or violence against women more generally, provided they address violence or abuse between spouses, within the family or members of the same household, or in interpersonal relationships, including intimate partner violence.

7 When legislative information was not available online but was found by the team of authors, these have been attached as annexes to the Compendium.

Law against Domestic Violence, 1997 (As amended)

Article 1. The provisions of this law are of public order, of mandatory observance and are intended to protect the physical, psychological, patrimonial and sexual integrity of women against any form of violence by their spouse, ex-spouse, partner, former cohabiting partner, or any relation of a couple regardless of cohabitation, including those in which there is, or there was, a sentimental relationship. The rights enshrined here are universal. Any act of discrimination and domestic violence against women will be sanctioned in accordance with this Law, the Inter-American Convention on the Prevention, Punishment and Eradication of Violence against Women, the International Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women and others that subscribe in the future on the subject.

Article 2. The State will adopt as a public policy the measures that are necessary to prevent, punish and ultimately eradicate domestic violence against women, therefore promote and implement, where appropriate, the commitments and policy guidelines which follow:

1. Promote and implement interrelated and global measures that include short and long-term solutions that contribute to the prevention and eradication of violence against women;
2. Provide assistance and immediate protection to women who suffer domestic violence, promoting the creation of new public services and strengthening existing ones;
3. Formulate, with the direct participation of local or municipal governments, governmental plans of action, which must be agreed with the different Honduran civil society organizations, welcoming their initiatives and recovering their experiences. These plans should be reviewed and evaluated periodically; and,
4. All the others that are necessary to guarantee the full enjoyment of the rights and freedoms of women.

Article 3. In the application of this law, the principles of: public action, gratuity, speed, secrecy, orality and informality will be observed.

Article 4. For the presentation of a complaint and imposition of security measures referred to in this law, the representation of a legal professional shall not be required; however, in the subsequent procedural substantiation, if the services of said professionals will be necessary. To guarantee assistance free of charge to the complainant, the institutions, whether public or private, that undertake programs or projects of legal aid to women affected by domestic violence, such as the Public Ministry, legal professionals of the family counsellors, or any state institution or non-governmental organization must assist and provide the appropriate legal services on any days and hours. Prosecutors in the course of trial proceedings will act on behalf of the affected party. For the purposes of this law, all witnesses are able to declare, and all days and hours are good for such actions. The applicable procedure shall be oral.

Article 5. For the purposes of this Law, it is understood as:

1. Domestic Violence: any pattern of behavior associated with a situation of unequal exercise of power that is manifested in the use of physical, psychological, patrimonial and / or economic, and sexual violence; and,
2. Unequal Power Exercise: Any behavior aimed at affecting, compromising or limiting the free development of the personality of women due to their gender.

The following are considered forms of domestic violence:

1. Physical violence: Any action or omission that produces damage or impairment to the physical integrity of the woman, not classified as an offense in the Penal Code;
2. Psychological Violence: Any action or omission with the purpose of degrading or controlling the actions, behaviors, beliefs and decisions of the woman, through intimidation, manipulation, direct or indirect threat, humiliation, isolation, confinement or any other conduct or omission that implies a detriment to the integral development or self-determination of the woman, or that causes emotional damage, diminishes the self-esteem, harms or disturbs the healthy development of the woman, through acts that discredit the woman or show contempt for her personal value or dignity, humiliating or harassing treatment, vigilance, isolation, insults, blackmail, degradation, ridicule, manipulation, exploitation or threatening to leave the children, among others;

3. Sexual Violence: any behavior involving threat or intimidation that affects the integrity of women, such as unwanted sexual relations, denial of contraception and protection, among others, provided that such actions are not criminalized in the Penal Code; and,

4. Patrimonial and / or Economic Violence: any act or omission that involves loss, transformation, denial, subtraction, destruction, retention of objects, personal documents, movable and / or immovable property, values, rights or economic resources destined to satisfy the needs of the woman or the family unit, including the impairment, reduction or denial that affects the woman's income or the breach of maintenance obligations.

Article 6. To protect or restore the rights of women who suffer from domestic violence, protection mechanisms will be established that consist of: security, precautionary and preventive measures.

1. Security Measures: Those that seek to prevent and stop violence in any of its manifestations and prevent greater harm. With the mere presentation of the complaint, they will be imposed ex officio by the competent court, the Public Prosecutor or the Secretary of State in the Security Office, through the National Police.

The security measures are the following:

a. Temporarily separate the defendant from the home shared with the complainant. The defendant may take only his personal belongings and work and / or study supplies. The safety, health and life of the victim will prevail over the right of the defendant to occupy the home;

b. Prohibit the defendant to pass by the home, workplace or places usually frequented by the complainant, so long as this measure does not interfere with the work or study relations of the defendant. To guarantee the execution of this measure, when the defendant's work place is located in the dwelling house that it shares with the complainant, the judge will impose the appropriate measures according to the specific circumstances, always guaranteeing the personal security of the victim;

c. Arrest for not more than twenty-four (24) hours of the accused caught in flagrante;

d. Prohibit the accused from carrying out acts of intimidation or harassment against the woman, any member of the family group or persons related to the complainant;

e. Retain immediately and temporarily weapons that are in the possession of the accused. The judge who hears the complaint may at any time order this measure. In all cases, the weapons seized must be handed over to the competent court and will be delivered:

   1. to the defendant, once the imposed measure is complied with and has expired, if the weapon is not prohibited and is legitimate owned by him. When the non-prohibited weapon does not have a current registration, it must be sent immediately to the Departmental Headquarters of the Preventive Police. The mere possession of a weapon, ammunition or explosive or prohibited object allows its confiscation and delivery to the Public Prosecutor; and,

   2. to his boss or employer, in the case of weapons related to the work of the accused, who must prove their legitimate property and take responsibility for compliance with the measures dictated by the judge to prevent the defendant from having such weapons in his possession outside of working hours. The arms seized and not claimed, once the instance has expired, must be sent to the evidence warehouse of the Public Prosecutor.

f. The Secretary of State in the Security Office may deny, suspend or cancel permits to carry firearms when they are used in acts of domestic violence;

g. Return to the domicile at the request of the woman who had to leave it for reasons of her personal safety or that of the family unit, as well as restitution of her property or of the household, by immediately imposing the measure established in subsection a) of this paragraph, so long as the complainant does not object;

h. Enter or search the domicile without any warrant in case of flagrancy, or by court order where the defendant fails to comply with the measure established in subparagraph a) of this numeral; flagrancy consists of stopping the person at the time of committing the act to avoid greater harm;

i. When the woman is forced to leave the home she shares with the defendant for safety reasons, she may take with her those goods that guarantee her well-being and that of the family group; and,

j. The institutions that know about the complaint must send the affected woman to a safe home. The State, through the National Institute of Women (INAM), the State Secretariat within the Interior and Justice Offices, and the municipal authorities commit to establish temporary shelters and safe housing, in order to provide immediate protection to women affected by domestic violence and their dependent children.

The Courts, the Public Prosecutor’s Office and the Police will inform the corresponding police post or station about the measures taken in order to give immediate assistance to the affected woman.

When the security measures are imposed by the Public Prosecutor or the National Police, these institutions must send the proceedings to the competent court within twenty-four (24) hours;

2. Precautionary Measures: These measures are aimed at preventing the recurrence of domestic violence through the re-education of the accused and the strengthening of the woman's self-esteem. They are as follows:
a) Provide the mandatory referral of the accused to services for his reeducation, which will be provided by the nearest family counselor trained in gender perspective, or any natural or legal person trained in this type of care as authorized by the Secretary of State in the Health Office; and,
b) Arrange for the referral of the woman and, where appropriate, of her close family, to family counseling or any other entity in accordance with the previous paragraph.

The family counselor or person authorized to provide this type of care must report monthly on compliance with the same and issue a mandatory opinion on behavioral changes to the court that imposed the measure. Non-compliance will be understood as the absence of the accused to two (2) sessions, without the existence of a fortuitous event or force majeure duly verified. The above provisions require the employer to grant their employees the respective permits in order to strictly comply with the measures imposed by the competent court, without causing any work prejudice to the employee.

3. Precautionary Measures: These are intended to ensure compliance with the family responsibilities of the accused and will be exclusively imposed by the competent judge or court in cases that are submitted directly or by referral. They may dictate one or more of the followings:

a) Establish ex officio a provisional alimony, whose amount will correspond to the alimentary needs. The determination of this amount will take into account not only the official income of the accused, but also his lifestyle, in accordance with the provisions of the Family Code. The alimony must be paid in advance by daily, weekly, bi-weekly or monthly installments as appropriate in the court that imposes the measure, or in any other place so long as compliance is guaranteed. Failure to comply with this measure, prior to the imposition of the corresponding penalty, will require the defendant to pay or consign before the court the alimony due within a period of twenty-four (24) hours. Depending on the case, the corresponding provisional embargo must be carried out;
b) Give the affected person the custody and provisional care of minor dependent children. However, this may be granted to third persons at the request of the mother. When appropriate, a special visiting regime for the father may be established; and,
c) Attribute to the woman the use and provisional enjoyment of the family home and the household. To guarantee this measure, both partners will be prohibited from disposing, through acts or contracts, of the real estate that has been acquired during the relationship, even if the latter has been registered in the name of only one of them and when such property is duly accredited. For this purpose, the competent Court will issue urgent notification or communication to the Registry of Real and Commercial Property, to the corresponding public or private entity, such as patronages, cooperatives, municipalities or municipal corporations, PROLOTE, FONAPROVI, INJUMPEP, INPREMA, or others, so that in a term not exceeding forty-eight (48) hours, the precautionary measure imposed will be faithfully and strictly complied with. In these cases, the entries in the Property Registry will be exempt from any type of tax. The performance of acts and contracts on movable property, as well as the latter’s movement from the common residence to any other place is prohibited. The woman who, for her own convenience and upon her own request, leaves the common home is exempted from this prohibition. In this case, she can take those goods that guarantee her well-being and that of the family group, and the judge, accompanied by an acting secretary, will make an inventory of said assets, both at the time of issuing the measure and of suspending it.

The precautionary measures may be imposed without prejudice to the right of the complainant to promote actions of the accused directed at guaranteeing permanently his family responsibilities.

The protection mechanisms cannot be appealed against.

These mechanisms are temporary; they shall not last less than two (2), nor more than six (6) months. The precautionary measures will have a duration of two (2) months for women and three (3) months for men, without prejudice to extend its duration according to the diagnosis issued by the respective family counselor. The competent court, ex officio or at the request of the complaining party, may extend for two (2) months, and only once, one or more of the security and precautionary measures where it deems it appropriate. At any time, the judge may modify the protection mechanisms imposed.

Article 7. The aggressor who, under the terms of this act, commits acts of domestic violence without actually causing damages classified as crimes in the Penal Code, shall be punished as follows:
1. With the rendering of services to the community for the term of one (1) to three (3) months, when the complaint is declared with place; and,
2. With the rendering of services to the community for one (1) to three (3) months for non-compliance with one or more of the protection mechanisms imposed, without prejudice to the penalty that may be incurred for the offense of disobedience to authority.

The provision of services to the community must consist of a profession, trade or work activity different from that ordinarily performed by the defendant and will be equivalent to a day of two (2) hours, which may be performed during working or non-working hours. However, it may in any case accumulate days to be completed in non-working hours of the respective week, provided that the nature of community service so allows.

In order to guarantee compliance with what is stated in the previous paragraph, the competent court will be required to send to the corresponding Municipal City Hall the list of the persons sanctioned the first five (5) days of each month. Likewise, the Article 6. The judge who receives the complaint will impose the corresponding sanction according to Article 7, paragraph 1 of this law. In this case, the imposed security measures may be extended only once as a result of the risk assessment prepared by the specialist that deals with the case, without need for one or both members of the couple to request it. If domestic violence persists on both sides, the competent judge or court, in accordance with the law, will impose, if they live under the same roof, the temporary ban from the common home of one of the members of the couple, preferably the man, in order to prevent the coexistence from degenerating into more severe violence. This will not exceed six (6) months, during which both parties will decide on the convenience, or not, of maintaining the relationship. This agreement will be communicated jointly to the court that imposed the measure.

Article 11. Whoever is subjected to one or more of the security measures imposed, will be sanctioned in accordance with the provisions of Article 7 of this law.

Article 12. A judge or execution judge will oversee and control implementation of the protective mechanisms, extension of measures and sanctions imposed by the courts. This will oversee the faithful implementation of the resolutions, and will impose the corresponding sanctions in case of breach of protection mechanisms. Where there is no judge or execution judge, this responsibility will be attributed to the judge of the case. The judge who receives the complaint will impose the corresponding sanction according to Article 7, paragraph 1 of this law. These officials will be responsible for referral of the proceedings to the Public Prosecutor in case of non-compliance with the measures imposed and / or in case of a crime.

Article 13. Special jurisdictions of domestic violence that will apply the provisions of this law, and will work through the specialized courts and tribunals in different regions of the country according to specific requirements, are hereby created. Pending creation of the specialized Courts and Tribunals, the Family Courts, the Departmental or Sectional Courts, and the Peace Courts will have jurisdiction. In this case, the corresponding Courts of Appeals will have jurisdiction.

Article 14. In accordance with Article 6 above, both the Public Prosecutor and the Secretary of State in the Security Office must impose security measures and refer the case to the corresponding courts within twenty-four (24) hours after its reception. Appropriate levels of coordination must be established between the competent Court, the Secretary of State in the Security Office and the Public Prosecutor's Office in order to guarantee that attention will be provided twenty-four (24) hours a day.
Article 15. Non-governmental organizations and the National Commissioner of Human Rights shall remit those cases that come to their knowledge, within the same period indicated in the preceding article, to the competent court according to Article 11, or failing that to the Public Prosecutor or the Secretary of State in the Security Office. These organizations may suggest the imposition of the protection mechanisms deemed necessary.

Article 16. A domestic violence complaint may be filed by:
1. The woman directly affected;
2. Any member of the family group;
3. Any civil servant, public or professional employee who, for reasons of his position, has contact with the woman directly affected or with some of the members of her family group;
4. State institutions and non-governmental organizations that assume the defense of the fundamental rights of women and that, in general, address family and human rights issues, and;
5. Anyone who knows about the case.
The complaint may be presented orally or in writing.

Article 17. Doctors, pharmacists, dentists, medical or odontology students, nurses, paramedics, midwives and others related to the exercise of psychological professions, jobs or techniques related to health, have the obligation to record and report acts of domestic violence against women of which they have become aware in the exercise of their professions.

Article 18. The security measures that are dictated must be notified, preferably, personally to the accused. These notifications will be carried out by the secretary or registrar of the court who will read the decision, in full, to the defendant and will hand over to him, if requested, a verbatim copy of such decision, signed by the notifier. This will be mentioned in the decision, along with the place, date and time of notification. The notification will be made at the address or work place of the defendant, as indicated by the complainant. If it is not possible to personally notify the defendant at home, the notification will be considered as made when delivered to any person who is more than fourteen (14) years old, or posted at the door of the house, if no one is found or they have refuse to receive it. The latter procedure will be mentioned in the documents and will be signed by the notifier and by the person receiving the notification. This notification will have the effect of a summon by informing the defendant of the date on which the hearing will be held in the court competent to hear the complaint; [the defendant] must also be informed that he may, if so wishes, appear accompanied by a legal professional. Notifications to the accused will not imply costs for the complainant.

Article 19. For the ratification or modification of security measures, and the imposition of precautionary and preventive measures, the competent court shall hold a hearing within the following twenty-four (24) hours. No extension of this period will be granted. Judges who hear other cases should give priority to complaints of domestic violence. This hearing will be presided personally by the judge who has knowledge about the case. The hearing will be held with the appearance of the complainant and the accused. In this hearing, the parties will expose, in their order, their requests. When the facts are disputed, the relevant evidence will be admitted and examined within the same hearing and, where this cannot be done, the hearing must be suspended and shall continue within the next two (2) business days. No extension of this period will be granted. Every witness can testify according to the terms of Article 4, second paragraph, of this law. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the hearing will be considered valid with the sole appearance of the complainant, under the presumption that the defendant accepts the facts and the protection mechanisms that are imposed on him. Where the defendant does not appear, all the protection mechanisms that are deemed appropriate will be imposed in the same hearing, and a final judgment will be issued. In this case, police support will be required to compel the appearance of the accused at a later hearing, which will be held when this is taken to court by the national police. This hearing will be held for the sole purpose of informing [the accused] of the protection mechanisms imposed and the final judgment issued at the hearing that was held with the sole appearance of the complainant. No hearing will be held if only the defendant appears. If the complainant does not appear at the hearing indicated by the court, judge may order that within a period not exceeding one (1) month the necessary investigative measures be taken to determine the cause of this withdrawal. Once ascertained the abandonment of the case and after six (6) months from the last procedure, the withdrawal of the complaint will be declared. The judge shall draw up the minutes of the hearing, which shall be signed by the parties or only by the complainant, and a final judgment shall be issued [at that time] or within a term not exceeding three (3) days if the facts were disputed.
In case the complaint takes place, a decision will be issued imposing the sanction according to article 7, paragraph 1) of this law.

Article 20- The appeal shall be granted only in the devolutive effect and shall be included in the act of notification of the final judgment, in which case the secretary shall deliver it with that act, or within three (3) days following appearance before the court that hears the complaint.

The appeal against orders must be filed with the act of notification [of the judgment], or the day after this, by appearing before the court that knows the complaint, and be granted without suspensive effect.

Article 20-A For purposes of determining the prevalence of domestic violence against women in our society, evaluate the results of this law and mainstream statistical control, the Public Prosecutor, the State Secretaries in the Health and Safety Offices, and all public institutions linked to domestic violence assistance, as well as non-governmental organizations and the courts in charge of implementing the law, will use the measurement and control instruments designed and provided by the National Institute for Women (INAM). All entities will send every semester the information to the National Institute for Women (INAM), who must establish procedures to maintain updated statistics.

Article 20-B. The National Institute for Women (INAM), will be responsible for coordinating policies directed to women and, in coordination with public and private entities linked to this topic, will design a policy and national action plan to address domestic violence against women, as well as plan the execution of actions aimed at eradicating these behaviors in the Honduran society. The national [action] plan shall contain educational measures, research, comprehensive medical, psychological, legal and social attention to those attacked, sensitization and training for judges, police, officials and employees of different public or private institutions that are involved in the prevention, punishment [of domestic violence], as well as the protection of women who suffer [from it].

For the purposes of dissemination of the scope and objectives of this law, the action plan should involve social communicators, promoting new forms of mass communication that delegitimize violence of all kinds against women, disseminate the positive contribution and image of women and that, generally, help to establish new relationships between the sexes. The National Institute for Women (INAM) will conclude agreements with legally recognized non-governmental organizations that offer shelters, as well as legal and emotional support to women affected by domestic violence.

Article 21. The Public Prosecutor and the Secretary of State in the Security Office shall be competent to monitor the execution and compliance with the security measures they impose, this obligation ceasing with the hearing that will be held by the relevant court.

Likewise, the court is responsible for the execution and enforcement of the measures imposed, and must request police assistance, if necessary.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, the burden of proof of compliance with the measures imposed will fall on the accused. This must be monitored by those who have competence to demand compliance with the measures.

Article 22. If those who need to implement the law establish that an act of domestic violence, that was brought to their knowledge, constitutes a criminal offense, they shall immediately transmit the acts to the Public Prosecutor’s office, by creating a report of the proceedings in order to impose other protective mechanisms where needed.

Article 23. Without prejudice to the basic procedural principles already established in this law, women affected by domestic violence shall have the right to:

1. demand the assistance of the National Police, in any circumstance where their personal safety or that of the family group is threatened;
2. demand the assistance of the National Police, by judicial order, to execute what is established in Article 6, number 1), paragraph h) of this law;
3. be respected in the course of the interrogation;
4. be attended to, following an opinion by the Forensic Medicine Directorate, when referred to it by the Public Prosecutor or the competent court, or by any of the institutions equally competent to impose security measures;
5. not to be subject to inadequate or unnecessary medical or psychological expertise;
6. not to be subject to confrontation with the accused, if not in [adequate] emotional conditions for it;

ARTICLE 140. Carnal knowledge with a person of either sex through violence, or threat to cause a serious and imminent harm to the passive subject, his/her spouse or cohabitant, or to one of his/her relatives within the fourth degree of consanguinity, or second of affinity, constitutes the crime of violation. Special cases of violation exist when carnal knowledge with a person of either sex occurs in any of the following circumstances:
1) the victim is less than fourteen (14) and more than twelve (12) years old;
2) the victim is deprived of mental capacity, will or, for any other reason, is unable to resist.
Anyone who intentionally drugs or intoxicates a person in order to violate her will incur in the same penalty;
3) when the perpetrator is in charge of the custody or guardianship of the victim, and uses his condition of authority to have access to her; and,
4) when the perpetrator pretends to be someone else.
The perpetrator of the crime of violation will be punished with imprisonment from nine (9) to thirteen (13) years. If the victim is under twelve (12), or over seventy (70) years old, or if the violation is committed by more than one person, or by a recidivist, the penalty shall be fifteen (15) to twenty (20) years.
The penalty referred to in the previous paragraph will also apply to those who knowingly carry the Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome / Human Immunodeficiency Virus (AIDS /HIV), or an incurable contagious disease, commit the violation. For the purposes of this provision, carnal access will be understood as having vaginal, anal or oral access.

ARTICLE 179-A. Whoever uses force, intimidation, or persecutes his or her spouse, or ex-spouse, or the person with whom he or she cohabits, or has or with whom he has procreated a child, with the aim of causing physical or emotional harm or damaging property, will be punished with imprisonment from one (1) to three (3) years, without prejudice to the penalty corresponding to the injuries or damages caused. The same penalty shall apply when the violence is exercised over the common children, or over the children of the aforementioned persons who are subject to their parental authority, or over the minor or incapacitated subject to guardianship or care, or over the ascendants.

ARTICLE 179-B. Whoever mistreats a spouse, ex-spouse, cohabitant or ex-cohabitant, or the person with whom he has procreated a child, in any of the following circumstances:

a) Enters the dwelling of the victim or the place where she is housed or installed to commit the act;
b) Infers serious bodily harm;
c) Performs the action with a deadly weapon even if there was no intent to kill or mutilate;
d) Acts in the presence of minors;
e) Induces, incites or obliges the person to consume drugs, narcotics or other psychotropic or intoxicating substances;
f) Also mistreats a minor; and

Will be punished with imprisonment between two (2) to four (4) years.

The provisions of this Article shall be understood without prejudice to the penalty that corresponds to other crimes committed.

ARTICLE 179-C. Notwithstanding what is established in article 15 of the Code of Criminal Procedures, the crimes contemplated in this Chapter and in the previous one will be of public action.

(ii)(where the specified minor resides with the respondent) the minor to enter and remain in the common residence of the minor and the respondent or in a specified part of such common residence, whether or not any other relief is being sought in the proceedings.

(1A) A court may in an injunction containing a provision mentioned in subsection (1)(a) or (b) include a provision requiring the respondent to participate in any programme, approved by the Director of Social Welfare, that is aimed at changing the attitude and behaviour that lead to the granting of such injunction. (Added 17 of 2008 s. 4)

(2) In exercising its power to grant an injunction containing a provision mentioned in subsection (1)(c) or (d) the District Court shall have regard to the conduct of the parties, both in relation to each other and otherwise, to their respective needs and financial resources, to the needs of any specified minor and to all the circumstances of the case.

(3)(Repealed 18 of 2009 s. 6)

(3A. Power of District Court to grant injunction: other relatives

1 (1) The District Court may, on an application made by a person, if satisfied that the applicant has been molested by a relative of the applicant, grant an injunction against that relative. (Amended 18 of 2009 s. 7)

(2) In subsection (1), “relative” means—
(a) the applicant’s father, mother, grandfather or grandmother (whether natural or adoptive);
(b) the applicant’s step-father, step-mother, step-grandfather or step-grandmother;
(c) the applicant’s father-in-law or mother-in-law who is the natural parent, adoptive parent or step-parent of the applicant’s spouse;

(i) the applicant’s brother or sister (whether of full or half blood or by virtue of adoption);
(j) the brother or sister (whether of full or half blood or by virtue of adoption) of the applicant’s spouse;
(k) the applicant’s step-brother or step-sister;
(l) the step-brother or step-sister of the applicant’s spouse;
(m) the applicant’s uncle, aunt, nephew, niece or cousin (whether of full or half blood or by virtue of adoption);
(n) the uncle, aunt, nephew, niece or cousin (whether of full or half blood or by virtue of adoption) of the applicant’s spouse; or
(o) the spouse of any person mentioned in paragraph (i), (j), (k), (l), (m) or (n).

(3) A minor who applies for an injunction under subsection (1) shall apply by his next friend.

(4) Subject to section 6, an injunction granted under subsection (1) may, whether or not any other relief is being sought in the proceedings, contain any or all of the following provisions—
(a) a provision restraining the respondent from molesting the applicant;
(b) a provision prohibiting the respondent from entering or remaining in—
(i) the residence of the applicant;
(ii) a specified part of the residence of the applicant;
(iii) a specified area whether or not the residence of the applicant is in that area, whether or not the residence is the common residence of the applicant and the respondent;
(iv) (where the applicant resides with the respondent) a provision requiring the respondent to permit the applicant to enter and remain in—
(i) the common residence of the applicant and the respondent; or
(ii) a specified part of such common residence.

(5) A court may in an injunction containing a provision mentioned in subsection (4)(a) include a provision requiring the respondent to participate in any programme, approved by the Director of Social Welfare, that is aimed at changing the attitude and behaviour that lead to the granting of such injunction.

(6) In exercising its power to grant an injunction containing a provision mentioned in subsection (4)(b) or (c), the District Court shall have regard to—
(a) (where the applicant resides with the respondent) who has—
(i) the legal or beneficial interest in; or
(ii) a contractual or legal right to occupy, the common residence of the applicant and the respondent; (b) where the applicant resides with the respondent) the impact of the injunction on the relationship between the applicant, the respondent and their other family members who reside with them; (c) the conduct of the applicant and the respondent, both in relation to each other and otherwise; (d) the respective needs and financial resources of the applicant and the respondent; and (e) all the circumstances of the case.

(Added 17 of 2008 s. 5)

3B. Power of District Court to grant injunction: cohabitants and former cohabitants

(1) On an application by a party to a cohabitation relationship, the District Court, if it is satisfied that the applicant or a specified minor has been molested by the other party to the cohabitation relationship and subject to section 6, may grant an injunction containing any or all of the following provisions— (a) a provision restraining the respondent from molesting the applicant; (b) a provision restraining the respondent from molesting the specified minor; (c) a provision prohibiting the respondent— (i) where the applicant has been molested by the respondent) from entering or remaining in— (A) the residence of the applicant; (B) a specified part of the residence of the applicant; or (C) a specified area whether or not the residence of the applicant is in that area, whether or not the residence is the common residence of the applicant and the respondent; (ii) where the specified minor has been molested by the respondent) from entering or remaining in— (A) the residence of the specified minor; (B) a specified part of the residence of the minor; or (C) a specified area whether or not the residence of the minor is in that area, whether or not the residence is the common residence of the minor and the respondent; (d) a provision requiring the respondent to permit— (i) where the applicant resides with the respondent) the applicant to enter and remain in the common residence of the applicant and the respondent or in a specified part of such common residence; or (ii) where the specified minor resides with the respondent) the minor to enter and remain in the common residence of the minor and the respondent or in a specified part of such common residence, whether or not any other relief is being sought in the proceedings.

(2) In determining whether 2 persons ("the parties") are in a cohabitation relationship, the court shall have regard to all the circumstances of the relationship including but not limited to any of the following factors that may be relevant in the particular case— (a) whether the parties are living together in the same household; (b) whether the parties share the tasks and duties of their daily lives; (c) whether there is stability and permanence in the relationship; (d) the arrangement of sharing of expenses or financial support, and the degree of financial dependence or interdependence, between the parties; (e) whether there is a sexual relationship between the parties; (f) whether the parties share the care and support of a specified minor; (g) the parties’ reasons for living together, and the degree of mutual commitment to a shared life; (h) whether the parties conduct themselves towards friends, relatives or other persons as parties to a cohabitation relationship, and whether the parties are so treated by their friends and relatives or other persons.

(3) A court may in an injunction containing a provision mentioned in subsection (1)(a) or (b) include a provision requiring the respondent to participate in any programme, approved by the Director of Social Welfare, that is aimed at changing the attitude and behaviour that have led to the granting of the injunction.

(4) In exercising its power to grant an injunction containing a provision mentioned in subsection (1)(c) or (d), the District Court shall have regard to the conduct of the parties, both in relation to each other and otherwise, to their respective needs and financial resources, to the needs of any specified minor and to all the circumstances of the case.

(Added 18 of 2009 s. 8)

4. Court of First Instance may exercise powers of District Court in certain cases

The Court of First Instance may exercise the powers conferred on the District Court under section 3, 3A or 3B— (Amended 17 of 2008 s. 6; 18 of 2009 s. 9) (a) in a case of urgency; or (b) where the Court of First Instance is satisfied that special circumstances are present which make it appropriate for the Court of First Instance rather than the District Court to exercise those powers.

5. Arrest for breach of order
*(1) Where a court grants, pursuant to section 3, 3A or 3B, or pursuant to any other power upon an application made by a party to a marriage against the other party to the marriage, an injunction containing— *(Amended 18 of 2009 s. 10)
   (a) a provision restraining any person from using violence against another person ("protected person"); or
   (b) a provision prohibiting any person from entering or remaining in any premises or area, the court may, subject to subsection (1A) and section 6, attach to the injunction an authorization of arrest in the prescribed form.
the court may, subject to subsection (1A) and section 6, attach to the injunction an authorization of arrest in the prescribed form. *(Replaced 17 of 2008 s. 7)

*(1A) A court shall not attach under subsection (1) an authorization of arrest to an injunction granted against a person unless—
   (a) it is satisfied that the person has caused actual bodily harm to the protected person; or
   (b) it reasonably believes that the person will likely cause actual bodily harm to the protected person. *(Added 17 of 2008 s. 7)

*(1B) An authorization of arrest may be attached under subsection (1) to an injunction—
   (a) at the time the injunction is granted; or
   (b) at any time during the validity period of the injunction. *(Added 17 of 2008 s. 7)

(2) Where under subsection (1) an authorization of arrest is attached to an injunction a police officer may arrest without warrant any person whom he reasonably suspects of being in breach of the injunction by reason of that person’s use of violence or, as the case may be, his entry into or remaining in any premises or area specified in the injunction, and the police officer shall have all necessary powers including the power of entry by the use of reasonable force to effect that arrest.

(3) Where a person is arrested under subsection (2) he shall—
   (a) be brought—
      (i) in the case of an authorization of arrest attached under subsection (1) to an injunction by the Court of First Instance, before the Court of First Instance; and
      (ii) in the case of an authorization of arrest attached under that subsection to an injunction by the District Court, before the District Court, before the expiry of the day after the day of his arrest; and
   (b) not be released within the period referred to in paragraph (a) except on the direction of the Court of First Instance or of the District Court, as the case may be, but nothing in this section shall authorize his detention at any time after the expiry of the period mentioned in paragraph (a).

(4) Section 71 of the Interpretation and General Clauses Ordinance (Cap. 1) shall not apply to this section except in so far as that section applies to a gale warning day or black rainstorm warning day. *(Amended 25 of 1998 s. 2; 17 of 2008 s. 7)

[Editorial Note: * This section was amended by section 7 of the Domestic Violence (Amendment) Ordinance 2008 (17 of 2008). The saving provision contained in section 18 of that Amendment Ordinance reads as follows—
   “18. Saving provision
   A power of arrest attached to an injunction under section 5(1) of the Domestic Violence Ordinance (Cap. 189) before the commencement# of this Ordinance shall, upon such commencement, be regarded for all purposes as an authorization of arrest attached under that section as amended by this Ordinance.” Commencement date: 1 August 2008.]

6. Limitations as regards injunctions and authorizations of arrest*
(1) A provision mentioned in section 3(1)(c) or (d), 3A(4)(b) or (c) or 3B(1)(c) or (d) contained in an injunction granted under section 3, 3A or 3B shall have effect for a period, not exceeding 24 months, as the court considers appropriate. *(Replaced 17 of 2008 s. 8)
(2) An authorization of arrest attached under section 5(1) to an injunction shall—
   (a) have effect for a period, not exceeding 24 months, as the court considers appropriate; and
   (b) expire upon the expiry of the validity period of the injunction. *(Replaced 17 of 2008 s. 8)
(3) Nothing in this Ordinance authorizes a court, on an application by a party to a cohabitation relationship— *(Amended 18 of 2009 s. 11)
   (a) to grant an injunction containing a provision mentioned in section 3B(1)(c) or (d); or
   (b) to attach to an injunction an authorization of arrest under section 5(1), unless the court is satisfied that having regard to the permanence of the cohabitation relationship it is appropriate in all the circumstances to grant that injunction or attach that authorization of arrest. *(Amended 17 of 2008 s. 8)

[Editorial Note: * (Amended 17 of 2008 s. 8)]
7. Court may extend injunctions and authorizations of arrest
(1) Subject to subsection (4), a court may, on an application—
   (a) extend the validity period of an injunction granted under section 3, 3A or 3B that contains a provision mentioned in section 3(1)(c) or (d), 3A(4)(b) or (c) or 3B(1)(c) or (d); or (Amended 18 of 2009 s. 12)
   (b) where an authorization of arrest is attached under section 5(1) to the injunction, extend the validity period of the authorization of arrest, for such further period as the court considers appropriate.
(2) The court may extend an injunction or an authorization of arrest under subsection (1) only during the validity period of the injunction concerned.
(3) An application under subsection (1) may be made by—
   (a) the applicant of the injunction concerned;
   (b) where the applicant of the injunction concerned is a minor) the minor applying by his next friend.
(4) The validity period of an injunction or an authorization of arrest may not be extended under subsection (1) beyond the second anniversary of the date on which the injunction was granted.

7A. Court may vary or suspend custody or access order
(1) If—
   (a) a court grants, under section 3, 3A or 3B, an injunction containing a provision mentioned in section 3(1)(c), 3A(4)(b) or 3B(1)(c) that concerns a minor; and (Amended 18 of 2009 s. 13)
   (b) at the time the court determines the application for the injunction, there is in force—
      (i) a court order that grants the custody of the minor to the respondent to the injunction; or
      (ii) a court order that allows the respondent to the injunction to have access to the minor, the court may vary or suspend the court order in such manner as the court considers necessary for giving effect to the provision.
(2) In subsection (1)(b), “court order” (法庭命令) means—
   (a) in relation to the application of subsection (1) to the District Court, an order made by the District Court; and
   (b) in relation to the application of subsection (1) to the Court of First Instance, an order made by the Court of First Instance or the District Court.
(3) In considering varying or suspending a court order under subsection (1), the court shall—
   (a) regard the welfare of the minor as the first and paramount consideration; and
   (b) in having such regard, give due consideration to—
      (i) the wishes of the minor if, having regard to the age and understanding of the minor and to the circumstances of the case, it is practicable to do so; and
      (ii) any material information, including any report of the Director of Social Welfare available to the court at the hearing.
(4) If a court order is varied under subsection (1), the order shall, notwithstanding any other Ordinance or rule of law, have effect subject to such variation.
(5) A variation of a court order under subsection (1) in respect of an injunction shall be signified by attaching to the injunction a copy of the order endorsed with the particulars of the variation.
(6) A variation or suspension of a court order made in respect of an injunction shall cease to have effect upon the expiry of the validity period of the injunction.

8. Rules of practice and procedure
The Chief Justice may make rules for the purposes of this Ordinance in respect of the following matters—
   (a) the hearing and determination of applications under this Ordinance;
   (b) forms to be used in connection with any application or order under this Ordinance;
   (c) the service of documents;
   (d) the attendance of parties;
   (e) the release on bail of persons arrested under an authorization of arrest attached, under section 5(1), to an injunction; and (Amended 17 of 2008 s. 11)
   (f) the transfer of proceedings commenced in the Court of First Instance from the Court of First Instance to the District Court and of proceedings commenced in the District Court from the District Court to the Court of First Instance. (Amended 25 of 1998 s. 2)

9. Saving as to existing jurisdiction
The powers conferred under this Ordinance shall be in addition to and not in derogation from the powers of the Court of First Instance and the District Court.
10. Injunctions not to be registered
An injunction containing a provision mentioned in section 3(1)(c) or (d), 3A(4)(b) or (c) or 3B(1)(c) or (d) shall not be registered under the Land Registration Ordinance (Cap. 128).

11. Powers of the court to be exercised by a judge
(1) The powers conferred by this Ordinance on the Court of First Instance shall be exercised by a judge. (Amended 25 of 1998 s. 2)
(2) The powers conferred by this Ordinance on the District Court shall be exercised by a District Judge.

Crimes Ordinance, 1971

17. Interpretation
117 (1A) For the purposes of this Part a person does an unlawful sexual act if, and only if, that person—
(a) has unlawful sexual intercourse;
(b) commits buggery or an act of gross indecency with a person of the opposite sex with whom that person may not have lawful sexual intercourse; or
(c) commits buggery or an act of gross indecency with a person of the same sex. (Added 90 of 1991 s. 2)
(1B) For the avoidance of doubt, it is declared that for the purposes of sections 118, 119, 120 and 121 and without affecting the generality of any other provisions of this Part, unlawful sexual intercourse (非法性交、非法的性交) does not exclude sexual intercourse that a man has with his wife. (Added 23 of 2002 s. 11)

118. Rape
(1) A man who rapes a woman shall be guilty of an offence and shall be liable on conviction on indictment to imprisonment for life. [cf. 1956 c. 69 s. 1 U.K.]
(2) A man who induces a married woman to have sexual intercourse with him by impersonating her husband commits rape.
(3) A man commits rape if—
(a) he has unlawful sexual intercourse with a woman who at the time of the intercourse does not consent to it; and
(b) at that time he knows that she does not consent to the intercourse or he is reckless as to whether she consents to it. [Added 25 of 1978 s. 3] [cf. 1976 c. 82 s. 1(1) U.K.]
(4) It is hereby declared that if at a trial for a rape offence the jury has to consider whether a man believed that a woman was consenting to sexual intercourse, the presence or absence of reasonable grounds for such a belief is a matter to which the jury is to have regard, in conjunction with any other relevant matters, in considering whether he so believed. [Added 25 of 1978 s. 3] [cf. 1976 c. 82 s. 1(2) U.K.]
(5) In relation to such a trial as is mentioned in subsection (4) which is a trial in the District Court or a summary trial before a magistrate or in a juvenile court, references to the jury in that subsection shall be construed as references to the District Court, the magistrate or the juvenile court, as the case may be. (Added 25 of 1978 s. 3) [cf. 1976 c. 82 s. 7(3) U.K.]

(q) “respondent” means any adult male person who is, or has been, in a domestic relationship with the aggrieved person and against whom the aggrieved person has sought any relief under this Act: Provided that an aggrieved wife or female living in a relationship in the nature of a marriage may also file a complaint against a relative of the husband or the male partner.
(r) “service provider” means an entity registered under sub-section (1) of section 10;
(s) “shared household” means a household where the person aggrieved lives or at any stage has lived in a domestic relationship either singly or along with the respondent and includes such a household whether owned or tenanted either jointly by the aggrieved person and the respondent, or owned or tenanted by either of them in respect of which either the aggrieved person or the respondent or both jointly or singly have any right, title, interest or equity and includes such a household which may belong to the joint family of which the respondent is a member, irrespective of whether the respondent or the aggrieved person has any right, title or interest in the shared household.
(t) “shelter home” means any shelter home as may be notified by the State Government to be a shelter home for the purposes of this Act.

CHAPTER II - DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

3. Definition of domestic violence.
For the purposes of this Act, any act, omission or commission or conduct of the respondent shall constitute domestic violence in case it—
   (a) harms or injures or endangers the health, safety, life, limb or well-being, whether mental or physical, of the aggrieved person or tends to do so and includes causing physical abuse, sexual abuse, verbal and emotional abuse and economic abuse; or
   (b) harasses, harms, injures or endangers the aggrieved person with a view to coerce her or any other person related to her to meet any unlawful demand for any dowry or other property or valuable security; or
   (c) has the effect of threatening the aggrieved person or any person related to her by any conduct mentioned in clause (a) or clause (b); or
   (d) otherwise injures or causes harm, whether physical or mental, to the aggrieved person.

Explanation I.—For the purposes of this section,—
(i) “physical abuse” means any act or conduct which is of such a nature as to cause bodily pain, harm, or danger to life, limb, or health or impair the health or development of the aggrieved person and includes assault, criminal intimidation and criminal force;

(ii) “sexual abuse” includes any conduct of a sexual nature that abuses, humiliates, degrades or otherwise violates the dignity of woman;

(iii) “verbal and emotional abuse” includes—
(a) insults, ridicule, humiliation, name calling and insults or ridicule specially with regard to not having a child or a male child; and
(b) repeated threats to cause physical pain to any person in whom the aggrieved person is interested.

(iv) “economic abuse” includes—
(a) deprivation of all or any economic or financial resources to which the aggrieved person is entitled under any law or custom whether payable under an order of a court or otherwise or which the aggrieved person requires out of necessity including, but not limited to, household necessities for the aggrieved person and her children, if any, stridhan, property, jointly or separately owned by the aggrieved person, payment of rental related to the shared household and maintenance;
(b) disposal of household effects, any alienation of assets whether movable or immovable, valuables, shares, securities, bonds and the like or other property in which the aggrieved person has an interest or is entitled to use by virtue of the domestic relationship or which may be reasonably required by the aggrieved person or her children or her stridhan or any other property jointly or separately held by the aggrieved person; and
(c) prohibition or restriction to continued access to resources or facilities which the aggrieved person is entitled to use or enjoy by virtue of the domestic relationship including access to the shared household.

Explanation

II.—For the purpose of determining whether any act, omission, commission or conduct of the respondent constitutes “domestic violence” under this section, the overall facts and circumstances of the case shall be taken into consideration.

CHAPTER III - POWERS AND DUTIES OF PROTECTION OFFICERS, SERVICE PROVIDERS, ETC.

4. Information to Protection Officer and exclusion of liability of informant.
(1) Any person who has reason to believe that an act of domestic violence has been, or is being, or is likely to be committed, may give information about it to the concerned Protection Officer.

(2) No liability, civil or criminal, shall be incurred by any person for giving in good faith of information for the purpose of sub-section (1).

5. Duties of police officers, service providers and Magistrate.
A police officer, Protection Officer, service provider or Magistrate who has received a complaint of domestic violence or is otherwise present at the place of an incident of domestic violence or when the incident of domestic violence is reported to him, shall inform the aggrieved person—
(a) of her right to make an application for obtaining a relief by way of a protection order, an order for monetary relief, a custody order, a residence order, a compensation order or more than one such order under this Act;
(b) of the availability of services of service providers;
(c) of the availability of services of the Protection Officers;
(d) of her right to free legal services under the Legal Services Authorities Act, 1987 (39 of 1987);
(e) of her right to file a complaint under section 498A of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860), wherever relevant:

Provided that nothing in this Act shall be construed in any manner as to relieve a police officer from his duty to proceed in accordance with law upon receipt of information as to the commission of a cognizable offence.

6. Duties of shelter homes.
If an aggrieved person or on her behalf a Protection Officer or a service provider requests the person in charge of a shelter home to provide shelter to her, such person in charge of the shelter home shall provide shelter to the aggrieved person in the shelter home.

7. Duties of medical facilities.
If an aggrieved person or, on her behalf a Protection Officer or a service provider requests the person in charge of a medical facility to provide any medical aid to her, such person in charge of the medical facility shall provide medical aid to the aggrieved person in the medical facility.
8. Appointment of Protection Officers.
(1) The State Government shall, by notification, appoint such number of Protection Officers in each district as it may consider necessary and shall also notify the area or areas within which a Protection Officer shall exercise the powers and perform the duties conferred on him by or under this Act.
(2) The Protection Officers shall as far as possible be women and shall possess such qualifications and experience as may be prescribed.
(3) The terms and conditions of service of the Protection Officer and the other officers subordinate to him shall be such as may be prescribed.

9. Duties and functions of Protection Officers.
(1) It shall be the duty of the Protection Officer—
(a) to assist the Magistrate in the discharge of his functions under this Act;
(b) to make a domestic incident report to the Magistrate, in such form and in such manner as may be prescribed, upon receipt of a complaint of domestic violence and forward copies thereof to the police officer in charge of the police station within the local limits of whose jurisdiction domestic violence is alleged to have been committed and to the service providers in that area;
(c) to make an application in such form and in such manner as may be prescribed to the Magistrate, if the aggrieved person so desires, claiming relief for issuance of a protection order;
(d) to ensure that the aggrieved person is provided legal aid under the Legal Services Authorities Act, 1987 (39 of 1987) and make available free of cost the prescribed form in which a complaint is to be made;
(e) to maintain a list of all service providers providing legal aid or counselling, shelter homes and medical facilities in a local area within the jurisdiction of the Magistrate;
(f) to make available a safe shelter home, if the aggrieved person so requires and forward a copy of his report of having lodged the aggrieved person in a shelter home to the police station and the Magistrate having jurisdiction in the area where the shelter home is situated;
(g) to get the aggrieved person medically examined, if she has sustained bodily injuries and forward a copy of the medical report to the police station and the Magistrate having jurisdiction in the area where the domestic violence is alleged to have been taken place;
(h) to ensure that the order for monetary relief under section 20 is complied with and executed, in accordance with the procedure prescribed under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974);
(i) to perform such other duties as may be prescribed.
(2) The Protection Officer shall be under the control and supervision of the Magistrate, and shall perform the duties imposed on him by the Magistrate and the Government by, or under, this Act.

10. Service providers.
(1) Subject to such rules as may be made in this behalf, any voluntary association registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860 (21 of 1860) or a company registered under the Companies Act, 1956 (1 of 1956) or any other law for the time being in force with the objective of protecting the rights and interests of women by any lawful means including providing of legal aid, medical, financial or other assistance shall register itself with the State Government as a service provider for the purposes of this Act.
(2) A service provider registered under sub-section (1) shall have the power to—
(a) record the domestic incident report in the prescribed form if the aggrieved person so desires and forward a copy thereof to the Magistrate and the Protection Officer having jurisdiction in the area where the domestic violence took place;
(b) get the aggrieved person medically examined and forward a copy of the medical report to the Protection Officer and the police station within the local limits of which the domestic violence took place;
(c) ensure that the aggrieved person is provided shelter in a shelter home, if she so requires and forward a report of the lodging of the aggrieved person in the shelter home to the police station within the local limits of which the domestic violence took place.
(3) No suit, prosecution or other legal proceeding shall lie against any service provider or any member of the service provider who is, or who is deemed to be, acting or purporting to act under this Act, for anything which is in good faith done or intended to be done in the exercise of powers or discharge of functions under this Act towards the prevention of the commission of domestic violence.

The Central Government and every State Government, shall take all measures to ensure that—
(a) the provisions of this Act are given wide publicity through public media including the television, radio and the print media at regular intervals;
(b) the Central Government and State Government officers including the police officers and the members of the judicial services are given periodic sensitization and awareness training on the issues addressed by this Act;
(c) effective co-ordination between the services provided by concerned Ministries and Departments dealing with law, home affairs including law and order, health and human resources to address issues of domestic violence is established and periodical review of the same is conducted;
(d) protocols for the various Ministries concerned with the delivery of services to women under this Act including the courts are prepared and put in place.

CHAPTER IV – PROCEDURE FOR OBTAINING ORDERS OR RELIEFS

(1) An aggrieved person or a Protection Officer or any other person on behalf of the aggrieved person may present an application to the Magistrate seeking one or more reliefs under this Act: Provided that before passing any order on such application, the Magistrate shall take into consideration any domestic incident report received by him from the Protection Officer or the service provider.
(2) The relief sought for under sub-section (1) may include a relief for issuance of an order for payment of compensation or damages without prejudice to the right of such person to institute a suit for compensation or damages for the injuries caused by the acts of domestic violence committed by the respondent: Provided that where a decree for any amount as compensation or damages has been passed by any court in favour of the aggrieved person, the amount, if any, paid or payable in pursuance of the order made by the Magistrate under this Act shall be set off against the amount payable under such decree and the decree shall, notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (5 of 1908), or any other law for the time being in force, be executable for the balance amount, if any, left after such set off.
(3) Every application under sub-section (1) shall be in such form and contain such particulars as may be prescribed or as nearly as possible thereto.
(4) The Magistrate shall fix the first date of hearing, which shall not ordinarily be beyond three days from the date of receipt of the application by the court.
(5) The Magistrate shall endeavour to dispose of every application made under sub-section (1) within a period of sixty days from the date of its first hearing.

(1) A notice of the date of hearing fixed under section 12 shall be given by the Magistrate to the Protection Officer, who shall get it served by such means as may be prescribed on the respondent, and on any other person, as directed by the Magistrate within a maximum period of two days or such further reasonable time as may be allowed by the Magistrate from the date of its receipt.
(2) A declaration of service of notice made by the Protection Officer in such form as may be prescribed shall be the proof that such notice was served upon the respondent and on any other person as directed by the Magistrate unless the contrary is proved.

14. Counselling.
(1) The Magistrate may, at any stage of the proceedings under this Act, direct the respondent or the aggrieved person, either singly or jointly, to undergo counselling with any member of a service provider who possess such qualifications and experience in counselling as may be prescribed.
(2) Where the Magistrate has issued any direction under sub-section (1), he shall fix the next date of hearing of the case within a period not exceeding two months.

15. Assistance of welfare expert.
In any proceeding under this Act, the Magistrate may secure the services of such person, preferably a woman, whether related to the aggrieved person or not, including a person engaged in promoting family welfare as he thinks fit, for the purpose of assisting him in discharging his functions.

16. Proceedings to be held in camera.
If the Magistrate considers that the circumstances of the case so warrant, and if either party to the proceedings so desires, he may conduct the proceedings under this Act in camera.

17. Right to reside in a shared household.
(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force, every woman in a domestic relationship shall have the right to reside in the shared household, whether or not she has any right, title or beneficial interest in the same.
(2) The aggrieved person shall not be evicted or excluded from the shared household or any part of it by the respondent save in accordance with the procedure established by law.

18. Protection orders.
The Magistrate may, after giving the aggrieved person and the respondent an opportunity of being heard and on being prima facie satisfied that domestic violence has taken place or is likely to take place, pass a protection order in favour of the aggrieved person and prohibit the respondent from—
(a) committing any act of domestic violence;
(b) aiding or abetting in the commission of acts of domestic violence;
(c) entering the place of employment of the aggrieved person or, if the person aggrieved is a child, its school or any other place frequented by the aggrieved person;
(d) attempting to communicate in any form, whatsoever, with the aggrieved person, including personal, oral or written or electronic or telephonic contact;
(e) alienating any assets, operating bank lockers or bank accounts used or held or enjoyed by both the parties, jointly by the aggrieved person and the respondent or singly by the respondent, including her stridhan or any other property held either jointly by the parties or separately by them without the leave of the Magistrate;
(f) causing violence to the dependants, other relatives or any person who give the aggrieved person assistance from domestic violence;
(g) committing any other act as specified in the protection order.

(1) While disposing of an application under sub-section (1) of section 12, the Magistrate may, on being satisfied that domestic violence has taken place, pass a residence order—
(a) restraining the respondent from dispossessing or in any other manner disturbing the possession of the aggrieved person from the shared household, whether or not the respondent has a legal or equitable interest in the shared household;
(b) directing the respondent to remove himself from the shared household;
(c) restraining the respondent or any of his relatives from entering any portion of the shared household in which the aggrieved person resides;
(d) restraining the respondent from alienating or disposing of the shared household or encumbering the same;
(e) restraining the respondent from renouncing his rights in the shared household except with the leave of the Magistrate; or
(f) directing the respondent to secure same level of alternate accommodation for the aggrieved person as enjoyed by her in the shared household or to pay rent for the same, if the circumstances so require: Provided that no order under clause (b) shall be passed against any person who is a woman.
(2) The Magistrate may impose any additional conditions or pass any other direction which he may deem reasonably necessary to protect or to provide for the safety of the aggrieved person or any child of such aggrieved person.
(3) The Magistrate may require from the respondent to execute a bond, with or without sureties, for preventing the commission of domestic violence.
(4) An order under sub-section (3) shall be deemed to be an order under Chapter VIII of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974) and shall be dealt with accordingly.
(5) While passing an order under sub-section (1), sub-section (2) or sub-section (3), the court may also pass an order directing the officer-in-charge of the nearest police station to give protection to the aggrieved person or to assist her or the person making an application on her behalf in the implementation of the order.
(6) While making an order under sub-section (1), the Magistrate may impose on the respondent obligations relating to the discharge of rent and other payments, having regard to the financial needs and resources of the parties.
(7) The Magistrate may direct the officer-in-charge of the police station in whose jurisdiction the Magistrate has been approached to assist in the implementation of the protection order.
(8) The Magistrate may direct the respondent to return to the possession of the aggrieved person her stridhan or any other property or valuable security to which she is entitled to.

20. Monetary reliefs.
(1) While disposing of an application under sub-section (1) of section 12, the Magistrate may direct the respondent to pay monetary relief to meet the expenses incurred and losses suffered by the aggrieved person and any child of the aggrieved person as a result of the domestic violence and such relief may include but is not limited to—
(a) the loss of earnings;
(b) the medical expenses;
(c) the loss caused due to the destruction, damage or removal of any property from the control of the aggrieved person; and
(d) the maintenance for the aggrieved person as well as her children, if any, including an order under or in addition to an order of maintenance under section 125 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974) or any other law for the time being in force.

(2) The monetary relief granted under this section shall be adequate, fair and reasonable and consistent with the standard of living to which the aggrieved person is accustomed.

(3) The Magistrate shall have the power to order an appropriate lump sum payment or monthly payments of maintenance, as the nature and circumstances of the case may require.

(4) The Magistrate shall send a copy of the order for monetary relief made under sub-section (1) to the parties to the application and to the in-charge of the police station within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the respondent resides.

(5) The respondent shall pay the monetary relief granted to the aggrieved person within the period specified in the order under sub-section (1).

(6) Upon the failure on the part of the respondent to make payment in terms of the order under sub-section (1), the Magistrate may direct the employer or a debtor of the respondent, to directly pay to the aggrieved person or to deposit with the court a portion of the wages or salaries or debt due to or accrued to the credit of the respondent, which amount may be adjusted towards the monetary relief payable by the respondent.

Notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force, the Magistrate may, at any stage of hearing of the application for protection order or for any other relief under this Act grant temporary custody of any child or children to the aggrieved person or the person making an application on her behalf and specify, if necessary, the arrangements for visit of such child or children by the respondent. Provided that if the Magistrate is of the opinion that any visit of the respondent may be harmful to the interests of the child or children, the Magistrate shall refuse to allow such visit.

22. Compensation orders.
In addition to other reliefs as may be granted under this Act, the Magistrate may on an application being made by the aggrieved person, pass an order directing the respondent to pay compensation and damages for the injuries, including mental torture and emotional distress, caused by the acts of domestic violence committed by that respondent.

23. Power to grant interim and ex parte orders.
(1) In any proceeding before him under this Act, the Magistrate may pass such interim order as he deems just and proper.

PART 2

COURT PROCEEDINGS

Factors or circumstances to which court shall have regard in determining applications for specified orders

5. (1) Nothing in subsection (2) shall be construed as limiting the power of a court to make a specified order under this Act.

(2) In determining an application for a specified order, the court shall have regard to all the factors or circumstances that it considers may have a bearing on the application including where relevant:

(a) any history of violence inflicted by the respondent on the applicant or a dependent person;

(b) any conviction of the respondent for an offence under the Criminal Justice (Theft and Fraud Offences) Act 2001 that involves loss to, or is to the prejudice of, the applicant or a dependent person;

(c) any conviction of the respondent for an offence that involves violence or the threat of violence to any person;

(d) whether any violence inflicted by the respondent on the applicant or a dependent person is increasing, or has increased, in severity or frequency over time;

(e) any exposure of any dependent person to violence inflicted by the respondent on the applicant or any other dependent person;

(f) any previous order under this Act or the Act of 1996 made against the respondent with regard to any person;

(g) any history of animal cruelty by the respondent;

(h) any destruction or damage caused by the respondent to—
   (i) the personal property of the applicant, the respondent or a dependent person, or
   (ii) any place where the applicant or a dependent person resides;

(i) any action of the respondent, not being a criminal offence, which puts the applicant or a dependent person in fear for his or her own safety or welfare;

(j) any recent separation between the applicant and the respondent;

(k) substance abuse, including abuse of alcohol, by the respondent, the applicant or a dependent person;

(l) access to weapons by the respondent, the applicant or a dependent person;

(m) the applicant’s perception of the risk to his or her own safety or welfare due to the behaviour of the respondent;

(n) the age and state of health (including pregnancy) of the applicant or any dependent person;

(o) any evidence of deterioration in the physical, psychological or emotional welfare of the applicant or a dependent person which is caused directly by fear of the behaviour of the respondent;

(p) whether the applicant is economically dependent on the respondent;

(q) any matter required to be considered by the court under, and in accordance with, subsections (2) and (3) of section 29;

(r) any other matter which appears to the court to be relevant to the safety or welfare of the applicant and any dependent person.

Safety order

6. (1) (a) In this section—

“applicant” means a person (other than the Agency) who has applied, or a person on whose behalf the Agency has applied by virtue of section 11, for a safety order against another person (in this section referred to as “the respondent”) and the person so applying or on whose behalf the Agency has so applied—

(i) is the spouse of the respondent,

(ii) is the civil partner of the respondent,

(iii) is not the spouse or civil partner of the respondent and is not related to the respondent within a prohibited degree of relationship, but was in an intimate relationship with the respondent prior to the application for the safety order,

(iv) is a parent of the respondent and the respondent is of full age and is not, in relation to the parent, a dependent person,
(v) being of full age, resides with the respondent in a relationship the basis of which is not primarily contractual, or
(vi) is a parent of a child whose other parent is the respondent;

“kindred”, in relation to two or more persons, means the relationship of each of those persons to the other person or to the rest of those persons by blood, adoption, marriage or civil partnership.

(b) For the purposes of paragraph (a)(v), in deciding whether or not a person is residing with another person in a relationship the basis of which is not primarily contractual, the court shall have regard to—

(i) the length of time those persons are residing together,

(ii) the nature of any duties performed by either person for the other person or any kindred person of that other person,

(iii) the absence of any profit or of any significant profit made by either person from any monetary or other consideration given by the other person in respect of residing at the place concerned, and

(iv) any other matters the court considers appropriate in the circumstances.

(2) Where the court, on application to it, is of the opinion that there are reasonable grounds for believing that the safety or welfare of an applicant or a dependent person so requires, it shall, subject to section 12, by order (in this Act referred to as a “safety order”) prohibit the respondent to the application from doing one or more of the following:

(a) using or threatening to use violence against, molesting or putting in fear, the applicant or the dependent person;

(b) if he or she is residing at a place other than the place where the applicant or that dependent person resides, watching or besetting a place where the applicant or that dependent person resides;

(c) following or communicating (including by electronic means) with the applicant or the dependent person.

(3) A safety order may be subject to such exceptions and conditions as the court may specify.

(4) Subject to subsection (5) and section 21, a safety order made by the District Court or by the Circuit Court on appeal from the District Court shall expire 5 years after the date of the making of the order or on the expiration of such shorter period as the court may provide for in the order.

(5) On or before the expiration of a safety order to which subsection (4) relates, a further safety order may be made by the District Court, or by the Circuit Court on appeal from the District Court, for a period of 5 years or such shorter period as the court may provide for in the order which further order shall take effect from the date of expiration of the first-mentioned order.

(6) On or before the expiration of a safety order, other than a safety order to which subsection (4) relates, a further safety order may be made by the District Court, or by the Circuit Court on appeal from the District Court, for a period of 5 years or such shorter period as the court may provide for in the order and that further safety order shall take effect from the date of expiration of the first-mentioned order.

(7) The court shall not, on an application for a barring order, make a safety order unless there is also an application for a safety order before the court concerning the same matter.

(8) Where a safety order has been made, any of the following persons may apply to have the order varied: (a) where the application for the order was made by the Agency in respect of a dependent person by virtue of section 11—

(i) the Agency,

(ii) the person referred to in subsection (1)/c of that section, or

(iii) the respondent to that application;

(b) where the application for the order was made by the Agency in respect of any other person (other than a dependent person referred to in paragraph (a)) by virtue of section 11—
(i) the Agency,
(ii) the applicant for the order, or
(iii) the respondent to that application;
(c) in any other case—
(i) the applicant for the order, or
(ii) the respondent to the application for that order.

(9) The court may, upon hearing an application under subsection (8), make such order varying the safety order as it considers appropriate in the circumstances.

(10) For the purposes of making an application under subsection (8), a safety order made by a court on appeal from another court shall be treated as if it had been made by that other court.

Barring order

7. (1) In this section “applicant” means a person (other than the Agency) who has applied, or a person on whose behalf the Agency has applied by virtue of section 11, for a barring order against another person (in this section referred to as “the respondent”) and the person so applying or on whose behalf the Agency has so applied—

(a) is the spouse of the respondent,
(b) is the civil partner of the respondent,
(c) is not the spouse or civil partner of the respondent and is not related to the respondent within a prohibited degree of relationship but lived with the respondent in an intimate relationship prior to the application for the barring order, or
(d) is a parent of the respondent and the respondent is a person of full age who is not, in relation to the parent, a dependent person.

(2) (a) Where the court, on application to it, is of the opinion, having taken into account any order made or to be made to which paragraph (a) or (d) of section 15(2) relates, that there are reasonable grounds for believing that the safety or welfare of the applicant or a dependent person so requires, it shall, subject to section 12, by order (in this Act referred to as a “barring order”)—

(i) direct the respondent, if residing at a place where the applicant or the dependent person resides, to leave the place, and
(ii) whether the respondent is or is not residing at a place where the applicant or the dependent person resides, prohibit the respondent from entering the place until further order of the court or until such other time as the court shall specify.

(b) In deciding whether or not to make a barring order the court shall have regard to the safety and welfare of any dependent person in respect of whom the respondent is a parent or in loco parentis, where the dependent person is residing at the place to which the order, if made, would relate.

(3) A barring order may, if the court thinks fit, prohibit the respondent from doing one or more of the following:

(a) using or threatening to use violence against, molesting or putting in fear, the applicant or a dependent person;
(b) attending at or in the vicinity of, or watching or besetting, a place where the applicant or a dependent person resides;
(c) following or communicating (including by electronic means) with the applicant or a dependent person.

(4) A barring order may be subject to such exceptions and conditions as the court may specify.

(5) For the purposes of subsections (2) and (3) an applicant or a dependent person who would, but for the conduct of the respondent, be residing at a place shall be treated as residing at that place.

(6) (a) In respect of a person who is an applicant by virtue of paragraph (c) or (d) of subsection (1), the court shall not make a barring order in respect of the place where the applicant or dependent person resides where the respondent has a legal or beneficial interest in that place and—

(i) the applicant has no legal or beneficial interest, or

(ii) the applicant’s legal or beneficial interest is, in the opinion of the court, less than that of the respondent.

(b) Where in proceedings to which this section applies the applicant states the belief, in respect of the place to which paragraph (a) relates, that he or she has a legal or beneficial interest in that place which is not less than that of the respondent, then that belief shall be admissible in evidence.

(7) Without prejudice to section 32, nothing in this Act shall be construed as affecting the rights of any person, other than the applicant or the respondent, who has a legal or beneficial interest in a place in respect of which the court has made an order under this section.

(8) A barring order, if made by the District Court, or by the Circuit Court on appeal from the District Court, shall, subject to subsection (9) and section 21, expire three years after the date of its making or on the expiration of such shorter period as the court may provide for in the order.

(9) On or before the expiration of a barring order to which subsection (8) relates, a further barring order may be made by the District Court, or by the Circuit Court on appeal from the District Court, for a period of three years or such shorter period as the court may provide for in the order and that further barring order shall take effect from the expiration of the first-mentioned order.

(10) On or before the expiration of a barring order, other than a barring order to which subsection (8) relates, a further barring order may be made by the District Court, or by the Circuit Court on appeal from the District Court, for a period of three years or such shorter period as the court may provide for in the order and that further barring order shall take effect from the date of expiration of the first-mentioned order.

(11) The court shall not, on an application for a safety order, make a barring order unless there is also an application for a barring order before the court concerning the same matter.

(12) Where a barring order has been made, any of the following may apply to have the order varied:

(a) where the application for the order was made by the Agency in respect of a dependent person by virtue of section 11—

(i) the Agency,

(ii) the person referred to in subsection (1)(c) of that section, or

(iii) the respondent to that application;

(b) where the application for the order was made by the Agency in respect of any other person (other than a dependent person referred to in paragraph (a)) by virtue of section 11—

(i) the Agency,

(ii) the applicant for the order, or

(iii) the respondent to that application;

(c) in any other case—

(i) the applicant for the order, or

(ii) the respondent to the application for that order.

(13) The court may, upon hearing an application under subsection (12), make such order varying the barring order as it compendium of international and national legal frameworks on domestic violence considers appropriate in the circumstances.

(14) For the purposes of making an application under subsection (12), a barring order made by a court on appeal from another court shall be treated as if it had been made by that other court.

interim barring order

8. (1) Where the court, on application to it for a barring order or between the making of that application and its determination, is of the opinion, having taken into account any order made or to be made to which paragraph (a) or (d) of section 15(2) relates, that there are reasonable grounds for believing—

(a) there is an immediate risk of significant harm to the applicant or a dependent person, and

(b) the making of a protection order would not be sufficient to protect the applicant or a dependent person, the court shall, subject to section 12, by order (in this Act referred to as an “interim barring order”)—

(i) direct the respondent, if residing at a place where the applicant or the dependent person resides, to leave the place, and

(ii) whether the respondent is or is not residing at a place where the applicant or the dependent person resides, prohibit that respondent from entering the place until further order of the court or until such other time as the court shall specify.

(2) An interim barring order may, if the court thinks fit, prohibit the respondent from doing one or more of the following:

(a) using or threatening to use violence against, molesting or putting in fear, the applicant or a dependent person;

(b) attending at or in the vicinity of, or watching or besetting, a place where the applicant or a dependent person resides;

(c) following or communicating (including by electronic means) with the applicant or a dependent person.

(3) An interim barring order may be made subject to such exceptions and conditions as the court may specify.

(4) For the purposes of subsections (1) and (2), an applicant or a dependent person who would, but for the conduct of the respondent, be residing at a place shall be treated as residing at that place.

(5) (a) In respect of a person who is an applicant by virtue of paragraph (c) or (d) of subsection (1) of section 7, the court shall not make an interim barring order in respect of the place where the applicant or dependent person resides where the respondent has a legal or beneficial interest in that place but—

(i) the applicant has no legal or beneficial interest, or

(ii) the applicant’s legal or beneficial interest is, in the opinion of the court, less than that of the respondent.

(b) Where in proceedings to which this section applies the applicant states the belief, in respect of the place to which paragraph (a) relates, that he or she has a legal or beneficial interest in that place which is not less than that of the respondent, then that belief shall be admissible in evidence.

(6) Without prejudice to section 32, nothing in this Act shall be construed as affecting the rights of any person, other than the applicant or the respondent, who has a legal or beneficial interest in a place in respect of which the court has made an order under this section.

(7) Where an interim barring order has been made, any of the following may apply to have the order varied:

(a) where the application for the order was made by the Agency in respect of a dependent person by virtue of section 11—

(i) the Agency,

(ii) the person referred to in subsection (1)(c) of that section, or

(iii) the respondent to that application;
(b) where the application for the order was made by the Agency in respect of any other person (other than a dependent person referred to in paragraph (a)) by virtue of section 11—

(i) the Agency,

(ii) the applicant for the order, or

(iii) the respondent to that application;

(c) in any other case—

(i) the applicant for the order, or

(ii) the respondent to the application for that order.

(8) The court may, upon hearing an application under subsection (7), make such order varying the interim barring order as it considers appropriate in the circumstances.

(9) For the purposes of an application under subsection (7), an interim barring order made by a court on appeal from another court shall be treated as if it had been made by that other court.

(10) An interim barring order may be made ex parte where, having regard to the circumstances of the particular case, the court considers it necessary or expedient to do so in the interests of justice.

(11) Where an application for an interim barring order is made ex parte, the application shall be grounded on an affidavit or information sworn by the applicant.

(12) An affidavit or information sworn by the applicant under subsection (11) shall state whether the property from which it is sought to bar the respondent on an interim basis is also a place of business of the respondent or includes or abuts a place of business of the respondent.

(13) If an interim barring order is made ex parte—

(a) a note of evidence given by the applicant shall be prepared forthwith—

(i) by the judge,

(ii) by the applicant or the applicant’s solicitor and approved by the judge, or

(iii) as otherwise directed by the judge, and

(b) a copy of the interim barring order, affidavit or information sworn under subsection (11) and note of evidence shall be served on the respondent as soon as practicable.

(14) If an interim barring order is made ex parte that order shall have effect for a period, not exceeding 8 working days, specified in the order unless on application by the applicant for the barring order and on notice to the respondent the interim barring order is confirmed within that 8 day period by order of the court.

(15) An interim barring order made ex parte shall contain a statement of the effect of subsection (14).

(16) An interim barring order ceases to have effect on the determination by the court of the application for the barring order.

Emergency barring order

9. (1) In this section, “applicant” means a person (other than the Agency) who has applied, or on whose behalf the Agency has applied by virtue of section 11, for an emergency barring order against another person (in this section called “the respondent”) and the person so applying or on whose behalf the Agency has so applied—

(a) is not the spouse or civil partner of the respondent and is not related to the respondent within a prohibited degree of relationship but lived with the respondent in an intimate relationship prior to the application for the emergency barring order, or
(b) is a parent of the respondent and the respondent is a person of full age who is not, in relation to the parent, a dependent person.

(2) The court may only make an order under this section in respect of a place where an applicant or a dependent person resides and where—

(a) the respondent has a legal or beneficial interest in the place but the applicant has no such interest, or

(b) the applicant’s legal or beneficial interest is, in the opinion of the court, less than that of the respondent.

(3) Subject to subsection (2), where the court, on application to it, is of the opinion, having taken into account any order made or to be made to which paragraph (a) or (d) of section 15(2) relates, that there are reasonable grounds for believing that there is an immediate risk of significant harm to the applicant or a dependent person if an order is not made immediately, the court shall, subject to section 12, by order (in this Act referred to as an “emergency barring order”)—

(a) direct the respondent, if residing at the place where the applicant or that dependent person resides, to leave that place, and (b) whether the respondent is or is not residing at the place where the applicant or that dependent person resides, prohibit that respondent from entering that place for such period, not exceeding 8 working days, as is specified in the order.

(4) An emergency barring order may, if the court thinks fit, prohibit the respondent from doing one or more of the following:

(a) using or threatening to use violence against, molesting or putting in fear, the applicant or a dependent person;

(b) attending at or in the vicinity of, or watching or besetting, a place where the applicant or a dependent person resides;

(c) following or communicating (including by electronic means) with the applicant or a dependent person.

(5) An emergency barring order may be made subject to such exceptions and conditions as the court may specify.

(6) For the purposes of subsections (2) and (3), an applicant or a dependent person who would, but for the conduct of the respondent, be residing at a place shall be treated as residing at that place.

(7) Without prejudice to section 32, nothing in this Act shall be construed as affecting the rights of any person, other than the applicant or the respondent, who has a legal or beneficial interest in a place in respect of which the court has made an order under this section.

(8) Where an emergency barring order has been made, any of the following may apply to have the order varied:

(a) where the application for the order was made by the Agency in respect of a dependent person by virtue of section 11—

(i) the Agency,

(ii) the person referred to in subsection (1)(c) of that section, or

(iii) the respondent to that application;

(b) where the application for the order was made by the Agency in respect of any other person (other than a dependent person referred to in paragraph (a)) by virtue of section 11—

(i) the Agency,

(ii) the applicant for the order, or

(iii) the respondent to that application;

(c) in any other case—

(i) the applicant for the order, or

(ii) the respondent to the application for that order.

(9) The court may, upon hearing an application under subsection (8), make such order varying the emergency barring order as it considers appropriate in the circumstances.

(10) For the purposes of making an application under subsection (8), an emergency barring order made by a court on appeal from another court shall be treated as if it had been made by that other court.

(11) An emergency barring order may be made ex parte where, having regard to the circumstances of the particular case, the court considers it necessary or expedient to do so in the interests of justice.

(12) Where an application for an emergency barring order is made ex parte, the application shall be grounded on an affidavit or information sworn by the applicant.

(13) An affidavit or information sworn by the applicant under subsection (12) shall state whether the property from which it is sought to bar the respondent on an emergency basis is also a place of business of the respondent or includes or abuts a place of business of the respondent.

(14) If an emergency barring order is made ex parte—

(a) a note of evidence given by the applicant shall be prepared forthwith—

(i) by the judge,

(ii) by the applicant or the applicant’s solicitor and approved by the judge, or

(iii) as otherwise directed by the judge, and

(b) a copy of the emergency barring order, affidavit or information sworn under subsection (12) and note of evidence shall be served on the respondent as soon as practicable.

(15) Where an emergency barring order is made ex parte it shall have effect for such period, not exceeding 8 working days, as is specified in the order.

(16) (a) Subject to paragraph (b), where an emergency barring order has been made against a respondent, no further emergency barring order shall be made against the respondent on application by or on behalf of the same applicant unless a period of at least one month has elapsed since the expiration of the last day of the period specified in the first-mentioned order.

(b) A further emergency barring order may be made against the respondent within the one month period referred to in paragraph (a) where the court is satisfied, having due regard to the circumstances of the respondent, that there are exceptional circumstances which justify the making of a further order.

Protection order

10. (1) Where the court, on application to it for a safety order or a barring order or between the making of that application and its determination, is of the opinion that there are reasonable grounds for believing that the safety or welfare of the applicant for the order concerned or of a dependent person so requires, the court shall by order (in this Act referred to as a “protection order”) prohibit the respondent to the application from doing one or more of the following:

(a) using or threatening to use violence against, molesting or putting in fear, the applicant or the dependent person;

(b) if he or she is residing at a place other than the place where the applicant or the dependent person resides, watching or besetting the place where the applicant or the dependent person resides;

(c) following or communicating (including by electronic means) with the applicant or that dependent person.

(2) A protection order may be subject to such exceptions and conditions as the court may specify.

(3) For the purposes of this section, an applicant or a dependent person who would, but for the conduct of the respondent, be residing at a place shall be treated as residing at that place.

(4) Where a protection order has been made, any of the following may apply to have the order varied:
(a) where the application for the order was made by the Agency in respect of a dependent person by virtue of section 11—
   (i) the Agency,
   (ii) the person referred to in subsection (1)(c) of that section, or
   (iii) the respondent to that application;
(b) where the application for the order was made by the Agency in respect of any other person (other than a dependent person referred to in paragraph (a)) by virtue of section 11—
   (i) the Agency,
   (ii) the applicant for that order, or
   (iii) the respondent to that application;
(c) in any other case—
   (i) the applicant for the order, or
   (ii) the respondent to the application for that order.

(5) The court may, upon hearing an application under subsection (4), make such order varying the protection order as it considers appropriate in the circumstances.

(6) For the purposes of making an application under subsection (4), a protection order made by a court on appeal from another court shall be treated as if it had been made by that other court.

(7) A protection order may be made ex parte where, having regard to the circumstances of the particular case, the court considers it necessary or expedient to do so in the interests of justice.

(8) Where an application for a protection order is made ex parte, the application shall be grounded on an affidavit or information sworn by the applicant.

(9) If a protection order is made ex parte—
   (a) a note of evidence given by the applicant shall be prepared forthwith—
      (i) by the judge,
      (ii) by the applicant or the applicant’s solicitor and approved by the judge, or
      (iii) as otherwise directed by the judge,
   (b) a copy of the protection order, affidavit or information sworn under subsection (8) and note of evidence shall be served on the respondent as soon as practicable.

(10) A protection order shall cease to have effect on the determination by the court of the application for a safety order or a barring order.

Power of the Agency to apply for certain orders

11. (1) Subject to subsections (2), (3) and (4), this section applies where the Agency—

(a) becomes aware of an alleged incident or series of incidents which in its opinion puts into doubt the safety or welfare of a person (in this section referred to as the “aggrieved person”),

(b) has reasonable cause to believe that the aggrieved person has been subjected to molestation, violence or threatened violence or otherwise put in fear of his or her safety or welfare,

(c) is of the opinion that there are reasonable grounds for believing that, where appropriate in the circumstances, a person would be deterred or prevented as a consequence of molestation, violence or threatened violence by the respondent or fear of the respondent from pursuing an application for a safety order, a barring order or an emergency barring order on his or her own behalf or on behalf of a dependent person, and

(d) considers, having ascertained as far as is reasonably practicable the wishes of the aggrieved person or, where the aggrieved person is a dependent person, of the person to whom paragraph (c) relates in respect of the dependent person, that it is appropriate in all the circumstances to apply for a safety order, a barring order or an emergency barring order in accordance with this Act on behalf of the aggrieved person.

(2) The Agency may apply to the court on behalf of the aggrieved person for a safety order, a barring order or an emergency barring order for which the aggrieved person or, where the aggrieved person is a dependent person, the person to whom subsection (1)(c) relates in respect of that dependent person, could have applied.

(3) Where an application is made by the Agency in accordance with this section, the court shall, in determining whether, and if so to what extent, to exercise any of its functions under section 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 or 21, have regard to any wishes expressed by—

(a) the aggrieved person, or

(b) where the aggrieved person is a dependent person, the person to whom subsection (1)(c) relates in respect of the dependent person and, where the court considers it appropriate, the dependent person.

(4) The provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of subsection (1) need not be complied with where an application relates to an aggrieved person who is a dependent person, or in respect of so much of an application as relates to an aggrieved person who is a dependent person, if the court is of the opinion that there is reasonable cause to believe that—

(a) the dependent person has been or is being assaulted, ill-treated, sexually abused or seriously neglected, or

(b) the dependent person’s health, development or welfare has been, is being or is likely to be avoidably impaired or seriously neglected, and that if the order is made the likelihood of harm to that dependent person will not arise or will be materially diminished.

(5) The court shall not make a barring order, an interim barring order or an emergency barring order where the aggrieved person is a dependent person unless the Agency satisfies the court that the person to whom subsection (1)(c) relates in respect of that dependent person is willing and able to provide reasonable care for that dependent person.

Power to make care order or supervision order under Child Care Act 1991

12. (1) Where in proceedings for an order under this Act, other than proceedings to which section 11 relates, it appears to the court that it may be appropriate for a care order or a supervision order to be made with respect to a dependent person concerned in the proceedings, the court may, of its own motion or on the application of a person concerned, adjourn the proceedings and direct the Agency to undertake an investigation or, as the case may be, further investigations of that dependent person’s circumstances.

(2) Where proceedings are adjourned and the court gives a direction under subsection (1), the court may give such directions under the Act of 1991 as it sees fit as to the care and custody of, and may make a supervision order in respect of, the dependent person concerned pending the outcome of the investigation by the Agency.

(3) Where the court gives a direction under subsection (1) in respect of a dependent person, the Agency shall undertake an investigation of the dependent person’s circumstances and shall consider if it should— (a) apply for a care order or a supervision order, (b) provide any service or assistance for that dependent person’s family, or (c) take any other action in respect of that dependent person.

(4) Where the Agency undertakes an investigation under this section and decides not to apply for a care order or supervision order with respect to the dependent person concerned, it shall inform the court of—

(a) its reasons for so deciding,

(b) any service or assistance it has provided, or intends to provide, for that dependent person and his or her family, and

(c) any other action which it has taken, or proposes to take, with respect to that dependent person.

(5) In this section— “care order” means a care order under the Act of 1991; “supervision order” means a supervision order under the Act of 1991.

Application of section 9(2) of Family Home Protection Act 1976

13. (1) Where an application for a barring order or a safety order is made against the spouse of the applicant, subsection (2) of section 9 of the Act of 1976 shall apply—

(a) between the making of the application for the order and the determination of that application, and

(b) if that order is made, while that order is in force, as it applies between the institution and final determination of matrimonial proceedings to which that section relates.

(2) The court which is empowered under subsection (2)(b) of section 9 of the Act of 1976 to grant permission for a disposition or removal of household chattels within the meaning of that section is, notwithstanding anything in section 10 of that Act, the court before which the proceedings, including proceedings for a barring order or a safety order, have been instituted.

Application of section 34(2) of Civil Partnership and Certain Rights and Obligations of Cohabitants Act 2010

14. (1) Where an application for a barring order or a safety order is made against the civil partner of the applicant, subsection (2) of section 34 of the Act of 2010 shall apply—

(a) between the making of the application for the order and its determination, and

(b) if that order is made, while that order is in force, as it applies between the institution and final determination of dissolution proceedings to which that section relates.

(2) The court which is empowered under subsection (2)(b) of section 34 of the Act of 2010 to grant permission for a disposition or removal of household chattels within the meaning of that section is, notwithstanding anything in section 140 of that Act, the court before which the proceedings, including proceedings for a barring order or a safety order, have been instituted.

Hearing of applications under Acts together

15. (1) Where an application is made to the court for an order under this Act, the court may, on application to it in the same proceedings and without the institution of proceedings under one or more of the Acts referred to in subsection (2), if it appears to the court to be proper to do so, make one or more of the orders specified in that subsection.

(2) The orders specified for the purposes of subsection (1) are orders made under—

(a) section 11 of the Act of 1964,

(b) section 5, 5A, 5B, 6, 7 or 21A of the Family Law (Maintenance of Spouses and Children) Act 1976,

(c) section 5 or 9 of the Act of 1976,

(d) the Act of 1991, or

(e) section 30, 34 or 45 of the Act of 2010.

Protection against cross-examination by applicant or respondent

16. (1) Where—

(a) an application is made to a court for a specified order,

(b) a person under the age of 18 years is to give evidence, and

(c) the applicant or respondent proposes to cross-examine the person referred to in paragraph (b) personally, the court shall direct that the applicant or the respondent, as the case may be, may not personally cross-examine the witness unless the court is of the opinion that the interests of justice require the applicant or respondent to conduct the cross-examination personally.

(2) Where—

(a) an application is made to a court for a specified order,

(b) a person who has attained the age of 18 years (being the applicant for the specified order, an aggrieved person under section 11, a dependent person or the respondent to that application) is to give evidence, and the court may direct that the applicant or the respondent, as the case may be, may not personally cross-examine the witness unless the court is of the opinion that the interests of justice require the applicant or respondent to conduct the cross-examination personally.

(c) the applicant or respondent proposes to cross-examine the person referred to in paragraph (b) personally,

(3) Where an applicant or respondent, as the case may be, is prevented from cross-examining a witness by virtue of subsection (1) or (2), the court shall—

(a) invite the applicant or respondent to arrange for a legal representative to act for him or her for the purpose of cross-examining the witness, and

(b) require the applicant or respondent to notify the court, by the end of such period as it may specify, as to whether a legal representative is to act for him or her for that purpose.

(4) If by the end of the period referred to in subsection (3)(b), the applicant or respondent has notified the court that no legal representative is to act for him or her for the purpose of cross-examining the witness or no notification has been received by the court and it appears to the court that no legal representative is to so act, the court shall consider whether it is necessary, in the interests of justice, for the witness to be cross-examined by a legal representative appointed to act for the applicant or respondent for that purpose.

(5) If the court decides under subsection (4) that it is necessary, in the interests of justice, for the witness to be cross-examined by a legal representative appointed to act for the applicant or respondent for that purpose, the court shall appoint a legal representative (chosen by the court) to cross-examine the witness on behalf of the applicant or respondent.

Requirement to give reasons for certain decisions

17. Where an application is made to a court for a specified order, the court shall give reasons for its decision—

(a) to grant or refuse the application,

(b) if applicable, to make the specified order subject to exceptions or conditions, and

(c) to vary the exceptions or conditions referred to in paragraph (b).

Taking effect of orders

18. (1) A relevant order shall take effect on notification of the making of the relevant order concerned being given to the respondent.

(2) Oral communication to the respondent by or on behalf of the applicant of the fact that a relevant order has been made, together with production of a copy of the relevant order, shall, without prejudice to the sufficiency of any other form of notification, be taken to be sufficient notification to the respondent of the making of the order.

(3) If the respondent is present at a sitting of the court at which the relevant order is made, that respondent shall be taken for the purposes of subsection (1) to have been notified of its making.

(4) A court may direct that a relevant order be served personally by a member of the Garda Síochána on a respondent who is not present at a sitting of the court at which the order is made in any case where—

(a) there are reasonable grounds for believing that the respondent may evade service of the order, or

(b) there is any other good and sufficient reason to so direct.

(5) In this section, “relevant order” means—
Copies of orders to be given to certain persons

19. (1) The court, on making, varying or discharging a safety order or a protection order, shall cause a copy of the order in question to be given or sent as soon as practicable—

(a) to the applicant for the safety order or, in respect of a protection order, the applicant for the safety order or barring order concerned,
(b) to the respondent to the application for the safety order or, in respect of a protection order, the respondent to the application for the safety order or barring order concerned,
(c) where the Agency has made the application by virtue of section 11 for the safety order or, in respect of a protection order, for the safety order or barring order concerned, to the Agency,
(d) to the member of the Garda Síochána in charge of the Garda Síochána station for the area in which the person, for whose benefit the safety order or protection order was made, resides, and
(e) where the order in question is a variation or discharge of a safety order or a protection order and the person for whose benefit the order was made had previously resided elsewhere, to the member of the Garda Síochána in charge of the Garda Síochána station for the area in which that person had so resided but only if that member had previously been sent under this subsection a copy of that safety order, protection order, or any order relating thereto.

(2) The court on making, varying or discharging a barring order or an interim barring order shall cause a copy of the order in question to be given or sent as soon as practicable—

(a) to the applicant for the barring order,
(b) to the respondent to the application for the barring order,
(c) where the Agency has made the application by virtue of section 11 for the barring order concerned, to the Agency,
(d) to the member of the Garda Síochána in charge of the Garda Síochána station for the area in which the place, in relation to which the application for the barring order was made, is situated, and
(e) where the order in question is a variation or discharge of a barring order or an interim barring order and the place in respect of which the previous order was made is elsewhere, to the member of the Garda Síochána in charge of the Garda Síochána station for the area in which that place is situated but only if that member had previously been sent a copy of the barring order or interim barring order that has been varied or discharged or any order relating thereto.

(3) The copy of the order to be given or sent as soon as practicable—

(a) to the applicant for the emergency barring order,
(b) to the respondent to the application for the emergency barring order,
(c) where the Agency has made the application by virtue of section 11 for the emergency barring order concerned, to the Agency,
(d) to the member of the Garda Síochána in charge of the Garda Síochána station for the area in which the place, in relation to which the application for the emergency barring order was made, is situated, and
(e) where the order in question is a variation or discharge of an emergency barring order and the place in respect of which the previous order was made is elsewhere, to the member of the Garda Síochána in charge of the Garda Síochána station for the area in which that place is situated but only if that member had previously been sent a copy of the emergency barring order that has been varied or discharged or any order relating thereto.

(4) The court on making, varying or discharging a safety order, a barring order, an interim barring order, an emergency barring order, or an order varying an order referred to in paragraph (a).
order or a protection order on the application of, or on behalf of, a person who is not of full age, shall cause a copy of the order in question to be given or sent as soon as practicable to the Agency.

(5) The validity of an order to which this section relates shall not be affected by non-compliance with subsections (1), (2), (3) or (4).

Effect of appeal from order

20. (1) An appeal from a safety order or a barring order shall, if the court that made the order or the court to which the appeal is brought so determines (but not otherwise), stay the operation of the order on such terms (if any) as may be imposed by the court making the determination.

(2) An appeal from a protection order, an interim barring order or an emergency barring order shall not stay the operation of the order.

Discharge of orders

21. (1) Where a safety order, barring order, interim barring order, emergency barring order or protection order has been made, any of the following persons may apply to the court that made the order to have the order discharged:

(a) where the application for the order was made by the Agency in respect of a dependent person by virtue of section 11—
   (i) the Agency,
   (ii) the person referred to in subsection (1)/(c) of that section, or
   (iii) the respondent to that application;

(b) where the application for the order was made by the Agency in respect of any other person (other than a dependent person referred to in paragraph (a)) by virtue of section 11—
   (i) the Agency,
   (ii) the applicant for that order, or
   (iii) the respondent to that application;

(c) in any other case—
   (i) the applicant for the order, or
   (ii) the respondent to the application for the order.

(2) The court shall, on an application under subsection (1), discharge the order if it is of the opinion that the safety and welfare of the applicant or the dependent person for whose protection the order was made does not require that the order should continue in force.

(3) A court may, if it thinks fit, discharge a safety order, barring order, interim barring order, emergency barring order or protection order where the court is determining, as between the applicant and the respondent—
   (a) a matrimonial cause or matter, (b) annulment or dissolution proceedings under the Act of 2010, or (c) proceedings under the Act of 1964.

(4) For the purposes of this section, an order made by a court on appeal from another court shall be treated as if it had been made by that other court.

Exercise of jurisdiction by court in civil proceedings

22. (1) The jurisdiction of the court in respect of civil proceedings under this Act may be exercised—

(a) as regards the Circuit Court, by the judge of the Circuit Court within whose circuit, and

(b) as regards the District Court, by a judge of the District Court for the time being assigned to the district court district within which, the applicant resides or, if the application is for a barring order or an emergency barring order, the place, in relation to which that application was made, is situated.

(2) For the purposes of subsection (1), a person concerned who would, but for the conduct of the respondent, be residing at a place may be treated by the court as residing at that place.

Hearing of civil proceedings

23. (1) Subject to section 40 of the Act of 2004 and section 26(1), civil proceedings under this Act shall be heard otherwise than in public.

(2) Where under section 15 a court hears together applications under more than one Act, the court shall, in so far as is practicable, comply with the requirements relating to the hearing of applications under each of those Acts and the other relevant provisions of those Acts shall apply accordingly.

(3) (a) Civil proceedings under this Act before the District Court shall be as informal as is practicable and consistent with the administration of justice.

(b) District Court judges hearing and determining civil proceedings under this Act and barristers and solicitors appearing in those proceedings shall not wear wigs or gowns.

(4) Civil proceedings under this Act before the Circuit Court shall be heard by the Circuit Family Court and accordingly, section 32 and subsections (1) and (2) of section 33 of the Act of 1989 shall apply to those proceedings.

(5) The proceedings to which subsections (3) and (4) of section 33 of the Act of 1989 apply shall be deemed to include proceedings under this Act.

Special sitting of District Court

24. (1) A member of the Garda Síochána not below the rank of sergeant may request the Courts Service to arrange a special sitting of the District Court for the purposes specified in subsection (2)—

(a) where a person has informed the member that he or she wishes to make an application referred to in paragraph (a) of that subsection, and

(b) at the time the person so informs the member, there is no District Court sitting in the district court district in which that person would make such an application if that court was sitting.

(2) The purposes referred to in subsection (1) are—

(a) to facilitate the making and determination of an application for an interim barring order, an emergency barring order or a protection order, and

(b) where necessary for the purposes of an application referred to in paragraph (a), to facilitate the making of an application for a safety order or a barring order.

(3) The Courts Service may, with the consent of a judge of the District Court exercising jurisdiction in accordance with section 22, arrange such special sittings of the District Court in the district court district referred to in subsection (1)(b) as may be necessary for the purposes specified in subsection (2).

(4) In this section, “special sitting” means a sitting of the District Court at a place and time not standing appointed for the time being under section 26 of the Courts of Justice Act 1953 or section 40 or 42 of the Courts (Supplemental Provisions) Act 1961 for the transaction of the business of the District Court.

Evidence through television link for civil proceedings

25. (1) In civil proceedings under this Act, a person (other than the respondent) may give evidence through a live television link—

(a) where that person has not attained the age of 18 years, unless the court sees good reason to the contrary,
(b) in any other case, with the leave of the court.

(2) Evidence given under subsection (1) shall be video-recorded or audio-recorded.

(3) Where live television link facilities are not in operation in a circuit court or district court district, and in the opinion of the court concerned it is desirable that evidence in the proceedings be given through a live television link, the court may by order transfer the proceedings to a circuit or district court district in relation to which those facilities are in operation.

(4) Where a court transfers proceedings under subsection (3), the jurisdiction of the court to which the proceedings have been transferred may be exercised—

(a) in the case of the Circuit Court, by the judge of the circuit concerned, and

(b) in the case of the District Court, by the judge of that court for the time being assigned to the district court district concerned.

(5) In this section, “video-recorded” means a recording on any medium from which a moving image may, by any means, be produced and includes the accompanying soundtrack (if any).

Right to be accompanied in court in certain circumstances

26. (1) Subject to subsection (2), an applicant may, in addition to being accompanied by his or her legal representative (if any), be accompanied in court by an individual (including a support worker) of his or her choice.

(2) The court may refuse to allow an applicant to be accompanied in court by a particular individual at any stage in the proceedings which relate to the applicant if the court considers that it would not be in the interests of justice for the individual concerned to accompany, or continue to accompany, the applicant and where the court so refuses it shall give reasons for such refusal.

(3) In this section, “support worker” means a volunteer of, or an individual employed under a contract of service or under a contract for services by, an organisation which provides support to victims of domestic violence.

Views of a child for whom an order is sought

27. (1) In civil proceedings under this Act, other than proceedings for the making of an interim barring order, an emergency barring order or a protection order, where an order is sought on behalf of a child, the court may, having regard to the age and maturity of that child, ascertain the views of the child prior to deciding whether or not to make the order in so far as that order relates to that child.

(2) The court may, by order, appoint an expert to ascertain and convey the views of a child where the court considers that appointment to be necessary for the purpose of subsection (1).

(3) Without prejudice to the generality of subsection (2), the court shall, in deciding whether to make an order under that subsection in relation to a child, have regard in particular to the following:

(a) the age and maturity of the child;

(b) any previous report made under this section in respect of the child;

(c) whether the making of the order will assist the expression by the child of his or her views in the proceedings;

(d) the best interests of the child.

(4) An expert appointed under subsection (2) shall—

(a) ascertain the maturity of the child,

(b) where so requested by the court, determine whether or not the child is capable of forming his or her own views on the matters which are the subject of the proceedings and report to the court on that determination, and

(c) where not so requested by the court under paragraph (b), or where so requested and the expert determines that the child is capable of forming his or her own views on the matters which are the subject of the proceedings— (i) ascertain the views of the child either generally on those matters or on a specific question on which the court requests the child’s views, and (ii) furnish a report to the court setting out the views of the child ascertained under subparagraph (i).

(5) The court may call an expert appointed under subsection (2) as a witness in the proceedings.

(6) Regulations made by the Minister in consultation with the Minister for Children and Youth Affairs under subsection (10) of section 32 of the Act of 1964 shall, in so far as those regulations apply to an expert appointed under subsection (1)(b) of that section, apply to an expert appointed under subsection (2).

(7) The fees and expenses of an expert appointed under subsection (2) shall be paid by such party to the proceedings, or by such parties to the proceedings and in such proportions, as the court may specify.

(8) Where the court has under this section by order appointed an expert, nothing in this section shall prevent the court from making a further order appointing the same or a different expert to perform the function of ascertaining the views of the child concerned.

Information to victims of domestic violence on support services

28. The Courts Service shall provide each applicant with information on, and contact details for, support services for victims of domestic violence.

Recommendation for engagement by respondent with certain services

29. (1) A court may, when making a safety order, a barring order or an emergency barring order, recommend to a respondent that he or she engage with a programme or service to address any issue relating to his or her behaviour which contributed to the application for the order being made including—

(a) a programme for perpetrators of domestic violence,

(b) an addiction service,

(c) a counselling or psychotherapy service, or

(d) a financial planning service.

(2) The court may, when hearing an application for a variation of, or an appeal from, a safety order, barring order or emergency barring order or when hearing an application for a further safety, barring or emergency barring order, consider the engagement of the respondent with a programme or service referred to in subsection (1) or any engagement of the respondent with a similar programme or service, whether or not on the recommendation of the court and the outcome of that engagement.

(3) If a court considers the engagement of the respondent with a programme or service in accordance with subsection (2), it shall have regard to the view (if any) of the applicant on that engagement and the effect of that engagement on the behaviour of the respondent.

Costs

30. The costs of civil proceedings under this Act shall be at the discretion of the court.

Rules of court and service of documents

31. (1) For the purpose of ensuring the expeditious hearing of applications under this Act, rules of court may make provision for the service of documents otherwise than under section 7 of the Courts Act 1964 in circumstances to which that section relates.

(2) This section is without prejudice to section 24 of the Interpretation Act 2005 which provides for rules of court.

Orders not to affect rights under certain enactments or estate or interest

32. (1) Where, by reason only of an interim barring order, emergency barring order or a barring order, a person is not residing at a place during any period, that person shall be deemed, for the purposes of any rights under the Statutes of Limitations, the Landlord and Tenant Acts 1967 to 2008, the Housing (Private Rented Dwellings) Acts 1982 and 1983 and the Residential Tenancies Acts 2004 to 2015, to be residing at that place during that period.
(2) Except in so far as the exercise by a respondent of a right to occupy the place to which a barring order, an interim barring order or an emergency barring order relates is suspended by virtue of the order, that order shall not affect any estate or interest in that place of that respondent or any other person.

OFFENCES AND PROCEEDINGS FOR OFFENCES

Offences

33. (1) A respondent who—

(a) contravenes a safety order, a barring order, an interim barring order, an emergency barring order or a protection order, or

(b) while a barring order, an emergency barring order or an interim barring order is in force, refuses to permit the applicant or a dependent person to enter in and remain in the place to which the order relates or does any act for the purpose of preventing the applicant or dependent person from so doing, commits an offence and shall be liable on summary conviction to a class B fine or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 12 months, or both.

(2) Subsection (1) is without prejudice to the law relating to contempt of court or any other liability, whether civil or criminal, that may be incurred by the respondent concerned.

Restrictions on those present in courtroom in proceedings under section 33

34. In proceedings relating to an offence under section 33, the judge shall exclude from the court during those proceedings all persons except officers of the court, persons directly concerned with those proceedings, bona fide representatives of the press and such other persons (if any) as the judge may in his or her discretion permit to remain.

Arrest without warrant

35. (1) Where a member of the Garda Síochána has reasonable cause for believing that an offence is being or has been committed under section 33 the member may, on complaint being made to him or her by or on behalf of the person who was the applicant for the order referred to in subsection (1) of that section, arrest the respondent concerned without warrant.

(2) For the purpose of arresting a respondent under subsection (1), a member of the Garda Síochána may enter, if need be by force, and search a place where the member, with reasonable cause, suspects the respondent to be.

Prohibition on publication or broadcast of certain matters

36. (1) Subject to subsection (2) and any direction given under subsection (4), where a person is charged with an offence under section 33, a person who publishes or broadcasts information about, or a photograph, depiction or other representation of the physical likeness of, the relevant person, the person charged or a dependent person of either of them that is likely to enable the identification of the relevant person or the person charged commits an offence.

(2) A person does not commit an offence under subsection (1) where—

(a) the relevant person consents in court to being identified or to the person charged being identified, or both, and

(b) the court, having considered the effect of identification on a dependent person of either the relevant person or the person charged, consents to that identification.

(3) If any matter is published or broadcast in contravention of subsection (1), the following persons commit an offence:

(a) in the case of matter published in a newspaper or periodical publication, the proprietor, the editor and the publisher thereof;

(b) in the case of matter published in any other written publication, the publisher thereof;

(c) in the case of matter broadcast, each person who transmits or provides the programme in which the broadcast is made and each person who performs functions in relation to the programme corresponding to those of the editor of a newspaper.
(4) The judge of the court in which proceedings for an offence under section 33 are brought may, where he or she considers that the interests of justice so require, direct that such information to which subsection (1) applies as he or she shall specify in the direction, may be published or broadcast in such manner and subject to such conditions as he or she may specify in the direction.

(5) In this section—

“broadcast” has the same meaning as it has in the Broadcasting Act 2009;

“publish” means publish, other than by way of broadcast, to the public or a portion of the public;

“relevant person” means the applicant for the order referred to in section 33(1) to which the offence relates.

Penalties for offence under section 36

37. (1) A person who commits an offence under subsection (1) of section 36 is liable—

(a) on summary conviction, to a class A fine or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 12 months, or both, or

(b) on conviction on indictment, to a fine not exceeding €50,000 or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 3 years, or both.

(2) A person who contravenes a direction or a condition specified in a direction given under subsection (4) of section 36 commits an offence and is liable—

(a) on summary conviction, to a class A fine or imprisonment for a term not exceeding 12 months, or both, and

(b) on conviction on indictment, to a fine not exceeding €50,000 or imprisonment for a term not exceeding 3 years, or both.

(3) (a) Where an offence under section 36 has been committed by a body corporate and is proved to have been committed with the consent or connivance of or to be attributable to any neglect on the part of a person, being a director, manager, secretary or other officer of the body corporate, or a person who was purporting to act in any such capacity, that person as well as the body corporate commits an offence and shall be liable to be proceeded against and punished as if he or she committed the first-mentioned offence.

(b) Where the affairs of a body corporate are managed by its members, paragraph (a) shall apply in relation to the acts and defaults of a member in connection with his or her functions of management as if he or she were a director or manager of the body corporate.

(4) It shall be a defence for a person who is charged with an offence under section 36 to prove that at the time of the alleged offence the person was not aware, and neither suspected nor had reason to suspect, that the matter alleged to have been published or broadcast was a matter specified in that section.

Offence of forced marriage

38. (1) A person commits an offence where he or she engages in relevant conduct for the purpose of causing another person to enter into a ceremony of marriage.

(2) A person commits an offence where he or she—

(a) removes another person from the State, and

(b) intends the other person to be subject to relevant conduct outside the State for the purpose of causing that other person to enter into a ceremony of marriage.

(3) A person commits an offence where, in a place other than the State, the person engages in relevant conduct for the purpose of causing another person to enter into a ceremony of marriage and the first-mentioned person is, at the time he or she engages in that conduct—

(a) an Irish citizen or ordinarily resident in the State and that conduct for that purpose would constitute an offence in the place in which that conduct occurs,
(b) on board an Irish ship within the meaning of section 9 of the Mercantile Marine Act 1955, or
(c) on an aircraft registered in the State.

(4) For the purpose of an offence under this section, the relevant conduct concerned (other than undue influence) may be directed at the other person referred to in subsection (1) or (2)(a), as the case may be, or another person.

(5) Proceedings for an offence under subsection (3) may be taken in any place in the State and the offence may, for all incidental purposes, be treated as having been committed in that place.

(6) In proceedings for an offence under subsection (3)—

(a) a certificate signed by an officer of the Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade and stating that a passport was issued by that Department to a person on a specified date, and

(b) a certificate signed by an officer of the Minister and stating that, to the best of the officer’s knowledge and belief, the person has not ceased to be an Irish citizen, is evidence of the facts stated in the certificate, and is taken to have been signed by the person purporting to have signed it, unless the contrary is shown.

(7) A person who commits an offence under this section shall be liable—

(a) on summary conviction to a class A fine or a term of imprisonment not exceeding 12 months, or both, or

(b) on conviction on indictment to a fine or a term of imprisonment not exceeding 7 years, or both.

(8) For the purposes of this section a person shall be deemed to be ordinarily resident in the State if he or she has had his or her principal residence in the State for the period of 12 months immediately preceding the alleged commission of the offence.

(9) Where a person has been acquitted of an offence in a place other than the State, he or she shall not be proceeded against for an offence under this section consisting of the alleged act or acts constituting the first-mentioned offence.

(10) Where a person has been convicted of an offence in a place other than the State, he or she shall not be proceeded against for an offence under this section consisting of the act or acts constituting the first-mentioned offence.

(11) In this section—“ceremony of marriage” means any religious, civil or secular ceremony of marriage, whether legally binding or not; “relevant conduct” means violence, threats, undue influence or any form of coercion or duress; “removes another person from the State” includes—

(a) arranging any part of the other person’s travel out of the State,

(b) accompanying the other person for any portion of that travel,

(c) arranging that the other person be met when his or her travel out of the State has terminated, or

(d) doing any other act that could facilitate the other person’s travel out of the State.

Offence of coercive control

39. (1) A person commits an offence where he or she knowingly and persistently engages in behaviour that—

(a) is controlling or coercive,

(b) has a serious effect on a relevant person, and

(c) a reasonable person would consider likely to have a serious effect on a relevant person.

(2) For the purposes of subsection (1), a person’s behaviour has a serious effect on a relevant person if the behaviour causes the relevant person—

(a) to fear that violence will be used against him or her, or
(b) serious alarm or distress that has a substantial adverse impact on his or her usual day-to-day activities.

(3) A person who commits an offence under subsection (1) is liable—

(a) on summary conviction, to a class A fine or imprisonment for a term not exceeding 12 months, or both, and

(b) on conviction on indictment, to a fine or imprisonment for a term not exceeding 5 years, or both.

(4) In this section, a person is a “relevant person” in respect of another person if he or she—

(a) is the spouse or civil partner of that other person, or

(b) is not the spouse or civil partner of that other person and is not related to that other person within a prohibited degree of relationship but is or was in an intimate relationship with that other person.

Relationship between defendant and victim as aggravating factor in sentencing for certain offences

40. (1) Where a court is determining the sentence to be imposed on a person for a relevant offence, the fact that the offence was committed by the person against a relevant person shall be treated, for the purpose of determining the sentence, as an aggravating factor.

(2) Subject to subsection (3), where subsection (1) applies the court shall impose a sentence which is greater than that which would have been imposed if the person against whom the offence was committed was not a relevant person.

(3) Subsection (2) shall not apply where the court considers that there are exceptional circumstances justifying it not applying that subsection.

(4) The sentence imposed as a result of the application of subsection (2) shall not be greater than the maximum sentence permissible for the relevant offence concerned.

(5) In this section— “Act of 1990” means the Criminal Law (Rape) (Amendment) Act 1990; “relevant offence” means—

(a) an offence under sections 2 to 15 of the Non-Fatal Offences against the Person Act 1997,

(b) any offence which involves violence or a threat of violence to a person other than an offence—

(i) referred to in paragraph (a), or

(ii) under section 39,

(c) rape,

(d) rape under section 4 of the Act of 1990,

(e) sexual assault within the meaning of section 2 of the Act of 1990,

(f) aggravated sexual assault within the meaning of section 3 of the Act of 1990,

(g) an offence consisting of attempting or conspiring to commit, or aiding or abetting, counselling or procuring or inciting the commission of, an offence referred to in paragraphs (a) to (f).

(6) In this section, a person is a “relevant person” in respect of another person if he or she—

(a) is the spouse or civil partner of that other person, or

(b) is not the spouse or civil partner of that other person and is not related to that other person within a prohibited degree of relationship but is or was in an intimate relationship with that other person.

PART 4

TRANSITIONAL AND SAVINGS AND CONSEQUENTIAL AMENDMENTS TO OTHER ACTS
Continuance of orders made under Act of 1996

41. (1) A safety order made under the Act of 1996 in force immediately before the coming into operation of section 6 shall, after that coming into operation, continue in force as if it had been made under that section and this Act shall apply to that order.

(2) A barring order made under the Act of 1996 in force immediately before the coming into operation of section 7 shall, after that coming into operation, continue in force as if it had been made under that section and this Act shall apply to that order.

(3) An interim barring order made under the Act of 1996 in force immediately before the coming into operation of section 8 shall, after that coming into operation, continue in force as if it had been made under that section and this Act shall apply to that order.

(4) A protection order made under the Act of 1996 in force immediately before the coming into operation of section 10 shall, after that coming into operation, continue in force as if it had been made under that section and this Act shall apply to that order.

Continuation of proceedings

42. (1) Where on the coming into operation of Part 2, proceedings referred to in subsection (2) have been commenced under the Act of 1996 but not determined, those proceedings shall be continued as if they were civil proceedings under this Act.

(2) Subsection (1) applies to the following proceedings:

(a) proceedings for the making, variation or discharge of a safety order or a barring order;

(b) proceedings, consequent on the making of an application for a barring order, for the making, variation or discharge of an interim barring order which relates to the application;

(c) proceedings, consequent on the making of an application for a safety order or barring order, for the making, variation or discharge of a protection order which relates to the application;

(d) any proceedings by way of appeal or case stated which are related to proceedings to which paragraph (a), (b) or (c) applies.

Amendment of section 12 of Criminal Evidence Act 1992

(1) The Act of 1995 is amended—

(a) in section 2(1)—

(i) by the deletion of the definition of “Act of 1996”, and

(ii) by the insertion of the following definition: “ ‘Act of 2018’ means the Domestic Violence Act 2018;”,

(b) in section 6, by the substitution of the following paragraph for paragraph (a): “(a) an order under section 6, 7, 8 or 10 of the Act of 2018;”,

(c) in section 10(1), by the substitution of the following paragraph for paragraph (d): “(d) an order under section 6, 7, 8 or 10 of the Act of 2018;”,

(d) in section 31(1), by the deletion of paragraph (b),

(e) by the repeal of section 33,
(f) in section 38(4)—

(i) by the deletion of paragraph (a), and

(ii) in paragraph (b), by the deletion of the words “in any other case,”, and

(g) in section 47(6), by the substitution of the following paragraph for paragraph (d):

(2) Where on the coming into operation of this section, an application has been made under section 33 of the Act of 1995 but not determined that application shall continue as if the amendments effected by paragraphs (d), (e) and (f) of subsection (1) had not been made and, where an order is made under section 33 pursuant to that application exempting the marriage from the application of section 31(1)(a) of the Act of 1995, that exemption shall be a valid exemption for that purpose.

(3) Notwithstanding the coming into operation of paragraph (d) of subsection (1), section 31(1)(b) of the Act of 1995 shall continue to apply to an exemption granted under section 33 of that Act prior to that coming into operation and to an exemption granted in accordance with subsection (2). (4) For the avoidance of doubt, nothing in this section shall affect the validity of a marriage by reason only that the marriage was entered into in reliance on an exemption granted under section 33 of the Act of 1995— (a) prior to the coming into operation of this section, or (b) in accordance with subsection (2).

5751-1991 [as amended by Amendment no. 3, 5748-1997 and Amendment no. 4, 5748-1998]

1. Definitions (Amendment: 5755, 5756)

In this Law -
“court” - Magistrate’s Court, Family Court, as well the Religious Court with regard to the parties in matters which it may decide;
“religious court” - Rabbinical Court, Shari’a Court, Christian Court and Druze Court; “spouse” - including common-law spouse “family member” - including a person who was a family member in the past, and he is one of the following:
(1) a spouse, parent or spouse of a parent, parent of a spouse or spouse of a parent, grandfather or grandmother, offspring of a spouse, brother or sister, brother-in-law or sister-in-law, uncle or aunt, nephew or niece;
(2) the person responsible for the sustenance, health, education or welfare of a minor or incapacitated person residing with the person responsible for him as stated.
“incapacitated person” - as defined in section 368A of the Penal Law, 5737-1977; “minor” - as defined in the Legal Capacity and Guardianship Law, 5722-1962; “welfare officer” - a person legally appointed as such.

2. Protection order (Amendment: 5756, 5758)

(a) A court may issue an order prohibiting a person from doing all or some of the following acts, or attach conditions thereto
(hereinafter “protection order”):

(1) enter the dwelling where the family member resides or be found within a certain distance of such dwelling, notwithstanding that he has any right therein;
(2) harass a family member in any manner and at any place;
(3) act in any way which prevents or hinders the use of an asset lawfully in use by a family member, notwithstanding that he has any right to the asset;
(4) carry or possess a weapon, including a weapon given to him by the Israel Defense Forces or by any other State agency.

(b) A protection order may also include a requirement to post bail with regard to compliance therewith and good behavior, or any other directive, as the court shall see fit, to guarantee the well-being and safety of the family member, and may also include directives in respect of the arrangement required as a result of granting the order.

(c) Conditions in respect of bail as stated in subsection (b), including its revocation, shall be specified in the protection order.

(c1) The court may, on particular grounds to be set out in its decision, extend the validity of bail on good behavior for a period that shall not exceed one year from the expiry of the protection order.

(d) Where a protection order has been issued which includes a prohibition pursuant to subsection (a)(4), notice thereof shall be given by the court to the licensing officer as defined in the Firearms Law, 5709-1949, and if the person bound by the order is a member of the Reserves of the Israel Defense Forces, notice thereof shall be given to the Israel Defense Forces.

(e) Where a protection order has been issued which includes a prohibition pursuant to subsection (a)(4) and the person bound by the order is a member of the security service, the court may prescribe conditions in the order according to which that person may carry or possess a weapon in order to carry out his duties. Notice of such an order shall be given by the court to the relevant security service, and it shall make the necessary arrangements to ensure compliance with the order. For the purposes of this section, “member of the service” is a member of the Israel Police Force, the Prison Service or General Security Service or a soldier as defined in the Articles of War Law, 5716-1955.

(f) Where a protection order has been issued which does not include a prohibition pursuant to subsection (a)(4), the court shall specify the grounds for not including the said prohibition in the order.

\(^2\) Prevention of Family Violence Law, Law No. 5751 (as amended by Laws No. 3, 5748-1997 and No. 4, 5748-1998), available at
(g) Where a protection order has been issued for the protection of a minor, notice thereof shall be given by the court to the welfare officer within the meaning of the Youth (Care and Supervision) Law, 5720-1960.

(2) Where a protection order has been issued for the protection of a minor, the court may order the welfare officer, as set out in paragraph (1), to file a written report at the time it sets out.

(3) Where a protection order has been issued for the protection of a minor as set out in subsection (a)1 in respect of the person responsible for the minor, the court shall order the welfare officer as set out in paragraph (1) to file a report with the court. The said report shall be filed within 30 days and the welfare officer shall state his position regarding, among other things, regarding the existence of the possibility of maintaining a connection between the minor and the person responsible for the minor.

(4) If it is the opinion of the court, based on the report as set out in paragraph (3), that maintaining the connection between the person responsible for the minor in respect of whom the protection order was issued falls in line with the good of the minor, it may grant orders in the matter.

(h) Where a protection order has been issued for the protection of a minor as set out in subsection (a)1 in respect of the person responsible for the minor and the purpose of the order is not to protect the minor, the court may order maintaining the connection between the person and the minor, but only where it is convinced, on the basis of the report pursuant to the provisions of section 6 or otherwise, that there will not be harm to the minor.

(i) In respect of this section, “responsible for a minor” means a parent, step-parent, guardian, or one who has the care and custody of the minor.

2A. Undertaking to obtain treatment (Amendment: 5756)

(a) Where a protection order has been granted, the court may, upon issuing the order or at a later time, order the person to whom the order applies to give an undertaking that he shall obtain treatment from a person to be determined by the court (hereinafter in this clause “undertaking to obtain treatment”).

(b) The court shall not order an undertaking to obtain treatment unless a report as stated in section 6 was filed with the court as stated in section 6, and the court is convinced that the person to whom the protection order applies is suitable for the treatment as well as agrees to and understands the terms and the nature of the treatment, and there is a framework for treating him.

(c) Where the court has ordered an undertaking to obtain treatment, it shall order the submission of a report to the court regarding progress of the treatment, at such times and in the manner it determines.

3. Application to grant a protection order and conditions for granting the same (Amendment: 5756, 5758)

At the request of a family member, the Attorney General or his representative, a police prosecutor or welfare officer nominated pursuant to the Youth (Care and Supervision) Law, 5720-1960, the court may grant a protection order against a person if it sees that one of the following has occurred:

(1) shortly before the petition was filed the person acted violently against a family member, committed a sexual offense against him or unlawfully detained him;

(2) his behavior constitutes a reasonable basis for assuming that he poses a substantial physical threat to a family member he may commit a sexual offense against him;

(3) where he has committed continuous mental abuse or behaved in a manner which does not permit a family member to run his life in a reasonable and proper manner.

For the purposes of this section, “sexual offense” means offense pursuant to Article Five of Chapter Ten of the Penal Law, 5737-1977.

4. Procedure (Amendment: 5758)

(a) The court may grant a protection order ex-parte; where an ex-parte order has been granted the hearing in the presence of both parties shall be conducted as soon as possible and no later than seven days from the granting of the order.

(b) Where a hearing is held as stated in subsection (a), the court may extend the validity of the order as stated in section 5, cancel it or insert changes in it, even if the person to whom the order applies is not present at the hearing.

(c) Notwithstanding subsection (a), an order as stated in section 3(3) shall be granted only with both parties present, unless the respondent has been legally served at is not present at the hearing.

5. Period of validity (Amendment: 5758)

The validity of a protection order shall not exceed three months. The court may extend the validity of the order from time to time, provided that the total period shall not exceed six months. However, on special grounds to be specified in its decision, it may extend the validity of the order for a total period not to exceed one year.

6. Report (Amendment: 5758)

For the purpose of procedure pursuant to clause 4(b), the court may order a welfare officer to prepare a written report by the time it shall adjudicate in any matter relating to a protection order, and the provisions of the Welfare (Procedure Regarding Minors, Mentally-ill and Missing Persons) Law, 5716-1955, shall apply, mutatis mutandis, even if report is requested regarding someone not included in the said Law.

7. Breaching an order (Amendment: 5758)
   (a) Abrogated
   (b) Where a complaint has been filed with the police in respect of the breach a protection order which includes a prohibition pursuant to section 2(a)(1), a police officer may arrest the offender.
   (c) It shall not be a valid defense for one who has violated a protection order to claim that his family members did not insist on its compliance or the operation of the Law as a result of the breach.

8. Rules of evidence (Amendment: 5755)
   (a) In proceedings pursuant to this Law, the provisions of sections 3 and 4 of the Evidence Ordinance (New Version), 5731-1971, shall not apply.
   (b) The provisions of the Family Courts law, 5765-1995, shall apply to the Magistrate’s Court hearing a claim pursuant to this Law.

9. Methods of furnishing
   Court documents and orders pursuant to this Law shall be furnished by a clerk of the court or by one authorized in writing by a court of the director of the courts; however, a family member of a party to proceedings or anyone on his behalf shall not be authorized unless it is his lawyer, if he agrees to it.

10. Jurisdiction
    In a proceeding under this Law, the court may not be precluded from considering or providing relief in the matter on the basis that it is being heard in another proceeding or on the basis that a family member waived his right pursuant to this Law or for another reason.

11. Costs and damages
    Where the court has dismissed a claim to grant a protection order as vexatious, it may impose on the person who sought the protection order all or part of the following:
    (1) Costs in favor of the State and the aggrieved party, at such rate as it sees fit;
    (2) Adequate damages to the party aggrieved by the filing of the petition.

12. Observance of laws
    The provisions of this Law are in addition to the provisions of any law and do not derogate from them.

13. Implementation and regulations (Amendment: 5756(2))
    (a) The Minister of Justice is responsible for the implementation of this Law and he may make regulation regarding anything related to its implementation.
    (b) The Minister for Religious Affairs, with the consent of the Minister of Justice, may make regulations as set out in subsection (a), for all religious courts, mutatis mutandis.

14. Amendment to the Youth (Care and Supervision) Law
    In the Youth (Care and Supervision) Law, 5720-1960, the following shall be inserted after section 3:
    3A. “Protection order
        The court seized with a matter in respect of a minor may, if it views it as necessary, issue a protection order pursuant to the Prevention of Family Violence Law, 5751-1991”.

15. Amendment to the Criminal Procedure Law
    In the Criminal Procedure Law (Consolidated Version), 5742-1982, at the end of section 44, there shall be added “the court may also grant a protection order as stated in the Prevention of Family Violence Law, 5751-1991”.

16. Commencement
    This Law shall come into force 90 days from the day of its publication.

Chapter I - PREVENTION AND FIGHT AGAINST GENDER-BASED VIOLENCE

1. In cases where, (In a non-anonymous form) is reported to the police a fact attributable (To the crimes, consumed or attempted, in articles 581 and 582, second paragraph, of the Criminal Code) and committed in a context of domestic violence, the commissioner, even in the absence of a complaint, can issue a warning to the perpetrator, after taking the necessary information from the investigative bodies and upon hearing the persons informed of the facts. For the purposes of this article, domestic violence is intended as (one or more serious, or non-isolated, acts,) of physical, sexual, psychological or economic violence occurring within the family or family unit (or between persons who are, or used to be, married or in a sentimental relationship,) regardless of whether the author of such acts shares, or has shared, the same residence with the victim.

2. The provisions of Article 8, paragraphs 1 and 2 of Law Decree No. 11 of 23 February 2009, converted, with amendments, by Law No. 38 of April 23, 2009, (as amended by this decree) are applied where compatible. When the commissioner proceeds to the warning pursuant to Article 8 of Law Decree No.11 of 23 February 2009, converted, with amendments, by law No. 38 of April 23, 2009, as amended by this decree, and pursuant to this article, he informs without delay the perpetrator of the fact about services available on the territory including family counseling, mental health, and addiction rehabilitation services as identified by the Plan referred to in Article 5 and aimed at the rehabilitation of authors of domestic or gender-based violence.))

Protection for foreigners who are victims of domestic violence

1. After Article 18 of the Law consolidating provisions on Immigration and on the Condition of Foreigner pursuant to Legislative Decree No. 286 of 25 July 1998, is ([inserted]) the following:

"Article 18-bis

(Residence permit for victims of domestic violence)

"1. When, in the course of police operations, investigations or proceedings for one of the offenses provided for in Articles 572, 582, 583, 583-bis, 605, 609-bis and 612-bis of the Criminal Code, or for one of the crimes in Article 380 of the Criminal Procedure Code committed in the context of domestic violence on the national territory, situations of violence or abuse against a foreigner are ascertained, and there is a concrete and current danger for her safety as a consequence of attempts to escape the violence, or due to statements made during the preliminary investigations or at the trial, the police superintendent ([with the favorable opinion of the judicial authority or on the proposal of the latter]), issues a residence permit to allow the victim to escape the violence in accordance with Article 5, paragraph 6. For the purposes of this article, domestic violence is intended as ([one or more serious, or non-isolated, acts]) of physical, sexual, psychological or economic violence occurring within the family, or family unit or ([among people who are or used to be married or in a sentimental relationship,]) regardless of whether the author of such acts shares, or has shared, the same residence with the victim.

2. With the proposal or the opinion referred to in paragraph 1, the elements of the existence of the situations indicated therein shall be communicated to the police superintendent, with particular reference to the seriousness and current existence of a danger to personal safety.

3. The same residence permit can be issued by the police superintendent when the situation of violence or abuse has emerged in the course of welfare interventions by ([anti-violence centers, territorial social services or]) social services specialized in

5. The provisions of this Article shall apply, insofar as they are compatible, also to nationals of Member States of the European Union and their family members. "

Art. 5

((Extraordinary Action Plan Against Sexual and Gender-based Violence

1. The Minister delegated for equal opportunities, including by using the Fund for policies related to rights and equal opportunities [...] elaborates, with the contribution of the relevant administrations, the women’s associations engaged in the fight against violence, and anti-violence centers, and adopts, following agreement in a joint Conference pursuant to legislative decree No. 281 of 28 August 1997, an "Extraordinary Action Plan against Sexual and Gender-based Violence", hereinafter referred to as the "Plan", which must be implemented in synergy with the new EU programming for the period 2014-2020.

2. The Plan, which aims to ensure homogeneous actions in the national territory, has the following objectives:
   a) to prevent the phenomenon of violence against women through public information and awareness raising, as well as by increasing the engagement of men and boys in the process of eliminating violence against women and in resolving interpersonal conflicts;
   b) to sensitize actors within the media to engage in communication and information, including in the commercial field, that is respectful in the representation of gender and, in particular, of the female figure also through the adoption of self-regulation codes by the actors themselves;
   c) to promote adequate training of school staff on gender relations, and against gender-based violence and discrimination, and to promote, within national guidelines for the national curriculum for nursery school and the first cycle of education, guidelines for high schools, technical and vocational schools, curricular and extra-curricular teaching modules for schools of all levels, awareness raising, information and training for students in order to prevent violence against women and gender-based discrimination, including through the appropriate enhancement of these topics in textbooks;
   d) to improve the forms of assistance and support for women victims of violence and their children through homogeneous methods of strengthening local service networks, anti-violence centers and services to assist women who are victims of violence;
   e) to ensure the training of all professional who come into contact with incidents of gender-based violence or stalking;
   f) to increase the protection of victims by strengthening collaboration between all the institutions involved;
   g) to promote, throughout the national territory, the development and implementation of measures of support and reintegration of those responsible for acts of violence in sentimental relationships, based on consolidated methodologies and consistent with specific guidelines, in order to favor rehabilitation and to limit recidivism;
   h) to plan, at least annually, a structured and periodically updated collection of data on the phenomenon, including through surveys by anti-violence centers and the coordination of existing databases;
   i) to plan for specific positive actions that also take into account the skills of the administrations involved in the prevention, contrast and support of victims of gender-based violence and stalking, and the experiences of associations providing assistance in the sector;
   l) to define a structured governance system among all levels of government, which is also based on the different experiences and good practices already implemented in local networks and on the territory.

3. The Minister for Equal Opportunities sends an annual report on the implementation of the Plan to both Houses.

4. To finance the Plan, the Fund for policies relating to rights and equal opportunities is increased by € 10 million Euros for the year 2013. The relative cost is supported by a corresponding reduction in the authorization of expenditure referred to in Article 61, paragraph 22, of Law Decree No. 112 of 25 June 2008, converted, with amendments, by Law No. 133 of 6 August 2008, and subsequent modifications.
5. The implementation of provisions contained in this article, without prejudice to the provisions of paragraph 4 of the same article and article 5-bis, is provided through the use of human, instrumental and financial resources available under current legislation, without new or higher public expenses. )

(Article 5 bis
Actions relative to anti-violence centers and shelters

1. In order to implement the provisions of article 5, paragraph 2, letter d) of this decree, the Fund for policies relating to rights and equal opportunities, as per article 19, paragraph 3, of Law Decree No. 223 of 4 July 2006, converted, with modifications, by Law No. 248 of 4 August 2006, is increased by 10 million Euros in 2013, by 7 million Euros in 2014, and by 10 million Euros a year starting from 2015. The relative charge of 10 million Euros for 2013 is made through an equivalent reduction of the spending authorization referred to in Article 61, paragraph 22, of Law Decree No. 112 of 25 June 2008, converted, with amendments, by Law No. 1336 of August 2008, as amended, and with regard to 7 million Euros for 2014 and 10 million Euros per year starting from 2015, by equivalent reduction of the authorization of expenditure referred to in Article 10, paragraph 5, of Law Decree No. 282 of 29 November 2004, converted, with amendments, by Law No. 307 of December 2004, relative to the Fund for structural interventions of economic policy. The Minister of Economy and Finance is authorized to make the necessary changes to the budget by decree.

2. The Minister with responsibility for equal opportunities, upon agreement within the Permanent Conference for Relations between the State, the Regions and the Autonomous Provinces of Trento and Bolzano, distributes annually the resources referred to in paragraph 1 by taking into account:
   a) regional plans and actions already in place to combat violence against women;
   b) the number of public and private anti-violence centers already existing in each region;
   c) the number of public and private shelters already existing in each region;
   d) the need to rebalance the presence of the anti-violence centers and shelters in each region, reserving one third of the funds available to the establishment of new centers and shelters in order to achieve the objective set forth by recommendations of the Meeting of Experts on Violence against Women - Finland, 8-10 November 1999.

3. Anti-violence centers and shelters, to which anonymity is guaranteed, are promoted by:
   a) local authorities, individually or in partnership;
   b) associations and organizations active in the field of support and aid to women victims of violence, who have gained specific experience and expertise in the field of violence against women by using a reception methodology based on the relationship among women, with staff specifically trained;
   c) subjects indicated in letters a) and b), upon agreement, consensus or in a consortium form.

4. Anti-violence centers and shelters operate in an integrated way with the local network of social and health services by taking into account the fundamental protection needs of victims of violence, even if they perform specialized service functions.

5. Regardless of the methodologies of intervention adopted and the specific professional profiles of the operators involved, the training of staff of anti-violence centers and shelters promotes an integrated approach to the phenomenon of violence, in order to acknowledge the different forms of violence suffered by individuals at a relational, physical, psychological, social, cultural and economic level. The recognition of the dimensions of violence attributable to gender inequalities is also part of the training of staff of anti-violence centers and shelters.

6. By March 30th of each year, the regions recipients of resources to be distributed shall transmit to the Minister for Equal Opportunities a report concerning the initiatives taken in the previous year to avail themselves of the same resources.

7. On the basis of the information provided by the regions, the Minister for Equal Opportunities presents to both Houses, by June 30th each year, a report on the use of the resources allocated under this article. )

Art. 61
General aggravating circumstances
The following circumstances, when they are no constitutive elements or special aggravating circumstances, aggravate the crime:

11) having committed the act with abuse of a domestic relationship or authority, or with abuse of a relationship of work or employment, cohabitation, or hospitality;

11-quinquies) in crimes of negligence against individual life and safety, personal liberty, as well as in the crime referred to in Article 572 [maltreatment of family members or cohabitants], having committed the act in the presence or to the damage of a minor of eighteen years, or in damage of a pregnant person.

Book II – Of Specific Crimes
Title XI - Of crimes against the family

Chapter IV - Of crimes against family assistance
Art. 570 - Violation of family assistance obligations.
Anyone who, by abandoning the family home, or otherwise by adopting a conduct contrary to the order or morals of families, escapes from the obligations of assistance concerning parental responsibility, [legal guardianship] or the status of spouse, is punished with imprisonment up to a year or a fine ranging from 103 to 1,032 Euros.

The said sentences apply jointly to whomever:
1. misuse or dilapidates assets of the minor child [c.p. 540], the pupil [c.c. 343, 414], or the spouse;
2. fails to provide the means of subsistence to the descendants [c.c. 75] who are minors or incapable to work, to the ascendants, or to the spouse who is not legally separated by his/her fault.

The crime is punishable on complaint by the injured party except in the cases provided for by number 1 and, when the offense is committed against minors, by number 2 of the preceding paragraph.

The provisions of this article do not apply if the fact is foreseen as a more serious offense by another legal provision.

Art. 572
Maltreatment of family members and cohabitants.
Whoever, except in the cases indicated in the preceding article, mistreats a family member or, in any case, a cohabitant, or a person subjected to his authority or entrusted to him for reasons of education, care, supervision or custody, or for the exercise of a profession or art, is punished with imprisonment from two to six years.

If from the fact derives a severe bodily injury, the imprisonment from four to nine years is applicable; if the injury is extremely severe, the imprisonment is from seven to fifteen years; if death derives from it, the imprisonment is from twelve to twenty-four years.

Title XII - Of crimes against the person

Art. 575.
Murder.
Anyone who causes the death of a man is punished with imprisonment of not less than twenty-one years.

[...]

____________________________________________________________________________________
The sentence of life imprisonment is applied if the fact foreseen by the preceding article is committed:

2. against the ascendant or the descendant, when some of the circumstances indicated in numbers 1 and 4 of article 61 are involved, or when a poisonous medium or other insidious means are used, or when there is premeditation;

Art. 577. Other aggravating circumstances. Life imprisonment.
The sentence of life imprisonment applies if the fact foreseen by article 575 [murder] is committed:

1) against the ascendant, or the descendant, or against the spouse, even if legally separated, against the other part of the civil union or against the person who is in a sentimental relationship and permanently cohabiting with the perpetrator;

Art. 609-bis. Sexual violence.
Anyone who, through violence, threat, or abuse of authority forces someone to perform or to undergo to sexual acts is punished with imprisonment from five to ten years. [...]

Art. 609-ter. Aggravating circumstances.
The penalty is imprisonment from six to twelve years if the facts referred to in article 609-bis are committed:

[...]

5) against a person who has not completed the sixteen years of which the culprit is the ascendant, the adoptive parent, the guardian;

5-ter) against a pregnant woman;

5-quater) against a person of whom the perpetrator is the spouse, even if separated or divorced, or with whom he is or has been in a sentimental relationship, even without cohabitation;

Art. 609-quater. Sexual acts with a minor.
Whoever, outside the cases provided for in this article, performs sexual acts with a person who, at the time of the fact

2) has not completed the sixteen years, when the culprit is the ascendant, the parent, also adoptive, or the cohabitant, the guardian, or other person to whom, for reasons of treatment, education, supervision or custody, the child is entrusted or has, with the latter, a relationship of cohabitation is subject to the penalty established by Article 609-bis,

Outside the cases referred to in Article 609-bis, the ascendant, the parent, including the adoptive parent, or the cohabitant, the guardian, or other person to whom, for reasons of treatment, education, supervision or custody, the child is entrusted, or with the latter has a relationship of cohabitation, who, with the abuse of the powers connected to his position, performs sexual acts with a minor person who has completed the sixteen years, is punished with imprisonment from three to six years. [...]

Art. 612-bis.
Persecutory acts.

Except where the fact constitutes a more serious offense, whomever, by means of a repetitive conduct, threatens or harasses another person in order to cause a persistent and severe state of anxiety or fear, or generates a well-founded fear about one’s own safety or that of a close relative or of a person to whom is bound by a sentimental relationship, or forces him/her to alter his/her own life habits, is punished with imprisonment from six months to five years.

The penalty is increased if the act is committed by the spouse, even if separated or divorced, or by a person who is or has been in a sentimental relationship with the offended person, or if the act is committed through IT or telematic means.

The crime is punished on complaint by the injured person. The deadline for filing a criminal complaint is six months. The withdrawal of the criminal complaint can only be procedural. The criminal complaint is in any case irrevocable if the fact has been committed through repeated threats according to the second paragraph of Article 612 [threats]. However, the crime is prosecuted ex-officio if the act is committed against a minor or a person with disabilities as referred to in Article 3 of Law No. 104 of 5 February 1992, as well as when the fact is connected to another crime for which ex-officio prosecution is warranted.

PART I
BOOK IV - PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES
TITLE I - Personal precautionary measures
Chapter II. Coercive measures

Art. 282-bis.
Removal from the family home.

1. With the provision that provides for removal, the judge requires the defendant to immediately leave the family home, or not to return, and not to access it without the authorization of the judge who is proceeding. Any authorization may prescribe certain visitation methods.

2. The judge, if there is a need to protect the injured party or her immediate relatives, may also require the defendant not to approach certain places habitually frequented by the injured person, in particular the workplace, the domicile of the family of origin or of the next of kin, unless the presence is necessary for work reasons. In the latter case, the judge prescribes the relevant procedures and may impose limitations.

3. The judge, at the request of the public prosecutor, may also order the periodic payment of a check to the cohabiting persons whom, as a result of the precautionary measure ordered, remain without adequate means. The judge determines the extent of the allowance taking into account the circumstances and income of the obligor and establishes the terms and conditions of the payment. It may order, if necessary, that the allowance is paid directly to the beneficiary by the obligor’s employer, deducting it from the remuneration due to him. The order of payment has the effect of an enforceable title.

4. The measures referred to in paragraphs 2 and 3 may also be taken after the provision referred to in paragraph 1, provided that this has not been revoked or has not in any case lost its effectiveness. Even if adopted subsequently, they lose their effectiveness if the measure referred to in paragraph 1 is in any way lost or ineffective. The measure referred to in paragraph 3, if in favor of the spouse or children, also loses effectiveness upon adoption of the ordinance provided for by article 708 of the Code of Civil Procedure or other provision of the civil court regarding the economic-patrimonial relations between spouses or the support of children.

5. The measure referred to in paragraph 3 may be amended if the conditions of the obligor or beneficiary change, and is revoked if the cohabitation resumes.

6. When proceeding for one of the crimes provided for by Articles 570, 571, 582, limited to the hypothesis of ex officio prosecution or otherwise aggravated, 600, 600-bis, 600-ter, 600-quater, 600-septies.1, 600-septies .2, 601, 602,609-bis, 609-

Art. 282-ter.
Prohibition to approach the places frequented by the injured person.

1. With the measure that provides for the prohibition of contact, the judge prescribes the accused not to approach specific places habitually frequented by the injured person, or to maintain a certain distance from such places or from the injured person.

2. If there are further needs for protection, the judge can prescribe the defendant not to approach specific places habitually frequented by close relatives of the injured person, or by persons living with this as cohabitants or in any case linked to [the injured person] by an affective relationship, or to maintain a certain distance from such places or such persons.

3. The judge can also forbid the accused to communicate, by any means, with the persons referred to in paragraphs 1 and 2.

4. When the attendance of the places referred to in paragraphs 1 and 2 is necessary for work reasons or for housing needs, the judge prescribes the relevant modalities and may impose limitations.

Article 282-quater.
Communication obligations.

1. The measures referred to in articles 282-bis and 282-ter shall be communicated to the competent public security authority, for the purpose of the potential adoption of measures regarding arms and ammunitions. They are also communicated to the injured party and to the social-welfare services of the territory. When the accused is positively submitted to a program of violence prevention organized by the social-welfare services of the territory, the person in charge of the service communicates this to the public prosecutor and to the judge for the purposes of the evaluation pursuant to article 299, paragraph 2.

   1-bis. With the communication provided for in paragraph 1, the offended person is informed of the right to request the issuance of a European protection order.

Art. 299. Revocation and replacement of measures.

1. The coercive and interdictory measures are immediately revoked whenever the criteria of applicability provided for by art. 273, or by the provisions relating to the individual measures, or the precautionary requirements provided for by Article 274 are missing, also due to supervened events.

2. Except as provided by Art. 275, paragraph 3, when the precautionary requirements are mitigated, or the measure applied no longer appears proportionate to the extent of the fact or to the sanction that may be imposed, the judge replaces the measure with a less severe measure or determines its application by less cumbersome modalities.

2-bis. The measures referred to in paragraphs 1 and 2 [revocation and replacement] relative to the measures provided for in articles 282-bis, 282-ter, 283, 284, 285 and 286, when applied in proceedings concerning crimes committed violently against the person, must be immediately communicated by the judicial police to the social welfare services as well as the counsel of the injured party or, failing that, to the injured party.

3. The public prosecutor and the accused request the revocation or replacement of the [coercive] measures to the judge, who provides by order within five days from the filing of the request. The request for revocation or replacement of the measures provided for in articles 282-bis, 282-ter, 283, 284, 285 and 286 applied in proceedings referred to in paragraph 2-bis of this article, which was not proposed in the course of the security questioning, must be notified simultaneously by the requesting party, and under penalty of inadmissibility, to counsel of the injured person or, failing that, to the injured person, unless this has not declared or elected domicile. The defendant and the injured person may, in the two days following the notification, submit statements pursuant to Article 121. Once the aforesaid term has expired, the judge proceeds. [...]

3-bis. The judge must hear the public prosecutor before ordering the revocation or replacement of the coercive and interdictory measures, either at the office or at the request of the defendant. If the public prosecutor does not express his opinion within two days, the judge proceeds.

3-ter. The judge, after evaluating the elements supporting the request of revocation or replacement of the measures, may interrogate the person under investigation before taking action. If the request for revocation or replacement is based on new or different elements compared to those already assessed, the judge must interrogate the accused who has requested it.

4. Without prejudice to the provisions of article 276, when the precautionary needs are exacerbated, the judge, at the request of the public prosecutor, replaces the measure with a more severe one, or provides to its more cumbersome application, or applies jointly other coercive or interdictory measures.

4-bis. After closing the preliminary investigations, if the accused asks for the revocation or replacement of the measure with another less severe, or its application by less burdensome modalities, the judge, if the request is not presented at the hearing, communicates it to the public prosecutor, who, within two days, formulates his own requests. The request for revocation or replacement of the measures provided for in articles 282-bis, 282-ter, 283, 284, 285 and 286, applied in the proceedings referred to in paragraph 2-bis of this article, must be simultaneously notified, by the requesting party, under penalty of inadmissibility, to counsel of the injured party or, failing that, to the injured party, unless this has failed to declare or elect domicile.

PART II

Book V: Preliminary investigations and preliminary hearing

Article 380.

Mandatory arrest in flagrante delicto.

1. Even outside of the cases referred to in paragraph 1, the agents and officers of judicial police proceed to arrest anyone who is caught in flagrante delicto of one of the following non-culpable, consumed or attempted, crimes:

[...]

1-ter) crimes of mistreatment of family members and cohabitants, and of persecutory acts, provided for by Articles 572 and 612-bis of the penal code;

[...]

Art. 384-bis.

Urgent removal from the family home

1. The judicial and police officers have the right to dispose, previous written authorization by the public prosecutor, or made orally and confirmed in writing or by electronic means, the urgent removal from the family home of those who are caught in the flagrante commission of crimes referred to in Article 282-bis, paragraph 6, with the prohibition to approach the places habitually frequented by the injured person, where there are reasonable grounds to believe that the criminal conduct may be repeated by placing in serious and present danger the life, physical or mental integrity of the injured person. The judicial police, without delay, proceeds to undertake the information obligations under Article 11 of Law Decree No. 11 of 23 February 2009, converted, with amendments, by Law No. 38 of 23 April 2009, and subsequent modifications.

2. The provisions of articles 385 et seq. of this title shall apply mutatis mutandis. The provisions of article 381, paragraph 3, are observed. The oral complaint is recorded in the report on the removal measure.

TITLE IV
Activities at the initiative of the judicial police

Art. 351.
Other summary information

1. The judicial police assume summary information from persons who can report circumstances useful for the purpose of the investigations.

1-ter. In proceedings for crimes provided for in articles 572, 600, 600-bis, 600-quater, 600-quater.1, 600-quinquies, 601, 602, 609-bis, 609-quater, 609-quinquies, 609-octies, 609-undecies and 612-bis of the Penal Code37, the judicial police, when it must assume summary information from minors, make use of the help of an expert in psychology or child psychiatry, appointed by the public prosecutor. It proceeds in the same way when it has to assume summary information from an injured person, even an adult, who is in conditions of particular vulnerability. In any case, when requesting summary information, it ensures that the particularly vulnerable injured person does not have any contacts with the person under investigation, and is not called to give such information repeatedly, except where absolutely necessary to the investigation.

Protection orders against family abuse

Art. 342-bis.
Protection orders against family abuse.

When the conduct of the spouse or other cohabitant causes serious prejudice to the physical, moral integrity or freedom of the other spouse or cohabitant, the judge, [when the fact does not constitute crime prosecutable ex officio] on application by the party, may adopt by decree one or more of the measures referred to in Article 342-ter.

Article 342-ter.
Content of protection orders.

With the decree referred to in article 342-bis, the judge orders the spouse or cohabitant who has carried out the prejudicial conduct, the termination of the same and orders his removal from the family home also prescribing, where necessary, not to approach the places habitually frequented by the requesting party and, in particular, her workplace, the domicile of the family of origin, of other close relatives, or other persons, the places of education of the couple's children, unless the former has to frequent these places for work purposes. The judge, where necessary, may also provide for the intervention of the social services of the territory or of a family mediation center, as well as of associations that have as their statutory purpose the support and reception of women and minors or other victims of abuse and mistreatment; the periodic payment of a check to cohabiting persons who, as a result of the measures referred to in the first paragraph, remain without adequate means, establishing payment methods and terms and prescribing, if necessary, that the sum be paid directly to the beneficiary by the obligor’s employer, by deducting it from his salary.

With the same decree the judge, in the cases referred to in the preceding paragraphs, establishes the duration of the protection order, which starts running from the day of the execution of the same. This cannot be more than one year and can be extended, upon request of the party, only for serious reasons and for the time strictly necessary.

With the same decree, the judge determines the modalities of implementation [of the protection order]. Where difficulties or disputes arise in relation to its execution, the same judge, by decree, provides to decide most appropriate modalities for its implementation, including through the use of public force and the assistance of a health officer.

PART II. Application for Orders

3.- (1) The Court may, on application, grant a protection order or occupation order in accordance with this Act.
(2) An application for an order referred to in subsection (1), may be made-
   (a) by the spouse or parent in respect of whom the alleged conduct has been, or is likely to be, engaged in by the respondent;
   (b) where the alleged conduct is used or threatened against a child or dependant by-
      (i) a person with whom the child or dependant normally resides or resides on a regular basis;
      (ii) a parent or guardian of the child or dependant;
      (iii) a dependant who is not mentally disabled;
      (iv) a person who is approved by the Minister responsible for social welfare to carry out social welfare work; or
      (v) a Constable;
   (c) by a person who is a member of the respondent's household or who is in a visiting relationship with the respondent, in respect of the alleged conduct engaged in or threatened by the respondent toward that person.
(3) An application under subsection (2) may be made on behalf of a person entitled to apply under paragraph (a) or (c) of that subsection by-
   (a) a Constable; or
   (b) any other person, whether or not a member of the household, with the leave of the Court.
(4) In determining whether to grant leave under subsection (3)(b), the Court may take into account whether or not the application is-
   (i) in accordance with the wishes; or
   (ii) in the best interests of the person entitled to apply; and
   (b) there is any conflict between the interests of the person seeking leave and the person entitled to apply.

Protection Orders

4.- (1) Application may be made to the Court for a protection order to prohibit the respondent-
   (a) from entering or remaining in the household residence of any prescribed person; or
   (b) from entering or remaining in any area specified in the order being an area in which the household residence of the prescribed person is located; or
   (c) from entering the place of work or education of any prescribed person; or
   (d) from entering or remaining in any particular place;
   (e) or from molesting a prescribed person by-
      (i) watching or besetting the household residence, place of work or education of a prescribed person;
      (ii) following or waylaying the prescribed person in any place;
      (iii) making persistent telephone calls to a prescribed person;
      (iv) using abusive language to or behaving towards a prescribed person in any other manner which is of such nature and degree as to cause annoyance to, or result in ill-treatment of the prescribed person; or
      (v) damaging any property owned by, or available for the use or enjoyment of, the prescribed person, or any property in the care or custody or situated at the residence of the prescribed person.
(2) On hearing an application under subsection (1), the Court may make a protection order if it is satisfied that-
   (a) the respondent has used or threatened to use, violence against, or caused physical or mental injury to, a prescribed person and is likely to do so again; or
   (b) having regard to all circumstances, the order is necessary for the protection of a prescribed person.
(3) A protection order may be made on an ex parte application if the Court is satisfied that the delay that would be caused by proceeding on summons would or might result in-
   (a) risk to the personal safety of a prescribed person; or
   (b) serious or undue hardship, and any protection order made on an ex parte application shall be an interim order.
(4) Where a protection order is granted on an ex parte application, it shall be served personally on the respondent who may apply immediately for it to be discharged.
(5) In making a protection order under this section or an occupation order under section 7, the Court may at the same time, of its own volition or upon the application of any party applying for the order, make an order, in accordance with the provisions of the Maintenance Act, for the maintenance of-
   (a) any applicant entitled to be maintained by the respondent; or
(b) any member of the household in respect of whom the applicant is entitled to apply for maintenance as against the respondent, if no such order for maintenance is already in force:
Provided that the duration of an order for maintenance under this section shall not exceed the duration of the protection order made under this section or the occupation order made under section 7, as the case may be.

5. –(1) Where a protection order, whether interim or otherwise, is made and—
(a) it is served personally on the respondent; and
(b) the respondent contravenes the order in any respect, the respondent commits an offence and is liable on conviction to a fine not exceeding ten thousand dollars or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months or to both such fine and imprisonment.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this section, where a protection order is in force, a Constable may arrest without warrant a person whom he has reasonable cause to suspect of having committed a breach of the order.

(3) No person shall be arrested pursuant to this section unless a Constable believes that the arrest of that person is reasonably necessary for the protection of the prescribed person.

(4) For the purposes of subsections (2) and (3), the Constable shall take into account—
(a) the seriousness of the act which constituted the alleged breach;
(b) the time that has elapsed since the alleged breach was committed; and
(c) the restraining effect of other persons or circumstances on the respondent.

(5) Where an arrest is made under this section—
(a) the person arrested shall be entitled to make a telephone call to one person of his choice, not being the applicant;
(b) the Constable who makes the arrest shall ensure that the person arrested is informed, at the time of arrest, of the right conferred by paragraph (a);
(c) and the person arrested shall be brought before the Court within a period of forty-eight hours beginning at the time of his arrest.

6. –(1) A party to the proceedings may apply to the Court for a discharge of a protection order.

(2) A copy of an application made under subsection (1) shall be served personally on each person who was a party to the proceedings in which the original order was made.

(3) In determining whether to discharge a protection order the Court shall have regard to the matters referred to in section 4 (2).

Occupation Orders

7. –(1) Application may be made to the Court by or on behalf of a prescribed person for an occupation order granting the prescribed person named in the order the right to live in the household residence.

(2) Subject to subsection (3), the Court may, on an application under subsection (1), make an occupation order granting to the prescribed person, for such period or periods and on such terms and subject to such conditions as the Court thinks fit, the right to occupy the household residence.

(3) The Court may make an order under subsection (2) only if the Court is satisfied that such an order—
(a) is necessary for the protection of the prescribed person; or
(b) would be in the best interest of a child.

8. –(1) An occupation order may be made on an ex parte application if the Court is satisfied that—
(a) the respondent has used violence against or caused physical or mental injury to a prescribed person; and
(b) the delay that would be caused by proceeding on summons could or might expose the prescribed person to physical injury.

(2) An occupation order made on an ex parte application shall be an interim order and shall be served personally on the respondent.

(3) Where the Court grants an occupation order on an ex parte application, the Court shall at the same time make an interim protection order unless it considers that there are special reasons why such an order should not be made.

(4) An occupation order which is made on an ex parte application while the prescribed person and the respondent are living together in the same household residence shall expire—
(a) on the discharge of the order by the Court; or
(b) on the discharge of an interim protection order made pursuant to subsection (3).

(5) Where an occupation order is made on an ex parte application, the respondent may apply for variation or discharge of that order.

9. Where an occupation order is made the prescribed person to whom it relates shall be entitled, to the exclusion of the respondent, personally to occupy the household residence to which that order relates.

10. The Court may, if it thinks fit, on the application of either party, make an order-
   (a) extending or reducing any period specified by the Court pursuant to subsection (2) of section 7; or
   (b) varying or discharging any terms and conditions imposed by the Court pursuant to that subsection.

11. (1) Before making an occupation order (other than an interim occupation order) the Court shall direct that notice be given to any person having an interest in the property which would be affected by the order.
   (2) The person referred to in subsection (1) shall, upon being notified pursuant to that subsection, be entitled to appear and be heard in the matter of the application for the occupation order as a party to that application.

12. (1) Subject to subsection (2), the Court may on or after making an occupation order, make an order granting to the applicant the use of all or any of-
   (a) the furniture;
   (b) the household appliances; and
   (c) household effects, in the household residence to which the occupation order relates for such period and subject to such terms and conditions as the Court thinks fit.
   (2) An order made under subsection (1) shall continue in force for a period of three months from the date of the making thereof unless the Court otherwise directs but shall expire before that period if the occupation order expires or is discharged.

PART III. General

13. (1) Every interim order made under this Act on an ex parte application shall specify a date for a hearing which shall be as soon as reasonably practicable thereafter to determine whether an order shall be made in substitution for the interim order.
   (2) The copy of an interim order which is served on the respondent shall notify the respondent that unless the respondent attends Court on the date specified therein to show cause why an order should not be made in substitution for the interim order, the Court may discharge the interim order and make an order in substitution therefor.
   (3) At the hearing referred to in subsection (1) the Court may-
      (a) discharge the interim order;
      (b) discharge the interim order and make an order in
   (3) (c) the Court shall, at the adjourned hearing, exercise either the power conferred by paragraph (a) or (b) of that subsection.
   (4) Where a hearing is adjourned under subsection (3) (c) the Court shall, at the adjourned hearing, exercise either the power conferred by paragraph (a) or (b) of that subsection.
   (5) In this section-
   “interim order” means an interim protection order or interim occupation order, as the case may be;
   “order” means a protection order or an occupation order, as the case may be, not being an interim order.

14. (1) No person shall be present during the hearing of any proceedings under this Act unless such proceedings are criminal proceedings or the person is-
   (a) an officer of the Court;
   (b) a party to the proceedings;
   (c) the attorney-at-law for a party to the proceedings;
   (d) a witness; or
   (e) any other person permitted by the Judge to be present.
   (2) Any witness shall leave the courtroom if asked to do so by the Judge.
   (3) Nothing in this section shall limit any other power of the Court to hear proceedings in camera or to exclude any person from the Court.

15. Every question of fact arising in any proceedings under this Act (other than criminal proceedings) shall be decided on a balance of probabilities.

16. (1) Subject to subsection (4), no person shall publish any report of any proceedings under this Act unless he is first granted leave of the Court which heard the proceedings.
   (2) Every person who contravenes subsection (1) commits an offence and is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding twenty-five thousand dollars.
   (3) Nothing in this section limits-
      (a) the provisions of any other enactment relating to prohibition or regulation of the publication of reports or particulars relating to judicial proceedings; or
(b) the power of the Court to punish any contempt of Court.

(4) This section shall not apply to the publication of any report in any publication that—
   (a) is of a bona fide professional or technical nature; or
   (b) is intended for circulation among members of the legal or medical professions, officers of the Public Service, psychologists, marriage counsellors or social welfare workers.

17. In any proceedings under this Act, the Court may make an order by the consent of all the parties to such proceedings.

18. The Court may, on making an order under this Act, recommend that either or both parties participate in counselling of such nature as the Court may specify.

19.- (1) Any person aggrieved by—
   (a) the making of an order by the Court; or
   (b) the refusal of the Court to make an order, may appeal to the Court of Appeal.

   (2) Except where the Court which makes an order under this Act otherwise directs, the operation of such order shall not be suspended by virtue of an appeal under this section, and every such order may be enforced in the same manner and in all respects as if no appeal under this section were pending.

20.-(1) The rights conferred on any person in respect of any property by an order made under this Act shall be subject to the rights of any other person entitled to the benefit of any mortgage, security, charge or encumbrance affecting the property if such mortgage, security, charge or encumbrance was registered before the making of the order or if the rights of the person entitled to the benefit arise under an instrument executed before the date of the making of the order.

   (2) Notwithstanding anything in any enactment or in any instrument, no money payable under any such mortgage, security, charge or encumbrance shall be called up or become due by reason of the making of an order under this Act.

21. This Act shall not affect the power of the Supreme Court to make orders under section 10 of the Matrimonial Causes Act.

22. Rules of Court may be made by the Rules Committee constituted under the Judicature (Resident Magistrates) Act for the purpose of regulating the practice and procedure of the Court in proceedings under this Act providing for such matters as are necessary for giving full effect to the provisions of this Act and for the due administration thereof.

The Sexual Offences Act, 2009

5.—(1) A husband commits the offence of rape against his wife if he has sexual intercourse with his wife in any of the circumstances specified in subsection (3)-
   (a) without her consent; and
   (b) knowing that she does not consent to sexual intercourse or recklessly not caring whether she consents or not.

   (2) For the purposes of subsection (1), consent shall not be deemed to exist where the apparent agreement to sexual intercourse is—
   (a) extorted by physical assault or threats or fear of physical assault to the wife or to a third person; or
   (b) obtained by false and fraudulent representation as to the nature of the act or the identity of the offender.

   (3) The circumstances referred to in subsection (1) are that—
   (a) the spouses have separated and thereafter have lived separately and apart within the meaning of the Matrimonial Causes Act;
   (b) there is in existence a separation agreement in writing between the spouses;
   (c) proceedings for the dissolution of the marriage or for a decree of nullity of marriage have been instituted;
   (d) there has been made or granted against the husband an order or injunction, as the case may be, for non-cohabitation, non-molestation or ouster from the matrimonial home for the personal protection of the wife; or
   (e) the husband knows himself to be suffering from a sexually transmitted infection.

---

In consideration of respect for individuals and equality under the law expressly stipulated in the Constitution, progress has been made in Japan through efforts toward the protection of human rights and the realization of genuine equality between women and men. Nevertheless, even though spousal violence constitutes a serious violation of human rights, as well as being a crime, efforts to relieve victims have not always been adequate in all instances. In addition, the majority of victims of spousal violence are women. When women who find it difficult to achieve economic self-reliance are subject to violence from their spouses, it adversely affects the dignity of individuals and impedes the realization of genuine equality between women and men. In order to improve these conditions and to achieve the protection of human rights and the realization of genuine equality between women and men, we must establish measures to prevent spousal violence and protect victims. Such action will be in line with the efforts taken by the international community to eradicate violence against women. This Act has been framed in order to prevent spousal violence and protect victims through the establishment of a system to deal with spousal violence, providing for notification, counseling, protection and support for self-reliance, etc.

Chapter I
General Provisions

Article 1 (Definitions)
(1) The term "spousal violence" as used in this Act means bodily harm by one spouse (illegal attacks threatening the other's life or body; the same shall apply hereinafter) or the words and deeds of one spouse that cause equivalent psychological or physical harm to the other (hereinafter collectively referred to as "bodily harm" in this paragraph), and shall cover cases where, subsequent to being subjected to violence by one spouse, the other spouse has obtained a divorce or annulment of the marriage but continues to be subjected to violence by his/her former spouse.

(2) The term "victim(s)" as used in this Act means a person(s) who has been subjected to spousal violence.

(3) The term "spouse" as used in this Act shall include persons who are in a de facto state of marriage, even if it has not been legally registered. "divorce" shall include the circumstances of persons who were in a de facto state of marriage, even if it were not legally registered, and whose situation has changed to a de facto state of divorce.

Article 2 (Responsibilities of the national government and local public entities)
The national government and local public entities shall have the responsibility of preventing spousal violence and providing appropriate protection for victims, including assistance in making them self-reliant.

Chapter 1-2 Basic Policy and Prefectural Basic Plans, etc.
Article 2-2 (Basic Policy)
(1) The Prime Minister, the National Public Safety Commission, the Minister of Justice and the Minister of Health, Labor and Welfare (hereinafter collectively referred to as the "competent Ministers" in this Article and paragraph 5 of the following Article) shall establish a basic policy concerning measures for the prevention of spousal violence and the protection of victims (hereinafter referred to as the "Basic Policy" in this Article and paragraphs 1 and 3 of the following Article).

(2) The Basic Policy shall establish a guideline for the Prefectural Basic Plans set forth in paragraph 1 of the following Article and the Municipal Basic Plans set forth in paragraph 3 of the same Article with regard to the following:
(i) Basic matters related to the prevention of spousal violence and the protection of victims;
(ii) Matters related to the contents of measures for the prevention of spousal violence and the protection of victims;
(iii) Other important matters related to the implementation of measures for the prevention of spousal violence and the protection of victims.

(3) When establishing or revising the Basic Policy, the competent Ministers shall consult in advance with the heads of the administrative organs concerned.

(4) When establishing or revising the Basic Policy, the competent Ministers shall publicize the contents without delay.

Article 2-3 (Prefectural Basic Plans, etc.)
(1) In line with the Basic Policy, prefectures shall establish their own basic plans concerning the implementation of measures for the prevention of spousal violence and the protection of victims within their jurisdiction (hereinafter referred to as "Prefectural Basic Plans" in this Article).

(2) Prefectural Basic Plans shall provide the following matters:
(i) Basic policy related to the prevention of spousal violence and the protection of victims;
(ii) Matters related to the contents of the actual implementation of measures for the prevention of spousal violence and the protection of victims;
(iii) Other important matters related to the implementation of measures for the prevention of spousal violence and the protection of victims.

(3) In line with the Basic Policy and by taking into consideration Prefectural Basic Plans, municipalities (including special wards; the same shall apply hereinafter) shall endeavor to establish their own Basic Plans concerning the implementation of measures for the prevention of spousal violence and the protection of victims within their jurisdiction (hereinafter referred to as "Municipal Basic Plans" in this Article).

(4) When establishing or revising Prefectural Basic Plans or Municipal Basic Plans, prefectures or municipalities shall publicize the contents without delay.

(5) The competent Ministers shall endeavor to provide prefectures or municipalities with the advice and other assistance needed to establish such Prefectural Basic Plans or Municipal Basic Plans.

Chapter II
Spousal Violence Counseling and Support Centers, etc.

Article 3 (Spousal Violence Counseling and Support Centers)
(1) Prefectures shall authorize Women's Consulting Offices or other appropriate facilities which they have established within their jurisdiction to function as Spousal Violence Counseling and Support Centers.

(2) Municipalities shall endeavor to authorize appropriate facilities which they have established within their jurisdiction to function as Spousal Violence Counseling and Support Centers.

(3) In order to prevent spousal violence and protect victims, Spousal Violence Counseling and Support Centers shall undertake the following activities:

(i) To provide victims with counseling regarding various problems affecting them or to introduce them to Women's Consultants or organizations that provide such counseling;

(ii) To provide victims with medical or psychological guidance or other required guidance in order to help them recover their psychological and physical health;

(iii) To secure safety in an emergency and provide temporary protection for victims (in cases where a victim is accompanied by family members, for the family members as well as the victim; the same shall apply in the following item, item 6, Article 5, and Article 8-3);

(iv) To offer information, advice, and liaison and coordination with concerned organizations, as well as other forms of assistance, concerning measures including employment promotion, housing procurement, and the use of systems for social assistance in order to promote the self-reliance of victims;

(v) To offer information, advice, and liaison and coordination with concerned organizations, as well as other forms of assistance concerning the use of the protection order system prescribed in Chapter IV;

(vi) To offer information, advice, and liaison and coordination with concerned organizations, as well as other forms of assistance concerning the use of facilities where victims may live and receive protection.

(4) The temporary protection set forth in item 3 of the preceding paragraph shall be provided directly by Women's Consulting Offices or entrusted to parties that meet the criteria specified by the Minister of the Health, Labor and Welfare.

(5) The Spousal Violence Counseling and Support Centers shall, during the course of their duties, when necessary, endeavor to collaborate with private bodies that are engaged in activities designed to prevent spousal violence and protect victims.

Article 4 (Counseling by Women's Consultants, etc.)
Women's Consultants may provide counseling to victims and undertake guidance as necessary.

Article 5 (Protection at Women's Protection Facilities)
Prefectures may provide protection to victims at Women's Protection Facilities.

Chapter III
Protection of Victims

Article 6 (Notification, etc. by those who detect cases of Spousal Violence)
(1) Those who detect spousal violence (limited to cases of bodily harm by a spouse or former spouse; hereinafter the same shall apply in this Chapter) shall endeavor to notify the fact to a Spousal Violence Counseling and Support Center or a police officer.

(2) Physicians or other medical personnel who detect, during the course of their duties, a person whom they consider to have suffered from injuries or medical conditions resulting from spousal violence may notify the fact to a Spousal Violence Counseling and Support Center or a police officer. In such cases, they shall endeavor to respect the intentions of the person in question.

(3) Provisions of the Penal Code (Act No. 45 of 1907) concerning the unlawful disclosure of confidential information and provisions of other acts concerning confidentiality obligations shall not be construed as those preventing notification under the preceding two paragraphs.

(4) Physicians or other medical personnel who detect, during the course of their duties, a person whom they consider to have suffered from injuries or medical conditions resulting from spousal violence shall endeavor to provide the person with the information at their disposal concerning the use of Spousal Violence Counseling and Support Centers, etc.

Article 7 (Explanations, etc. about protection provided by Spousal Violence Counseling and Support Centers)
When receiving notification about a victim or consulting with a victim, Spousal Violence Counseling and Support Centers shall offer explanations and advice regarding their duties as Spousal Violence Counseling and Support Centers pursuant to the provisions of Article 3, paragraph 3 and recommend the victim to receive any necessary protection as needed.

Article 8 (Prevention of harm by the police)
When, following notification or by other means, the police believe that there is a case of spousal violence, they shall endeavor to take any necessary measures pursuant to the provisions of the Police Act (Act No. 162 of 1954), Police Official Duties Execution Act (Act No. 136 of 1948) and other laws and regulations in order to prevent the victim from suffering harm from spousal violence, such as stopping the violence or providing protection to the victim, etc.

Article 8-2 (Assistance by the Chief of the Prefectural Police Headquarters, etc.)
When receiving a request from a victim for assistance in preventing harm from spousal violence on his/her own behalf and finding the request appropriate, the Superintendent General of the Metropolitan Police Department or the Chief of the Prefectural Police Headquarters (or the Chief of the Area Headquarters except for the areas including the location of the Hokkaido Prefectural Police Headquarters; the same shall apply in Article 15, paragraph 3) or the chief of the police station shall advise the victim on measures to prevent the said harm on his/her own behalf and offer other necessary assistance to prevent him/her from suffering harm from spousal violence pursuant to the provisions of the regulations established by the National Public Safety Commission.

Article 8-3 (Support for self-reliance by Welfare Offices)
Offices handling welfare affairs as defined by the Social Welfare Act (Act No. 45 of 1951) (referred to as "Welfare Offices" in the following Article) shall endeavor to take any necessary measures to support victims to become self-reliant pursuant to the provisions of the Public Assistance Act (Act No. 144 of 1950), Child Welfare Act (Act No. 164 of 1947), Mother and Child and Widows Welfare Act (Act No. 129 of 1964) and other laws and regulations.

Article 9 (Cooperation among concerned organizations to protect victims)

10. Application by person lacking capacity.
    (1) The provisions of this section shall apply to any other person (not being a child) who—
        (a) lacks, wholly or partly, the capacity to understand the nature, and to foresee the consequences, of decisions in respect of matters relating to his or her personal care and welfare; or
        (b) has the capacity to understand the nature, and foresee the consequences, of decisions in respect of matters relating to his or her personal care and welfare, but wholly lacks the capacity to communicate decisions in respect of such matters.
    (2) Where a person to whom this section applies is eligible to apply for a protection order, an application may be made on that person's behalf by—
        (a) a police officer;
        (b) an applicant's representative; or
        (c) any other person with the leave of the court.

11. Application on behalf of certain persons.
    (1) This section applies to a person entitled to a protection order who is incapable of applying for a protection order and for whom it is necessary to make a protection order.

(2) Any person may apply to the court to be appointed as a representative of the person referred to in subsection (1) for the purposes of applying for a protection order.

(3) The court may appoint a representative for the person referred to in subsection (1) if it satisfied that—
   (a) the representative has reasonably ascertained the wishes of the victim;
   (b) the victim consents to being represented;
   (c) the appointment of the representative is in the best interest of the victim;
   (d) the representative accepts his appointment in writing; and
   (e) there is no conflict of interest between the victim and the representative.

12. Application without notice for protection order.

(1) An interim protection order may be made on an application without notice and outside ordinary court hours or on a day which is not an ordinary court day, if the court is satisfied that delay would be caused by proceedings on notice or might entail—
   (a) a risk of harm; or
   (b) undue hardship to the applicant or child of the applicant’s family.

(2) Without limiting the matters to which the court may have regard when determining whether to grant a protection order on an application without notice, the court shall have regard to—
   (a) the perception of the applicant or a child of the applicant’s family, of the nature and seriousness of the respondent’s behaviour; and
   (b) the effects of that behaviour on the applicant or a child of the applicant’s family.

(3) An interim order may, where appropriate, contain any direction, prohibition or award which may be contained in a protection order issued under section 19.

(4) Whenever a court issues an interim protection order, the court shall issue a summons to appear in respect of the respondent which shall be attached to the order.

(5) Where an application is made under this section and the court is satisfied prima facie that the respondent has committed, is committing or threatening to commit an act of domestic violence but that the circumstances do not justify or require the issue of an interim protection order, the court may issue a notice requiring the respondent to show cause why a protection order should not be made:

Provided that an interim protection order shall remain in force until it is replaced by a protection order or varied or revoked by a competent court.

(6) Section 22 applies to any person who fails to comply with the terms and condition of an interim protection order.

13. Power to make protection order.

(1) The court may make a protection order if it is satisfied that—
   (a) the respondent is using, or has used, domestic violence against the applicant, or a child of the applicant’s family or both; and
   (b) the making of an order is necessary for the protection of the applicant or a child of the applicant’s family or both.

(2) For the purpose of subsection (1)(a), a respondent who aids or abets another person to engage in behaviour that, if engaged in by the respondent, would amount to domestic violence against the applicant or a child of the applicant’s family or both, shall be regarded as having engaged in that behaviour personally.

(3) Without limiting section 3(4)(b), the matters that the court may consider in determining, for the purpose of subsection (1)(b), whether the making of an order is necessary for the protection of the applicant or a child of the applicant’s family, or both where some or all of the behaviour in respect of which the application is made appears to be minor or trivial when viewed in isolation, or appears unlikely to recur, are whether the behaviour forms part of pattern of behaviour in respect of which the applicant or a child of the applicant’s family or both need protection.

(4) For the avoidance of doubt, an order may be made under subsection (1) where the need for protection arises from risk of domestic violence of a different type from the behaviour found to have occurred for the purpose of paragraph (a) of that subsection.

(5) Without limiting the matters that the court may consider when determining whether to make a protection order, the court shall have regard to—
   (a) the perception of the applicant, or a child of the applicant's family or both, of the nature and seriousness of the behaviour in respect of which the application is made; and
   (b) the effect of that behaviour on the applicant, or a child of the applicant’s family, or both.

14. Counselling.

(1) The Court may, taking into account the circumstances of each case, direct the parties to participate in counselling and conciliation programmes or any other programme that is acceptable to the Court.
(2) The counselling provided shall be aimed at ensuring respect for the law prohibiting domestic violence, the promotion of a protective environment for all within the family and the promotion of harmonious domestic relations between and among the parties.

15. Existence of other proceeding not to preclude granting of protection order.
(1) A court shall not decline to make a protection order merely because of the existence of other proceedings (including, but not limited to, proceedings relating to custody of, or access to, a minor) between or relating to the parties, whether or not those proceedings also relate to any other person.
(2) Despite the provisions of subsection (1), an application for a protection order shall not be a bar to criminal proceedings against a respondent.

(1) Where the court makes a protection order, the order shall apply for the benefit of any child of the applicant's family.
(2) Subject to subsection (3), where the court makes a protection order, it may direct that the order also apply for the benefit of a particular person with whom the applicant has a domestic relationship.
(3) No direction may be made pursuant to subsection (2) in respect of a person unless the court is satisfied that—
(a) the respondent is engaging, or has engaged, in behaviour that, if the respondent and the person were or, as the case may be, had been in a domestic relationship, would amount to domestic violence against the person;
(b) the respondent's behaviour towards the person is due, in whole or in part, to the applicant's domestic relationship with the person;
(c) the making of a direction under this section is necessary for the protection of the person; and
(d) where practicable, the person consents to the direction being made.
(4) Section 12 (2) and (5) shall apply, with the necessary modifications, in respect of an application for a direction pursuant to subsection (2).

17. Protection from co-respondents.
(1) Subject to subsection (2), where the court makes a protection order against the respondent, the court may also direct that the order apply against a person who aids and abets the respondent.
(2) Section 12 (2) to (5) shall apply, with the necessary modification, in respect of an application for a direction pursuant to subsection (1).

18. Mutual orders.
Nothing in this Act shall be construed as preventing the court, in the course of determining an application, from granting a protection order, in favour of the respondent even though no application has been made by the respondent.

19. Contents of protection order.
(1) A protection order may direct that a respondent shall not do any one or more of the following—
(a) physically or sexually abuse or threaten to abuse the protected person;
(b) damage, or threaten to damage, any property of the protected person;
(c) engage, or threaten to engage, in behaviour including intimidation or harassment, which amounts to psychological abuse of the protected person;
(d) encourage any person to engage in behaviour against the protected person where the behaviour, if engaged in by the respondent would be prohibited by the order;
(e) engage, or threaten to engage, in behaviour including intimidation, harassment or stalking which amounts to emotional, verbal or psychological abuse of the protected person;
(f) engage, or threaten to engage, in economic abuse of the protected person; or
(g) engage, or threaten to engage, in cultural or customary rites or practices that abuse the protected person.
(2) Without limiting the provisions of subsection (1) but subject to section 20, it shall be a condition of every protection order that at any time other than when the protected person and the respondent are, with the express consent of the protected person, living in the same dwelling house, the respondent shall not do any one or more of the following—
(a) watch, loiter near, or prevent or hinder access to or from, the protected person's place of residence, business, employment, educational institution, or other place that the protected person visits often;
(b) stalk the protected person or stop or accost the protected person in any place;
(c) without the protected person's express consent, enter or remain on any land or building occupied by the protected person;
(d) where the protected person is present on any land or building, enter or remain on that land or building, in circumstances that constitute a trespass; or
(e) make any other contact with the protected person (whether by telephone correspondence, or otherwise), except such contact that is —
(i) reasonably necessary in any emergency;
(ii) permitted under any order or written agreement relating to custody of, or access to, any minor; or
(iii) permitted under any special condition of the protection order.

(3) Without prejudice to the provisions of this section, the court may in an order under this section—
(a) subject to subsection (6), grant to any protected person the right of exclusive occupation of the shared residence or a specified part thereof by excluding the respondent from the shared residence or the specified part thereof, regardless of whether the shared residence is solely owned or leased by the respondent or jointly owned or leased by the parties;
(b) require the respondent to permit any protected person to enter the shared residence, or to enter the residence of the respondent accompanied by any enforcement officer for the purpose of collecting the personal belongings of the protected person or persons;
(c) require the respondent to permit any protected person to have the continued use of necessities which had previously been ordinarily used by the protected person or persons; or
(d) give such other directions as may be necessary and incidental for the proper carrying into effect of any order made under paragraph (a), (b) or (c).

(4) Before making an order which restricts the respondent's access to any premises, the court shall take into account—
(a) the need to ensure that the protected person is protected from violence;
(b) the welfare of any child affected by the order; and
(c) the accommodation needs of all persons affected by the order.

(5) Without prejudice to the provisions of this section, where an exclusion order has been made under this section, the court may—
(a) direct the respondent to pay all expenses or emergency monetary relief in respect to the applicants needs and those of any child or dependant of the respondent;
(b) award temporary custody of any child or dependant of the respondent to any person or institution and regulate access by the respondent to such child or dependant;
(c) direct the respondent to afford the applicant or dependant access to their place of residence and use of the facilities associated therewith; and
(d) direct the respondent to do or omit to do any act or thing which the court considers necessary or desirable for the well-being of the applicant or a dependant of the applicant.

(6) Except so far as the exercise by the respondent of a right to occupy the shared residence, or to enter the alternative residence, may be suspended restricted, prohibited or restrained, by virtue of an order under subsection (3) (a) or (b), a protection order shall not affect any title or interest that the respondent or any other person might have in the said premises.

(7) The court shall not make an order excluding the respondent from the whole of a shared residence that is solely or jointly owned or leased by the respondent unless it is satisfied that there is no other way to secure the personal safety of any protected person for the time being, and such order, where made, shall, in the case where the shared residence is jointly owned or leased by the parties, be—
(a) revoked if a suitable alternative residence is found for the protected person or persons; or
(b) revoked or varied upon the court being otherwise satisfied that it is no longer necessary for securing the personal safety of the protected person or persons.

(8) Where, pursuant to a direction made under section 18, a protection order applies against a co-respondent, the provisions of this section shall, with necessary modifications, apply in respect of the co-respondent.

20. Further provisions relating to prohibitions of contact.
(1) The contents of a protection order specified in section 19 (2) in this section referred to as "the non-contact condition" shall have effect except where the protected person and the respondent are with the express, voluntary consent of the protected person living in the same dwelling house, taking into account the vulnerability relating to the protected person.
(2) The non-contact condition shall automatically be suspended for any period during which the protected person and the respondent, with the express, free and voluntary consent of the protected person, live in the same dwelling house.
(3) Where the non-contact condition is suspended in accordance with subsection (2), and the protected person subsequently withdraws his or her consent to the respondent living in the same dwelling house then (unless the protection order has been sooner discharged) the non-contact conditions shall automatically revive.
(4) The non-contact condition may—
(a) become suspended in accordance with subsection (2) on one or more occasions; or
(b) revive in accordance with subsection (3) on one or more occasions.
(5) Where, pursuant to a direction made under section 17, a protection order applies against a co-respondent, the provisions of this section shall with necessary modifications, apply in respect of the co-respondent.
(6) References in this section to the consent of a protected person, or to the withdrawal of a protected person's consent, includes, as the case requires, the—

(a) free and voluntary consent of a person (other than the respondent or, as the case may be, the co-respondent) who is specified, in a special condition of the protection order, on the protected person's behalf, in relation to the matter; and

(b) withdrawal of consent by such a person in respect of an application for a direction pursuant to subsection (2).

(7) In this section, where the protected person is a child, the court may, if satisfied that it is in the best interests of the child so to do, declare any purported consent to be null and void.

21. Duration of protection order.
A protection order shall remain in force for such period as may be specified by the court and may be reviewed, from time to time, depending on the circumstances.

22. Breach of protection order.
A respondent who has been served with a copy of a protection order and who contravenes the order in any respect, commits an offence and is liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred thousand shillings, or to imprisonment for a period not exceeding twelve months, or to both.

23. Arrest for breach of protection order.
(1) A police officer may, without warrant, if he or she believes on reasonable ground that any person has committed an offence under section 22, arrest and detain the person.
(2) Without limiting the provisions of subsection (1), in exercising the powers conferred by that subsection, a police officer shall take into account—

(a) the risk to the safety of the protected person or property;
(b) the seriousness of the act that constitutes a breach; and
(c) the time that has lapsed since the alleged breach was committed.

PART III — MODE OF APPLICATION

(1) Jurisdiction for any proceedings under this Act shall be vested in the Resident Magistrates' Courts.
(2) An application for a protection order shall be lodged with the court and, where directed by the court shall—

(a) be supported by the affidavit of any person who can depone to matters which are relevant to the application; and
(b) require the police, a social worker, probation officer, medical practitioner, children officer or other appropriate person or authority to investigate the acts or omissions of the domestic violence and forward findings directly to court as may be directed by the Court.
(3) If the applicant is not represented by an advocate, the court shall inform the applicant of the—

(a) reliefs available under this Act;
(b) effect of any order which may be granted and the means provided by the law for its enforcement under this Act;
(c) right to lodge a criminal complaint against the respondent if a criminal offence has been committed by the respondent; and
(d) right to claim compensation for any loss suffered or injury caused by any act of domestic violence.

25. Applications by other parties.
Where the application for a protection order is made by a person other than the actual victim of domestic violence, the person making the application shall, as soon as reasonably practicable after the making of the application, cause a copy thereof to be served on the victim personally or, where the victim is a child or physically, mentally, intellectually or sensory challenged person, on the parent or guardian of the child or such challenged person.

In any case where an application for a protection order is made by a person, other than the actual victim of domestic violence, the court shall not commence or continue the hearing of the application if the victim, or if the victim is a child or a physically, mentally, intellectually or sensory challenged person, the person referred to under section 10 (2), objects to the application being heard and determined.

27. Explanation of order.
(1) Where the court proposes to make a protection order and the respondent is before the court, the court shall, before making the order, explain to the respondent —

(a) the purpose, term and effect of the proposed order;
(b) the consequences that may follow if the respondent fails to comply with the terms of the proposed order; and
(c) the means by which the proposed order may be varied or revoked.

(2) No order under subsection (1) shall be invalid for the reason only that the court did not explain any particular matter contained in the order to the respondent.

28. Persons who may be present during proceedings.
(1) No person shall be present during the hearing of any proceeding under this Act except—
(a) an officer of the court;
(b) parties to the proceedings and their advocates, if any;
(c) a representative, if any;
(d) witnesses; and
(e) any other person whom the court permits to be present.
(2) A witness shall leave the courtroom if so directed by the court.
(3) Nothing in this section shall limit any other power of the court to hear proceedings in private or to exclude any person from the court.

29. Evidence.
In any proceedings under this Act, and during hearing in the first instance or during hearing of an appeal, or otherwise, the court may receive any evidence it thinks fit, for the fair determination of the case.

30. Appeal by respondent.
(1) The respondent may appeal to the High Court against the making of a protection order or any term thereof within thirty days of the date of the order.
(2) An appeal under subsection (1) shall not stay the operation of the order unless the respondent moves the court for an order of stay.
(3) The court which made the order may, on the application of the respondent and taking into account the circumstances of the case, stay the operation of the order or any term thereof pending the decision of the appeal.

31. Restriction on reports of proceedings.
(1) In proceeding under this Act, no person shall publish or cause to be published—
(a) in any newspaper or broadcast proceedings containing the locality or any particulars calculated to lead to identification of the particular venue of the court or the name, address or any particulars calculated to lead to the identification on the victim or any other person in the proceedings either as a party to the proceedings or as a witness in the proceedings; or
(b) in a newspaper or by television or by any other means, any picture of the victim or other person concerned in the proceedings.
(2) A person who contravenes any of the provisions of subsection (1) commits an offence and is on conviction liable—
(a) in any newspaper or broadcast proceedings containing the locality or any particulars calculated to lead to identification of the particular venue of the court or the name, address or any particulars calculated to lead to the identification on the victim or any other person in the proceedings either as a party to the proceedings or as a witness in the proceedings; or
(b) in a newspaper or by television or by any other means, any picture of the victim or other person concerned in the proceedings.
(3) The provisions of this section shall not apply to the publication of any report in any publication that—
(a) is of a bona fide professional or technical nature; and
(b) is intended for the circulation among members of the legal or medical professions.
(4) A publication under this section shall be made thirty days after the final determination of proceedings.

PART IV — MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

32. Compensation.
(1) Where a victim of domestic violence suffers personal injuries or damage to property or financial loss as a result of the domestic violence, the court hearing a claim for compensation may award such compensation in respect of the injury or damage or loss as it deems just and reasonable.
(2) The court hearing a claim for such compensation may take into account—
(a) the pain and suffering of the victim, and the nature and extent of the physical or mental injury suffered;
(b) the cost of medical treatment for such injuries;
(c) any loss of earnings arising therefrom;
(d) the amount or value of the property taken or destroyed or damaged;
(e) necessary and reasonable expenses incurred by or on behalf of the victim when the victim is compelled to separate or be separated from the respondent due to the domestic violence, such as—
   (i) lodging expenses to be contributed to a safe place or shelter;
   (ii) transport and moving expenses;
   (iii) the expenses required in setting up a separate household which, subject to subsection (3), may include amounts representing such housing loan payments or rental payments or part thereof, in respect of the shared residence, or alternative residence, as the case may be, for such period as the court considers just and reasonably necessary;
(f) the financial position of the victim as well as that of the respondent;
(g) the relationship that exists between the parties and the reasonableness of requiring the respondent to make or contribute towards such payments; or
(h) the possibility of other proceedings being taken between the parties and the matter being more appropriately dealt with under the relevant laws relating to the financial provision of spouses or former spouses and other dependants.

33. General provisions as to offences.
   (1) Where any offence, other than one referred to in this Act, is committed by a respondent upon an applicant during or in furtherance of the commission of any act of domestic violence, the court convicting the respondent thereof shall have regard to such circumstances as aggravating the offence committed, when assessing the sentence to be imposed.
   (2) For the avoidance of doubt, a prosecution under this Act or any other law shall not prevent the applicant from seeking protection or redress under this Act.

34. Provision on delegated powers.
   (1) The Rules Committee established under section 81 of the Civil Procedure Act shall make rules to regulate any matter of practice or procedure under this Act.
   (2) Without prejudice to the generality of subsection (1), such rules may prescribe—
      (a) the procedure to be followed and the forms to be used under this Act;
      (b) the time within which documents are to be filed and served under this Act; and
      (c) the contents of orders to be issued under this Act.

3. Objects of the Act

(1) The objects of this Act are—
   (a) to ensure the safety and protection of all persons including children, who experience or witness domestic violence;
   (b) to provide support and redress for all victims of domestic violence;
   (c) to implement programmes for victims of domestic violence to ensure their recovery to lead a safe and healthy life.
   (d) to facilitate enforcement of Court orders issued in order to stop acts of domestic violence;
   (e) to enact provisions that are consistent with certain principles underlying the Declaration on the Elimination of Violence against Women; and
   (f) to enact provisions that are consistent with the CEDAW and the CRC.

(2) In enacting this Act, the Maneaba ni Maungatabu recognises—
   (a) that domestic violence, in all its forms, is unacceptable behavior and is a crime;
   (b) that on the basis of statistics domestic violence is a crime almost always perpetrated by men against women and children;
   (c) that domestic violence occurs and impacts on all sectors of the community;
   (d) that domestic violence extends beyond physical, sexual, psychological and economic violence and may involve the exploitation of power imbalances and/or patterns of abuse over many years;
(e) that domestic violence occurs in traditional and non-traditional settings;
(f) the particularly vulnerable position of children who are exposed to domestic violence as victims or witnesses, and the impact that such exposure can have on their current and future psychological, physical and emotional well-being;
(g) that domestic violence is best addressed through a coordinated legal and social response of assistance to victims and measures to prevent violence and, in certain case, may be the subject of appropriate intervention by the Court.

(3) A Court that, or any person who, exercises any power conferred by or under this Act in relation to domestic violence must be guided in the exercise of that power by the objects referred to in this section.

4. Meaning of domestic violence
(1) For the purposes of this Act, any act or omission or conduct of the respondent or any threats to the complainant or any person related to the complainant by the respondent in a domestic relationship shall constitute domestic violence if it-
(a) harms, injures or endangers the health. safety, life, limb or well-being, whether mental or physical of the complainant or tends to do so and includes causing physical abuse, sexual abuse. verbal and emotional abuse and economic abuse;
(b) harass, harms, injures or endangers the complainant with a view to coercing the complainant or any other person related to the complainant to meet any lawful demand for any property; or
(c) otherwise injures or causes harm, whether physical or mental, to the complainant by any conduct mentioned in paragraph (a) or in paragraph (b);
(d) otherwise injures or causes harm, whether physical or mental to the complainant

(2) For the purposes of this section-
(a) "physical abuse" means any act or conduct which is of such a nature as to cause bodily pain, harm or danger to life, limb or health or impair the health or development of the complainant and includes assault, criminal intimidation and criminal force;
(b) "sexual abuse" includes any conduct of a sexual nature that abuses, humiliates, degrades or otherwise violates the dignity of a person;
(c) "verbal, emotional and psychological abuse" means a pattern of degrading or humiliating conduct towards the complainant, including -
   (i) repeated insults, ridicule or name calling, manipulating, making the victim feel guilty, ashamed and responsible for what he or she is experiencing;
   (ii) repeated threats to cause physical and emotional pain; or
   (iii) the repeated exhibition of obsessive possessiveness or jealousy, which is such as to constitute a serious invasion of the victim's privacy, liberty, integrity or security;
(d) "economic abuse" includes-
   (i) deprivation of all or any economic or financial resources to which the complainant is entitled under any law or custom whether payable under an order of a court or otherwise or which the complainant requires out of necessity including, but not limited to, household necessities for the complainant and dependent children, if any, property, jointly or separately owned by the complainant, payment of rent related to the shared household and maintenance;
   (ii) disposal of household effects. any alienation of assets whether movable or immovable, valuable, shares, securities, bonds and the like or other property in which the complainant has an interest or is entitled to use by virtue of the domestic relationship or which may be reasonably required by the complainant or her children or any other property jointly or separately held by the complainant;
   (iii) prohibition to, or restriction on, continued access to resources or facilities which the complainant is entitled to use or enjoy by virtue of the domestic relationship including access to the shared household.
   (iv) damaging or destroying personal property in which the complainant has an interest.

(3) Without limiting subsection (2),
   (a) a single act may amount to violence for the purposes of that subsection;
   (b) a number of acts that form part of a pattern of behaviour may amount to violence for that purpose, even though some or all of those acts, when viewed in isolation, may appear to be minor or trivial.

5. Meaning of domestic relationship
Domestic relationship means a relationship between the complainant and the respondent in any of the following ways-
(a) they are or were married to each other, whether in accordance to law, custom or religion;
(b) they live or lived together in a relationship in the nature of marriage, although they are not, or were not, married to each other;
(c) they are the parents of a child or are persons who have or had parental responsibility for that child;
(d) they are family members related by legal or customary adoption;
(e) they are or were in an engagement, courtship or customary relationship, including an actual or perceived intimate or sexual relationship of any duration;
(f) they share or recently shared the same residence; or
(g) they are wholly or partially dependent upon ongoing care in the same household;

6. Conferment of jurisdiction
(1) A Magistrate's Court has jurisdiction-
(a) to hear and decide on any application made to the court under this Act; and
(b) to perform any other function or exercise any other power conferred on the court under this Act.
(2) Despite any other law or rule of court, a Magistrate's Court in any district may hear and decide a proceeding under this Act that has been started in a Magistrate's Court in any other district.

7. Registered counsellors
(1) The Minister shall from time to time call for applications from those wishing to be registered as counsellors for the purposes of this Act.
(2) The Minister may declare a person to be a registered counsellor only if he or she has appropriate qualifications or experience in counselling in relation to domestic violence.
(3) The Minister may declare a person to be a registered counsellor for up to five years.
(5) In making declaration, the Minister must-
(a) consult with the Secretary of the Ministry responsible for women affairs, President of a recognised national council of women, and an organisation or task force established solely for the purpose of protecting women or protecting victims of domestic violence; and
(b) ensure so far as practicable that there are registered counsellors in each local government region.
(6) A declaration must be in writing and a copy of it must be published in the Gazette as soon as practicable after it is made.
(7) The Minister must deregister a counsellor at any time to consultation with those named in subsection (5)(a) where misconduct has been proved.
(8) A registered counsellor has the following functions-
(a) counselling and advising on the problems in personal relationships that are likely or have led to the use of domestic violence;
(b) carrying out, upon the directions of a Court, any counselling, assessment or investigation relating to the children and the family of the parties and providing reports accordingly;
(c) facilitating arrangements for accommodation of the complainant and other persons at risk, as necessary;
(d) facilitating immediate arrangements for medical or other examination of a child of the household; and
(e) performing any other function which the Minister may assign for the purposes of this Act.
(9) Any counsellor may, in carrying out his duties, seek the assistance of any police officer.

8. Register
(1) The Secretary of the Ministry responsible for women affairs must-
(a) establish a register of persons in respect of whom a declaration is made under section 8; and
(b) keep the register up to date.
(2) The register is to be located at-
(a) the offices of the Ministry responsible for women affairs; and
(b) the office of each local government body including a copy of the register.
(3) The register may be kept wholly or partly by computer.
(4) Any person may inspect the register or a copy of it free of charge during normal office hours.

9. Act binds the Republic
The Act binds the Republic.

Part 2 - Protection Orders

10. Objects of this Part
The objects of this Part are-
(a) to prevent violence between family members and others in a domestic relationship; and
(b) to facilitate and maximise safety and protection of persons who experience and fear domestic violence.

51 Numbering in the original law.
11. Who can apply?

(1) An application for a protection order may be made by the Complainant to the Court nearest to where the complainant lives, either temporarily or permanently, works or where the act of domestic violence occurred or is occurring.

(2) In the case of a complainant who is unable to make an application personally-

(a) due to physical incapacity, fear of harm or for any other sufficient cause; or

(b) due to lack of capacity to understand the nature and to foresee the consequences of decisions in respect of matters relating to his or her personal welfare or lacks the capacity to make or communicate decisions in respect of such matters.

the following persons may apply to the court on behalf of such a person-

(i) a family member, guardian or a friend; or

(ii) a social welfare worker, counselor, community worker or women's interest worker; or (iii) a legal practitioner, or

(iv) a healthcare provider; or

(v) ahead of a school; or

(vi) a police officer.

(3) Where a person is unable to give oral or written consent due to mental incapacity to the filing of an application for a protection order, any person making an application on behalf of such a person in such a situation shall act in the best interests of that person.

(4) No person who in good faith makes an application for a protection order or provides to the court any evidence or information in support of such an application, shall incur any civil or criminal liability in respect of the giving of such information.

(5) An application under subsection (1) may be made by or on behalf of more than one person.

(6) An application for a protection order may be made ex parte, unless the Court otherwise orders it to be on notice.

(7) A court must give priority to the bearing of applications for protection orders.

12. Form of application to a court for protection order

(1) An application to a court for a protection order may be made-

(a) in person orally; or

(b) in writing; or

(c) by telephone, radio or similar facility; or

(d) by facsimile, telex, text messaging or email.

(2) A written application must comply with Form I in the Schedule.

(3) If an application is made orally, the court clerk must reduce the application to writing on Form 1 in the Schedule.

(4) A written or oral application made by other persons on behalf of the complainant must comply with Form 2 in the Schedule.

(5) A court must keep a written register of-

(a) all applications for protection orders made to it; and

(b) all protection orders granted by it; and

(c) all protection orders that have been declined and record the reasons for refusing to make a protection order;

13. Protection order in family or criminal proceedings

(1) A court where family or criminal proceedings are pending and considering the circumstances of the case, may on its own motion or on an application by the complainant, issue a protection order upon such terms and conditions as the court considers appropriate.

(2) In considering whether to grant a protection order, the court must take into account the safety, health and well-being of the complainant and the interests of any person dependent on the complainant.

Division 2 - Power of the court to make protection orders

14. Court may make protection order

(1) The court may, on an application made under section 12 make a protection order if it is satisfied that-

(a) the respondent is using, or has used, domestic violence against the complainant, or a child or any other member of the family living in the same household; and

(b) the making of an order is necessary for the protection of the complainant, or a child or any other member of the family living in the same household.

(2) In deciding whether to make a protection order, the court must take into account the following-

(a) the need to ensure that the complainant is protected from domestic violence;
(b) the well-being and the accommodation needs of the complainant, the complainant's children and any other family member living in the same household;
(c) the principles mentioned in section 3 of this Act; and
(d) any other matter that the court considers relevant.

(3) In deciding whether to grant a protection order, the court must not take into account any custom that may put the applicant or child or any other member of the household at risk of domestic violence.

(4) The court may include in the protection order the names of other family members, if the court is satisfied the respondent has committed or is likely to commit an act of domestic violence against other family members.

(5) Without limiting subsection (1)(b), the court must consider whether the behaviour of the respondent forms part of a pattern of behaviour in respect of which the complainant, or child or other members of the family living in the same household, need protection.

(6) Without limiting the matters that the court may consider when determining whether to grant a protection order, the court must have regard to:

(a) the opinion of the applicant or complainant, or a child of the complainant's family, or a member of the family living in the same household, of the nature and seriousness of the behaviour in respect of which the application is made; and

(b) the effect of that behaviour on the applicant or a child or a member of the family living in the same household.

(7) In all cases when granting protection orders, the court is required to explain the orders and consequences of court orders to the parties.

15. Temporary protection order in relation to cross applications

(1) This section applies if-

(a) an application for a protection or derivative has been made and is before a court; and

(b) the person named in the original application as the respondent applies for a protection order and the complainant named in the original application is named in the cross application as the respondent; and

(c) the cross application is made orally, or is made in writing but not served on the complainant named in the original application at least 1 business day before the hearing of the original application.

(2) If the cross application is made in accordance with subsection (1)(c), the court must adjourn the hearing of the cross application and set a date by which the written cross application is to be served on the complainant named in the original application unless that complainant consents to the court hearing the cross application before hearing the original application or together with the original application.

(3) The court may make a temporary protection order in relation to the cross application if-

(a) the complainant named in the original application does not consent as mentioned in subsection (2);

(b) at least one of the following persons is in danger of personal injury, or the property of at least one of the following persons is in danger of substantial damage-

(i) the person for whose benefit the protection order, based on the cross application, is sought;

(ii) another person who is sought to be protected by the domestic violence order based on the cross application.

Division 3 - Types of protection orders

16. Emergency protection order

(1) A court may make an emergency protection order where an ex parte application for a protection order is made orally or on Form 1 in the Schedule of this Act.

(2) In determining whether to grant an emergency protection order, the court shall consider and be satisfied that-

(a) there are reasonable grounds for believing that if an emergency protection order is not made, the respondent may cause-

(i) physical, further verbal, emotional, psychological violence to the complainant or to a child or to any other member in the household; or

(ii) remove or cause damage to the property or cause death or injury to any animal of the complainant; or

(iii) the complainant will be prevented or deterred from pursuing the application if the order is not made immediately.

(3) An emergency protection order may contain any conditions set out in Division 4 of this Part of the Act.

(4) A copy of the emergency protection order must be immediately sent by the court to the Police in the area nearest where the complainant is currently residing, whether temporarily or permanently.

(5) An emergency protection order shall be effective for a period of no more than 28 days including the day the order is made.

(6) A court must determine an application for an emergency protection order on the same day on which the application is made unless there are exceptional circumstances.

17. Temporary Protection Order

(1) The court may grant a temporary protection order and include any conditions listed in Division 4 of this Part of the Act if it considers it to be in the best interests of the complainant.
(2) In determining whether it is in the best interests of the complainant to issue a temporary protection order, the Court shall consider whether there is risk of harm to the complainant if the order is not made immediately.
(3) If the court makes a temporary order under this Act, the court shall order immediate service on the respondent by the police of the temporary protection order together with-
(a) the notice of the date of the hearing in accordance with Form 3 in the Schedule of this Act; and
(b) a notice to the respondent that clearly states that if the respondent does not take any steps in the proceedings, the temporary order will become final in accordance with section 18 by operation of law 90 days after the date on which it is made.
(4) Where the respondent fails to appear before the court in accordance with subsection (3)(a) and the court being satisfied on the evidence that the respondent has been served, the court may-
(a) give further directions; or
(b) order that the temporary order becomes final by operation of law 90 days after the date on which it is made.
(5) Where a temporary order becomes a final order pursuant to subsection (4)(b), the final order comes into effect immediately.
(6) Temporary protection orders shall be effective for 90 days.
(7) A temporary protection order may be made by the court on an ex parte basis.

18. Final Order
(1) Where an application is made on notice to the court for a protection order and the court being satisfied on the evidence that notice has been served on the respondent in accordance with Form 3 in the Schedule of this Act, the court-
(a) may give further directions; or
(b) make a final order and include any conditions set out in Division 4 of this Part of the Act as it considers appropriate on Form 4 in the Schedule of this Act.
(2) A final protection order shall remain in force unless varied or cancelled by the court on an application by the respondent, if there is good cause.
(3) In considering the application the court must take in account the best interests of the victim of domestic violence and dependent persons in the domestic relationship.

Division 4 - Conditions of a protection order

19. Standard conditions
(1) Any protection order granted under this Act must include these conditions, namely that the respondent must not-
(a) physically or sexually abuse the complainant;
(b) threaten to physically or sexually abuse the complainant;
(c) damage or threaten to damage property or cause death or injury to any animal of the complainant;
(d) engage, or threaten to engage, in other behaviour, including intimidation, harassment or stalking which amounts to psychological abuse of the complainant;
(e) deprive or threaten to deprive the complainant of economic or financial resources or dispose or threaten to dispose of any movable or immovable property in which the complainant has a material interest.
(f) encourage any person to engage in behaviour against a complainant where the behaviour, if engaged in by the respondent would be prohibited by the order;
(g) prohibit the respondent or complainant from approaching each other while under the influence of alcohol, kava or non-prescription drugs.
(2) Without limiting subsection (1), it is a condition of every protection order that at any time other than when the complainant and the respondent are living in the same dwelling house, the respondent must not-
(a) watch, loiter near, or prevent or hinder access to or from, the complainant’s place of residence, business, employment, educational institution, or any other place that the complainant visits often; and
(b) follow the complainant about or stop or accost the complainant in any place; and
(c) where the complainant is present on any land or building, enters or remains on that land or building without the complainant's express consent; and
(d) make any other contact with the complainant (whether by telephone, electronic message, correspondence or otherwise), except such contact-
(i) as is reasonably necessary in any emergency; or
(ii) as is permitted under any order or written agreement relating to the role of providing day-to-day care for, or contact with, or custody of or access to any children.

20. Conditions relating to property and accommodation
A court shall include any or all or any of the following conditions in a protection order-
(a) prohibit the respondent from taking, damaging, destroying, burning, selling or giving away any property of the complainant;
(b) direct the respondent-
   (i) to return through a third party any specific personal property of the complainant; or
   (ii) to allow the complainant to recover, have access to or make use of any specified personal property.
(c) grant the complainant temporary occupancy to a residence or specified part of it whether or not the residence is solely owned or leased by the respondent.

21. Conditions relating to weapons
The court directs the respondent to surrender any weapon to the nearest police station or dispose of any weapon that has been used or threatened to be used to commit domestic violence.

22. Custody, access and maintenance orders
A protection order shall include, where appropriate, all or any of the following conditions-
(a) a custody order granting temporary custody of any dependent child to the complainant or to another appropriate person if the court is satisfied that it is in the best interest of the child and for the safety and welfare of the child in question; or
(b) an access order to the respondent under such terms and conditions as the court considers appropriate in the best interests of the child;
(c) a maintenance order directing the respondent to pay maintenance in cash or kind or both to the complainant and any dependent children.

23. Urgent maintenance orders
(1) Where the court makes a protection order, it must also make an order for urgent maintenance where it appears that the party is in need of immediate financial assistance, until further orders of the court.
(2) The court may order payment of a weekly or monthly or other periodic amount as the court considers reasonable.

Division 5 - Variation and cancellation of protection order

24. Application by either party
(1) A complainant or respondent may, upon written notice to the other party and the Court concerned on Form 3 in the Schedule apply for the variation or cancellation of a protection order.
(2) If the court is satisfied that good cause has been shown for the variation or cancellation of the protection order and the application has been made freely and voluntarily, it may issue an order to this effect and set out the order on Form 5 in the Schedule of this Act.
(3) The Registrar or clerk of the court as the case may be must forward the order and any variations made to the original protection order and set out the order according to Form 5 in the Schedule of this Act, to the complainant and respondent.

Part 3 - Prevention and Response

25. Public awareness, education, training, research
(1) Ministries and Departments shall support and help ensure the introduction of public awareness programmes on prevention and the causes and consequences of violence in the family and in the community and based on available data.
(2) Mechanisms for preventing, reducing the prevalence of violence and responding to help victims of violence shall include, but not be limited to-
   (a) sensitisation and training in human rights, gender equality and causes and consequences of domestic violence for judicial officers, police officers, health care professionals, social welfare officers, other personnel in relevant Government agencies, youth groups, media personnel and civil society organizations;
   (b) educating officials including and emphasizing human rights, gender equality and the problems of gender based violence in the education curricula in all levels of education;
   (c) promoting and conducting educative campaigns on the National Action Plan on violence against women and on sexual and gender based violence;
   (d) supporting and setting up facilities to support victims of gender and sexual based violence,
   (e) Government officials promoting studies, research, data collection on the causes, consequences and frequency of domestic violence for regular evaluation and monitoring of trends and to form the basis of national and local preventive measures, national plans of action and strategy, policies and public awareness programmes to reduce, prevent and eliminate violence; and
   (f) the Minister responsible for women affairs to present an annual report to the Maneaba in Maungatabu on Part 4 - Police Powers and Duties

26. Duty of Police to act in relation to domestic violence

(1) If a police officer suspects on reasonable grounds that a person who is or has been in a domestic relationship with another person -

(a) has committed or is about to commit a domestic violence offence; or
(b) has breached a protection order, the police officer may issue a Police Safety Order in Form 6 of the Schedule if the officer-

(i) does not arrest that person for an offence against any enactment involving the use of violence; but
(ii) has reasonable grounds to believe, having regard to the matters specified in sub section (2), that the issue of a Police Safety Order is necessary to ensure the safety of the victim in accordance with section 27.

(2) When considering whether to issue a police safety order under subsection (1), the police officer must have regard to the following matters:

(a) whether there is a likelihood that the person will use, or again use domestic violence against the victim or any other person in the household;
(b) the welfare of any children residing in the household with the victim; and
(c) any other matter the police officer considers relevant.

(3) A police safety order comes into force immediately on being served on the person who commits domestic violence.

(4) An order continues in force for the period specified in the order, but that period must not exceed 14 days.

27. Police safety order

(1) A police safety order issued under section 26(1) must be served as soon as practicable on the person against whom the order is issued.

(2) An order may be issued without the consent of the person at risk for whose safety the order is proposed to be issued.

(3) A police officer who issues a Police Safety Order must explain to the person against whom the order is issued-

(a) the purpose, duration and effect of the order; and
(b) the consequences that may follow if the person against whom the order is issued contravenes the order.

(4) If an order issued under section 26(1) has not been served within 48 hours from the time of issue, the order lapses.

(5) A police safety order may be issued by a police constable or any police officer above the rank of constable.

28. Effect of police safety order

(1) A person against whom an order is issued must-

(a) immediately surrender any weapons in his or her possession or control, used or about to be used to commit domestic violence; and
(b) vacate any land or building occupied by a person at risk, whether or not he or she has a legal or equitable interest in the land or building.

(2) It is a condition of every order that the person against whom the order is issued must not-

(a) physically or sexually abuse or threaten to abuse a person at risk;
(b) remove, endanger or threaten to damage property or any animal belonging to a person at risk;
(c) harass, stalk, sexually harass, intimidate, follow or verbally abuse a person at risk; or
(d) make any contact with a person at risk.

(3) In this section, a person at risk means-

(a) the person named in the order for whose safety the order is issued; and
(b) any child dependent upon the person at risk.

29. Contravention of Police Safety Order

(1) Where a person who has been served with a Police Safety Order fails to comply with the Order or any condition of the Order, a police officer shall-

(a) take the person into custody; and
(b) apply to the Magistrate's Court on behalf of the person at risk for an emergency protection order under section 12.

(2) A person taken into custody shall, subject to subsection (3), be brought before the Magistrate's Court within 24 hours.

(3) If a person is taken into custody under subsection (1) and it is not practicable to bring the person arrested before a Magistrate within 24 hours after he or she has been taken into custody, a police officer of the rank of sergeant or above or the police officer in charge of the police station shall inquire into the case and, at or before the expiry of that period-

(a) grant or withhold bail; or
(b) release the person; and
(c) serve the person with a summons requiring him or her to appear before the Magistrate’s Court at the place and time specified in the summons.

(4) If the person who has been served with the summons under subsection (3)(c) does not attend personally at the place and time specified in the summons, the Magistrate’s Court may issue a warrant to arrest him or her and bring him or her before the Court.

30. Duty to prosecute
(1) Where there is a report of domestic violence and provided that there is sufficient evidence for doing so, every police officer handling the matter shall ensure and undertake to do all things necessary in order that a charge or information is laid with the court in order to commence prosecution of the matter in court.

(2) In addition to subsection (1), every police officer shall not endeavour to provide counselling to the parties to the proceedings to reconcile or to withdraw a charge or information laid under subsection (1).

(3) In every case prosecuted before the court, it is the duty of the police officer-

(a) to provide information to the complainant about court processes and procedures in a language that he or she understands, the remedies available under this Act and the right to hire or have access to a court appointed lawyer and lodge an appeal; and

(b) where necessary, make arrangements for the complainant and the complainant’s dependents to find a suitable shelter, to obtain a medical treatment or counselling service where needed.

(4) The failure of a police officer to comply with an obligation imposed under this Act shall constitute misconduct for the purposes of section 41 of the Police Service Act 2008.

31. Annual reports to be tabled in the Maneaba ni Maungatabu
(1) The Police Commissioner must, at least once a year, compile annual statistics and an annual report from the information collected under this section and forward the statistics and annual report to the Minister responsible for women affairs.

(2) The annual statistics and annual report referred to in subsection (1) shall contain the following details-

(a) number of domestic violence reports filed;
(b) number of complaints filed by men;
(e) number of complaints filed by women;
(d) number of reported cases concluded after investigations; (e) total time spent on investigations;
(f) the manner in which the police responded to solve the issue when the report was filed and time taken in general;
(g) action taken by the police to resolve a matter and referrals made to other services; and
(h) the outcome of the domestic violence offences.

(3) On receipt of the statistics and annual report to in subsection (2), the Minister responsible for Women Affairs must prepare a consolidated report which the Minister must, at least once in every year submit to relevant authorities, the advisory council for women established under section 41 of this Act and table it in the Maneaba ni Maungatabu.

(4) Any information obtained under subsection (3) which may reveal the identity of the parties must not be disclosed in the consolidated report.

Part 5 - Role of Health Care Professionals and Social Service Provider
32. Duty of care and response to reports of domestic violence
(1) A duty of care is hereby established on any healthcare professional and social service provider who has been or is notified by a complainant that they have been a victim of domestic violence to-

(i) advise the complainant about counselling;

(ii) refer the complainant to counselling as appropriate;

(iii) advise the complainant about filing a complaint with the police

(2) In the event the police officer receive a report under subsection (1 iii), the police officer shall-

(a) instigate the processes required to investigate the incidence and take action; and

(b) ensure that the complainant is duly informed about the outcome of the investigations and the complainant of their rights and the remedies available under this Act.

(3) The health care professional must examine the complainant and applying the protocol established by the Ministry of Health providing for professional standards and confidential treatment and further advise the victim of support options available and refer the victim to counselling support where available.

(4) Any social service provider who has been notified by a complainant that he or she has been or are a victim of domestic violence must-

(a) advise the victim of the support options available;

(f) assist the victim and any dependent children where necessary by taking them to a shelter, where available and/or a house of a relative or friend and shall further liaise with the Police in ensuring that protection orders are applied for, are obtained and enforced.

(5) Any health care professional or social service provider shall not give to any other person, whether directly or indirectly, any information acquired by reason of performing duty of a health care professional or social service provider under this Act.

Part 6 - Offences and Penalties
33. Domestic violence offence and breach of protection order
(1) A person who-
   (a) engages in any conduct set out in section 4;
   (b) breaches a protection order;
   (c) fails to comply with a Police Safety Order;
commits a domestic violence offence.
(2) A person who commits a domestic violence offence referred to in subsection (1) shall be punished by up to a maximum term of 6 months imprisonment or a fine of up to $250.
(3) A person who commits a domestic violence referred to in subsection (1) for a second time shall be punished by up to a maximum term of 12 months imprisonment or a fine of up to $500 or both.
(4) A person who commits a domestic violence offence referred to in subsection (1) for a third time or more shall be punished by up to a maximum term of 3 years imprisonment with a fine of up to $1000 or both.
(5) It is not a defence to a domestic violence offence under subsection (1) that the respondent has paid compensation or reparation to the complainant or to the complainant’s family.
(6) If a person instigates, counsels or procures another person to commit an act of domestic violence that person is taken to have committed the act and subsection (1) applies.

34. Relationship of Penal Code and relevant written laws to this Act
(1) Subject to section 10(5) of the Constitution, in addition to prosecution under section 30 of this Act, a respondent may also be prosecuted under any other criminal laws for the time being in force for the perpetrator’s acts of domestic violence if the facts disclose the commission of a criminal offence under those provisions.
(2) In relation to domestic violence, the following circumstances shall be considered as aggravated circumstances, resulting in enhanced penalties for the offender, where-
   (a) domestic violence is committed against a child; or the action of domestic violence is performed in the presence of a minor;
   (b) domestic violence is committed against a person with special needs, a pregnant woman or a woman who, due to whatever reason, is incapable of resisting;
   (c) the violence is severe or life threatening;
   (d) a weapon is used; or
   (e) the respondent has committed repeated incidences of domestic violence.

Part 7 - Procedures
35. Procedures generally
(1) Proceedings under this Act are governed by the procedures, rules and regulations made under this Act and any other applicable criminal law.
(2) In cases of difficulty or doubt, a Court exercising jurisdiction in the proceedings may give directions about the procedures.

36. Service
(1) Where an application is being made to the Court for a protection order, the Court must issue as soon as practicable after filing-
   (a) a summon directing the respondent to appear at the time and place set out in the summons on Form 3 in the Schedule; or
   (b) a warrant in accordance with subsection (2) for the arrest of the respondent.
(2) The Court may issue a warrant if the Court is satisfied that the personal safety of the complainant would be seriously threatened unless the respondent is apprehended and brought into custody.
(3) The Court must give two copies of the application and any summons or warrants to the police officer in charge of the police station nearest to where the respondent lives or was last known to live.
(4) The police officer must personally serve the application and summons or warrant on the respondent.
(5) Where service is completed by the police officer, an affidavit of service must be completed by the police officer who served the respondent and the affidavit must be promptly delivered posted or transmitted by facsimile transmission or emailed to the court registry in which the application was filed for the hearing of the matter.

(6) In the case of a warrant, the police officer must arrest the respondent and take the respondent into custody.

37. Withdrawal or complaint
Where a complainant makes an oral or written application for withdrawal of a complaint against the respondent, the Court-
- must investigate the reasons for withdrawal;
- must ensure the safety and well-being of the complainant and any dependants;
- may make further directions; or
- grant the application.

38. Rights of complainant in domestic violence proceedings
In proceedings for domestic violence, the prosecutor or any other person acting for the complainant, must consult with the complainant and fully explain proceedings in order to ensure that all relevant information is provided to the complainant and that the complainant fully understands the court proceedings and orders made, in order to lessen the impact of the court hearing on the complaint, any dependent children and persons living in the same household.

Part 8 - Appeals
39. Appeals
(I) An appeal may be made to the High Court against a decision of a court-
- to make a protection order; or
- to revoke or vary a protection order (including a variation of the conditions imposed by the order); or
- to refuse to make, vary or revoke a protection order.

(2) An appeal-
- may be made by the complainant or the respondent; and
- must be instituted within 28 days after the day on which the court's decision is made.

40. Institution and nature of appeal
(1) An appeal must be instituted by-
- lodging a notice of appeal in writing with the Registrar of the High Court; and
- serving a copy of the notice of appeal on each person who is a party to the proceedings (other than the appellant); and
- giving a copy of the notice of appeal to the Commissioner of Police or his or her representative.

(2) A notice of appeal must specify the grounds of appeal and the facts that are relied upon.
(3) Unless a judge of the High Court orders otherwise, an appeal is to be by way of re-hearing and must be in accordance with the rules of the Court.

(2) The suspension of prescription under paragraph (1) against an accomplice shall also take effect on another accomplice.

Article 18 (Duty of Confidentiality, etc.)

(1) No public official or assistant who is in charge of or is involved in the investigation of crimes of domestic violence or the investigation, examination or execution of home protection cases, no counselor or head of a counseling center or any person falling under Article 4 (2) 1 (including persons who held such positions) shall divulge any confidential information he/she has become aware of in the course of performing his/her duties.

(2) With regard to home protection cases under this Act, no one shall include the address, name, age, occupation and appearance of domestic violence offenders, victims, accusers, complainants or informants or other personal information and photographs, which help other people to recognize them, in publications such as newspapers, or air such information through broadcast media.

(3) No teacher or staff member of a school or nursery, who is in charge of the education or care of the children under the protection of victims or child victims, shall divulge the fact of sending the relevant children to schools, their admission to schools, changing their schools or entering facilities (including the change of facilities) to anyone, including persons with parental authority who are domestic violence offenders, unless any justifiable ground exists.

Article 18-2 (Mutatis Mutandis Application of Criminal Procedure Act)

The provisions of the Criminal Procedure Act shall apply mutatis mutandis to the matters not provided for in this Chapter, to the extent that it does not violate the nature of home protection cases.
COMPENDIUM OF INTERNATIONAL AND NATIONAL LEGAL FRAMEWORKS ON DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

SECTION 2 - Investigations and hearings

Article 19 (Direction of Investigations and Hearings)
When investigating or hearing a home protection case, the court shall utilize specialized knowledge of medical science, psychology, sociology, social welfare studies, etc., learn the personality, behavior, experiences and home circumstances of an offender, victims and other family members, as well as the motives, causes and circumstances of the crimes of domestic violence, in an effort to ensure that appropriate measures are taken to achieve the purposes of this Act.
[This Article Wholly Amended by Act No. 10573, Apr. 12, 2011]

Article 20 (Investigators of Home Protection Cases)
(1) A home protection case investigator shall be assigned at the court for the investigations and hearings of home protection cases.
(2) Qualifications, appointment and dismissal of home protection case investigators and other necessary matters shall be prescribed by the Supreme Court Regulations.
[This Article Wholly Amended by Act No. 10573, Apr. 12, 2011]

Article 21 (Investigation Orders, etc.)
(1) A judge may order or request a home protection case investigator or the head of a probation office having jurisdiction over the location of the court or the residence of a domestic violence offender to question the domestic violence offender, victims and family members or investigate their mental or psychological state or motives, causes and circumstances of the criminal domestic violence.
(2) Article 19 (2) and (3) of the Act on Probation, Etc. shall apply mutatis mutandis to a judge’s request made to the head of a probation office to conduct investigations under paragraph (1).
[This Article Wholly Amended by Act No. 10573, Apr. 12, 2011]

Article 22 (Seeking Expert Opinions)
(1) The court may seek opinions on the psychological or mental state of domestic violence offenders, victims or family members or the causes of the crimes of domestic violence from mental health doctors, psychologists, sociologists, social welfare scholars or other related experts. <Amended by Act No. 11005, Aug. 4, 2011>
(2) The court shall consider the opinions sought pursuant to paragraph (1) in investigating and hearing a home protection case.
[This Article Wholly Amended by Act No. 10573, Apr. 12, 2011]

Article 23 (Notification of Rights Not to Make Statements)
In investigating a home protection case, a judge or home protection case investigator shall, in advance, notify a domestic violence offender of his/her right to refuse to make any statement against themselves.
[This Article Wholly Amended by Act No. 10573, Apr. 12, 2011]

Article 24 (Summons and Warrant of Accompanying)
(1) A judge may summon a domestic violence offender, victims, family members or other witnesses to appear on a designated date, where deemed necessary for investigations and hearings.
(2) Where a domestic violence offender fails to comply with the summons under paragraph (1) without any justifiable ground, the judge may issue a warrant of accompanying.
[This Article Wholly Amended by Act No. 10573, Apr. 12, 2011]

Article 25 (Emergency Warrant of Accompanying)
A judge may issue a warrant of accompanying without summons under Article 24 (1), where a domestic violence offender is unlikely to comply with such summons or where it is deemed urgently necessary to protect a victim.
[This Article Wholly Amended by Act No. 10573, Apr. 12, 2011]

Article 26 (Form of Warrant of Accompanying)
A warrant of accompanying shall include the name, date of birth and address of a domestic violence offender, summary of the offence, place where the offender was apprehended or place where he/she will be admitted into, the period of validity, the intent that the judge is unable to commence execution after the warrant becomes invalid and that it shall be returned, and the date of issuance, and it shall carry the signature and seal of the judge.
[This Article Wholly Amended by Act No. 10573, Apr. 12, 2011]
Article 27 (Execution of Warrant of Accompanying, etc.)

(1) Home protection case investigators, court clerical officials of Grade IV, court clerical officials of Grade V, court clerical officials of Grade VI and court clerical officials of Grade VII (hereinafter referred to as “court officials”) or judicial public officers may execute warrants of accompanying.

(2) Where the court fails to execute a warrant of accompanying for not less than one year due to the unknown whereabouts of a domestic violence offender, it may transfer such case to prosecutors of a public prosecutors' office corresponding to the competent court.

(3) When the court executes a warrant of accompanying, it shall notify the fact to the legal representative or assistant of a domestic violence offender, without delay.

[This Article Wholly Amended by Act No. 10573, Apr. 12, 2011]

Article 28 (Assistant)

(1) A domestic violence offender may appoint an assistant for his/her home protection case.

(2) An attorney-at-law, the legal representative, spouse, lineal relative, brother or sister of a domestic violence offender, and counselors or the head of a counselling center shall be eligible to be assistants: Provided, That the offender shall obtain approval from the court to appoint a person, other than an attorney-at-law, as his/her assistant.

(3) No assistant, other than an attorney-at-law appointed under paragraph (2), shall receive or promise to receive money, valuables, entertainment or other benefits, and allow or promise to allow a third party to offer such benefits.

(4) Where a domestic violence offender falls under any of the subparagraphs of Article 33 (1) of the Criminal Procedure Act, the court may, ex officio, appoint an attorney-at-law as his/her assistant.

(5) The Criminal Procedure Costs Act shall apply mutatis mutandis to expenses to be paid to assistants appointed under paragraph (4).

[This Article Wholly Amended by Act No. 10573, Apr. 12, 2011]

Article 29 (Ad Hoc Measures)

(1) A judge may take any of the following ad hoc measures against a domestic violence offender by ruling, where deemed necessary for the smooth investigation and examination of a home protection case or for the protection of a victim:

1. Eviction, etc. from a room, in which victims or family members live, or a room occupied thereby, to isolate the offender from the victim;
2. A restraining order to stay at least 100 meters away from the residence or place of work of the victim or family members;
3. A ban on approaching the victim or family members through telecommunications under subparagraph 1 of Article 2 of the Framework Act on Telecommunications;
4. Admitting the offender into a medical institution or intermediate care center;
5. Confining the offender in a detention center or room of any State police station.

(2) A judge shall decide on whether to take measures under paragraph (1) against a domestic violence offender accompanied under a warrant to accompany or an offender extradited under Article 13 within 24 hours after the domestic violence offender is compelled to appear in court.

(3) When the court decides to take measures under paragraph (1), it shall notify prosecutors or the victim of such fact.

(4) After the court has taken measures under paragraph (1) 4 or 5, it shall notify the fact to an assistant, if any, or a person designated by a legal representative or the offender, if not. In such cases, when the court has taken measures under paragraph (1) 5, it shall notify the domestic violence offender that he/she may appoint an assistant, including an attorney-at-law and may file a complaint under Article 49 (1).

(5) A period for taking ad hoc measures under paragraph (1) 1 through 3 shall not exceed two months, and the period for taking ad hoc measures under paragraph (1) 4 and 5 shall not exceed one month: Provided, That the court may rule to extend the period for ad hoc measures under paragraph (1) 1 through 3 on up to two occasions and ad hoc measures under paragraph (1) 4 and 5 only once within the specified period, where deemed necessary to protect a victim.

(6) When an offender is committed to a medical institution, etc. under paragraph (1) 4, the court may impose necessary measures on the head of the medical institution, etc. for the protection of the offender.

(7) When the court intends to admit an offender to a medical institution, etc. operated by civilians, it shall make a prior notification to the head of such institution, etc. of the measures to be imposed under paragraph (6) and obtain his/her consent thereto.
When a judge decides to take ad hoc measures under each subparagraph of paragraph (1), he/she may have home protection case investigators, court officials, judicial public officers or correctional public officials under the jurisdiction of a detention center implement such measures.

A domestic violence offender, or the legal representative or assistant thereof may file a request for the revocation of a decision to take ad hoc measures under paragraph (1) or for the change of the type of such measures.

A judge may rule to revoke the relevant ad hoc measures or change the type of such measures ex officio, or where he/she deems that requests made under paragraph (9) have justifiable grounds to the contrary.

Standards for medical institutions or intermediate care centers to which a domestic violence offender is committed under paragraph (1) 4 and other necessary matters shall be prescribed by the Supreme Court Regulations.

Article 29-2 (Implementation, etc. of Ad Hoc Measures)
(1) Any person who implements a ruling on ad hoc measures under Article 29 (8) shall notify a domestic violence offender of the details thereof or the methods for objecting thereto.

(2) Where victims or family members have moved to a new residence or place of work after ad hoc measures under Article 29 (1) 1 and 2 were taken, they may request the competent court to revise a ruling to take ad hoc measures.

Article 30 (Setting of Hearing Date)
(1) A judge shall set a hearing date and summon a domestic violence offender. In such cases, the judge shall notify the offender of the summary of a home protection case and the fact that he/she is entitled to an assistant.

(2) Assistants and victims shall be notified of a hearing date under paragraph (1).

Article 31 (Change of Hearing Date)
A judge may reschedule a hearing, either ex officio or upon request by a domestic violence offender or his/her assistant. In such cases, the domestic violence offender, victim and their assistant shall be notified thereof.

Article 32 (Closed Hearing)
(1) Where a judge deems it necessary to ensure privacy, to help promote a peaceful and stable home, or to maintain good public morals, he/she may choose to close to the public a hearing for a home protection case.

(2) Victims or family members summoned as witnesses may request the judge for a closed witness examination on the grounds of privacy protection or the peace and stability at home. In such cases, the judge may determine whether to grant such a request and the methods and places of such examination, including an examination in places other than open courts.

Article 33 (Victims' Rights to State Opinions)
(1) The court shall examine a victim as a witness, when the victim makes a request to do so: Provided, That the same shall not apply to cases falling under any of the following subparagraphs:

1. Where any further statement is not deemed necessary as he/she has already fully stated his/her opinions during the hearing proceedings;

2. Where the hearing proceedings are likely to be significantly delayed due to any further statement.

(2) When the court examines a victim under paragraph (1), it shall give him/her an opportunity to state his/her opinions on the relevant home protection case.

(3) The court may request victims or home protection case investigators to state their opinions or submit materials where deemed necessary for a hearing. In such cases, the judge may order a domestic violence offender to leave the court, where deemed necessary to ensure fair statements.

(4) In cases falling under paragraphs (1) through (3), a victim may allow an attorney-at-law, his/her legal representative, spouse, lineal relative, brother or sister, and counselors or the head of a counselling center to state their opinions on his/her behalf.

(5) When the applicant referred to in paragraph (1) fails to appear before the court without justifiable cause, after having been summoned, such request shall be deemed to have been revoked.

Article 34 (Witness Examination, Appraisal, Interpretation and Translation)
(1) The court may examine a witness and order an appraisal, interpretation and translation.
The provisions of the Criminal Procedure Act governing the witness examination, appraisal, interpretation and translation shall apply mutatis mutandis to the cases falling under paragraph (1) to the extent that it does not violate the nature of home protection cases.

With regard to the expenses paid to witnesses, appraisers, interpreters or translators, accommodation charges and other expenses, the provisions of the Criminal Procedure Act governing expenses and the provisions of the Criminal Procedure Costs Act shall apply mutatis mutandis.

Article 35 (Verification, Seizure, and Search)
(1) The court may conduct verification, seizure and search.
(2) The provisions of the Criminal Procedure Act governing the verification, seizure and search by the court shall apply mutatis mutandis to the cases falling under paragraph (1) to the extent that it does not violate the nature of home protection cases.

Article 36 (Cooperation and Assistance)
(1) The court may request cooperation and assistance from the relevant administrative agencies, counselling centers, medical institutions or any other organizations, where necessary for the investigation and hearing of home protection cases.
(2) Where the relevant administrative agencies, counselling centers, medical institutions or any other organizations refuse to comply with a request made under paragraph (1), they shall present justifiable grounds.

Article 37 (Decision not to Take Measures)
(1) The judge shall decide not to take any measure after hearing a home protection case, in any of the following cases:
   1. Where it is deemed that he/she is unable to issue a protective order or such disposition is unnecessary;
   2. When he/she deems that it is inappropriate to handle the case as a home protection case, in consideration of the nature, motives and results of incidents, or personality, behaviors and habits of the domestic violence offender.
(2) Where the court decides not to take measures on the grounds specified in paragraph (1) 2, it shall handle the case in accordance with the following classification:
   1. Where the case has been transferred by a prosecutor under Article 11, the court shall transfer the case to a prosecutor of the prosecutors' office corresponding to the competent court;
   2. Where the case has been transferred by the court under Article 12, the court shall transfer the case to the court which made the transfer order.
(3) When the judge makes a decision under paragraph (1), it shall notify such fact to the domestic violence offender, victims and prosecutors.

Article 38 (Period, etc. of Disposition)
A home protection case shall be handled promptly, in preference to other litigation. A decision on disposition shall be made within three months after the date when the case was transferred, unless any extenuating ground exists.

Article 39 (Provisions for Delegation)
Matters necessary for the investigation and hearing of home protection cases shall be prescribed by the Supreme Court Regulations.

SECTION 3 - Protective Orders

Article 40 (Decision, etc. on Protective Orders)
(1) A judge may rule on any of the following, where a protective order is deemed necessary after a hearing:
   1. Restrictions on a domestic violence offender's access to the victims or family members;
   2. Restrictions on a domestic violence offender's access to the victims or family members through telecommunications under subparagraph 1 of Article 2 of the Framework Act on Telecommunications;
   3. Restrictions on a domestic violence offender's exercise of parental authority over the victims;
   4. Order for community service or a lecture under the Act on Probation, Etc.;
   5. Probation under the Act on Probation, Etc.;
6. Entrustment of the custody of offenders to protective facilities specified in the Act on the Prevention of Domestic Violence and Protection, etc. of Victims;
7. Entrustment of the treatment of offenders to medical institutions;
8. Entrustment of the counseling for offenders to counseling centers, etc.

(2) A disposition falling under each subparagraph of paragraph (1) may be imposed concurrently.

(3) When a disposition is imposed under paragraph (1) 3, the victims may be sent to other parental guardians, relatives or appropriate facilities.

(4) If the court has decided to issue a protective order, it shall notify the fact to a prosecutor, domestic violence offender, victim, probation officer, and the head of a protective facility, medical institution or counseling center, etc., which is entrusted with the performance of a protective order (hereinafter referred to as “entrusted institutions”) without delay: Provided, That where it is a private institution, the court shall obtain consent from the head of the institution to such entrustment.

(5) When a disposition is imposed under paragraph (1) 4 through 8, it shall send reference materials necessary for the correction of domestic violence offenders to probation officers or the heads of entrusted institutions.

(6) Institutions entrusted with the custody of domestic violence offenders under paragraph (1) 6 shall provide them with education necessary to correct their personality and behavior.

[This Article Wholly Amended by Act No. 10573, Apr. 12, 2011]

Article 41 (Period of Protective Orders)
The period of a protective order under Article 40 (1) 1 through 3 and a protective order under Article 40 (1) 5 through 8 shall not exceed six months, and community service and lectures provided for in Article 40 (1) 4 shall not exceed 200 hours, respectively.

[This Article Wholly Amended by Act No. 10573, Apr. 12, 2011]

Article 42 (Confiscation)
A judge may rule to confiscate articles used or intended to be used for criminal domestic violence, which do not belong to persons, other than domestic violence offenders, in issuing a protective order.

[This Article Wholly Amended by Act No. 10573, Apr. 12, 2011]

Article 43 (Execution of Protective Orders)
(1) The court may allow home protection case investigators, court officials, judicial public officers, probation officers or employees belonging to entrusted institutions to execute a protective order.

(2) In executing a protective order, the provisions of the Criminal Procedure Act, the Act on Probation, etc. and the Mental Health Act shall apply mutatis mutandis to matters not prescribed in this Act, to the extent that it does not violate the nature of home protection cases.

[This Article Wholly Amended by Act No. 10573, Apr. 12, 2011]

Article 44 (Presentation, etc. of Reports and Opinions)
If the court has decided to issue a protective order under Article 40 (1) 4 through 8, it may request probation officers or the heads of entrusted institutions to present reports or written opinions on domestic violence offenders and may issue instructions for the execution of such order.

[This Article Wholly Amended by Act No. 10573, Apr. 12, 2011]

Article 45 (Revision of Protective Orders)
(1) The court may rule to revise the types and period of a protective order on no more than one occasion, either ex officio or upon request by a prosecutor, probation officer or the head of an entrusted institution, where deemed necessary, as long as the protective order remains in force.

(2) Where the court revises the type and period of a protective order under paragraph (1), the period of a protective order under Article 40 (1) 1 through 3 and Article 40 (1) 5 through 8 shall not exceed one year, and community service and lectures provided under Article 40 (1) 4 shall not exceed 400 hours, including the original period.

(3) When the court has decided to revise an order under paragraph (1), it shall notify the fact to a prosecutor, domestic violence offender, legal representative, assistant, victim, probation officer and entrusted institution, without delay.

[This Article Wholly Amended by Act No. 10573, Apr. 12, 2011]

Article 46 (Revocation of Protective Orders)
Where a domestic violence offender subjected to a protective order fails to implement the decision of a protective order under Article 40 (1) 4 through 8 or fails to comply with the execution thereof, the court shall rule to revoke such protective order, either ex officio or upon request by a prosecutor, victim, probation officer or the head of an entrusted institution, and take any of the following measures:

1. If the case has been transferred by a prosecutor under Article 11, the court shall transfer the case to a prosecutor of the prosecutors’ office corresponding to the competent court;
2. If the case has been transferred by the court under Article 12, the court shall transfer the case to the court which made such transfer order.

[This Article Wholly Amended by Act No. 10573, Apr. 12, 2011]

Article 47 (Termination of Protective Orders)
The court may rule to terminate all or part of a protective order, either ex officio or upon request by a prosecutor, victim, probation officer or the head of an entrusted institution, where it deems that domestic violence offenders are able to lead a normal life at home as their personality and behavior have been corrected or that protective orders are no longer necessary for other reasons.

Article 48 (Bearing Expenses)
(1) Domestic violence offenders who are committed to medical institutions, etc. under Article 29 (1) 4 or who are subjected to a protective order under Article 40 (1) 7 and 8 shall bear expenses incurred for such commitment or protective order: Provided, That where domestic violence offenders are unable to make payment, the State may bear such expenses.
(2) A judge may order domestic violence offenders to make an advance payment for the expenses referred to in the main sentence of paragraph (1).
(3) Calculation of expenses to be borne by domestic violence offenders under paragraph (1), requests for payment, procedures therefor, and other necessary matters shall be prescribed by the Supreme Court Regulations.

[This Article Wholly Amended by Act No. 10573, Apr. 12, 2011]

SECTION 4 - Complaints and Further Complaints

Article 49 (Complaints)
(1) With regard to ad hoc measures under Article 8 or 29 (including decisions on the extension or revision of ad hoc measures; hereinafter the same shall apply), a protective order under Article 40, the revision of a protective order under Article 45 or the revocation of a protective order under Article 46, where there has been any violation of statutes or erroneous determination of facts that could affect the decision, or where such decision is significantly unfair, a prosecutor, domestic violence offender, the legal representative or assistant may file a complaint with the collegiate division of the family court: Provided, That where a family court has not been established, a complaint shall be filed with the collegiate division of the district court.
(2) When the court has decided not to take any measure under Article 37 and such decision is remarkably unfair, prosecutors, victims or the legal representative may file a complaint. In such cases, paragraph (1) shall apply mutatis mutandis to the appellate courts.
(3) A complaint shall be filed within seven days from the notification of such decision.

[This Article Wholly Amended by Act No. 10573, Apr. 12, 2011]

Article 50 (Filing of Written Complaints)
(1) In filing a complaint, a written complaint shall be filed with the court of original judgment.
(2) The court shall send relevant records, along with written opinions, to the appellate court within three days from the receipt of such written complaint.

[This Article Wholly Amended by Act No. 10573, Apr. 12, 2011]

Article 51 (Appellate Trial)
(1) The appellate court shall rule to dismiss a complaint where it deems that a complaint has no merit or that the proceedings therefor violate any Acts.
(2) Where the appellate court deems that a complaint has merit, it shall remand the case to the lower court or transfer it to another competent court, after revoking an original decision. In such cases, it may quash the original decision and make a decision on ad hoc measures, non-disposition or a protective order at its discretion, where it is too urgent to remand or transfer the case or where it is deemed necessary on other grounds.

[This Article Wholly Amended by Act No. 10573, Apr. 12, 2011]

Article 52 (Further Complaints)
A further complaint may be filed with the Supreme Court against a decision to dismiss a complaint, only where such decision violates any statutes.

Article 49 (3) shall apply mutatis mutandis to further complaints under paragraph (1).

Article 53 (Non-Suspension of Execution)
No complaint or further complaint shall have the effect of suspending the execution of a decision.

Article 54 (Transfer of Records, etc. on Concluded Cases)
The court shall send case records and written decisions to prosecutors of the corresponding prosecutors' office, without delay, after a home protection case has been concluded.

CHAPTER III
VICTIM PROTECTIVE ORDERS

Article 55 (Jurisdiction over Victim Protective Order Cases)
(1) Victim protective order cases shall be under the jurisdiction of the family court having jurisdiction over the place of an action, residence or current place of a domestic violence offender and residence or current place of a victim: Provided, That victim protective order cases shall be under the jurisdiction of the district court of the relevant region in a region without a family court.

(2) Victim protective order cases shall be heard and determined by a judge.

Article 55-2 (Victim Protective Orders, etc.)
(1) If deemed necessary to protect a victim, a judge may rule to issue any of the following victim protective orders against a domestic violence offender, at the request of a victim or his/her legal representative:
   1. Eviction, etc. from a room, in which victims or family members live, or a room occupied thereby, to isolate the offender from the victim;
   2. A restraining order to stay at least 100 meters away from the residence and/or place of work of the victim or family members;
   3. A ban on approaching the victim or family members through telecommunications under subparagraph 1 of Article 2 of the Framework Act on Telecommunications;
   4. Restrictions on the exercise of parental authority against a domestic violence offender with parental authority.

(2) A victim protective order falling under paragraph (1) may be issued concurrently.

(3) A victim or his/her legal representative may request the revocation of a victim protective order issued under paragraph (1) or change of the type thereof.

(4) A judge may decide to revoke the relevant victim protective order or change the type of such order, either ex officio or where he/she deems that a request made under paragraph (3) has merit.

(5) If deemed necessary for the protection of a victim, the court may request a prosecutor to take measures to protect the victim from danger, as described in any of the following subparagraphs, for a fixed period either at the request of the victim or his/her legal representative or ex officio. In such cases, the prosecutor may request the chief of a police station having jurisdiction over the residence or current location of the victim to take measures to protect the victim from danger, and the chief of the police station shall comply therewith except in extenuating circumstances: < Newly Inserted by Act No. 12877, Dec. 30, 2014>
   1. Measures to protect a victim who appears in court to be present at the hearings of a home protection case, victim protective order case or other family litigation procedures in which the other party is the domestic violence offender;
   2. Measures to protect a victim who exercises his/her right to visit his/her child;
   3. Other measures prescribed by Presidential Decree to protect the victim from danger.

(6) Other matters necessary to take the measures to protect victims from danger under paragraph (5), including the method, period and procedures for execution, shall be prescribed by Presidential Decree. < Newly Inserted by Act No. 12877, Dec. 30, 2014>

Article 55-3 (Period of Victim Protective Orders)
A period of a victim protective order issued under each subparagraph of Article 55-2 (1) shall not exceed six months: Provided, That the court may extend the period by two months, ex officio or by ruling, upon request by a victim or his/her legal representative.

Where the court extends a period of a victim protective order or changes its type, the period shall not exceed two years including the initial period.

Article 55-4 (Ad Hoc Protective Orders)
(1) When a request for a victim protective order is made under Article 55-2 (1), a judge may rule to issue an ad hoc protective order falling under any subparagraph of Article 55-2 (1) against a domestic violence offender if deemed necessary for the protection of the victim.

(2) An ad hoc protective order shall be valid until a victim protective order is determined: Provided, That a judge may restrict the period, if deemed necessary.

(3) Article 55-2 (3) and (4) shall apply mutatis mutandis to the revocation of an ad hoc protective order or the change of its type. In such cases, "a victim protective order" shall be construed as "an ad hoc protective order."

Article 55-5 (Investigation of Compliance)
(1) A court may have home protection case investigators, court officials, judicial police officers, probation officers, etc. frequently investigate the compliance with an ad hoc protective order and a victim protective order, and report the results thereof without delay.

(2) Where a domestic violence offender subjected to an ad hoc protective order or a victim protective order fails to comply therewith, a court may notify the fact to a prosecutor of public prosecutors' office corresponding to the competent court.

Article 55-6 (Joint Hearings)
In any of the following cases, a court may hold a joint hearing for a victim protective order case and home protection case:
1. Where a domestic violence offender or victim is the same person, respectively;
2. Where a joint hearing is required due to the relevance of the two cases.

Article 55-7 (Application Mutatis Mutandis)
Articles 19 through 22, 30 through 32, and 34 through 36 shall apply mutatis mutandis to the investigation and hearing for victim protective orders.

Article 55-8 (Complaints or Further Complaints)
(1) With regard to a victim protective order (including a decision on extension under Article 55-3) and the revocation or change of the type thereof under Article 55-2 or an ad hoc protective order and the revocation or change of the type thereof under Article 55-4, where there has been any violation of statutes or erroneous determination of facts that could affect the decision, or where such decision is remarkably unfair, the victim, domestic violence offender, or legal representative or assistant thereof may file a complaint with the collegiate division of the competent family court: Provided, That where there is no family court having jurisdiction over the area in question, a complaint shall be filed with the collegiate division of the relevant district court.

(2) If a judge dismisses a victim protective order, the victim or his/her legal representative may file a complaint. In such cases, paragraph (1) shall apply mutatis mutandis to the appellate court.

(3) Articles 49 (3) and 50 through 54 shall apply mutatis mutandis to complaints and further complaints filed against victim protective orders, etc.

Article 55-9 (Provisions for Delegation)
Matters necessary for the investigation and hearing of victim protective order cases shall be prescribed by the Supreme Court Regulations.

CHAPTER IV
SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR HANDLING CIVIL CASES

Article 56 (Applications for Compensation)
A victim may apply for a compensation order under Article 57 to the court of first instance, in which the home protection case is pending. In such cases, no stamp needs to be affixed.

Article 26 (2) through (8) of the Act on Special Cases concerning Expedition, etc. of Legal Proceedings shall apply mutatis mutandis to cases falling under paragraph (1).

Article 57 (Compensation Orders)
(1) The court may order monetary payment or compensation (hereinafter referred to as “compensation”) under the following subparagraphs, either ex officio or upon request by a victim, when issuing a protective order during the hearing proceedings for home protection cases at first instance:
1. Payment of money necessary to support victims or family members;
2. Compensation for direct physical damage and medical expenses incurred in a home protection case.
(2) With regard to the amount of compensation agreed between a domestic violence offender and a victim in a home protection case, the court may issue an order to pay compensation under paragraph (1).
(3) Article 25 (3) (excluding cases under subparagraph 2) of the Act on Special Cases concerning Expedition etc. of Legal Proceedings shall apply mutatis mutandis to cases falling under paragraph (1).

Article 58 (Issuance of Compensation Orders)
(1) Any compensation order shall be issued at the same time when a decision on a protective order is made.
(2) A compensation order shall be made by issuing an order to pay a certain amount of money, and the subject and amount of compensation shall be indicated in the main paragraph of each written decision on a protective order. In such cases, the grounds for a compensation order may be omitted, unless it is deemed especially necessary.
(3) The court may rule that a compensation order may be provisionally executed.
(4) Articles 213 (3), 215, 500 and 501 of the Civil Procedure Act shall apply mutatis mutandis to cases falling under paragraph (3).

Article 59 (Rejection of Applications)
(1) Where an application for compensation is illegal or groundless or where it is deemed that an order for compensation is inappropriate, the court shall rule to reject such application.
(2) When the court holds a trial under paragraph (1) at the same time when the decision on a protective order is made, the court may indicate such fact in the main paragraph of a written decision on a protective order.
(3) At a trial where an application has been rejected or partially accepted, no applicant may raise an objection and apply for the same compensation once again.

Article 60 (Objection to Judgements)

Section 250.54 Prohibition for the Defendant to Use Personal Data of the Plaintiff Prohibition for the defendant to use personal data of the plaintiff is a restriction stipulated by the court decision or decision of the judge for the defendant to process, publish, disclose personal data of the plaintiff or use them otherwise, except for the procedural actions related to court proceedings.

Section 250.55 Provisional Protection Against Violence before Bringing an Action before the Court
(1) The potential plaintiff may submit a reasoned application with request for the court to ensure provisional protection against violence before bringing an action before the court, if the circumstances referred to in Section 250.45, Paragraph one and two of this Section exist.
(2) If the circumstances referred to in Section 250.45, Paragraphs one and two of this Law apply to a child, the application referred to in Paragraph one of this Section may be submitted by one of parents of the child, his or her guardian, Orphan’s and Custody Court or prosecutor in the interests of the child.
(3) An application for provisional protection against violence before bringing an action shall be submitted to the court according to the location where the delicts were inflicted.
Section 250.56 Provisional Protection Against Violence before Bringing an Action before the Court based on the Application which is Submitted with Intermediation of the Police
(1) If before bringing an action the police has taken a decision which imposes an obligation on the potential defendant, who is causing threats, to leave the dwelling, not to return and stay therein or nearby thereof, or prohibits the potential defendant from contacting with the potential plaintiff (police decision regarding separation), the police, upon a request of the potential plaintiff, shall send to the court a true copy of the police decision, the application of the potential plaintiff in which it is indicated that the potential plaintiff wants the court to examine an issue regarding provisional protection against violence, and also other information which is at the disposal of the police and is related to the issue regarding provisional protection against violence.
(2) The application referred to in Paragraph one of this Section shall be drawn up in conformity with the sample approved by the Cabinet.
(3) The police shall send the application referred to in Paragraph one of this Section, and also other information to the court according to the location where the delicts were inflicted.
(4) In the application of the potential plaintiff, which is submitted by intermediation of the police, an authorisation for the police to submit such application on behalf of the plaintiff shall not be included.
(5) The judge shall examine an issue regarding provisional protection against violence, on the basis of the application of the potential plaintiff, which is submitted by intermediation of the police, in accordance with Section 250.58, Paragraph one of this Law.

Section 250.57 Evidence in Cases Regarding Provisional Protection Against Violence
(1) A participant in the case shall approve with certification the circumstances significant in the case indicated in the application in the cases regarding provisional protection against violence.
(2) If there is no other evidence or it is not sufficient, the court may, upon its own initiative, request the participant in the case to approve their explanations, which contain information regarding the facts and circumstances on which his or her claim or objections are based, during the court hearing.
(3) Before provision of an explanation a participant in the case shall sign the certification of the following content:
,"I, (given name, surname), hereby certify that to the best of my conscience I will say only the truth and nothing will be concealed. I certify that the information provided by me to the court on the facts and circumstances of the case are complete and true. I have been warned that I might be held criminally liable in accordance with the Criminal Law for knowingly providing false explanations and knowingly concealing facts and circumstances in the case known to me."
(4) A certification with a signature of the participant in the case referred to in Paragraph three of this Section shall be attached to the case.
(5) A participant in the case may be held criminally liable in accordance with the Criminal Law for knowingly providing false certified explanations or application to the court.
(6) A certification of explanations and application shall not be permissible as evidence in respect of such circumstances which are established by the court judgment which has come into effect, and also for approval or refutation of generally known facts.

Section 250.58 Examination of the Issue Regarding Provisional Protection Against Violence
(1) A court or judge shall decide on the application for provisional protection against violence not later than on the next working day after receipt of the application, if it is not necessary to request additional evidence or delay may cause significant breach of the rights of the plaintiff. The court or judge shall decide on the abovementioned application without prior notification to the participants in the case.
(2) If evidence is not sufficient or it must be requested from the State or local government institutions indicated in the application or from other natural persons or legal persons, the court or judge shall decide on the application for provisional protection against violence within 20 days after receipt of the application.
(3) A court or judge shall decide on the application for provisional protection against violence also in the case when all the information referred to in Section 250.46 of this Law is not indicated in the application or documents are not attached, if the lack of documents or necessary information does not significantly affect possibility of deciding on the application.
(4) A court or judge, when deciding on the application for provisional protection against violence, shall take into account proportionality between breach of the rights or possible breach thereof and applicable means of provisional protection against violence. The court or judge may, upon its own discretion, determine also other means of provisional protection against violence other than indicated in the application.
(5) If it is arising prima facie from the application for provisional protection against violence that delay could cause significant breach of the rights of the plaintiff, the court or judge, in accordance with Paragraph one of this Section, shall decide on such application and may satisfy it on the basis of the certification included in the application also in the cases when there is no other evidence or it is not sufficient.
(6) If it is not arising prima facie from the application for provisional protection against violence that delay could cause significant breach of the rights of the plaintiff and it was not possible to obtain other evidence in accordance with Paragraph two of this Section, the court or judge, in accordance with Paragraph two of this Section, shall decide on such application and may satisfy it... on the basis of the certification included in the application and certification of the explanations which is provided in accordance with Section 250.37, Paragraph two and three of this Law.

(7) When satisfying an application for the provisional protection against violence prior to bringing an action, the court or judge shall determine a time period for the submission of the application to the court for the plaintiff – not longer than one year, but, when determining means of provisional protection against violence, which are referred to in Section 250.47, Paragraph one, Clauses 1 and 2 of this Law, for the defendant, who is permanently living in the dwelling with the plaintiff – not more than 30 days.

(8) When satisfying the claim, provisional protection against violence shall be in effect up to the day when the judgment comes into lawful effect.

(9) In certain cases the court may determine in the judgment that provisional protection against violence is in effect also after coming into lawful effect of the judgment, however not longer than a year after coming into lawful effect of the judgment. If the means of provisional protection against violence, which are referred to in Section 250.47, Paragraph one, Clauses 1 and 2 of this Law, have been determined for the defendant, who is permanently living in the dwelling together with the plaintiff, the court may determine that provisional protection against violence is in effect not longer than 30 days after coming into lawful effect of the judgment.

(10) When refusing a claim, the court shall withdraw provisional protection against violence in the judgment. The provisional protection against violence shall be in effect up to the day when the judgment comes into lawful effect.

(11) If the claim is left without examination or the court proceedings are terminated, the court shall withdraw the provisional protection against violence by taking a decision. The provisional protection against violence shall be in effect up to the day when the decision comes into lawful effect.

(12) If a decision on the provisional protection against violence has been taken prior to the bringing of an action and the action is not brought within the time period laid down by the court, the judge on the basis of the receipt of justified application from the potential plaintiff or the defendant shall take a decision on the withdrawal of provisional protection against violence.

(13) The application referred to in Paragraph two of this Section shall be decided at a closed court hearing upon prior notice to the participants in the case. The court, upon a request of one party, may hear each party in a separate court hearing. Failure of the defendant to attend shall not constitute a bar for the examination of the application.

Section 250.59 Decision on the Provisional Protection Against Violence

(1) In addition to that laid down in Section 230 of this Law the court or judge shall provide in a decision the information regarding participants in the case [given name, surname, personal identity number (if any is known), declared place of residence and additional address indicated in the declaration and the place of residence].

(2) The court or judge, where necessary, shall indicate the time limit for voluntary execution of the decision in the decision regarding determination of means of provisional protection against violence – an obligation for the defendant to leave the dwelling where the plaintiff is permanently living.

(3) The court or judge shall warn the defendant in the decision on provisional protection against violence, that the police will perform the control of the decision, and, if the decision will not be executed voluntary, the defendant will be held liable in accordance with the Criminal Law.

(4) The court or judge shall indicate in the decision on determination of means of provisional protection against violence – an obligation for the defendant to leave the dwelling where the plaintiff is permanently living, that:

1) the defendant has an obligation to notify to the court of his or her future address for communication with the court, if this dwelling is the declared place of residence or additional address indicated in the declaration;

2) the defendant has the right to submit an application to the court for the replacement or withdrawal of the means of provisional protection against violence;

3) the date when the defendant is made familiar with the decision by the State Police shall be regarded as the date when the abovementioned decision is notified to the defendant, and that refusal of the defendant to become familiar with the decision does not affect legal consequences thereof;

4) the defendant may receive a true copy of such decision in the court chancellery.

(5) A decision on provisional protection against violence (Section 250.58, Paragraph one and two) shall be executed immediately after taking thereof.

Section 250.60 Withdrawal or Replacement of Provision of Provisional Protection Against Violence

(1) Upon a justified application of the party the means of provisional protection against violence may be replaced by other means by the same court which has determined the means of provisional protection against violence, or by the court in the court proceedings of which is the case for examination on the merits.

(2) Upon a justified application of the party the means of provisional protection against violence may be withdrawn by the same court which has determined the means of provisional protection against violence, or by the court in the court proceedings of which is the case for examination on the merits.
(3) The application referred to in Paragraphs one and two of this Section shall be decided at a closed court hearing upon prior notice to the participants in the case. The court, upon a request of one party, may hear each party in a separate court hearing. Failure of such persons to attend shall not constitute a bar for the examination of the application.

(4) A decision to replace or withdraw means of provisional protection against violence shall be executed immediately after the taking thereof.

Section 250.61 Appeal of Decisions Taken on Provisional Protection Against Violence

(1) An ancillary complaint may be submitted in respect of the decisions referred to in Section 250.46, Paragraph one of this Law, the decision by which the application for the means of provisional protection against violence has been refused and the decision by which the application for the withdrawal of means of provisional protection against violence has been refused.

(2) Submission of an ancillary complaint regarding decision referred to in Paragraph one of this Section shall not stay the execution thereof.

(3) If the decisions referred to in Paragraph one of this Section have been taken without the presence of a participant in the case, the time period for the submission of an ancillary complaint shall be counted from the day of the issuance of the relevant decision.

Section 250.62 Notification, Issue and Sending of a Decision on Provisional Protection Against Violence

(1) The court shall notify of a decision on provisional protection against violence, a decision to replace or withdraw means of provisional protection against violence to the parties, by issuing it against a signature or by sending it in a registered postal item.

Bar the accused from entering the family home for one 48-hour period, which may be extended once, if there is no other way to secure the protection of the victim and their children and all of the persons listed in Article 12 of this Law. 2. Arrest the accused in accordance with Article 47 of the Code of Criminal Procedure.
   3. Move the victim and all persons listed in Article 12, if they wish, to a secure location at the expense of the accused, according to his means.

c. If the violence results in a condition requiring medical treatment or hospitalization, the victims of violence shall be transferred to the hospital and the accused must advance the treatment expenses.

If the accused refrains from advancing the expenses stated in paragraph (b) item 3 and paragraph (c) of this Article, the procedures followed to enforce the expense provisions in the Code of Civil Procedure shall be applied against the accused. Notwithstanding Article 999 of the Code of Civil Procedure, the Public Prosecution shall issue an arrest warrant for an accused who refrains from advancing the aforementioned expenses.

Article 12: Protective orders are a provisional measure issued by the relevant judicial authority in accordance with the provisions of this Law connected to hearing domestic violence cases.

The purpose of protective orders is to protect the victim and their children. Other descendants and all those living with the victim shall benefit from a protective order if they are exposed to danger, as well as social assistants, witnesses, and any other person providing assistance to the victim, in order to prevent continued or repeated violence. Children legally included in the protective order shall mean those who are at the age of legal custody in accordance with personal status legal provisions and all the laws in force.

Article 14: Protective orders shall include the imposition of one or more of the following measures on the accused:

1. Bar confrontation or the instigation of a confrontation with the victim and all of the persons listed in Article 12 of this Law.
2. Not obstructing the continued occupation of the familial home by the victim and the persons residing with her under protection.
3. Removal of the perpetrator of violence from the home, temporarily and for a period determined by the relevant authority, when the victim is seen to be in danger.
4. Removal of the victim and those residing with her included under the protection, when it appears that they face actual danger due to their continued occupation of the family home, to a secure and suitable temporary residence. If the victim is removed from the home, those of her children who are of the age of legal custody shall be legally removed with her, as well as all children and residents if they are exposed to danger. The accused must, in accordance with his capabilities, advance residence expenses.
5. Advance of an amount, in accordance with the capabilities of the accused, for food, clothing, and education, for those who require it.
6. Advance of an amount, in accordance with the capabilities of the accused, for the expenses required for medical treatment or hospitalization of the victim and all persons listed in Article 12 of this Law, if the violence perpetrated results in a condition requiring such treatment.
7. Refrain from damaging any of the property of the victim and the persons included in the protective order.
8. Refrain from damaging and bar disposal of furniture in the home and shared movable property.
9. Enable the victim, or anyone representing them, if they have left the home, from entering the home to take their personal belongings pursuant to a surrender order.

For all temporary advances, the victim and the accused retain the right to seek recourse before the competent courts to obtain the appropriate ruling in accordance with the relevant rules in force. Enforcement of an expense ruling issued by a competent court shall suspend the advance stipulated in the protective order.

Article 15:
Submission of a protection request shall not bar the right of the victim or the accused to file or pursue a case before the courts of all different types and jurisdictions.

Article 16:
Submission of a protection request may be done without the assistance of an attorney and shall be exempted from judicial expenses and fees.

Article 17: Protective orders issued by the courts for urgent matters shall be duly enforced. Protective orders issued by the criminal courts shall be enforced through the Public Prosecutor's Office at the Court of Appeals. The victim and all beneficiaries of the protective order, and the accused or defendant may request that the authority that issued the order or the court hearing the case cancel or amend the order if new circumstances arise. Decisions ruling to repeal or amend a protective order shall be subject to the review mechanism referred to in Article 13 of this law.

Article 18:
Anyone who violates a protective order shall be subject to imprisonment for up to three months and a maximum fine of twice the minimum wage, or one of the two punishments. If the violation is accompanied by the use of violence, the violator shall be subject to imprisonment for up to a year and a maximum fine of four times the minimum wage. The penalty shall be doubled if the violation is repeated.

Article 19:
The trial shall take place confidentially before the authorities hearing domestic violence crimes.

Closing Provisions

Article 20:
In addition to the penalties provided under the provisions of this Law, the court may oblige the perpetrator of a domestic violence crime to undergo antiviolence rehabilitation courses at specialized centers.

Article 21:
A special fund shall be established as a legal entity that is financially and administratively independent to assist and care for domestic violence victims, provide ways to reduce and prevent domestic violence crimes, and rehabilitate perpetrators. This fund shall be funded by:
- State contributions, with a nominal allocation made for this purpose in the budget of the Ministry of Social Affairs.
- Donations
The regulation of the fund shall be specified under a decree adopted by the Parliament, based on a proposal from the Minister of Justice and the Minister of Social Affairs. The Public Law for Public Institutions, issued under Decree No. 4517/1972, shall apply to the fund. The fund shall be subject to the oversight of the Minister of Social Affairs.

CHAPTER I

Amendment of the law of September 8th, 2003 on domestic violence amending:
1. the Law of 31 May 1999 on the Police and the Police General Inspectorate;
2. the Criminal Code;
3. the new Code of Civil Procedure, known as the Domestic Violence Act.

Article 1 - Article I of the Domestic Violence Act includes as follows:

"Art. I
(1) As part of its crime prevention and personal protection missions, the police, with the authorization of the State Prosecutor, evict from their homes and dependencies individuals whom there is evidence that they are preparing to commit against a person with whom they live in a family setting, an offense against life or his or her physical and mental integrity, or that they are preparing to re-commit to that person, who is already a victim, an offense against life or his or her physical and mental integrity. The person who is the subject of an expulsion order may not plead any real or personal rights home report to oppose the measure.

The person is informed of his right to appeal against the expulsion order provided for in articles 1017-1 and 1017-2 of the New Code of Civil Procedure. This appeal shall not have suspensory effect.

(2) The expulsion shall prohibit the evicted person from entering his or her home and its dependencies, from contact, orally, in writing or by proxy, with the protected person and approach them. Police have the right to verify compliance with these prohibitions.

(3) The police shall give the person who is the subject of the expulsion order the opportunity to take the items urgently needed and to find out about their accommodation options. The person communicates to the police the address to which he or she can be reached. If he or she cannot or does not want to provide an address, he or she is deemed to be an address for service to the municipal administration of the place of residence, in particular for the purposes of convocations and notifications provided for in articles 1017-3 and 1017-4 of the New Code of Civil Procedure and for those of the service of a possible summons under section 1017-9 of the New Code of Procedure and the police inform him or her.

In addition, the police are provided with all keys and other devices designed for opening doors giving access to the home and its outbuildings and notifies the person concerned that if he or she enters or tries to break into home or his dependencies, notwithstanding the expulsion measure, he or she is liable to the penal sanctions provided Article 439 of the Penal Code.

(4) Where the person concerned refuses to voluntarily comply with the eviction order or hand the keys over and other devices designed for doors opening, the police are authorized to resort to force if necessary to expel the person or to seize keys and other devices designed for doors opening.

(5) The expulsion shall be the subject of minutes to be drawn up by police officers immediately and forward to the state prosecutor. This report mentions in particular:
- the indices at the base of the expulsion measure;
- the day and time of the orderly measure;
- the address provided by the evicted person to reach it.

If the execution of the ordered measure had to be carried out by force, it is mentioned in the minutes. The minutes mention any other statements that the evicted person intends to make.

The report is presented to the person evicted for signature. A copy is given to him or her. In case of refusal to sign or in case of refusal to accept the delivery of the copy, mention is made of the refusal and the reasons for it. A copy of the minutes is also given to the person to be protected. If that person, for reasons of fact or right, is not able to receive a copy, and if there is no other person able to receive the copy in place of the person to be protected, mention is made of it.

(6) The expulsion order is automatically terminated at 5 pm on the fourteenth day following the day of its entry in force unless the protected person has lodged a request for an extension in accordance with the formalities required by Article 1017-2 of the New Code of Civil Procedure.

At the expiry of the expulsion order and in the absence of a ban on return to home pronounced based on Articles 1017-1 and following of the New Code of Civil Procedure, the police return keys and other devices designed for the doors opening to the person claiming them. “

Art. 2. Article II of the same law reads as follows:

(2) Any occupation order made on an ex parte application shall be an interim order.

(3) Where the court grants an occupation order on an ex parte application, the court shall, at the same time, make an interim protection order unless it considers that there are special reasons why such an interim order should not be made.

(4) An occupation order which is made on an ex parte application while the prescribed person concerned and the respondent are living together in the same household residence shall expire—

(a) on its discharge by the court;

(b) on the discharge of an interim protection order made pursuant to subsection (3); or

(c) in any other case, at the expiration of a period of fourteen days after the date on which the occupation order was made.

(5) Where an occupation order is made, on an ex parte application, the respondent may apply immediately for its variation or discharge.

[Ch0705s13]13. Effect of an occupation order

Where an occupation order is made the prescribed person to whom it relates shall be entitled, to the exclusion of the respondent, personally to occupy the household residence to which that order relates.

[Ch0705s14]14. Variation or discharge of occupation order

The court may, if it thinks fit on an application of either party in accordance with the form prescribed in Form 7 of the Schedule, make an order, in accordance with the form prescribed in Form 8 of the Schedule— Schedule

(a) extending or reducing any period specified by the court pursuant to section 11 (2); or

(b) varying or discharging any terms and conditions imposed by the Court pursuant to section 11 (2).

PART IV - TENANCY ORDERS

[Ch0705s15]15. Application for a tenancy order

(1) An application may be made to the court in accordance with the form prescribed in Form 9 of the Schedule for an order vesting in the applicant the tenancy of any dwelling-house which, at the time of the making of the order— Schedule

(a) the respondent is either the sole tenant or a tenant holding jointly or in common with the applicant; and

(b) is the household residence of the applicant or the respondent.
Subject to section 19, the court may make an order in accordance with the form prescribed in Form 10 of the Schedule on an application under subsection (1) if the Court is satisfied that such an order—

(a) is necessary for the protection of the applicant; or

(b) is in the best interest of a child or a dependant.

Grant of a tenancy order on an ex parte application

(1) A tenancy order may be made on an ex parte application if the Court is satisfied that—

(a) the respondent has used violence against or caused physical or emotional injury to the applicant, or any other prescribed person; and

(b) the delay that would be caused by proceeding on notice would or might expose the applicant or any other prescribed person as the case may be, to physical injury.

(2) Any tenancy order made on an ex parte application shall be an interim order.

(3) Where the court makes a tenancy order on an ex parte application, the court shall, at the same time, make an interim protection order unless the court considers that there are special reasons why such an order should not be made.

(4) A tenancy order which is made on an ex parte application while the applicant and the respondent are living together in the same household residence shall expire—

(a) on its discharge by the court;

(b) on the discharge of an interim protection order made under subsection (3);

(c) in any other case, at the expiration of a period of fourteen days after the date on which the tenancy order was made.

(5) Where a tenancy order is made on an ex parte application, the respondent may apply immediately for variation or discharge of that order.

Effect of a tenancy order

(1) Where a tenancy order is made, the applicant shall, unless the tenancy is sooner determined, become the tenant of the dwelling-house upon and subject to the terms and conditions of the tenancy in force at the time of the making of that order, and the respondent shall cease to be the tenant.

(2) Every tenancy order shall have effect and may be enforced as if it were an order of the court for possession of land granted in favour of the applicant.

(3) Nothing in this Act or in any tenancy order shall—

(a) limit or affect the operation of any written law for the time being applicable to any tenancy to which a tenancy order applies, or to the dwelling-house held under the tenancy; or

(b) authorize the court to vary, except by vesting the tenancy pursuant to this section or revesting the tenancy pursuant to section 18, any express or implied term or condition of the tenancy.

Power to discharge tenancy order and revesting tenancy

(1) The court may, if it thinks fit on the application of—

(a) the applicant or respondent; or
(b) the personal representative of either party, make an order (in this section referred to as a “revesting order”) revesting the tenancy accordingly.

(2) Where a vesting order is made under subsection (1), the person in whose favour it is made shall, unless the tenancy is sooner determined, become the tenant of the dwelling-house upon and subject to the terms and conditions of the tenancy in force immediately before the date on which the revesting order was made.

PART V - PROVISIONS RELATING TO OCCUPATION ORDERS AND TENANCY ORDERS

[Ch0705s19]19. Procedure relating to occupation orders and tenancy orders

(1) Before making an occupation order (other than an interim occupation order) or a tenancy order (other than an interim tenancy order), the court shall direct that notice be given to any person having an interest in the property which would be affected by any such order.

(2) A person referred to in subsection (1) shall, upon being notified pursuant to that subsection, be entitled to appear and to be heard in the matter of the application for the occupation order or tenancy order, as the case may be, as a party to that application.

(3) Where an application is made for an occupation order, the court may treat that application as an application for a tenancy order or an occupation order or both, and may make a tenancy order, whether or not it makes an occupation order, if it is satisfied that—

(a) it has jurisdiction to make the tenancy order and that the making of such an order is appropriate; and

(b) subsection (1) has been complied with in respect of the making of a tenancy order.

(4) Where an application is made for a tenancy order, the court may treat that application as an application for an occupation order or a tenancy order or both, and may make an occupation order, whether or not it makes a tenancy order, if it is satisfied that—

(a) it has jurisdiction to make an occupation order and that the making of such an order is appropriate; and

(b) subsection (1) has been complied with in respect of the making of an occupation order.

[Ch0705s20]20. Ancillary orders respecting furniture, etc.

(1) On or after making an occupation order or a tenancy order, the court may, subject to subsection (2), make an order granting to the applicant the use, for such period and on such terms and subject to such conditions as the court thinks fit, of all or any of—

(a) the furniture;

(b) household appliances; and

(c) household effects, in the household residence or other premises to which the occupation order relates or in the dwelling-house to which the tenancy order relates.

(2) An order made under subsection (1) shall continue in force for a period of ninety days beginning on the date on which the order is made, unless the court otherwise directs, but so however that such order shall expire if an occupation order made in relation to the household residence or other premises or a tenancy order made in relation to the dwelling-house expires or is discharged.

PART VI - INTERIM ORDERS

[Ch0705s21]21. Interim orders
(1) Every interim order made under this Act on an ex parte application shall specify a date, which shall be as soon as reasonably practicable, but no later than twenty-one days thereafter, for a hearing on whether an order should be made in substitution for the interim order.

(2) A copy of every such interim order made under this Act shall be served on the respondent and shall notify the respondent that unless the respondent attends on the specified date to show cause why an order should not be made in substitution for the interim order, the court may discharge the interim order and make an order in substitution therefor.

(3) At the hearing referred to in subsection (1) the court may—

(a) discharge the interim order;

(b) discharge the interim order and make an order in substitution therefor; or

(c) on good cause being shown, adjourn the hearing to such date and place as the court may specify; but so however that any such adjournment shall not exceed thirty days from the date of the application.

(4) Where a hearing is adjourned under subsection (3) (c), the court may, at the adjourned hearing, exercise either the power conferred by paragraph (a) or paragraph (b) of that subsection.

PART VII - PROCEDURES IN RESPECT OF APPLICATIONS FOR ORDERS

[Ch0705s22]22. Date of hearing

Where an application is made for any order, the Clerk of the Court or the Registrar shall fix a date for the hearing of the application which shall be no more than twenty-one days from the date on which the application is filed.

[Ch0705s23]23. Notice of proceedings

(1) A copy of the application for an order, together with a notice of the date on which, and the time and place at which, the application is to be heard, shall be served on the respondent.

(2) A notice of proceedings shall be issued in accordance with the form prescribed in Form 13 of the Schedule. Schedule

(3) Where an application for an order is filed in respect of a child or dependant, a copy of the application, together with notice of the date on which, and the time and place at which, the application is to be heard, shall as soon as practicable, be served on the parent or guardian or other person with whom the child or dependant normally resides or resides with on a regular basis.

(4) A notice of proceedings which is issued and served under this section is deemed to be a summons that is duly issued and served and compels the respondent to appear in court to answer the application as if it were a complaint.

(5) A notice of proceedings issued under this section may be served by the applicant or his or her agent, and the court shall receive proof of such service by affidavit in accordance with the form prescribed in Form 14 of the Schedule. Schedule

(6) Where the hearing of an application for an order is adjourned because the application and the notice of proceedings have not been served on the respondent, the time and place fixed by the court for the adjourned hearing, shall be the date, time and place stated in the new notice of proceedings.

[Ch0705s24]24. Absence of respondent

Where notice of proceedings has been served on the respondent in accordance with section 23 and the respondent fails to appear in person at the time fixed for the hearing, the court may—

(a) proceed to hear and determine the matter in the absence of the respondent; or

(b) where the court is satisfied, having regard to the materials before it, that it is appropriate to do so, adjourn the matter and issue a warrant for the respondent to be apprehended and brought before the court.

[Ch0705s25]25. Absence of applicant

Where, on the date of the hearing of an application for an order, the respondent appears in court, but neither the applicant nor the person on whose behalf the application is made appears either in person or is represented by his legal practitioner, the court may—

(a) dismiss the application;

(b) having received a reasonable excuse for the non-appearance of the applicant or other person, adjourn the hearing upon such terms as it considers just; or

(c) where it is satisfied, having regard to the submissions before it, that it is appropriate for evidence to be given by affidavit, so direct, but so however that the court may, on the application of a respondent, order the attendance for cross-examination of the deponent of any such affidavit.

[Ch0705s26]26. Explanation of orders

Where the court proposes to make an order or an interim order, and the respondent is before the court, the court shall explain to the respondent—

(a) the purpose, terms and effect of the order;

(b) the consequences of failing to comply with the order; and

(c) the means by which the order may be varied or discharged.

[Ch0705s27]27. Service of orders

Where an order or interim order is made or varied by the court, the Clerk of the court shall arrange for the order or interim order to be drawn up on the relevant form prescribed in the Schedule; and the court shall cause a copy of the order or interim order to be served on— Schedule

(a) the respondent;

(b) any other person to whom the order or interim order applies, whether or not the person is a party to the proceedings;

(c) the police officer in-charge of the station located nearest to the area where the respondent or applicant resides, and if the order or interim order relates to real property, it shall also be lodged with the registrar of titles by the applicant as a lis pendens.

[Ch0705s28]28. Service other than personal service

(1) Where the court has not been able to serve an interim order or an order, as the case may be, upon the respondent personally, it may make an order for substituted service of the interim order or order, as the case may be.

(2) For the purpose of subsection (1) “substituted service” means—

(a) service by registered post to the last known address of the respondent;

(b) leaving the document at the last known address of the respondent;

(c) service by advertisement in two daily newspapers in circulation in Malawi, the cost of which shall be borne by the applicant; or
(d) such other manner as the court may direct.

[Ch0705s29]29. Respondent to have notice

Subject to sections 24 and 28, a respondent shall not be bound by an order or interim order—

(a) where he or she was not present at the time of the making of the order; or

(b) where the order has not been served on him or her personally.

PART VIII - ENFORCEMENT OF ORDERS

[Ch0705s30]30. Breach of orders

(1) Subject to subsection (2), any person—

(a) against whom an order has been made;

(b) has had notice of the order;

(c) and fails to comply with the order or any direction of the court in relation thereto, is liable to a fine of up to K500,000;

(2) Where an order contains a direction of the court, pursuant to section 5 (b) (x), requiring the respondent, or the applicant, as the case may be, to seek counselling or therapy and the respondent, or the applicant, as the case may be, unreasonably refuses or neglects to comply with such a direction, the respondent, or the applicant, as the case may be, shall be liable to a fine of K50,000.

PART IX - DESIGNATION, DUTIES AND POWERS OF ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS

[Ch0705s31]31. Designation of enforcement officers

The Minister may, by notice published in the Gazette, designate public officers within the Ministry responsible for gender affairs as enforcement officers for purposes of this Act.

[Ch0705s32]32. Duties of enforcement officers

An enforcement officer shall have the following duties—

(a) to ensure that victims of domestic violence are accorded proper treatment and are provided with the necessary assistance;

(b) to ensure the proper administration and enforcement of the provisions of this Act;

(c) to advise the Minister on the effective implementation of this Act and other ancillary matters;

(d) to perform such other duties as are necessary for the effective carrying out of the purposes of this Act.

[Ch0705s33]33. Powers of enforcement officers

(1) Where an enforcement officer reasonablysuspects or receives information that a person has been, or is likely to be, subjected to domestic violence, he or she shall, as soon as is practicable, cause—

(a) an investigation to be made into the matter;
(b) an entry to be made, at the nearest police station, in the book or such other record maintained for that purpose.

(2) Where, after investigation, the enforcement officer reasonably believes that it is necessary to take steps in order to protect the victim of domestic violence from any further acts of domestic violence, he or she shall—

(a) explain to the victim of domestic violence his or her right to protection against domestic violence;

(b) assist the victim of domestic violence to file a complaint regarding the domestic violence;

(c) arrange for the provision of medical assistance to the victim of domestic violence at the nearest hospital or health facility;

(d) arrange for alternative residence or a temporary safe place of shelter for the victim of domestic violence; and

(e) inform the victim of domestic violence, and where possible, the perpetrator of the domestic violence about the available alternative dispute resolution mechanisms, including counselling and reconciliation.

(3) An enforcement officer may, on behalf of a victim of domestic violence, file an application for an order under this Act and shall to that effect swear an affidavit supporting the facts on which the enforcement officer relies to make the application on behalf of the victim of domestic violence.

(4) An enforcement officer may solicit the services of any service provider to assist with any action to be taken under this Act.

PART X - DUTIES AND POWERS OF POLICE OFFICERS

[Ch0705s34] 34. Duties of police officers

(1) Every police officer shall respond to every complaint or report alleging domestic violence whether or not the complainant is the victim.

(2) It shall be the duty of every police officer responding to a domestic violence complaint to complete a domestic violence report which shall form part of a national domestic violence register, and shall be maintained by the Commissioner of Police of each region.

(3) A domestic violence report shall be in the form prescribed in Form 15 of the Schedule, and shall include— Schedule

(a) the names of the parties;

(b) the relationship and sex of the parties;

(c) the date, place and time the alleged conduct occurred;

(d) information relating to the history of domestic violence between the parties;

(e) the date and time the complaint was received; and

(f) the type of abuse and the weapon used, if any.

[Ch0705s35] 35. Issue of warrant

Where a court is satisfied, by information on oath, that—

(a) there are reasonable grounds to suspect that a person on premises has suffered or is in imminent danger of physical injury at the hands of another person in a situation amounting to domestic violence and needs assistance to deal with or prevent the injury; and

(b) a police officer has been refused permission to enter the premises for the purpose of giving assistance to the person first the court may issue a warrant in writing authorizing a police officer to enter the premises specified in the warrant at any time within twenty-four hours after the issue of the warrant, and subject to any conditions specified in the warrant, to take such action as is necessary to prevent the commission or repetition of the offence or a breach of the peace or to protect life or property.

36. Police powers of entry without warrant

(1) Where a police officer has reasonable cause to believe that a person is engaging in or attempting to engage in conduct which amounts to domestic violence and failure to act immediately may result in serious physical injury or death, he or she may, without warrant, enter the premises on which such domestic violence is, or is likely to be committed and to take such action as is necessary to prevent serious physical injury or death.

(2) Nothing in this section authorizes the entry onto premises by a police officer for the purpose of any search or the arrest of any person, otherwise than in connection with the conduct referred to in subsection (1).

(3) Where a police officer exercises a power of entry under subsection (1), he or she shall, immediately thereafter, submit a written report to the Officer-in-Charge of Police of the area where the incident occurred, and the report shall contain the following information—

(a) the reasons for entering the premises without a warrant;

(b) the offence being committed or about to be committed; and

(c) the manner in which the investigation was conducted and the measures taken to ensure the protection and safety of the person at risk.

(4) The report referred to in subsection (3) shall be submitted by the Officer-in-Charge of Police to the Commissioner of Police of the region in which the incident occurred within seven days.

(5) Where a complaint is made against a police officer by a person resident in premises alleging that the officer's entry onto the premises under subsection (1) was unwarranted, the Commissioner of Police of the region in which the incident occurred shall immediately after the receipt of the complaint institute an investigation into the complaint and shall, within fourteen days of the complaint having been made, submit a report in relation thereto to the Inspector General of Police.

37. Duty of police officers to assist victims

Where a police officer has entered premises pursuant to sections 35 or 36 (1), he or she shall—

(a) give assistance to a person who has suffered injury;

(b) ensure the welfare and safety of a child, dependant or other vulnerable persons who may be on the premises; and

(c) prevent any further breach of the law.

38. Powers of arrest where order is in force

(1) Where an order is in force and a police officer believes on reasonable grounds that a person has committed a breach of the order, the police officer may detain and arrest that person without a warrant for the protection of a prescribed person.

(2) No person shall be arrested under this section unless the police officer believes that the arrest of the person is reasonably necessary for the protection of a prescribed person.

(3) For the purposes of subsection (1), the police officer shall take into account—
(a) the seriousness of the act which constituted the alleged breach;

(b) the time that has elapsed since the alleged breach was committed; (c) the restraining effect of other persons or circumstances on the respondent; and

(d) the need for a cooling-off period.

(4) Where an arrest is made under this section—

(a) the person arrested shall be entitled to make a telephone call to one person of his choice, other than the applicant or a prescribed person;

(b) it shall be the duty of the police officer who makes the arrest to ensure that the person arrested is informed, as soon as practicable after the arrest, of the right conferred by paragraph (a).

[Ch0705s39]39. Existing criminal law to apply

(1) Subject to subsection (2), where a person is arrested under section 35 or 36, he or she shall be charged in accordance with the relevant provisions of the criminal law for committing or attempting to commit any offence under that law, and shall be dealt with accordingly.

(2) Where an application for a protection order has been made, or where a person has been arrested pursuant to section 35 or 36 and charged with an offence, and after hearing all the evidence the court is satisfied that—

(a) the incident was an isolated one;

(b) there are circumstances which make it desirable to preserve the family unit; and

(c) the conduct complained of is not sufficiently grave to warrant the imposition of either the order or the penalty, as the case may be, the court may, with the consent of the applicant or complainant, as the case may be, withhold the granting of a protection order or the imposition of any penalty as prescribed by law and require the respondent or defendant to enter into a bond of good behaviour for a period not exceeding six months.

(3) Where a bond of good behaviour has been entered into pursuant to subsection (2), the court may prescribe such additional conditions as follows—

(a) that the parties receive professional counselling, including family counselling;

(b) that the parties report to an enforcement officer at certain fixed intervals; or

(c) that the matter be reviewed by the court within three months.

(4) A bond of good behaviour entered into pursuant to subsection (2) shall be forfeited if the court is satisfied that—

(a) the respondent or defendant has continued to engage in conduct amounting to domestic violence against the complainant;

(b) based on a report from an enforcement officer; a police officer or such other service provider, domestic violence is likely to be perpetrated against the applicant or complainant; or

(c) the applicant or complainant has become fearful of the respondent or defendant to the extent that he or she is no longer willing to continue the relationship.

[Ch0705s40]40. Refractory witnesses

(1) Where direct oral evidence of a fact would be admissible in any proceedings under this Act, a document containing a statement made by the complainant which forms part of the record compiled by the police and tending to establish that fact, shall be admissible in circumstances where—

(a) the complainant refuses to be sworn as a witness; or

(b) having been sworn as a witness, the complainant gives oral evidence which is inconsistent or contradictory to the statement forming part of the police record.

(2) A statement admitted as evidence pursuant to subsection (1), shall be treated by the court as a statutory declaration made under the Oaths, Affirmations and Declarations Act, and the court may draw any reasonable inference from the form or content of that statement and determine the weight, if any, to be attached to the evidence of any fact stated therein. Cap. 4:07

[Ch0705s41]41. Granting of bail

(1) Notwithstanding the Bail (Guidelines) Act, where the Court is required to determine whether to grant bail in respect of an offence under this Act, the Court shall consider— Cap. 8:05

(a) the need to protect the applicant from domestic violence;

(b) the welfare of a child where the respondent or victim of the alleged offence has custody of that child;

(c) the welfare of any child being a member of the household; and

(d) any hardship that may be caused to the respondent or other members of the family if bail is not granted.

(2) Notwithstanding the Bail (Guidelines) Act, the court may, in granting bail, order that the recognizance be subject to such of the following conditions as the court considers appropriate— Cap. 8:05

(a) that the respondent shall not harass or molest or cause another person to harass or molest the victim of the alleged offence;

(b) that the respondent shall not be on the premises in which the victim resides, works or carries on business;

(c) that the respondent shall not be in a locality in which are situated the premises in which the victim resides or works; and

(d) where the respondent continues to reside with the victim, that the respondent shall not enter or remain in the place or residence while under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

(3) Where a police officer believes on reasonable grounds that a person who has been admitted to bail subject to one or more conditions referred to in subsection (2), has failed to comply with a condition of the recognizance, the police officer may, notwithstanding anything in any other written law, arrest the person without a warrant.

PART XI - MISCELLANEOUS

[Ch0705s42]42. Duty to report domestic violence

Any person who—

(a) witnesses the commission of domestic violence; or

(b) has reason to believe that an act of domestic violence has been, is being or is likely to be committed, may report to the police, or give information to an enforcement officer, who shall then report the matter to the police.

[Ch0705s43]43. Service providers to assist
Pursuant to section 33 (4), any service provider may, upon being aware of an incident of domestic violence or soon thereafter as is reasonably practicable—

(a) render such assistance to the victim of domestic violence as may be required in the circumstances including—

(i) making arrangements for the victim of domestic violence to find suitable temporary shelter and to obtain medical treatment, if so required;

(ii) ensuring that the victim of domestic violence has access to information about the range of service providers and the kind of support that may be provided by any service provider;

(a) inform the victim of domestic violence of the right to the available legal remedies, including the right to apply for an order under this Act.

[Ch0705s44]44. Protection of authorized persons

No civil, criminal, administrative or disciplinary proceedings shall be taken against a police officer, an enforcement officer, a service provider or any person authorized to perform any duty under this Act, in relation to any information given or any action done in good faith pursuant to this Act.

[Ch0705s45]45. Jurisdiction

Any court within the area in which—

(a) the applicant or the respondent ordinarily resides, carries on business or is employed; or

(b) the domestic violence occurs, has jurisdiction to grant an occupation order, a protection order, a tenancy order or any interim order, as the case may be, under this Act.

[Ch0705s46]46. Single act of condonation

A court shall not refuse to grant an order under this Act merely on the grounds only that—

(a) a single act of domestic violence has been committed by the respondent; or

(b) the applicant condoned acts of domestic violence committed by the respondent.

[Ch0705s47]47. Conduct of proceedings

(1) No person shall be present during the hearing of any proceedings under this Act (other than criminal proceedings) except—

(a) officers of the court;

(b) parties to the proceedings and their legal counsel;

(c) witnesses;

(d) any other person permitted by the presiding Judge or Magistrate to be present.

(2) A witness shall leave the courtroom if asked to do so by the presiding Judge or Magistrate.

(3) Nothing in this section shall limit any other power of the court to hear proceedings in camera or to exclude any person from the court.

[Ch0705s48]48. Evidence
In any proceedings under this Act (other than criminal proceedings) including proceedings by way of appeal, the court may receive such evidence as it thinks fit whether it is, or is not otherwise admissible in a court of law or not.

[Ch070s49]49. Standard of proof

Every question of fact arising in any proceedings under this Act (other than criminal proceedings) shall be decided on a balance of probabilities.

[Ch070s50]50. Restriction of publication of report of proceedings

(1) Subject to subsection (4), no person shall publish any report of proceedings under this Act, other than a report of criminal proceedings, except with the leave of the court which heard the proceedings.

(2) Any person who contravenes or fails to comply with subsection (1) commits an offence and is liable to a fine of K1,000,000.

(3) Nothing in this section limits—

(a) the provisions of any other written law relating to the prohibition or regulation of the publication of reports or particulars relating to judicial proceedings; or

(b) the power of the court to punish any contempt of court.

(4) Nothing in this section applies in respect of—

(a) the publication of a bona fide law report or any bona fide research relating to proceedings under this Act which does not mention the names or reveal the identities of the parties to the proceedings or any witnesses at such proceedings;

(b) the publication of any report in any publication that is of a bona fide professional or technical nature or is intended for circulation among members of the legal or medical professions, officers of the Public Service, psychologists, marriage counsellors, enforcement officers or any service provider carrying out functions pursuant to this Act; or

(c) statistical information relating to proceedings under this Act.

[Ch070s51]51. Order by consent

In any proceedings under this Act a court may make any consent order by the consent of all the parties to such proceedings.

[Ch070s52]52. Counselling

The court may, on making an order under this Act, recommend either or both parties to participate in counselling of such nature as the court may specify, including counselling by marriage advocate relations, religious leaders and chiefs.

[Ch070s53]53. Appeals

(1) A person aggrieved by—

(a) the making of an order by the court; or

(b) the refusal of the court to make an order, may, within twenty-eight days after the decision of the court, appeal against the decision of the court.

(2) Except where the court which makes an order under this Act otherwise directs, the operation of such order shall not be suspended by reason only of an appeal having been lodged under this section, and every such order may be enforced in the same manner and in all respects as if no appeal under this section were pending.

[Ch070s54]54. Protection of mortgage
(1) The rights conferred on any person in respect of any property by an order made under this Act shall be subject to the rights of any other person entitled to the benefit of any mortgage, security, charge or encumbrance affecting the property if such mortgage, security, charge or encumbrance was registered before the order was registered or if the rights of that other person entitled to that benefit arise under an instrument executed before the date of the making of the order.

(2) Notwithstanding anything in any written law or in any instrument, no money payable under any mortgage, security, charge or encumbrance shall be called up or become due by reason of the making of an order under this Act.

[Ch0705s55]55. Rules of court

The Chief Justice may make rules for the purpose of regulating the practice and procedure of the court in proceedings under this Act, and providing for such matters as are necessary for giving full effect to the provisions of this Act and for the due administration thereof.

[Ch0705s56]56. Regulations

The Minister may make regulations for the effective carrying out of the provisions of this Act, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing, such regulations may provide for—

(a) the designation of enforcement officers;

(b) the approval of services or programmes for the purposes of this Act;

(c) the approval of persons or organizations that could provide services or programmes under this Act;

(d) the prescribing of qualifications and experience for persons who may provide services;

(e) the collection of data on incidences and causes of domestic violence for purposes of policy reform and programming;

(f) additions to, amendment or substitution of any forms; and

(g) any matter required to be prescribed under this Act.

30. MALAYSIA

Domestic Violence Act, 1994 (As amended) 78

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE ACT 1994

An Act to provide for legal protection in situations of domestic violence and matters incidental thereto.

PART I PRELIMINARY

Short title and application

1. (1) This Act may be cited as the Domestic Violence Act 1994.

(2) This Act shall apply to all persons in Malaysia.

Interpretation

2. In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires—

“alternative residence” means the premises or accommodation which the victim is or has been compelled to seek or move into as a result of domestic violence;

COMPENDIUM OF INTERNATIONAL AND NATIONAL LEGAL FRAMEWORKS ON DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

Professional Services Act to be read together with Penal Code, etc.

3. This Act shall be read together with the Penal Code [Act 574] or any other written law involving offences relating to domestic violence.

PART II
INTERIM PROTECTION ORDER AND PROTECTION ORDER

Interim protection order

4. (1) The court may, during the pendency of investigations relating to the commission of an offence involving domestic violence, issue an interim protection order prohibiting the person against whom the order is made from using domestic violence against his or her spouse or former spouse or a child or an incapacitated adult or any other member of the family, as the case may be, as specified in the order.

(2) An interim protection order shall be made by way of an application to the court.

(3) The court in making an interim protection order under subsection (1) may include a provision prohibiting the person against whom the order is made from inciting any other person to commit domestic violence against the spouse or former spouse or a child or an incapacitated adult or any other member of the family, as the case may be, of the person against whom the order is made.

(4) An interim protection order shall cease to have effect—

(a) upon the completion of the investigations; or

(b) when a criminal proceeding relating to the commission of an offence involving domestic violence is instituted against the person against whom the order is made.

Protection order

5. (1) The court may, in an application involving a complaint of domestic violence, issue any one or more of the following protection orders:

(a) a protection order restraining the person against whom the order is made from using domestic violence against the complainant;

(b) a protection order restraining the person against whom the order is made from using domestic violence against the child;

(c) a protection order restraining the person against whom the order is made from using domestic violence against the incapacitated adult.

(2) The Court in making a protection order under paragraph (1)(a), (b) or (c) may include a provision prohibiting the person against whom the order is made from inciting any other person to commit domestic violence against the protected person or persons.

Orders that may be included in protection order

6. (1) A protection order issued under section 5 may, where the court is satisfied on a balance of probabilities that it is necessary for the protection and personal safety of the complainant or the child or the incapacitated adult, as the case may be, provide for any one or more of the following orders:

(a) subject to subsection (4), the granting of the right of exclusive occupation to any protected person of the shared residence or a specified part of the shared residence by excluding the person against whom the order is made from the shared residence or specified part thereof, regardless of whether the shared residence is solely owned or leased by the person against whom the order is made or jointly owned or leased by the parties;

(b) prohibiting or restraining the person against whom the order is made from—

(i) entering any protected person’s safe place, shelter, place of residence or shared residence or alternative residence, as the case may be;

(ii) entering any protected person’s place of employment or school;

(iii) entering any other institution where any protected person is placed;

(iv) going near any protected person at a distance of at least fifty metres or at a distance the court thinks reasonable; or

(v) making personal contact with any protected person other than in the presence of an enforcement officer or such other person as may be specified or described in the order;

(c) requiring the person against whom the order is made to permit any protected person to enter the shared residence, or to enter the residence of the person against whom the order is made, accompanied by any enforcement officer for the purpose of collecting the protected person’s or persons’ personal belongings;

(d) requiring the person against whom the order is made to avoid making communication by any means with any protected person and specifying the limited circumstances in which such communication is permitted;

(e) requiring the person against whom the order is made to permit any protected person to have the continued use of a vehicle which has previously been ordinarily used by the protected person or persons;

(f) the giving of any such direction as is necessary and incidental for the proper carrying into effect of any order made under any of the above-mentioned paragraphs, to have effect for such period, not exceeding twelve months from the date of the commencement of such order, as may be specified in the protection order.

(2) Any one or more of the orders under subsection (1) may be—

(a) made or made anew, upon the contravention of a protection order, in accordance with section 9; or

(b) extended for a further period, not exceeding twelve months from the date of the expiration of the original order, where the court is satisfied that, notwithstanding that there had been no actual contravention of the order, such extension is necessary for the protection and personal safety of the protected person or persons:

Provided that the extension of an order under this paragraph shall not be made more than once.

(3) Except so far as the exercise by the person against whom the order is made of a right to occupy the shared residence, or to enter the alternative residence, is suspended or restricted, or prohibited or restrained, by virtue of an order under paragraph (1)(a) or (b), such order shall not affect any title or interest that the person against whom the order is made or any other person might have in the said premises.

(4) The court shall not make an order excluding the person against whom the order is made from the whole of a shared residence that is solely or jointly owned or leased by him unless it is satisfied that there is no other way to secure the personal safety of any protected person for the time being, and such order, where made, shall, in the case where the shared residence is solely owned or leased by the person against whom the order is made, or may, in the case where the shared residence is jointly owned or leased by the parties, be—

(a) revoked if a suitable alternative residence is found for the protected person or persons; or

(b) revoked or modified upon the court being otherwise satisfied that it is no longer necessary for securing the personal safety of the protected person or persons.

(5) In paragraph (4)(b), “modified” means modifying an order excluding the person against whom the order is made from the whole of the shared residence into an order excluding him from such part of the shared residence as is specified in the order.

Powers of arrest

7. (1) Where the court is satisfied that the person against whom a protection order or interim protection order is made is likely to cause actual physical injury to the protected person or persons, the court shall attach a power of arrest to such protection order or interim protection order, as the case shall be.

(2) If a power of arrest is attached by virtue of subsection (1), a police officer shall arrest without warrant the person against whom the order is made when one or more of the following situations arise:

(a) when there is a report of domestic violence lodged by a person who is protected under the interim protection order or protection order to any police officer;

(b) when the police officer has reasonable cause to believe that the person against whom the order is made is in breach of—

(i) the order issued under subsection 4(1) or 5(1); or

(ii) any order made pursuant to paragraph 6(1)(a) or (b); or

(c) when the person against whom the order is made enters into any place prohibited under the order.

(3) Where a power of arrest is attached to a protection order or interim protection order and the person against whom the order is made is arrested under subsection (2)—

(a) he shall be brought before a judge within twenty-four hours of his arrest; and

(b) he shall not be released within that period except on the direction of the judge, but nothing in this section shall authorize his continued detention under this subsection after the expiry of that period.

(4) In this section “judge” includes a Magistrate.

Contravention of protection order

8. (1) Any person who wilfully contravenes a protection order or any provision thereof shall be guilty of an offence and shall, on conviction, be liable to a fine not exceeding two thousand ringgit or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months or to both.

(2) Any person who wilfully contravenes a protection order by using violence on a protected person shall, on conviction, be liable to a fine not exceeding four thousand ringgit or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year or to both.

Domestic Violence 15

(3) Any person who is convicted for a second or subsequent violation of a protection order under subsection (2) shall be punished with imprisonment for a period of not less than seventy-two hours and not more than two years, and shall also be liable to a fine not exceeding five thousand ringgit.

(4) For the purposes of this section a “protection order” includes an interim protection order.

Making or renewing orders upon contravention of protection order

9. Where a person against whom a protection order has been made contravenes the protection order, the court may, in addition to any penalty provided for under section 8, make or make anew, as the case may be, any one or more of the orders under subsection 6(1), to commence from such date as is specified in such new order.

PART III
COMPENSATION AND COUNSELLING

Compensation
10. (1) Where a victim of domestic violence suffers personal injuries or damage to property or financial loss as a result of the domestic violence, the court hearing a claim for compensation may award such compensation in respect of the injury or damage or loss as it deems just and reasonable.

(2) The court hearing a claim for such compensation may take into account—
   (a) the pain and suffering of the victim, and the nature and extent of physical injury or psychological abuse which includes emotional injury suffered;
   (b) the cost of medical treatment for such injuries;
   (c) any loss of earnings arising therefrom;
   (d) the amount or value of the property taken or destroyed or damaged;
   (e) necessary and reasonable expenses incurred by or on behalf of the victim when the victim is compelled to separate or be separated from the defendant due to the domestic violence, such as—
      (i) lodging expenses to be contributed to a safe place or shelter;
      (ii) transport and moving expenses;
      (iii) the expenses required in setting up a separate household which, subject to subsection (3), may include amounts representing such housing loan payments or rental payments or part thereof, in respect of the shared residence, or alternative residence, as the case may be, for such period as the court considers just and reasonably necessary.

(3) In considering any necessary and reasonable expenses that may be taken into account under subparagraph (2)(e)(i)(ii), the court may also take into account—
   (a) the financial position of the victim as well as that of the defendant;
   (b) the relationship that exists between the parties and the reasonableness of requiring the defendant to make or contribute towards such payments;
   (c) the possibility of other proceedings being taken between the parties and the matter being more appropriately dealt with under the relevant laws relating to the financial provision of spouses or former spouses and other dependants.

Counselling, etc.
11. (1) The court may, in an application in which a protection order is sought, instead of or in addition to issuing a protection order, make an order to refer the parties concerned to a conciliatory body.

(1A) The conciliatory body referred to in subsection (1) shall submit a report together with its recommendation to the court within one month from the date of referral.

(1B) The court may, after considering the report and recommendation submitted to it under subsection (1A), order that one or more parties be referred to rehabilitative therapy, psychotherapy or such other reconciliatory counselling as it deems appropriate.

(2) The court hearing a claim for compensation under section 10 may also make one or both of the orders under subsection (1) or (1B).

(3) When considering any question relating to the making of an order under subsection (1) or (1B) the court may, whenever it is practicable, take the advice of a social welfare officer or some other trained or experienced person.

(4) In this section “conciliatory body” includes bodies providing counselling services set up under the Department of Social Welfare and, in the case where the parties are Muslims, also includes those set up under the Islamic Religious Affairs Department concerned.

PART IV
PROCEDURE ON INTERIM PROTECTION ORDERS AND PROTECTION ORDERS

When interim protection order may be sought
12. An interim protection order may be sought pending investigations by the police following an information relating to the commission of an offence involving domestic violence.

Ex parte application
12A. An interim protection order sought under section 12 shall be made ex parte by—
   (a) the applicant;
   (b) the applicant’s counsel; or
   (c) a social welfare officer on behalf of the applicant.

Setting aside an interim protection order
12B. The person against whom an interim protection order is made may apply to set aside the order within fourteen days from the date the order is served.

When protection order may be sought
13. A protection order may be sought during any criminal proceedings under the Penal Code where the accused is charged with an offence committed under circumstances that falls within the definition of “domestic violence”,—
(a) as a condition of the accused’s release on bail or at any other stage of the proceedings; or
(b) upon the compounding of such offence under section 260 of the Criminal Procedure Code [Act 593].

Filing in of application
14. Notwithstanding the provisions of any written law on the territorial jurisdiction of a court, an application for a protection order or an interim protection order involving a complaint of domestic violence may be filed in any district where—
Domestic Violence 19 (a) the complainant resides;
(b) the person against whom the protection is sought resides; (c) the alleged violence occurred; or
(d) the complainant is placed temporarily, and the application shall be heard by the court as soon as practicable.

Application on behalf of child or incapacitated adult
15. In the case of a child, or an incapacitated adult who is incapable of filing an application under section 14, such application may be filed by a guardian or relative or person responsible for the care of such child or incapacitated adult, as the case may be, or by an enforcement officer.

Record of applications and orders
16. The registry of the court shall maintain a record of all applications filed pursuant to this Act, and all protection orders and interim protection orders issued by the court under this Act. The record shall contain—
(a) the names, gender and relationship of the parties;
(b) the domestic violence alleged, whether it involved any weapon, or resulted in personal injuries and whether the injuries inflicted required medical treatment;
(c) the effective date and terms of each order issued.

Proof of service of protection order
17. (1) Within twenty-four hours of the issuance of a protection order or interim protection order, as the case may be, the court in which the order is issued shall forward a copy of the order to the officer in charge of the police district where the offender resides or any other police officer under his command.
(2) The officer in charge of the police district or any other police officer under his command referred to in subsection (1) shall file proof of service of a copy of the order with the court within seven days of service.

Substituted service
17A. (1) If the officer in charge of the police district or any other police officer under his command referred to in section 17 is not able to serve a copy of the protection order or the interim protection order on the offender personally after three attempts, the officer concerned shall immediately apply to the court in writing for a substituted service of the order.
(2) Upon receipt of the application under subsection (1), the court shall make an order for a substituted service of the protection order or interim protection order—
(a) by leaving a copy of the order at the last known address of the offender;
(b) by posting a copy of the order at the court’s notice board; or
(c) by any other manner as the court may direct.
(3) The substituted service of a copy of the order made under subsection (2) shall be effected by the court and shall be deemed to be good and sufficient service of the order on the offender.
(4) The substituted service effected under subsection (3) shall be communicated to the applicant by the court as soon as practicable.

PART V
MISCELLANEOUS

Information on offences involving domestic violence
18. (1) Any person who has reason to believe that an offence involving domestic violence is being or has been committed may give information in respect thereof to an enforcement officer.
(2) No person who gives any such information in good faith shall incur any liability for defamation or otherwise in respect of the giving of such information.
Seizable offences

18A. Offences involving domestic violence shall be deemed to be seizable offences.

Duties of enforcement officers

19. (1) The duties of an enforcement officer shall include—
   (a) assisting a victim of domestic violence to file an application for interim protection order regarding the domestic violence;
   (b) providing or arranging transportation for the victim to an alternative residence or a safe place or shelter if such transportation is required;
   (c) providing or arranging transportation for the victim to the nearest hospital or medical facility for treatment of injuries if such treatment is needed;
   (d) explaining to the victim the rights to protection against domestic violence;
   (e) accompanying the victim to the victim’s residence or previous residence to collect personal belongings.

(2) An enforcement officer who is also a police officer shall have the following additional duties:
   (a) exercising the powers of arrest under this Act or any other written law;
   (b) removing or supervising the removal of a person excluded from a shared residence where the court has issued an order under paragraph 6(1)(a).

Regulations

20. (1) The Minister may make regulations for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this Act.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of subsection (1), such regulations may provide for—
   (a) the maintenance of a register or record by the courts on matters filed pursuant to this Act;
   (b) the prescribed forms of any information, report, application, order or other document required pursuant to this Act;
   (c) the procedure in respect of the filing in of any document mentioned in paragraph (b);
   (d) the making of searches and the giving of certified copies of any document mentioned in paragraph (b);
   (e) the fixing of fees that may be charged for the purposes of this Act;
   (f) any other matter which under this Act is required or permitted to be prescribed.

31. MALDIVES

(d) to implement adequate programmes for victims of domestic violence and to ensure the recovery of such victims in order to resume their health and a normal life;
(e) to take all necessary measures to stop persons from committing acts of domestic violence and to support them in their rehabilitation;
(f) to facilitate enforcement of court orders and legitimate orders from other state institutions issued in order to stop acts of domestic violence;
(g) to create awareness of the characterizing features of domestic violence among the relevant entities of the State and to increase the required competency of such entities;
(h) recognising that health professionals and social workers are typically the first to come into contact with victims of domestic violence, to establish a duty of care on health professionals and social workers to provide appropriate support to suspected victims of domestic violence and to report the same to the Police or the Authority;
(i) to introduce and lay down civil liabilities on persons who commit acts of domestic violence by way of a separate piece of legislation, in addition to the criminal liabilities imposed on such persons under criminal law and this Act; and
(j) to comply with international standards for the prevention of domestic violence and to apply and enforce relevant principles of justice in accordance with such standards.

Part 3
Definitions

Domestic relationship
3. (a) “Domestic relationship” shall mean a relationship between persons in any of the following ways:
   (1) Persons who are or were married to each other;
   (2) Persons who share or have recently shared the same residence;
   (3) Persons who are the parents of a child or are persons who have or had parental responsibility for that child;
   (4) Persons who are family members related by consanguinity, affinity or marriage;
   (5) Persons who are domestic child carers or domestic workers; or
   (6) Persons who are in an intimate relationship.

(b) In determining the existence of a domestic relationship between two persons, the court shall take into consideration the following factors:
   (1) the nature and type of relationship;
   (2) the level of commitment involved in the relationship;
   (3) the amount of time spent together;
   (4) the extent to which personal matters are shared between the person;
   (5) the type of place where such time is shared together; and
   (6) the duration of the relationship.

Acts of domestic violence
4. (a) For the purposes of this Act, “domestic violence” shall mean any of the following acts by a perpetrator where such conduct harms, or may cause imminent harm to, the safety, health or wellbeing of the victim(s), and provided the victim(s) and perpetrator are in a domestic relationship:
   (1) physical abuse;
   (2) sexual abuse;
   (3) verbal and psychological abuse;
   (4) economic or financial abuse;
   (5) Impregnating the spouse, without concern to her health condition and against any medical advice to refrain from impregnation for a specified period of time;
   (6) Impregnating a women, who is trying to remove herself from a harmful marriage, against her will;
   (7) Deliberately withholding the property of a person;
   (8) intimidation;
   (9) harassment;
   (10) stalking;
   (11) damage to property;
   (12) entry into, and being present thereafter at the victim’s residence without consent, where the parties do not share the same residence;
   (13) any other act which may be described as controlling or abusive behaviour towards the victim;
   (14) coercing, intimidating or forcing the victim to commit an act which such person would not have consented to or committed by their own volition;
   (15) confining the victim to a place or restricting their movement against their will;
   (16) attempting to commit any of the foregoing acts or causing apprehension of such acts; or
(17) causing a minor to witness or hear an act of domestic violence or presenting or placing a minor in such situation where such minor may witness or hear an act of domestic violence

(b) In defining “violence” for the purposes of this Act, a single instance of violence may be considered as an act of violence, or a series of acts that have been committed in a particular pattern over a given period of time which appear to have the characteristics of violence may be considered as an act of violence.

Victim
5. “Victim” means any person, who is in a domestic relationship with a perpetrator and who is or has been subjected or allegedly subjected to an act of domestic violence, including any child in the care of the victim.

Part 4
Status of the Law

The offence of domestic violence
6. Any act prescribed as an act of domestic violence under this Act shall carry both civil liability and be a criminal offence liable for criminal prosecution, which would be dealt with in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

Civil liability and criminal prosecution
7. (a) Criminal liability and conviction under another Act for acts of domestic violence under this Act shall not prevent the implementation of measures prescribed in this Act.

(b) The provisions of this Act shall fully apply and measures prescribed under this Act shall be fully implemented in respect of the perpetrator and the victim, regardless of and in addition to such perpetrator receiving criminal conviction and punishment under another Act for a criminal offense (which is classified in this Act as an offense of domestic violence), provided the perpetrator and the victim are bound by a domestic relationship.

Part 5
Reporting

Reporting domestic abuse
8. (a) Any person who has reason to believe that an act of domestic violence has been, or is being, or is likely to be committed, must give information about it to the Police.

(b) Cases of alleged domestic violence pursuant to Section 8(a) may be reported by any of the following persons:
   (1) a victim;
   (2) a witness to the act of domestic violence;
   (3) a family member of the victim;
   (4) an acquaintance of the victim;
   (5) Authority or Ministry;
   (6) employee of a health or social service provider;
   (7) a responsible officer of a Government institution working against domestic violence;
   (8) an employee or member of a association or organization registered to work against domestic violence;
   (9) the parent, guardian, relative or caretaker of a victim that is a child; and
   (10) any other person who has information of occurrence of domestic violence.

(c) For the purposes of Section 8(a), acts of domestic violence may be reported in person verbally or in writing at the Police station. Or, it may be reported by calling the hotline or landline of such station by phone or by fax, or by any other means of communication.

(d) No liability shall be incurred by any person or authority described in Section 8(b) solely as a result of reporting the incidence under Section 8(a) in circumstances where there is reason to believe that an act of domestic violence has been, or is being committed or where the occurrence of such an act is suspected. Further, any such person who, in good faith, reports an incidence of domestic violence shall not be held liable in any legal action regardless of such act of domestic violence not being proven ultimately. And such person shall not be placed in a situation where they may have to bear any legal liabilities.

Part 6
Role of the Police, Health Professionals and Social Workers

Duty to report
9. A duty of care is hereby established on health professionals and social workers to report suspected cases of domestic violence to the Police or the Authority in order to protect the victim(s). Health professionals and social workers shall further provide full support during the investigative and court stages of such cases of domestic violence, in such a manner that it does not compromise the welfare of the victim but ensures protection of the interests of the victim.

10. In the event the Police receive a report of an occurrence of domestic violence, they shall without delay instigate the processes required to investigate the incidence and take action. And, the Police shall compile, with reference to this Section, detailed standards for handling of such reports and publish the same in the form of a regulation made pursuant to this Act within 6 (six) months of enactment of this Act.
Duty to Assist Victims of Domestic Violence

11. On receiving a report on domestic violence the Police shall visit the scene of the alleged domestic violence, provided that the following details are observed from the report:-
(a) Information, which provides that domestic violence is taking place or is suspected to have taken place;
(b) Information, which reveals that under the given circumstance, it is highly unlikely that the domestic violence has not taken place;
(c) Statement that provides that a protection order is in place and that breach of such an order is imminent; or
(d) Statement that provides that acts considered as acts of domestic violence have previously taken place in the same location.

Duty of Health Professionals

12. A health professional that has been notified by the Police that an act of domestic violence may have been committed on a victim or who for any other reason otherwise suspects the same must carry-out the following:-
(a) Examine the suspected victim to the highest possible degree.
(b) Advise the victim of support options available.
(c) Assist the victim in seeking psychiatric or counselling support.
(d) In situations where the health professional suspects, during examination, that an act of domestic violence involving physical abuse or sexual abuse is likely to be committed on a victim, then the health professional must carry out the following:-
   (1) Examine the suspected victim to the highest possible degree.
   (2) Prepare a written report based on the examination of the victim.
   (3) Submit the report prepared under Section 12(d)(2) to the Police and Authority.

Duty of Social Workers

13. (a) A social worker that has been notified by the Police or the Authority that an act of domestic violence may have been committed on a victim or who for any other reason otherwise suspects the same must carry-out the following:-
   (1) The social worker must advise the victim of support options available, assist the victim to obtain psychiatric or counselling support and guide the victim on all matters in connection with the foregoing.
   (2) In situations where the incidence was not reported by the Police, the social worker shall report the matter to the Police.
   (3) Provide a social worker at the scene of domestic violence upon request by the Police. And in situations where a social worker is not available, a request to provide a person shall be made to the Authority. And, the Police must be notified of any such requests.
(b) The social worker shall advise the victim of domestic violence of their rights and remedies under this Act.
(c) The social worker shall assist victims by taking them to a shelter, or a house of a relative or friend trusted by the victim, and shall further liaise with the Police in ensuring that protection orders are implemented.

Duties of the Police

14. Any member of the Police that is present at the scene of an incident of domestic violence, or as soon thereafter as is reasonably possible, or when the incident of domestic violence is reported to him, shall perform the following duties:-
(a) Inform the Authority of the domestic violence complaint.
(b) Request the Authority or social service provider that a social worker be sent to the scene of the incident of domestic violence.
(c) The Police shall, upon receiving a report of a case of domestic violence, enter the residence or place of such incidence, even without a court order, and ascertain all relevant facts.
(d) Take the victim to the closest available health facility for the purpose of ascertaining whether the victim of domestic violence involving physical or psychological abuse requires any medical assistance, and ensure that the victim receives medical care. And, during escorting of the victim, the Police shall have the authority to prohibit any act which in the opinion of the Police may result in loss of evidence.
(e) Seek and meet all persons related to the case, obtain all relevant information from such persons, obtain witness statements from relevant witnesses, conclude the investigation of the case, and send the matter to the Prosecutor General for prosecution where it is believed that grounds for prosecution exists.
(f) If any of the witnesses or the victims consist of minors, then obtain their statements in suitable environment in the presence of a social worker.
(g) Gather the factual details of the act of domestic violence.
(h) Advise the victim of the domestic violence of their rights and remedies under this Act, including:
   (1) the right to make an application to obtain the following court orders:
      (aa) a protection order;
      (bb) a custody order;
      (cc) a residence order;
(dd) a compensation order.

(2) the right to lodge a criminal complaint, if applicable.

(i) Prepare the relevant report and dispatch it to the Authority and the court.

(j) Escort the victim to a protection shelter if circumstances require, at the expense of the Police.

(k) Provide protection to the persons who reported the incidence of domestic violence;

(l) Arrest the perpetrator who committed the act of domestic violence, if required.

(m) Disclose to the media details of the perpetrator and the acts of domestic violence committed by the perpetrator

(n) Ensure that a full investigation is carried out to assess whether the perpetrator may also be prosecuted under any criminal laws for the time being in force for the perpetrator’s acts of domestic violence if the facts disclose the commission of a criminal offence under those provisions (for example (without limitation), assault and battery, grievous bodily harm, rape, other sexual offences, murder and manslaughter), and, if so, then to forthwith send the matter to the Prosecutor General for prosecution of the perpetrator for the same.

Advising victims of their rights
15. The Police shall fully advise the victims of domestic violence of their rights as stated below, using such language and in a manner which is comprehensible to such persons and, if it is reasonably necessary to do so, hand a notice to the victim with the same information, upon request:

(a) contact details of the Police officer actively involved in the investigation;

(b) that the Police will bear the expenses of escorting the victim to a medical facility, provided such victim requires medical assistance as a result of the abuse.

(c) that the Police will bear the expenses of escorting of the victim to a protection shelter, where available, provided such victim needs to be taken to such shelter.

(d) that the victim can make an application to obtain a court order restraining the perpetrator from interacting with the victim;

(e) that such court order may prohibit the following acts:

(1) actually committing physical, sexual and psychological abuse of the victim;

(2) threatening physical, sexual and psychological abuse of the victim;

(3) causing damage or threatening to cause damage to the property of the victim;

(4) acts carried out with an intention to threaten, intimidate, humiliate or cause psychological distress to the victim or, threatening the commission of such acts;

(5) the perpetrator carrying out any of the acts prohibited under the protection order through an intermediary.

(f) advice of the temporary remedies that the Police can provide in the event the domestic violence has occurred at a time during the night, over the weekend or on a public holiday;

(g) that it is not mandatory to seek the assistance of a lawyer in obtaining the court order; and

(h) that the assistance of the court may be obtained in making an application for a court order.

Preparing a report on domestic violence
16. (a) In the event that a Police investigation into the occurrence of an incident of domestic violence has taken place, the report on the same shall be prepared by the Police and dispatched to the Authority.

(b) The report referred to in Section 16(a) shall contain the following details in addition to any other details which the Police may wish to include:

(1) the relationship between the perpetrator and the victim;

(2) gender;

(3) level of educational qualification;

(4) employment details;

(5) time of complaint;

(6) date of complaint;

(7) investigator;

(8) whether or not domestic violence involves a minor or disabled person, and the details of such minor or disabled person, where applicable;

(9) details of the act;

(10) details of the measures taken to resolve the matter;

(11) the date and details of a protection order, where applicable;

(12) the date and details of a permanent protection order, where applicable; and

(13) any other details necessary to provide information in relation to how, under what circumstances and for what reasons the act of domestic violence took place.

Compiling an annual report
17. (a) Within 3 months of the end of the Gregorian year, an annual report shall be prepared by the Police on the previous year’s reported cases and concluded cases of domestic violence, and dispatched to the Authority and the Court.

(b) The annual report referred to in 17(a) shall contain the details as follows:

(1) Number of reports filed.
(2) Number of cases filed by women.
(3) Number of cases filed by men.
(4) Number of reported cases, which has concluded its investigations.
(5) The manner in which the Police responded to resolve the issue when a report was filed and the time taken in general.
(6) Action taken by the Police to resolve a matter.
(7) Psychological, physical and financial harm caused.

Part 7

Protection Orders

18. (a) A protection order is a legal order made by the court to prohibit the commission or omission of certain acts by the person who committed the act of domestic violence, in order to protect the victim(s) from the recurrence of domestic violence.

(b) The court may issue a protection order, in order to prevent the occurrence of domestic violence or with the intention of protecting a person, under the circumstances where the court believes that there is apprehension of domestic violence.

(c) The fundamental objective of a protection order is to ensure the physical and psychological protection of the victims or potential victims of domestic violence and to ensure their health and rights are protected and preserved.

Making an application for a protection order

19. (a) A person may make an application for a protection order to court against another person provided such two persons are bound by a domestic relationship.

(b) Under the circumstance where the application for a protection order is being made by a minor, then such application shall be made by the minor’s parent, guardian, relative or caretaker of the child concerned or by any other person under Section 8(b) of this Act. Or, the minor may make their own application for such order.

(c) Under the circumstance where the application is being made by a person with disabilities or a person with special needs, then such application shall be made by the person’s parent, guardian or caretaker of the person concerned or by any other person under Section 8(b) of this Act.

(d) In the event a person is reluctant to make their own application for a protection order due to reasons mentioned in Section 23 and, where such person is not a minor, then the application may be made through a nominee of such person. Or, such person may make their own application, if capable.

Principles applicable to applications for orders made by minors

20. (a) Even though this Act requires a minor to make their application for a protection order through a minor’s parent, guardian or caretaker of the child concerned or by any other person under Section 8(b) of this Act, such application shall not be construed in a way that would bar the court from hearing the testimony of such minor.

(b) In the event an application referred to in Section 20(a) has been made, the minor may be summoned to the court or a place determined by the court in order to hear such testimony of the minor in relation to the case, if so required by the court. However, the minor shall be accompanied by a Social Worker at court.

(c) The court shall have the right to take into consideration the testimony of the minor based on their age and maturity.

Application for orders made by emancipated minors

21. Despite the provisions on this Act, an emancipated minor (under the age of 18 and who is married) shall make his or her own application for the protection order without the intermediation of the emancipated minor’s parent, guardian or caretaker of the child concerned or by any other person under Section 8(b) of this Act.

Application for order made through a third party

22. Persons who require special assistance under the following circumstances shall make their application for a protection order through the person’s parent, guardian or caretaker of the person concerned or by any other person under Section 8(b) of this Act:

(a) by reason of a disability; or
(b) lack of mental capacity to make decisions related to personal welfare or, inability to judge the nature and importance of such matters; or
(c) lack of the ability to express or communicate matters despite such person’s mental capacity to appreciate personal welfare matters and consequences of their actions.
23. (a) Under the following exceptional circumstances, persons may make an application for a protection order of the court through a third party under this special provision:
   (1) Practical incapacity due to present circumstance; or
   (2) Experiencing apprehension in making such application; or
   (3) Making such an application in their own name may compromise the interests and wellbeing of such person due to their present circumstances.

(b) The third party referred to in Section 23(a) may include relatives and family of the victim, a friend of the victim or a Registered NGO.

(c) In the event an application for a protection order has been made pursuant to Section 23(a) by a person through a third party, the court shall accept the third person on behalf of such person and give the opportunity for the third party to advocate and represent such person in court.

(d) In the event an application for a protection order has been made pursuant to Section 23(a) by a person through a third party, the court shall establish the following:
   (1) Such person genuinely wants to make an application for such an order.
   (2) The application for the order has been made by the representative appointed by such person.
   (3) The representative has been appointed by such person by exercising their free will.
   (4) The representative has accepted the appointment.
   (5) There are no conflicts of interests between the appointed representative and the person.

Jurisdiction

24. (a) The court shall have the jurisdiction to issue a protection order provided that the court has established the following:
   (1) A person has committed or continues to commit an act referred to, for the purposes of this Act, as an act of domestic violence.
   (2) Such an order is absolutely necessary to protect the wellbeing of the victim, their child or member of the family.

(b) The court may pass an order directing the officer-in-charge of the nearest Police station to the residence of the victim to assist in the implementation of the protection order.

(c) If the court considers that the circumstances of the case so warrant, and if either party to the proceedings so desires, then the court may conduct the proceedings under this Act in camera.

(d) Any order made under this Act shall be enforceable throughout the Republic of Maldives.

Other court proceedings not a bar to issuing a protection order

25. Ongoing divorce, child custody proceedings related to the victim or the perpetrator, or any other civil or criminal proceedings related to the victim or the perpetrator, for that reason alone, shall not be a bar to issuing a protection order.

Protection of persons other than the victim

26. (a) The victim and their children shall be protected by a protection order that has been issued by the court pursuant to an application made by the victim.

(b) In issuing a protection order, the court may order the court order to be implemented to the extent required for the continued protection of the victim and any other person bound by a domestic relationship with the victim.

Protection order issued against a third party

27. In the event the perpetrator has been using or encouraging a third party to commit the act of domestic violence instead of directly committing such acts, the court may issue a protection order against such third party.

General conditions of a protection order

28. The perpetrator shall abstain from the following acts irrespective of its express provision in the protection order:-
   (a) Causing physical or sexual harm to the victim.
   (b) Threatening physical or sexual harm to the victim.
   (c) Causing damage to the property of the victim. Or threatening such damage.
   (d) Any act which is carried out to cause apprehension or humiliation or psychological harm to the victim. Or threatening the commission of such acts.
   (e) The perpetrator using a third person to commit an act which the perpetrator (of the court order) has been prohibited from committing against the victim.

Prohibiting interactions

29. (a) Under the circumstances where the perpetrator and the victim share the same household, except to that extent, the court may impose the following prohibitions on the perpetrator in respect of the victim:-
(1) Restricting the victim from entering and exiting their private dwelling, place of work, employment, teaching, learning or any other commonly visited place; or following the victim at the times they enter such place with the intent to distress or to ascertain their whereabouts.
(2) Stalking, stopping, bothering or verbally assaulting the victim.
(3) Entering or staying at the private dwelling of the victim or other place where such person is present, without the express permission of such person.
(4) Carrying out any of the following interactions with the victim using phones, letters, electronic mail, short message service (SMS) text messages or any other form, except to the extent required under those circumstances:
   (a) To the extent allowed in an agreement or order pertaining to visitation rights in respect of a child of the victim and, to the extent allowed under the special conditions of the protection order.
   (b) To the extent necessary in order to participate in compulsory family gatherings.
(b) In the event the protection order is issued against more than one person, then the above-mentioned conditions shall be applicable to the same extent, on each and every person against whom the protection order has been issued.

Further rules relating to the conditions prohibiting interactions
30. (a) The non-contact conditions under Section 29(a) shall be applicable in all instances, except where the victim and the perpetrator share the same household with the consent of the victim.
(b) Under the circumstance where the victim and the perpetrator share the same household with the consent of the victim, the non-contact conditions shall be suspended but only to that extent.
(c) In the event the permission granted by the victim to the perpetrator to share the same household has been revoked, the non-contact conditions that had been suspended pursuant to this Section shall come to an end, and such conditions shall thereafter come into force.
(d) For the purposes of this section, the non-contact conditions may be suspended once or more than once. Or revoked more than once.
(e) In the event the protection order applies to more than one person, the aforementioned sections shall apply to each such person to the extent applicable under the given circumstances.

Inclusion of Special conditions
31. (a) In issuing protection orders, the court may impose special conditions upon the perpetrator which the court deems is reasonably necessary to protect or provide for the safety of the victim or any child of such victim, including (without limitation):
   (1) a residence order;
   (2) a custody order; and/or
   (3) a compensation order.
(b) Under the circumstance where the court finds that there are special interests of the victim which needs to be protected, the court shall determine and impose special conditions pursuant to Section 31(a) to the extent necessary to protect such interests.
(c) In the event the court determines special conditions in a protection order pursuant to Section 31(a), such special conditions shall exist for the duration of the order, unless modified or withdrawn by the court.
(d) The victim shall not be evicted or excluded from the shared household or any part of it by the perpetrator save in accordance with the procedures established by law. However, persons who do not have a filial relationship with the victim or who are not under the legal guardianship of the victim shall be exempt from this Section.
(e) While passing a residence order, the court may:
   (1) require the perpetrator to provide the court with a financial bond as security in order to discourage domestic violence. And such bond may be forfeited by the court in the event of a breach of the residence order by the perpetrator;
   (2) pass an order directing the officer-in-charge of the nearest Police station to the residence of the victim to give protection to the victim or to assist the victim in making an application for a court order or in the implementation of such order;
   (3) impose on the perpetrator obligations relating to the discharge of rent and other payments related to the residence of the victim, having regard to the financial needs and resources of the parties.
(f) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other law, the court may, at any stage of hearing the application for protection order, issue a custody order granting temporary custody of any children of the victim to the victim or the person making an application on her behalf provided that if the court is of the opinion that there is apprehension of circumstances that may be harmful to the children or to their interests. And such an order may specify the arrangements for visit of such children by the perpetrator. However, if the court is of the opinion that any visit of the perpetrator may be harmful to the interests of the children, then the court may prohibit the perpetrator from visiting the children.
(g) In addition to other reliefs as may be granted to the victim under this Act, the court may, on application being made by the victim, pass a compensation order.
(h) The court may, at any stage of the proceedings under this Act, may direct the Authority to make arrangements for the perpetrator or the victim to undergo counselling together or separately.

Duration of protection order
32. (a) A protection order, with the exception of those emergency orders issued under exceptional circumstances, shall remain as a legitimate order until it has been withdrawn by the court. As such, a protection order shall be issued in the first instance for a maximum period of one year.
(b) A protection order may be extended by a court ruling, upon application (by the victim or the perpetrator) for such extension. Such application shall be lodged with the court at least seven days prior to the expiration of the validity period of the previous court order.

Varying of protection order
33. Upon the request of the victim or the perpetrator, the court may vary the protection order in any of the following manner provided such request is acceptable to the court:
(a) Modify or remove a special condition.
(b) Add a special condition.
(c) Modify an order or remove the necessity to perform a certain act.
(d) Provide advice on a particular matter.

Duration and Setting aside the protection order
34. (a) Upon a request made by the victim or the perpetrator whilst the protection order is in effect, the court may set aside the protection order, by issuing another order, provided such request is acceptable to the court.
(b) A protection order shall be withdrawn by court provided that the court believes that the circumstances under which the order was issued has changed or has come to an end.

Criminal offences
35. (a) A perpetrator who commits any of the following acts is guilty of a criminal offence:
(1) Breach of a protection order.
(2) Non-compliance with any of the conditions of the protection order.
(3) Breach of a residence order, a custody order and/or a compensation order.
(4) Non-performance of a specific act (in the specified manner) ordered through a protection order.
(b) A perpetrator who commits an offence referred to in Section 35(a) shall be punished by up to a maximum term of 6 months imprisonment or fined with an amount not exceeding MRF. 15,000 (Fifteen thousand Rufiyaa).
(c) A perpetrator who commits an offence referred to in Section 35(a) for a second time shall be punished by up to a maximum term of 1 year imprisonment or fined with an amount not exceeding MRF. 30,000 (Thirty thousand Rufiyaa).
(d) A perpetrator who commits an offence referred to in Section 35(a) for a third time or more shall be punished by up to a maximum term of 3 year imprisonment or fined with an amount not exceeding MRF. 50,000 (Thirty thousand Rufiyaa) on each occasion.
(e) In addition to prosecution under Section 35(a) of this Act, a perpetrator may also be prosecuted under other criminal laws for the time being in force for his acts of domestic violence if the facts disclose the commission of a criminal offence under those provisions: for example (without limitation), assault and battery, grievous bodily harm, rape, other sexual offences, murder and manslaughter.
(f) Notwithstanding anything contained in criminal laws or procedures for the time being force, the offence under Section 35(a) shall be non-bailable.
(g) Investigation, prosecution and examination in a trial proceeding shall be conducted according to the stipulations of the prevailing criminal procedural law, unless otherwise stipulated in this Act.
(h) Notwithstanding anything contained in criminal laws or procedures, upon the sole testimony of the victim, the court may conclude that an offence under Section 35(a) of this Act has been committed by the perpetrator.

Power to arrest
36. (a) Under this Act, the Police shall have the following powers:-
(1) Arrest without warrant any person at the scene on an incident of domestic violence whom the Police officer reasonably suspects of having committed an offence containing an element of domestic violence against a victim.
(2) Arrest a perpetrator under the circumstance where the Police have reasonable grounds to believe based on the given evidence that breach of a protection order, which is still in effect, has occurred.
(b) In making arrests pursuant to this Act, the Police shall take into consideration the following:
(1) The protection (of the victim) may be compromised if the Police fail to arrest the perpetrator at that given time.
(2) The magnitude of the breach of the protection order.
(3) The time elapsed since the breach of the protection order.
(4) Reasonable belief that the perpetrator will continue to breach the protection order if the perpetrator is not arrested for such breach.

Part 8
Emergency orders

Filing an emergency protection order

37. (a) An emergency protection order (unlike a protection order where both parties are summoned and heard in court prior to granting such order under the usual rules) is an order granted without notice (to the perpetrator) based only upon the statements of the victim.
(b) The court may grant an emergency protection order under the special circumstances referred to in Section 39 of this Act.

38. (a) An emergency order is a temporary order. And such order shall remain effective for a period of 3 (three) months unless withdrawn.
(b) The protection order shall become a permanent order upon the expiry of the 3 month period referred to in Section 38(a) provided the protection order is not withdrawn within those 3 months, or where the perpetrator has not filed a defence in respect of the order.

Special circumstances for granting an emergency order

39. An emergency order shall be granted pursuant to Section 37 of this Act where the court finds that the following circumstances are present:
(a) The court believes that granting an order after hearing both parties may be of risk to the victim under the given circumstances.
(b) (The court) believes that the justice required by the victim may not be served under the given circumstances.
(c) (The court) believes that the risk faced by the victim may be increased. (d) The victim is a person who is in a difficult situation.

Considerations prior to granting an emergency order

40. Prior to granting an emergency order, the following matters shall be taken into consideration:
(a) The seriousness of the complaint filed by the victim and the seriousness of the issues contained in the complaint.
(b) The harshness or seriousness of the acts carried out by the perpetrator.
(c) The extent to which the interests of the victim is compromised as a result of the acts of the perpetrator.

The rights of the perpetrator of the emergency order

41. (a) Under the circumstance where a special order has been granted, the perpetrator shall be afforded the following rights:
   (1) Making a request to the court in order to be heard prior to the order becoming a permanent order.
   (2) Making a request to the court in order to modify or withdraw a condition or another matter contained in the order.
   (3) Making a request to withdraw the order.
   (4) Notifying their objections to the order.
(b) Prior to issuing another order, court hearings shall be conducted by presenting both parties (or their representatives) in the case where the perpetrator has filed a request in court in respect of any of the matters mentioned in this Section. And a decision whether to maintain, modify or withdraw the temporary order shall be reached by the court.

Conducting court hearings

42. The court may conduct court hearings in the event the court believes that prior to making an emergency order permanent, justice would be best served by hearing the perpetrator or, by presenting the victim and perpetrator (or their representatives) in court and hearing the statements of both parties.

Stating the result of the order

43. In making any order pursuant to this Act, the court shall make known the following to the perpetrator, if present.
(a) The legal consequences of breaching the order.
(b) The rules for modifying or amending the order.

Dispatching a copy of the order

44. In the event, any order has been made pursuant to this Act, the registrar of the court, on behalf of the court, shall dispatch a copy of the order to the Police and the Authority.

Appeal
45. In the event a protection order has been issued pursuant this Act, or not issued, a person dissatisfied by such outcome shall have the right to appeal the case in High Court under the general principles of appeal.

Part 9

“Thafriq” or “Fasakh”

Thafriq

46. Thafriq refers to the special right of a woman under Islamic Shari’ah to demand the dissolution of a marriage where the court finds that any of the grounds stated under the Islamic Shari’ah for thafriq continue to exist.

Order for dissolution

47. Any marriage shall be dissolved under this Act pursuant to a thafriq order of the court. The legal principles applicable to a court judgment shall be applicable to such an order.

Circumstances under which “thafriq” is allowed

48. In the event a male perpetrator bound by marriage with a female victim has committed an act of domestic violence against the female victim, for the purposes of this Act, their marriage shall be dissolved at the request of the female victim where the court finds the existence of any of the following grounds which have been prescribed under Islamic Shari’ah as grounds under which “thafriq” is permissible:

(a) The seriousness of the act of domestic violence has caused an impediment to the resumption of a peaceful life between the male perpetrator and the female victim.

(b) The protection and wellbeing of the female victim cannot be granted certainty due to the severity of such act of domestic violence.

(c) In spite of the implementation of other measures prescribed under this Act, the marital relationship between the two persons has irretrievably broken down as a result of the act of domestic violence that it is impossible to maintain the marital relationship any further.

Outcome of “thafriq”

49. (a) In the event the court has ordered for the dissolution of a marriage by thafriq, the marriage shall immediately come to an end. And, the principles of Islamic Shari’ah applicable upon the dissolution of a marriage shall also apply to the two persons, thereafter.

(b) For the purposes of Section 28 of the Family Law Act (Act Number 4/2000), the events specified in Section 48 of this Act shall hereby further be deemed to be events that Islamic law allow for a marriage to be dissolved by fasakh.

Part 10

Implementation of the Law

Highest authority

50. (a) The Minister shall be the highest authority responsible for the implementation and enforcement of the provisions in this Act (with the exception of those responsibilities allocated to the court and the Police under this Act) in respect of stopping domestic violence.

(b) The Minister shall have all powers, direct and incidental to the implementation of the provisions in the Act (with the exception of those responsibilities allocated to the court and the Police under this Act) necessary to stop domestic violence.

Decentralization

51. (a) In order to give legitimacy and facilitate the enforcement of this Act within the areas of jurisdiction of the Island Councils, Atoll Councils and City Councils, the Minister may determine that each such council (within their respective areas of representation) is the agent appointed for that area to enforce this Act.

(b) The Minister shall delegate any of powers or responsibilities pursuant to Section 51(a) in respect of enforcing this Act, to the Island Councils, Atoll Councils and City Councils after providing the required facilities for the enforcement of such powers and responsibilities and by establishing a mechanism for the council to adopt in combating domestic violence.

(c) The guidance and authority of the Minister shall apply to entities, which are working at the same level as the Island Councils, Atoll Councils and City Councils to prevent domestic violence, create of public awareness in order to prevent such domestic violence, protect victims of domestic violence.

(d) Any specific powers or responsibilities delegated to the Island Councils, Atoll Councils and City Councils under this Act, shall be clearly stated in writing.

(e) Details of the responsibilities delegated to the Island Councils, Atoll Councils and City Councils under this Act, shall be provided under a regulation made pursuant to this Act, publicly announced and published in the Gazette. Such task shall be the responsibility of the Minister.

Establishment of a Family Protection Agency
52. (a) A Family Protection Agency is hereby established under this Section of this Act in order to combat domestic violence; create public awareness on issues of domestic violence; provide the required services to the victims of such violence; co-ordinate the work of the relevant government institutions including the Police and the Health Sector, coordinate various local efforts made by individuals (to protect victims of domestic violence) by bringing such efforts under a national policy and implementing such policies and; to undertake a leading role in carrying out such work on a national scale.
(b) The Authority established pursuant to Section 52(a) shall be governed by a Board comprising 7 (seven) members appointed by the President. The Chief Executive Officer shall direct and oversee the work of the Authority, in consultation with the Board.
(c) The Authority shall be accountable to the Minister. And, the Authority shall be under the power of the Minister.
(d) The persons appointed to the Board shall be appointed by giving priority to gender balancing, and such persons shall have the educational and practical competency to contribute to the efforts being made to stop domestic violence, in a constructive manner. And any person on the Board shall not be a person who has been alleged or convicted of a criminal offence or domestic violence offence.
(e) The Authority shall have the power to carry out any responsibilities of the Authority under this Act either by itself, or by delegating such responsibilities under supervision to health care providers, social service providers, or non-profit organizations. However, under such circumstances, details of the applicable procedure shall be prescribed in a regulation made under this Act.
(f) In implementing and enforcing the responsibilities entrusted to the Authority under Section 53 of this Act, the Authority shall have the power to establish various services.

Responsibility of the Authority
53. The responsibilities of the Authority are as follows:
(a) to determine the national policy for combating domestic violence and enforcing such policy;
(b) to determine the programmes necessary to combat domestic violence, the objectives of such programmes and the standards for implementing such programmes;

"Minister" means the Minister responsible for equality;
"victim" means any natural person who is subjected to forms of violence covered by the scope of this Act and the family members of any person whose death was directly caused by the said violence and who have suffered harm as a result of that person’s death as well as minors who are witnesses to the forms of violence covered by the scope of this Act.

3. Scope
(1) This Act shall apply to all forms of violence covered by the scope of the Convention.
(2) This Act shall apply in times of peace and in situations of armed conflict.

(1) The implementation of the provisions of this Act, in particular measures to protect the rights of victims, shall be secured without discrimination on any ground such as age; association with a national minority; belief, creed or religion; colour, ethnic origin and, or race; disability; family responsibilities and, or pregnancy; family and, or civil status; gender expression and, or gender identity; genetic features; health status; language; migrant or refugee status; national or social origin; political or other opinion; property; sex or sex characteristics; sexual orientation or any other status.
(2) Special measures that are deemed necessary to prevent and protect persons who are particularly vulnerable to violence due to their gender shall not be considered discrimination under the terms of this Act.

5. State obligations and due diligence.
(1) The public administration shall not engage in any act of gender-based violence or domestic violence and shall ensure that government institutions and any others acting on behalf of the public administration act in conformity with this obligation.
(2) The public administration shall:
(a) create and adopt, within one year from the coming into force of this Act, an Action Plan which includes effective, measurable, comprehensive and coordinated policies encompassing all relevant measures to prevent and combat all forms of gender-based violence and domestic violence, in liaison with the Commission;
(b) ensure the implementation of the aforementioned Action Plan by way of effective co-operation among other relevant Ministries, Commissions, agencies, authorities, institutions, organisations, civil society and any relevant bodies;
(c) allocate appropriate financial and human resources for the adequate implementation of this Action Plan to prevent and combat all forms of gender-based violence and domestic violence, including those actions carried out by non-governmental organisations, agencies and civil society;
(d) review the Action Plan periodically and at least once every three years in liaison with the Commission; and
(e) publish a report, at least once every three years, detailing the progress and status of the Action Plan.

Part II
Commission on Gender-Based Violence and Domestic Violence

(1) There shall be a Commission to be known as the Commission on Gender-Based Violence and Domestic Violence which shall be a coordinating body with the aim of offering a holistic response to gender-based violence and domestic violence by promoting the right of all persons to live free from violence in both the public and private sphere, and of implementing measures to prevent all forms of violence falling within the scope of this Act.
(2) The Commission shall be a body corporate having a distinct legal personality and shall be capable, subject to the provisions of this Act, of entering into contracts, of employing personnel, of acquiring, holding and disposing of property of any kind for the purposes of its functions under this Act or any other law, of suing and of being sued, and of doing all such things and entering into all such transactions as are conducive or incidental to the exercise or performance of its functions as herein contained.
(3) The legal and judicial representation of the Commission shall lie in its Commissioner or such other officer as the Minister may from time to time appoint by notice in the Gazette:
Provided that the Commission may appoint any one of its members or any other person to appear in its name and on its behalf in any judicial proceedings, and on any act, contract, agreement or document whatsoever.

7. Appointment and composition.
(1) The Commission shall be composed of a Commissioner who shall be called the Commissioner on Gender-Based Violence and Domestic Violence and not less than six but not more than twelve other members who are knowledgeable on issues of gender-based violence and domestic violence, and, or legal and administrative issues connected therewith.
(2) The members of the Commission shall be appointed by the Minister after consulting such public and private agencies or entities involved in the research, prevention and treatment of gender-based violence and domestic violence, as the Minister may deem appropriate.
(3) The Minister shall ensure that the Commission is composed of members which represent, as far as possible, a wide representation of civil society.
(4) The members of the Commission shall designate any one of its members as Deputy Commissioner and the member so designated shall have all the powers and perform all the functions of the Commissioner during his temporary absence or inability, or while the Commissioner is on vacation, or during any vacancy in the office of Commissioner. The name of the person designated as Deputy Commissioner shall be published in the Gazette.

8. Term of office.
Every member of the Commission shall hold office for a term of three years and may be reappointed at the end of his term of office only once.

9. Disqualification
A person shall not be qualified to hold office as a member of the Commission if that person:
(a) is a Minister or a Parliamentary Secretary;
(b) is a practicing Judge or Magistrate;
(c) is legally interdicted or incapacitated;
(d) has been convicted of an offence liable to a term of imprisonment for not less than six months;
(e) has been convicted of an offence relating to a breach of human rights or discrimination; or
(f) is subject to disqualification under article 320 of the Companies Act.

10. Termination and resignation.
(1) Subject to the provisions of this article, the office of a member of the Commission shall become vacant:
(a) upon the expiration of three years from the date of appointment or at such earlier time as may be specified in the instrument by which he was appointed; or
(b) upon resignation by a letter addressed to the Minister; or
(c) if any circumstances arise that, if he were not a member of the Commission, would cause him to be disqualified for appointment as such; or
(d) upon removal by the Commissioner upon a two-thirds vote taken by all members for failure to attend meetings as specified in article 12(2).
(2) A member of the Commission may, at any time, be removed by the Minister after consultation with the other members of the Commission and substituted by another member.
(3) If a member resigns or if the office of a member of the Commission is otherwise vacant, it shall be filled by the appointment of another member by the Minister in accordance with article 7(2). The term of appointment of such member shall be for the remaining period of the three year term of the member whose post has become vacant.

11. Conflict of interest.
Any member of the Commission who has any direct or indirect interest in any matter or situation being considered by the Commission, not being an interest which disqualifies such member from remaining a member, shall disclose the nature of his interest at the first meeting of the Commission after the relevant facts have come to his knowledge. Such disclosure shall then be recorded in the minutes of the meeting, and the member having an interest as aforesaid shall withdraw from any meetings at which such matter or situation is discussed.

(1) The Commission shall meet within one month from its constitution, and meetings of the Commission shall be called by the Commissioner as often as may be necessary but not less than once every two months, either on his own initiative or at the request of any two of the other members thereafter.
(2) Attendance by all members shall be compulsory, with failure to attend without reasonable cause for three consecutive meetings resulting in an immediate and automatic motion for removal.
(3) The quorum for meetings of the Commission shall be half the number of its members, one of whom shall be the Commissioner or the Deputy Commissioner.
(4) Decisions of the Commission shall be taken by a simple majority of the votes of the members present and in the event of an equality of votes the Commissioner shall have a casting vote.
(5) Subject to the provisions of this Act, the Commission shall, in general, regulate its own proceedings.
(6) The Commission may appoint sub-committees or working groups from among its members as it deems appropriate in order to better discharge its functions.
(7) The validity of any proceedings of the Commission shall not be affected by any vacancy among the members of the Commission or by any defect in the appointment of any member.
(8) The Commission may appoint any of its officers or employees to act as Secretary and to assist with taking of minutes of its meetings.
(9) The Commission may from time to time invite any person to attend one or more of its meetings, in particular to provide expert advice on specific issues.

13. Functions of the Commission.
The functions of the Commission shall be the following:
(a) to advise the Minister and any State institution on all issues relating to gender-based violence and domestic violence, as well as the measures deemed necessary to ensure conformity with their due diligence obligations as established in article 5 and the Convention;
(b) to monitor and oversee the effective implementation of the Action Plan developed by Government in accordance with article 5;
(c) to engage any relevant stakeholders, including civil society, in the effective implementation of the Action Plan mentioned in the preceding paragraph;
(d) to determine the appropriate financial and human resources required for the adequate implementation of the integrated policies, measures and programmes to prevent and combat all forms of gender-based violence and domestic violence covered by the scope of this Act;
(e) to support research in the field of gender-based violence and domestic violence in order to study its root causes and effects, incidences and conviction rates, as well as the efficacy of measures taken to implement the Convention;
(f) to monitor national standards for support services for victims and perpetrators of gender-based violence and domestic violence, including public or private shelter services or facilities;
(g) to monitor standards and protocols for professionals in the areas covered by the scope of this Act and organise specialised training for the said professionals, including, but not limited to, educators, members of the judiciary and law enforcement officers;
(h) to comprehensively collect and collate relevant disaggregated statistical data at regular intervals on cases of all forms of violence covered by the scope of this Act from the State, public sector, agencies and other relevant entities, as appropriate;
(i) to collaborate with the relevant national institutions to conduct population-based surveys at regular intervals to assess the prevalence of and trends in all forms of violence covered by the scope of this Act;
(j) to provide the group of experts, as referred to in article 66 of the Convention, with the information collected pursuant to this article in order to stimulate international co-operation and enable international benchmarking;
(k) to ensure that the information collected pursuant to this article is available to the public;
(l) to conduct, on a regular basis and at all levels, awareness-raising campaigns or programmes, including those in co-operation with national human rights institutions and equality bodies, civil society and non-governmental organisations to increase awareness and understanding among the general public of the different manifestations of all forms of gender-based violence and domestic violence and the need to prevent and address such violence;

(m) to ensure the wide dissemination among the general public of information on measures available to prevent acts of violence covered by the scope of this Act, as well as any means of redress available;

(n) to collaborate with the educational authorities to educate students on the forms of violence covered by this Act and the preventive measures in their regard;

(o) to provide guidelines to the media in relation to the prevention of the forms of violence covered by the scope of this Act.

Part III
Designated Agency

19. Designated agency.

(1) The Minister shall designate one or more public, civil society or other organisations, institutions or other bodies with which arrangements have been made as provided in sub-article (3) as the agency responsible for the provision of preventive, therapeutic and, or treatment programmes for victims and perpetrators of violence covered by the scope of this Act.

(2) The Minister shall assign those services to be provided by the designated organisation, institution or other body.

(3) The arrangements referred to in sub-article (1) shall lay down the services which the organisation, institution or other body will be expected to provide for the duration of the arrangements and which shall include the following:

(a) preventive, therapeutic and, or treatment programmes for victims and perpetrators of forms of violence covered by the scope of this Act;

(b) public help-line facilities for emergency access to specialised support services in those areas related to forms of violence covered by the scope of this Act;

(c) expertise for the assessment of the needs and risks of victims of violence covered by the scope of this Act, including the development of a care plan for each referral;

(d) sheltered accommodation for victims of violence covered by the scope of this Act, including in partnership with other organisations, institutions or other bodies providing similar accommodation;

(e) the compilation and dissemination to interested persons and bodies of documentation on the rights of victims of violence covered by the scope of this Act, and on the remedies and services available to them;

(f) the collation of data concerning domestic violence for use by the Courts, prosecutors, law enforcement officers, health care practitioners, social workers and other agencies and entities, in a manner that protects the identity of victims of violence covered by the scope of this Act.

(4) The arrangements referred to in sub-article (1) shall also provide for funding by the Minister of the services agreed upon with the organisation, institution or other body.

(5) The designated agency shall keep the funds referred to in sub-article (4) separately from the other funds of the agency, which shall keep proper books of account thereof audited annually by auditors appointed by it with the concurrence of the Minister and which shall moreover be subject to audit by the Auditor General.

(6) The designated agency shall, by not later than three months after the close of each financial year, transmit to the Minister:

(a) a copy of the annual accounts certified by the auditors; and

(b) a report on the operations of the agency during the year.

(7) The report referred to in sub-article (6)(b) shall be laid on the Table of the House by the Minister by not later than six weeks after its receipt, or where the House is during the period not in session by not later than the second week after the House resumes its sittings, and this report shall, within the period of eight weeks from the date on which a copy thereof is laid on the Table of the House, be discussed by the Social Affairs Committee of the House of Representatives or any other committee substituting the same.
(8) Any member, officer, employee or member of staff of a designated agency shall be deemed a public officer for the purposes of article 92 of the Criminal Code.

(9) The designated agency shall, where necessary and in the best interest of all parties involved, liaise with any other agency, institution, non-governmental organisation or any other body which is competent to deal with matters relevant to the scope of this Act.

20. Power to make regulations.
The Minister may make regulations to implement and give better effect to the provisions of this Act, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing, may prescribe anything which shall be done or may be prescribed and provide for any consequential thing, incidental to or connected to the provisions of this Act.

21. For the avoidance of any doubt, it is hereby declared that, by means of a Note Verbale presented on the 21st May of 2012, Malta reserved the right not to apply:
(a) article 30(2) of the Convention and to continue to apply its current legislation in so far as State compensation is concerned; and
(b) article 44(1)(e) of the Convention and to establish jurisdiction when the offence is committed by a person holding permanent residence in terms of article 7 of the Immigration Act.

22. (1) The Convention, as reproduced in the Schedule to this Act, shall be, and shall be enforceable as, part of the Laws of Malta.
(2) Where any ordinary law is inconsistent with rights set out in the Convention, the latter shall prevail, and such ordinary law shall, to the extent of the inconsistency, be void:
Provided that where any ordinary law confers a higher degree of protection and, or further rights than those set out in the Convention, that ordinary law shall apply.

23. The Domestic Violence Act and the Council of Europe Convention on Prevention and Combating of Violence against Women and Domestic Violence (Ratification) Act are hereby repealed, without prejudice to anything done or omitted to be done thereunder.

continuation of proceedings against the alleged perpetrator, giving particular consideration to the best interests of the complainant, any minors involved, and any other relevant third parties, and shall cause such request and decision to be registered in the records of the case:
Provided further that where the offence is not accompanied by any of the circumstances as to fact or person mentioned in sub-article (1)(a), (b) and (c), the complaint shall not be admissible after the lapse of one year from the day on which the act was committed or knowledge thereof was obtained by the person entitled to lodge the complaint in lieu of the injured party:
Provided further that proceedings shall be instituted ex officio when the act is committed with abuse of parental authority or of tutorship."; [...]
peace or for the purpose of protecting the injured person or other individuals from harassment or other conduct which will cause a fear of violence, issue a protection order against the accused.

(2) Where a protection order is requested by any party to the proceedings, such request shall be appointed for hearing to determine whether there is sufficient prima facie evidence for it to be issued by the Court within seven days from when such request is made.

(3) Before issuing a protection order, the Court shall take into account:

(a) the need to ensure that the injured person or other individual specified in the order is protected from injury or molestation; and
(b) the welfare of any children or any dependants who may be affected by the order; and
(c) the accommodation needs of all persons who may be affected by the order, in particular of the injured person, his children and his other dependants; and
(d) any hardship that may be caused to the accused or to any other person as a result of making the order; and
(e) the accused’s willingness or otherwise to submit to such treatment as the Court may deem appropriate; and
(f) any other matter that, in the circumstances of the case, the Court considers relevant:

Provided that particular attention shall be given to the matters in paragraphs (a), (b) and (e).

(4) The Court shall always issue a protection order in those instances where, following a risk assessment of the injured party or any other relevant person, it becomes apparent that such person is at a very high risk.

(5) When issuing a protection order, the Court shall outline the formal requirements of such order, and, if applicable, delineate any prohibited areas and other prohibited conduct.

(6) When issuing a protection order under this article, the Court shall immediately communicate such order to the Commissioner of Police, who shall take all actions necessary to ensure monitoring of the conditions of such order, including, if appropriate, by electronic means.

(7) A protection order may impose any restrictions or prohibitions on the accused that appear to the Court necessary or desirable in the circumstances in order to give effect to any of the purposes mentioned in sub-article (1).

(8) Without limiting the nature of the orders which may be made under sub-article (1), a protection order may do all or any of the following:

(a) prohibit or restrict the accused from approaching or following the movements of the injured person or any other individual specified in the order; or
(b) prohibit or restrict access by the accused, to premises in which the injured person, or any other individual specified in the order, lives, works or frequents even if the accused has a legal interest in those premises; or
(c) prohibit the accused from contacting or molesting the injured person or any other individual specified in the order.

(9) A protection order shall remain in force for a period, not exceeding five years, specified by the Court, but can be revoked or extended for further periods.

(10) A party to the proceedings in which an order has been made under this article or any other individual mentioned in the order, may apply to the Court at any time for the extension, variation or revocation of the order and after all the parties have had an opportunity to be heard the Court shall, in determining whether to extend, vary or revoke an order, have regard to the matters specified in sub-article (3).

(11) If without reasonable excuse the accused contravenes any prohibition or restriction imposed upon him by an order under this article, he shall be guilty of an offence and shall, on conviction, be liable to a fine (multa) of seven thousand euro (€7,000) or to imprisonment not exceeding two years or to both such fine and imprisonment.

(12) The Court may also order that any arm proper or arm improper, as defined in article 64, be deposited with the Court’s registrar.

(as) immediately after article 540 thereof there shall be added the following new article:

540A. Temporary protection orders.

(1) Upon the receipt of any report, information or complaint requiring proceedings to be taken against a person from a person or persons indicated in paragraph (a) of article 12 of the Victims of Crime Act, a police officer, together with a social worker, shall immediately conduct an assessment of the risk of the injured person or of any other individual, as the case may be.

(2) Where, following such assessment, it becomes apparent that any person is at a serious risk of harm, the Executive Police shall immediately apply to a Magistrate requesting the issue of a temporary protection order stating the grounds for the request and giving the Magistrate all such information that will enable the Magistrate to decide upon the request.

(3) Before deciding whether to issue the temporary protection order, the Magistrate may require the police officer, the social worker, or the person making the report or complaint giving the information, to confirm on oath the information supplied by him and the temporary protection order shall be issued once the Magistrate is satisfied that sufficient grounds for the issuing of the order exist:

Provided that such a decision shall be taken within six hours of receipt of the application.
(4) In cases of utmost urgency, the request for the issue of the temporary protection order and the order may be communicated even by electronic means: Provided that, as soon as practicable, the original temporary protection order shall be delivered for record purposes.

(5) Sub-articles (7), (8), (11) and (12) of article 412C shall apply mutatis mutandis to a temporary protection order issued under this article.

(6) A temporary protection order issued under this article shall remain in force until the alleged offender is arraigned, but can be revoked or extended for further periods on good cause being shown by the Executive Police or by the injured party.

(7) Upon determining that no criminal proceedings are warranted against the alleged offender, the Executive Police shall forthwith inform the Magistrate and request the revocation of the temporary protection order.

(8) The temporary protection order shall lapse upon the issue of a protection order under article 412C.

(9) For the purposes of this article, "temporary protection order" shall have the same meaning assigned to a "protection order" under article 412C.

(at) article 543 thereof shall be amended as follows:

(i) in the first proviso to paragraph (e) thereof, for the words "Domestic Violence Act" there shall be substituted the words "Gender-Based Violence and Domestic Violence Act";

(ii) in the second proviso to paragraph (e) thereof, for the words "of any minors involved" there shall be substituted the words "of the complainant, any minors involved, and any other relevant third parties";

(iii) immediately after paragraph (e) thereof there shall be added the following new paragraph: "(f) in the case of rape as defined in article 198 of this Code: Provided that it shall be lawful, after proceedings have commenced before the court in virtue of this article for an offence mentioned in this paragraph, for an alleged victim to request the court to stay proceedings against the alleged perpetrator, however, if such request is made, the court may decide to continue the proceedings against the perpetrator, giving particular consideration to the best interests of the complainant, any minors involved, and any other relevant third parties."; [...]

Amendments to the Civil Code

25. The Civil Code shall be amended as follows:

(a) in article 47 thereof, for the words "the paramount consideration shall be the welfare of the children." there shall be substituted the words "the paramount consideration shall be the welfare of the children:.", and immediately thereafter there shall be added the following new provision:

"Provided that in cases where there is evidence of domestic violence, the Court may limit or deny access to the children if such access would put the children or the other parent at risk.";

§913. Application to a court for Protection Order.
(1) An application to a court for a protection order may be made orally, by telephone or by radio, in writing, by facsimile, telex or email, or any other mode as required by the court rules and procedures.
(2) If the application is made in a non-written form, the court must reduce the application to writing.
(3) An application for a temporary protection order shall be made as part of the application and must state the grounds for the application for the temporary protection order.
(4) In the case of temporary protection order, an application may be made ex parte.
(5) Where possible evidence supporting the application should be taken under oath.

Division 5 - Offense and restitution.

§914. Breach to protection order.
A person who breaches the protection order commits an offense and shall upon conviction be punishable by a term of imprisonment of 6 months or a fine of $1,000 or both.

§915. Restitution.
(1) A court may make an order that the respondent pay restitution to the complainant if he or she as a result of an act of domestic violence suffered:
   (a) personal injury; or
   (b) damage to property; or
   (c) financial loss.
(2) The court may take into account the following, in making an order for restitution to a complainant:
   (a) any pain and suffering;
   (b) any physical or mental injury;
   (c) cost of any medical treatment incurred;
   (d) any loss of earnings;
   (e) the value of any property that has been taken, destroyed or damaged;
   (f) any necessary and reasonable expenses incurred as a result of separation which results from the act of the domestic violence, including:
      (i) accommodation expenses; and
      (ii) moving and transport expenses; and
      (iii) expenses of setting up a separate household, including housing loan repayments or rent for as long as the court considers reasonably necessary.

PART 4 - PROCEDURAL MATTERS RELATING TO PROTECTION ORDER

Division 1. Application and service.

§916. Absent respondent.
(1) Subject to subsection (2), a court may proceed to hear and determine an application for a protection order if the respondent is not present.
(2) The court must be satisfied that:
   (a) the respondent has been served with a summons to appear at the hearing;
   (b) the respondent is required to appear at the hearing;
   (c) having regard to the circumstances of the case, all reasonable efforts have been made to give the respondent notice of the hearing.

§917. Service of application and issue of summon or warrant.
On application made to a court under section 912 for a protection order, whether or not an application for temporary protection order is made the court shall issue a summon directing the respondent to appear at the time and place set out in the summon.

§918. Service of Protection Orders. (1) If a Protection Order or a Temporary Protection Order is made by a court, the court must:
   (a) explain the order to the complainant and the respondent in the language that he or she understands;
   (b) cause a copy of the order to be served personally on the complainant and on the respondent; and
(c) in the absence, cause a copy of the order to be given or forwarded to the police officer in charge to serve on the complainant or respondent, or to use alternative forms of service including radio.

Division 2 - Evidence and burden of proof

§919. Evidence.
The Rules of Evidence contained in the Evidence Act, 28 MIRC Ch. 1, do not apply to an application for a protection order or temporary protection order.

§920. Spouse may give evidence.
If a person is charged with an offense under this Chapter, respondent's spouse is a competent but not a compellable witness in any legal proceedings in connection with the offense.

PART 5 – MISCELLANEOUS

§921. Variation and revocation of orders.
(1) A court may vary or revoke a protection order upon application by any person whom the order applies.
(2) Before the court varies or revokes a protection order, it must:
   (a) in the case of protection order, have regard to conditions in section 907 and 908;
   (b) in the case of temporary protection order, consider whether the complainant is in danger of person injury.

§922. Consent orders.
On application for protection order, a court may grant protection order with the consent of the complainant and the respondent.

§923. Collaborative Reporting.
(1) Notwithstanding any other law or procedures concerning confidentiality to the contrary, any person, who in their professional or official capacity, have reason to believe that an act of domestic violence has occurred to a person or a child, or there is evidence to believe that such person is at risk to domestic violence, shall immediately report the matter to a Police, or bring the matter before the court pursuant to section 912.
   (2) For the purposes of this section, “person in their professional or official capacity” includes:
       (a) licensed or registered health or medical professionals including medical examiners or coroners, counselors, social workers or case managers;

different periods, being periods none of which exceeds 24 months, as the period for which each prohibition or condition is to remain in force.

(7) Where the Court is satisfied that there is a serious risk of harm being caused to the aggrieved spouse before the application may be heard and that the circumstances revealed in the application are such as to warrant the inter-vention of the Court even before the respondent spouse is heard, the Court may—

(a) issue an interim protection order in Form B of the Schedule, restraining the respondent spouse from engaging in any conduct which may constitute an act of domestic violence and ordering him to be of good behaviour towards his spouse; and

(b) order the Commissioner of Police to provide police protection to the aggrieved spouse until such time as the interim order is served on the respondent spouse or for such time as the particu-lar circumstances of the case may justify.

(8) Where an interim protection order is issued, the District Clerk shall immediately take steps to have a copy of the order served on the respondent spouse requiring him to appear before the Court on such day as may be specified in the order to show cause why it should not be confirmed, varied or discharged.

(9) An interim protection order shall, unless the Court directs otherwise, remain in force until such time as the Court makes a final pronouncement on the application for the protection order.

(10) (a) Where a protection order is in force, either party may apply to the Court for a variation or revocation of the order.

(b) The spouse applying for the variation or revocation shall cause a copy of the application to be served on the other spouse.

(c) In determining whether to vary or revoke a protection order, the Court shall have regard to the matters specified in subsection (4).

[S. 3 amended by s. 4 of Act 11 of 2004 w.e.f. 19 June 2004; s. 3 of Act 23 of 2007 w.e.f. 26 September 2011.]

3A. Protection order against a person living under same roof

(1) Any person who has been the victim of an act of domestic violence by a person, other than his spouse, living under the same roof, and who reasonably believes that that person is likely to commit any further act of domestic violence against him, may apply to the Court, in Form AA of the Schedule, for a protection order restraining that person from engaging in any conduct which may constitute an act of domestic violence and ordering him to be of good behaviour towards the applicant.

(2) Where an application for a protection order is made under subsection (1), the Court shall cause a notice of the application to be served on the respondent ordering him to appear before the Court on such day as may be specified in the notice, which shall not be later than 14 days from the date of the application, to show cause why the order applied for should not be made.

(3) Subject to such Rules as may be made by the Chief Justice, an application for a protection order shall be heard in such manner as the Court thinks fit.

(4) In determining an application for a protection order, the Court shall have regard to the following—

(a) the need to ensure that the applicant is protected from domestic violence;

(b) the welfare of any child affected, or likely to be affected, by the respondent’s conduct;

(c) the accommodation needs of the applicant, his children, as well as those of the respondent and his children;

(d) any hardship that may be caused to the respondent or to any of his children as a result of the making of the order; and

(e) any other matter which the Court may consider relevant.

(5) Where a protection order is made, the Court may further—

(a) prohibit the respondent from—

(i) contacting, harassing, threatening or intimidating the applicant;

(ii) damaging property of the applicant; or

(iii) causing or attempting to cause another person to engage in any conduct referred to in paragraphs (i) and (ii);

(b) specify the conditions on which the respondent may—

(i) be on the premises on which the applicant resides or works or which he frequents; or

(ii) approach or contact the applicant or his child.

(6) (a) A protection order made under this section shall be in Form CA of the Schedule and shall remain in force for such period, not exceeding 24 months, as the Court may specify.

(b) Where a protection order contains a prohibition or condition of the kind specified in subsection (5), the Court may specify different periods, being periods none of which shall exceed 24 months, as the periods for which each prohibition or condition is to remain in force.

(7) Where the Court is satisfied that there is a serious risk of harm being caused to the applicant before the application may be heard and that the circumstances revealed in the application are such as to warrant the protec-tion of the Court even before the respondent is heard, the Court may—

(a) issue an interim protection order in Form BA of the Schedule, restraining the respondent from engaging in any conduct which may constitute an act of domestic violence and ordering him to be of good behaviour towards the applicant; and

(b) order the Commissioner of Police to provide police protection to the applicant until such time as the interim order is served on the respondent or for such time as the particular circumstances of the case may justify.

(8) Where an interim protection order is issued, the District Clerk shall immediately take steps to have a copy of the order served on the respondent requiring him to appear before the Court on such day as may be specified in the order to show cause why it should not be confirmed, varied or discharged.

(9) An interim protection order shall, unless the Court directs otherwise, remain in force until such time as the Court makes a final pronouncement on the application for the protection order.

(10) (a) Where a protection order is in force, either party may apply to the Court for a variation or revocation of the order.
(b) The person applying for the variation or revocation of a protection order shall cause a copy of the application to be served on the other person concerned.
(c) In determining whether to vary or revoke a protection order, the Court shall have regard to the matters specified in subsection (4).

[S. 3A inserted by s. 5 of Act 11 of 2004 w.e.f. 19 June 2004; amended by s. 4 of Act 23 of 2007 w.e.f. 26 September 2011.]

3B. Counselling
The Court may, subject to the consent of both parties, order, in addition to any order made under section 3 or 3A, the parties to attend counselling sessions organised by the Ministry.

[S. 3B inserted by s. 5 of Act 11 of 2004 w.e.f. 19 June 2004.]

4. Occupation order
(1) Any person who has been the victim of an act of domestic violence and who reasonably believes that his spouse is likely to commit any further act of domestic violence against him, may apply to the Court in Form D of the Schedule, for an occupation order granting him the exclusive right to live in the residence belonging to him, the respondent spouse or both of them.

(2) On an application being made for an occupation order, the Court shall cause notice of the application to be served on the respondent spouse requiring him to appear before Court on such day as may be fixed by the Court (not later than 14 days of the date of the application) to show cause why the order applied for should not be made.

(3) Subject to such Rules as may be made by the Chief Justice, an application for an occupation order shall be heard in such manner as the Court thinks fit.

(4) The Court shall, on being satisfied that it is necessary for the protection of the aggrieved spouse or of his child and that it is in the best interest of the family, make an occupation order in Form E of the Schedule, for a period not exceeding 24 months.

(5) Where the Court is satisfied that there is a serious risk of harm being caused to the applicant before the application may be heard and that the circumstances revealed in the application are such as to warrant the protection of the Court even before the respondent spouse is heard, the Court may issue an interim occupation order in Form F of the Schedule granting the applicant the exclusive right to live in and occupy the residence.

(6) An interim occupation order shall, unless the Court directs otherwise, remain in force until such time as the Court makes a final pronouncement on the application for the occupation order.

(7) Where an interim occupation order is issued, the District Clerk shall immediately take steps to have a copy of the order served on the respondent spouse requiring him to appear before the Court on such day as may be fixed by the Court to show cause why the said order should not be confirmed, varied or discharged.

(8) (a) Where an occupation order is in force, either party may apply to the Court for its variation or revocation.
(b) The spouse applying for such variation or revocation shall cause a copy of his application to be served on the other spouse.
(c) In determining whether to vary or revoke an occupation order, the Court shall have regard to the matters specified in subsection (4).

[S. 4 amended by s. 6 of Act 11 of 2004 w.e.f. 19 June 2004; s. 4A of Act 23 of 2007 w.e.f. 26 September 2011.]

5. Tenancy order
(1) Any spouse who has been the victim of an act of domestic violence and who reasonably believes that his spouse is likely to commit any further act of domestic violence against him may apply to the Court, in Form G of the Schedule, for a tenancy order so that the tenancy of the residence occupied by him should vest in him.

(2) On an application being made for a tenancy order, the Court shall cause notice thereof to be served on the respondent spouse requiring him to appear before the Court on such day as may be fixed by the Court to show cause why the order applied for should not be made.

(3) Subject to such Rules as may be made by the Chief Justice, an application for a tenancy order shall be heard in such manner as the Court thinks fit.

(4) The Court shall not make a tenancy order in Form H of the Schedule unless it is satisfied that such an order is necessary for the protection of the aggrieved spouse, of his child or of both of them and that it is in the best interest of the family.

(5) Where the Court is satisfied that there is a serious risk of harm being caused to the applicant before the application may be heard and that the circumstances revealed in the application are such as to warrant the protection of the Court even before the respondent spouse is heard, the Court may issue an interim tenancy order in Form H of the Schedule granting the applicant the exclusive right to live in the residence.

(6) An interim tenancy order shall, unless the Court directs otherwise, remain in force until such time as the Court makes a
(7) Where an interim tenancy order is issued, the District Clerk shall immediately take steps to have a copy of the order served on the respondent spouse who shall be summoned to appear before Court on such day as may be fixed by the Court to show cause why the said order should not be confirmed, varied or discharged.

(8) (a) Where a tenancy order is in force, either party may apply to the Court for a variation or revocation of same.
   (b) The spouse moving for such variation or revocation shall cause a copy of the application to be served on the other spouse.
   (c) In determining whether to vary or revoke a tenancy order, the Court shall have regard to the matters specified in subsection (4).

[S. 5 amended by s. 7 of Act 11 of 2004 w.e.f. 19 June 2004; s. 4B of Act 23 of 2007 w.e.f. 26 September 2011.]

6. Effect of tenancy order
(1) On the taking effect of a tenancy order, the aggrieved spouse shall, subject to subsection (2), be deemed to become the tenant of the dwelling house subject to the terms and conditions of the tenancy in force at the time of the making of that order.
(2) Except where the Court orders otherwise, the spouse who, before the tenancy order was, by the terms of the contract of tenancy, responsible for the payment of the rent, shall continue to be so responsible.

7. Permanent occupation and tenancy orders
(1) Before any permanent occupation or tenancy order is made, notice of the application shall be given to any person having an interest in the property which may be affected by the order and any such person shall be entitled to appear and be heard in the matter as if he were a party to the application.
(2) Where an application is made for an occupation or tenancy order, the Court may treat the application as one for occupation or tenancy, as appropriate, to ensure the right which the aggrieved spouse in fact needs for his protection.

8. Ancillary order for household effects
(1) On or after making an occupation or tenancy order, the Court may, subject to subsection (2)—
   (a) make an order granting to the aggrieved spouse the use, for such period and on such terms and conditions as the Court thinks fit, of all or any furniture, appliances and other household effects in the residence to which the order relates; and
   (b) where appropriate, order the aggrieved spouse, the respondent spouse or both of them, to contribute to the—
      (i) loan or mortgage repayments;
      (ii) repairs or maintenance, of the residence.
(2) An order made under this section—
   (a) may, on the application of one of the parties, be varied or discharged;
   (b) shall, unless the Court otherwise directs, be deemed to be made for a period corresponding to the occupation or tenancy order to which it is ancillary;
   (c) shall, irrespective of the terms of the order, expire when the occupation or tenancy order expires or is discharged.

[S. 8 amended by s. 8 of Act 11 of 2004 w.e.f. 19 June 2004.]

8A. Report on compliance
The Court may, in addition to any order made under this Act and where it so deems appropriate, direct a probation officer to report to it on the compliance of such order, at such intervals as it thinks fit.

[S. 8A inserted by s. 9 of Act 11 of 2004 w.e.f. 19 June 2004.]

8B. Ancillary order for alimony
(1) Subject to subsections (2) and (3), the Court may, in addition to any order made under this Act and where it so deems appropriate, order a respondent spouse to pay to an aggrieved spouse and any child of the parties alimony on such terms and conditions as the Court thinks fit.
(2) An order made under this section—
   (a) may, on the application of one of the parties, be varied or discharged;
   (b) shall, unless the Court otherwise directs, be deemed to be made for a period corresponding to the order to which it is ancillary;
   (c) shall, irrespective of the terms of the order, expire when the order to which it is ancillary expires or is discharged.
   (3) No order for payment of alimony shall be made under subsection (1) where the respondent spouse is already paying alimony to the aggrieved spouse or the child of the parties by virtue of a judicial order.

[S. 8B inserted by s. 5 of Act 23 of 2007 w.e.f. 15 September 2011.]

9. Proceedings to be in camera
The hearing of any proceedings under this Act shall, subject to section 10 (10) of the Constitution, be held in camera.
10. Registry
(1) The Registry of the Court shall maintain a record of all applications filed pursuant to this Act and of all protection, occupation and tenancy orders issued by the Court.
(2) The record shall contain—
   (a) the names, address, age, sex and relationship of the parties;
   (b) the domestic violence alleged, whether it involved any weapon or resulted in personal injuries and whether the injuries inflicted required medical treatment;
   (c) the effective date and terms of each order issued; and
   (d) the address of the property concerned by the order and, where applicable, the name of the landlord.

11. Duties of Enforcement Officers
(1) Where an Enforcement Officer reasonably suspects that a person is the victim of an act of domestic violence, he shall, as soon as possible, cause an investigation to be made into the matter.
(2) Where it is reported to an Enforcement Officer that a person has been or is likely to be the victim of an act of domestic violence, he shall immediately cause an entry to be made in the Police Station Occurrence Book or such other record maintained for that purpose and shall, as soon as possible, cause an investigation to be made in the matter.
(3) Where, after investigation, the officer reasonably believes that action should be taken to protect the victim of an act of domestic violence from any further violence, he shall—
   (a) explain to the aggrieved spouse his rights to protection against domestic violence;
   (b) provide or arrange transport for the aggrieved spouse to an alternative residence or a safe place of shelter, if such transport is required;
   (c) provide or arrange transport for the aggrieved spouse to the nearest hospital or medical facility for the treatment of injuries, if such treatment is needed;
   (d) assist the aggrieved spouse in filing a complaint regarding the domestic violence; and
   (e) accompany and assist the aggrieved spouse to his residence or previous residence for the collection of his personal belongings.
(4) An Enforcement Officer may, with the consent of an aggrieved spouse, file on his behalf an application for an interim or permanent protection, occupation or tenancy order and shall to that effect swear an affidavit reciting the facts on which he relies to make the application on behalf of the aggrieved spouse.

12. Protection from liability of informers
(1) Any person who has reason to believe that an act of domestic violence has been, is being or is likely to be committed, may so inform an Enforcement Officer.
(2) No liability, civil or criminal, shall be incurred by an informer for information given in good faith for the purpose of subsection (1).

13. Offences
(1) Any person who wilfully fails to comply with any interim order, protection order, occupation order, tenancy order or ancillary order made under this Act shall commit an offence and shall, on conviction, be liable—
   (a) on a first conviction, to a fine not exceeding 25,000 rupees and to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 2 years;
   (b) on a second or subsequent conviction, to a fine not exceeding 50,000 rupees and to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 2 years.
(2) Any person who commits an offence under subsection (1) may be arrested by the Police.
(3) (a) The Police shall act with diligence in any case where an offence under the Act is reported to it.
   (b) Any police officer to whom an offence under this Act is reported shall report the matter forthwith—
      (i) to the nearest hospital or other medical institution, where the complainant is in urgent need of medical assistance;
      (ii) to the Permanent Secretary, where the complainant is in urgent need of counselling or any other form of psychological support.
   (c) Where the matter has been reported to the Permanent Secretary under paragraph (b), he shall arrange for the complainant to consult a psychologist or other suitable person forthwith for counselling or such other support as may be required.
[S. 13 amended by s. 10 of Act 11 of 2004 w.e.f. 19 June 2004; repealed and replaced by s. 6 of Act 23 of 2007 w.e.f. 15 September 2011.]

13A. Order to attend counselling sessions following conviction
(1) (a) In exceptional cases, where a Court by or before which a person is convicted of an offence under section 13 is of opinion that, having regard to the circumstances, including the nature of the offence and the character, antecedents, mental and psychological condition, age, health and home surroundings of the offender, it is expedient to do so, the Court may, instead of sentencing him, order him to attend counselling sessions organised by the Ministry.
(b) Where a Court is satisfied that the offender has failed to comply with an order made under paragraph (a), it may sentence him for his original offence, in accordance with section 13.
(2) The order to attend counselling sessions made under subsection (1) (a) shall be for such period, not exceeding 2 years, and on such terms and conditions as the Court thinks fit.
(3) The Court may require the Ministry to provide a report with a view to assisting the Court in determining the most suitable method of dealing with an offender.
(4) Before making an order under subsection (1), the Court shall explain to the offender, in a language he understands, the effect of the order and that, if he fails in any way to comply with the order, he shall be liable to be sentenced for the original offence.
(5) The Court shall not order an offender to attend counselling sessions unless he expresses his willingness to comply with the order and the victim has no objection thereto.
(6) The Permanent Secretary of the Ministry shall report any failure by an offender to comply with an order made under subsection (1) to the Court which made that order.
(7) On receipt of a report under a subsection (5), the Court may—
a) issue a summons to the offender requiring him to appear at a place and time specified in the summons;
b) issue a warrant for the arrest of the offender.
[S. 13A inserted by s. 7 of Act 23 of 2007 w.e.f. 15 September 2011.]

15. Service of documents
Where it appears to the Court that it is not reasonably possible to serve a copy of an application under this Act personally, the Court may make an order for substituted service.

16. Appeals
(1) Subject to subsection (2), an appeal shall lie to the Judge in Chambers against any decision concerning a protection, occupation or tenancy order in the same way as an appeal lies from a decision of a District Court in the exercise of its civil jurisdiction.
(2) No appeal shall lie against any decision concerning interim protection orders, interim occupation orders or interim tenancy orders.
(3) An appeal against an order shall not have for effect to suspend its operation until the decision of the Judge in Chambers.

17. Costs
(1) Notwithstanding any other enactment, no costs shall be allowed in any proceedings under this Act, nor shall any aggrieved

MEXICO

General Law on Women’s Access to a Life Free of Violence, 2007

TITLE ONE
CHAPTER I - GENERAL DISPOSITION

Article 1. The present law aims to establish coordination between the Federation, the states and municipalities to prevent, punish and eradicate violence against women, as well as the principles and modalities to guarantee their access to a life free of violence that favors their development and well-being according to the principles of equality and non-discrimination, as well as to guarantee democracy, integral and sustainable development that strengthens the sovereignty and democratic regime established in the Political Constitution of the United States of Mexico. The provisions of this law are of public order, social interest and general observance in the Mexican Republic.

Article 2. The Federation, the federated entities and the municipalities, within the scope of their respective competences, will issue the legal norms and will take the corresponding budgetary and administrative measures, to guarantee the right of women to a life free of violence, in accordance with the International Treaties on Human Rights of Women, ratified by the Mexican State.

Article 3. All the measures that derive from the present law, will guarantee the prevention, the attention, the sanction and the eradication of all types of violence against women during their life cycle and to promote their integral development and their full participation in all spheres of life.

Article 4. The guiding principles for the access of all women to a life free of violence that should be observed in the preparation and execution of federal and local public policies are:
I. Legal equality between women and men;
II. Respect for the human dignity of women;
III. Non-discrimination, and
IV. The freedom of women.

Article 5. For the purposes of this law, the following shall be understood as:
I. Law: The General Law on Women’s Access to a Life Free of Violence;
II. Program: The Comprehensive Program to Prevent, Address, Punish, and Eradicate Violence against Women;
III. System: The National System of Prevention, Attention, Punishment and Eradication of Violence against Women;
IV. Violence against Women: Any action or omission, based on their gender, that causes them psychological, physical, patrimonial, economic, sexual harm or death both in the private and in the public sphere;
V. Modalities of Violence: The forms, manifestations or areas in which violence against women occurs;
VI. Victim: The woman of any age who is inflicted with any type of violence;
VII. Aggressor: The person who inflicts any type of violence against women;
VIII. Human Rights of Women: Refers to the rights that are an inalienable, integral and indivisible part of the universal human rights contained in the Convention on the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women (CEDAW), the Convention on the Rights of Women Children, the Inter-American Convention on the Prevention, Punishment and Eradication of Violence against Women (Belem Do Pará) and other international instruments on the subject;
IX. Gender Perspective: It is a scientific, analytical and political vision on women and men. It aims to eliminate the causes of gender oppression such as inequality, injustice and the hierarchy of people based on gender. Promotes gender equality through equity, advancement, and well-being of women; it contributes to building a society where women and men have the same value, equal rights and opportunities to access economic resources and political and social representation in decision-making areas;
X. Empowerment of Women: It is a process through which women move from any situation of oppression, inequality, discrimination, exploitation or exclusion to a stage of consciousness, self-determination and autonomy, which manifests itself in the exercise of democratic power that emanates from the full enjoyment of their rights and freedoms, and
XI. Misogyny: They are behaviors of hatred towards women and manifests itself in violent and cruel acts against her because she is a woman.

Article 6. The types of Violence against Women are:

---

I. Psychological violence. Any act or omission that harms psychological stability, which may consist of: negligence, abandonment, repeated neglect, jealousy, insults, humiliation, devaluation, marginalization, indifference, infidelity, destructive comparisons, rejection, restriction to self-determination and threats, which lead the victim to depression, isolation, devaluation of self-esteem and even suicide;

II. Physical violence. Any act that inflicts non-accidental damage, using physical force or some type of weapon or object that may or may not cause injuries whether internal, external, or both;

III. The patrimonial violence. It is any act or omission that affects the survival of the victim. It manifests itself in: the transformation, subtraction, destruction, retention or distraction of objects, personal documents, property and values, economic rights or economic resources destined to satisfy their needs and may include damage to the common or proper property of the victim;

IV. Economic violence. It is any act or omission of the aggressor that affects the victim's economic survival. It is manifested through limitations aimed at controlling the income of their economic perceptions, as well as the perception of a lower salary for equal work, within the same workplace;

V. Sexual violence. Any act that degrades or harms the body and/or sexuality of the victim and therefore violates their freedom, dignity, and physical integrity. It is an expression of abuse of power that implies male supremacy over women, by denigrating and conceiving it as an object, and

VI. Any other analogous forms that injure or are likely to damage the dignity, integrity or freedom of women.

TITLE II
MODALITIES OF VIOLENCE
CHAPTER I - OF VIOLENCE IN THE FAMILY SCOPE

Article 7. Family violence: It is the abusive act of power or intentional omission, aimed at dominating, submitting, controlling, or physically, verbally, psychologically, patrimonial, economically and sexually assaulting women, inside or outside the family home whose aggressor has or has had a kinship relationship by consanguinity or affinity, of marriage, cohabitation or maintains or has maintained a de facto relationship.

Article 8. The models of attention, prevention and sanction established by the Federation, the federated entities and the municipalities, are the set of measures and actions to protect victims of family violence, as part of the obligation of the State, to guarantee women their security and the full exercise of their human rights. For this, they should take into consideration:

I. Providing specialized and free psychological assistance, legal advice and treatment to the victims that favor their empowerment and repair the damage caused by said violence;

II. Provide integral, specialized and free reeducation services to the aggressor to eradicate violent behavior through an education that eliminates the stereotypes of male supremacy, and the misogynistic patterns that generated their violence;

III. Avoid that the attention received by the Victim and the Aggressor be provided by the same person and in the same place. Persons who have been sanctioned for exercising some type of violence may in no case provide care;

V. Avoid mediation or conciliation procedures, as they are not viable in a relationship of submission between the aggressor and the victim;

VI. Favor the installation and maintenance of shelters for the victims and their daughters and sons; the information about their location will be secret and specialized and free psychological and legal support will be provided. The people who work in the shelters must have the professional card corresponding to the specialty in which they work. In no case may people who have been punished for exercising some type of violence work in the shelters.

Article 9. In order to contribute to the eradication of violence against women within the family, the Legislative, Federal and Local Powers, in the respective scope of their competences, shall consider:

I. To typify the crime of family violence, including as elements of the type contained in the definition provided in article 7 of this law;

II. Establish family violence as a cause of divorce, loss of parental authority and restriction of visitation, as well as impediment to the custody of children;

III. Provide that when the loss of parental authority is due to family violence and/or breach of maintenance or child support obligations, it can not be recovered, and

IV. Include as part of the sentence, the aggressor’s sentence to participate in comprehensive, specialized and free re-educational services.

CHAPTER IV - OF INSTITUTIONAL VIOLENCE

Article 18. Institutional Violence: These are the acts or omissions of public servants of any government order that discriminate or have the purpose of delaying, hindering, or preventing the enjoyment and exercise of women’s human rights and their access to enjoy public policies aimed at preventing, attending, investigating, punishing and eradicating different types of violence.

Article 19. The three orders of government, through which the exercise of public power is manifested, have the obligation to organize the governmental apparatus in such a way that they are able to ensure, in the exercise of their functions, the right of women to a life free of violence.

Article 20. In order to fulfill its obligation to guarantee the right of women to a life free of violence, the three orders of government must prevent, attend to, investigate, punish and repair the damage inflicted on them.

Articles 77 (a) (b) and 142 (31)
(on protection orders and special proceedings for domestic violence)

39. MOROCCO

Penal Code, 1962 (As amended)\textsuperscript{102}

Article 88-1
In the event of a conviction for harassment, assault, sexual exploitation, ill-treatment or violence committed against women or minors, whatever the nature of the act or its perpetrator, the court may decide as follows:

1. Prohibit the convicted person from contacting or approaching the victim or communicating with him or her by any means, for a period not exceeding five years from the date of expiry of the sentence to which he or she was sentenced, or from the date of the judicial decision where the custodial sentence was suspended or if he or she was sentenced only to a fine or an alternative sentence.
Conciliation between spouses terminates the prohibition on contacting the victim;
2. The submission of the convicted person, during the period provided for in paragraph (1) above or during the execution of the custodial sentence, to appropriate psychological treatment.

The judicial decision imposing the sentence may order the provisional execution of this measure notwithstanding any appeal procedures.

The court may definitively prohibit, by means of a reasoned decision, the convicted person from contacting the victim or approaching the place where he or she is located or from communicating with him or her.

Article 88-2
the attending doctor shall draw up, at least every three months, a report on the progress of the condition of the person sentenced to treatment, which he shall send to the judge responsible for the enforcement of sentences, to ensure that his behavior improves and to prevent repetition of the same acts for which he has been convicted. Where the attending doctor is of the opinion that this measure should be terminated before the set date, he or she must inform the judge of the execution of sentences by means of a separate motivated report.
The victim must be informed of the result of the attending doctor's report by virtue of a decision of the judge responsible for the execution of sentences.

Article 88-3
In the event of proceedings for the offences referred to in article 88 (1) above, the prosecutor, the investigating judge, or the court, where applicable, or at the request of the victim, may prohibit the accused person from contacting the victim or approaching the place where he or she is located or from communicating with him or her by any means whatsoever. This measure remains in force until the court decides on the case.

Article 231-4
The penalty is life imprisonment when torture is committed against a minor under 18 years of age;
- when committed against a person whose vulnerable situation, due to age, illness, disability, physical or mental disability is apparent or known to the perpetrator of the torture;
- when committed on a pregnant woman whose pregnancy is apparent or known to the perpetrator of the torture;
- when it is preceded, accompanied or followed by sexual assault.
- The same penalty shall apply when torture is carried out routinely in a habitual manner.

Article 323-1
The penalty shall be imprisonment for a term of six months to two years and a fine of fine from 2,000 to 20,000 dirhams or one of these two penalties for any violation of the prohibition order, any contact, approach, communication with the victim by any means, or the refusal to submit to appropriate psychological treatment pursuant to Articles 88-1 and 88-3 above.

Article 323-2
Any violation of the protective measures referred to in article 82-5-2 of the Criminal Procedure Act shall be punishable by imprisonment for one to three months and a fine of 5,000 to 20,000 dirhams, or one of these two penalties.

Article 404
Anyone who intentionally strikes or injures a woman on the grounds of her sex, or a pregnant woman, when her pregnancy is apparent or known to the perpetrator, or in a situation of disability, or known for her low mental capacities, or one of the ascendants, a kafil, a spouse, a fiancé, a guardian or a person having authority over her or being under her care, or a divorced spouse, or in the presence of one of the children or one of the parents, is punished:
1° In the cases and according to the distinctions provided for in Articles 400 and 401, with double the penalties prescribed in these Articles;
(2) In the case provided for in section 402, paragraph 1, with ten to twenty years of imprisonment; in the case provided for in paragraph 2, from twenty to thirty-year imprisonment;
(3) In the case provided for in paragraph 1 of Article 403, imprisonment from twenty to thirty years, and in the case provided for in paragraph 2, with life imprisonment.

Article 425
Anyone who, in anonymous or signed writing, by using images, symbols or emblems, threatens to commit a crime against a persons or property, shall be punished by imprisonment for one to three years and a fine of 200 to 500 dirhams.

Article 426
If the threat provided for in the preceding article has been made with an order to deposit a sum of money in a specified place, or to fulfil any other condition, the penalty shall be imprisonment from two to five years and a fine of 250 to 1,000 dirhams.

Article 427
If the threat provided for in article 425 made on order or under condition, was verbal, the penalty shall be imprisonment from six months to two years and a fine from 200 to 250 dirhams.

Article 429

Any threat of damage to persons or property, other than those referred to in articles 425 to 427, by one of the means provided for in those articles and with or without conditions, shall be punishable by imprisonment for one to three months and a fine of 200 to 250 dirhams, or only one of these two penalties.

Article 429-1

The penalty provided for in articles 425, 426, 427 and 429 of this Code shall be doubled where the offender is a spouse who committed the offence against his or her spouse, a divorced spouse, a fiancé, an ascendant, a descendant, a brother, a kafil, a guardian or a person with authority, or custody over the victim, and in the event of a repeated offence or if the victim is a minor, disabled or known to have low mental capacity.

Article 431

Anyone who voluntarily refrains from giving assistance to a person in danger when he could provide it without risk to himself or to third parties, either by his personal action or by seeking help, shall be punished by imprisonment from three to two years and a fine of 2,000 to 10,000 dirhams.

The penalty is doubled when the perpetrator is a spouse, fiancé, divorced spouse, ascendant, descendant, brother, kafil, guardian or person with authority or custody over the victim or when the victim is a minor or a person with a disability or known to have low mental capacity and in the event of recidivism.

Article 436-1

If the abduction or sequestration is committed by a spouse, divorced spouse, fiancé, ascendant, descendant, brother, kafil, guardian or person having authority or custody over the victim, or if the victim has been subjected to any other violence of any kind, the penalty shall be increased to:

1- imprisonment from ten to twenty years, in the case provided for in the first paragraph of Article 436 of this Code;
2- imprisonment of twenty to thirty years, in the case provided for in the second paragraph of Article 436 of this Code.

Article 446

Doctors, surgeons or health officers, as well as pharmacists, midwives or any other persons entrusted, by state or profession or by permanent or temporary functions, with the secrets entrusted to them, who, except where the law obliges or authorizes them to report such secrets, have revealed them, shall be punished by imprisonment from one to six months and a fine of one thousand two hundred to twenty thousand dirhams.

However, the persons listed above shall not incur the penalties provided for in the preceding paragraph:

2° When they report to the competent judicial or administrative authorities criminal acts and acts of ill-treatment or deprivation perpetrated against children under eighteen years of age, or by one of the spouses against the other, or against a woman and of which they have become aware in the course of their profession or duties.

Such persons, who are summoned in court for cases relating to the offences referred to above, are required to provide their testimony which they may, if necessary, give in writing.

Article 447-1

Anyone who knowingly and by any means, including computer systems, intercepts, records, disseminates or distributes speech or information issued in a private or confidential environment without the consent of the perpetrators shall be liable to a fine of between 2,000 and 20,000 dirhams for a term of imprisonment of six months to three years.

Anyone who, knowingly and by any means, captures, records, disseminates or distributes a photograph of a person in a private place without his or her consent shall be liable to the same penalty.

Article 447-2-
Whoever, by any means, including computer systems, disseminates or distributes a montage consisting of words or photographs of a person, without his consent, or disseminates or distributes false allegations or false facts, with a view to violating the privacy of persons or defaming them, shall be punished by imprisonment of one to three years and a fine of 2,000 to 20,000 dirhams.

Article 447-3
The penalty shall be imprisonment for a term of one to five years and a fine of 5,000 to 50,000 dirhams, if the acts referred to in articles 447-1 and 447-2 have been committed in a state of recidivism and if the offence is committed by a spouse, divorced spouse, fiancé, ascendant, descendant, kafil, guardian or person with authority or custody over the victim, against a woman on account of her sex, or against a minor.

Article 480-1
The expulsion from a conjugal home or the refusal to reintegrate the expelled spouse to the conjugal home in accordance with Article 53 of the Family Code shall be punished by imprisonment of one to three months and a fine of 2,000 to 5,000 dirhams. The penalty is doubled in the event of a repeated offence.

Article 481
In addition to the courts normally competent, the court of the residence of the person abandoned or receiving a pension or expelled from the matrimonial home may hear proceedings brought under the provisions of Articles 479, 480 and 480-1. Proceedings may only be brought on the basis of a complaint from the person expelled from the matrimonial home, abandoned or receiving a pension, or from his legal representative, with production of the title invoked. However, proceedings are exercised ex officio by the Public Prosecutor’s Office when the offender happens to be the legal representative. They are preceded by formal notice to the person convicted to pay the pension within thirty days. This formal notice is issued on instructions from the public prosecutor’s office by a judicial police officer in the form of an interpellation.

[...]

Article 503-1-1
Anyone who persists in sexual harassing others in the following cases is guilty of sexual harassment and is liable to a prison term of one month to six months and a fine of 2,000 to 10,000 dirhams or one of these penalties:
1. In public or other spaces, by acts, words, gestures of a sexual nature or for sexual purposes;
2. By written, telephone or electronic messages, recordings or images of a sexual nature or for sexual purposes.

Article 503-1-2
The penalty is imprisonment from three to five years and a fine of 5,000 to 50,000 dirhams, if the sexual harassment is committed by an ascendant, a relative who is unable to marry the victim, a guardian, a person having authority over the victim, or his or her guardian, or a kafil, or if the victim is a minor.

Article 503-2-1
Without prejudice to more severe criminal provisions, anyone who coerces a person into marriage by using violence or threats shall be punished by imprisonment for a term of six months to one year and a fine of 10,000 to 30,000 dirhams, or only one of these two penalties.

The penalty is doubled if the coercion to marry, through the use of violence or threats, is committed against a woman because of her sex or against a woman who is a minor, disabled or known to have low mental capacity.

Proceedings may not be instituted on the basis of a complaint from the injured party.

The withdrawal of the complaint shall terminate the proceedings and the effects of the judicial decision which has acquired the force of res judicata, if it has been pronounced.

Article 526-1
One of the spouses shall be punished by imprisonment for a term of one to six months and a fine of 2,000 to 10,000 dirhams, or one of these two penalties, in the event of dissipation or transfer of his property in bad faith, with the intention of harming the other spouse or children or circumventing the provisions of the Family Code concerning alimony, housing, obligations as a result of the breakdown of the conjugal relationship or the distribution of property.
Proceedings may only be instituted on the basis of a complaint from the injured spouse.
The withdrawal of the complaint shall terminate the proceedings and the effects of the judicial decision which has acquired the force of res judicata, if it has been pronounced.

CHAPTER IV MECHANISMS FOR THE CARE OF WOMAN VICTIMS OF VIOLENCE

Article 9
For the care of women victims of violence, multi-party cells and commissions are established between departments in accordance with the provisions of this chapter.

Article 10
Units for the care of women victims of violence are established in the courts of first instance and courts of appeals, as well as in the central and decentralized services of the departments responsible for justice, health, youth and women, as well as the General Directorate of National Security and the High Command of the Royal Gendarmerie. These units are responsible for welcoming, listening, supporting, guiding and accompanying women victims of violence.

The units set up at the level of the courts of first instance and courts of appeals are composed, in addition to officials of the administration, of the deputy public prosecutor, the juvenile judge and the social assistant.

A regulatory text determines the composition of the units created within the central and decentralized services of the departments responsible for justice, health, youth and women, as well as the General Directorate of National Security and the High Command of the Royal Gendarmerie. It also determines the representatives of the administration in the cells created at the level of the courts of first instance and courts of appeals.

The composition of these units shall take into account the principles of specialization and equality.

Article 11
National commission

A national commission for the care of women victims of violence is established. It shall be responsible for carrying out the tasks and duties provided for in Article 12 below.

The Head of Government appoints the President of the National Commission on the proposal of the Government Authority for Women.

The work of the National Commission may be attended by officials and representatives of national bodies and organizations concerned with women's issues, when the Commission deems it useful.

The National Commission shall meet, upon convocation by its President or by a majority of its members, at least once a year and whenever necessary.

The department in charge of women provides the secretariat of the Commission.

The composition and operating procedures of the National Commission shall be determined by regulation.

Article 12
The National Commission is responsible for the following tasks:
- ensure communication and coordination, at the national level, between the interventions of government departments and central administrations concerned with violence against women;
- formulate its opinion on the action plans of the regional and local commissions, referred to in articles 13 and 15 below, and monitor their implementation;
- receive and review reports from regional and local commissions;
- monitor and propose opportunities for the development of the work of the regional and local commissions;
- Contribute to the establishment of mechanisms to improve the functioning of the units referred to in Article 10 above, and of the regional and local commissions, and support their action at the central level;
- Strengthen and activate partnership and cooperation mechanisms between regional and local commissions, civil society associations and other stakeholders;
- Establish an annual report on the activity review.

Article 13 Regional commissions

A regional commission for the care of women victims of violence is established within the jurisdiction of each court of appeal. It is composed by:

- The King's Attorney General or his deputy, President;

- The assistant or social assistant to the said court;
- The representatives of the administration;
- The representative of the regional council;
- A lawyer appointed by the President of the Bar Association within the jurisdiction of the Court of Appeal;
- A judicial officer appointed by the president of the regional council of judicial officers.

Any person known for his or her interest and expertise in women's issues, as well as representatives of bodies, institutions and associations whom the committee considers it useful to invite, may also attend the work of the committee.

Article 14

The regional commissions for the care of women victims of violence are responsible for the following tasks:
- Develop regional action plans within the framework of the competences entrusted to them;
- Ensure communication and coordination between the judiciary and other departments and administrations involved in cases involving the care of women victims of violence at the regional level;
- Communicate and coordinate with civil society associations working in this field;
- Work to unify the operating procedures of the cells and local commissions in order to guarantee the homogeneity and complementarity of services at the level of the judicial jurisdictions of the Court of Appeal, and at the level of the judicial jurisdictions of the Court of Appeal and the other departments and administrations concerned;
- Identify the constraints and obstacles related to operations to provide care for women victims of violence requiring intervention at the central level;
- Capitalize on the various expertise and successful experiences and disseminate them through the various local mechanisms;
- Prepare periodic reports and an annual report on the functioning and assessment of its work and the work of the local commissions, as well as that of the units for the care of women victims of violence.

The reports of the regional commissions, including the annual report, are addressed to the National Commission for the Care of Women Victims of Violence.

The regional commissions shall meet at least twice a year and whenever necessary, upon convocation by their chairpersons.

The regional commissions for the care of women victims of violence shall meet in the presence of at least half of their members. They shall take their decisions by a majority of the members present.

The secretariat of the Public Prosecutor’s Office at the Court of Appeal provides the secretariat to the Regional Commission.

Article 15 Local commissions

A local commission for the care of women victims of violence is established within the jurisdiction of each court of first instance. It is composed by:
- the King's Prosecutor or his deputy, President;
- An investigating judge, a judge and the juvenile judge, appointed by the president of the court;
- The Head of the Secretariat of the Public Prosecutor’s Office or his representative;
- The Head of the Registry or his representative;
- The social worker in the courtroom;
- The representatives of the administration;
- The representative of the provincial council;
- A lawyer appointed by the President of the Bar Association within the jurisdiction of the Court of Appeal;
- A judicial officer appointed by the president of the regional council of judicial officers.
Any person known to be interested in women’s issues, as well as representatives of bodies, institutions and associations whom the committee considers it useful to invite, may also attend the work of the commission.

Article 16

Power and responsibilities of local commissions

The local commissions for the care of women victims of violence are responsible for the following tasks:

- develop local action plans within the framework of their assigned responsibilities;
- ensure communication and coordination between the judiciary and other departments and administrations concerned with the issues of women victims of violence and associations working in this field;
- identify the constraints and obstacles related to the care operations for women victims of violence and propose, in a participatory manner, appropriate solutions within the remit and possibilities of each department;
- identify the constraints and obstacles related to operations to care for women victims of violence requiring intervention at regional or central level;
- prepare periodic reports.

The local commissions send their periodic reports on the functioning and assessment of their activities to the regional commissions.

The local commissions meet at least four times a year and whenever necessary, at the invitation of their presidents.

The local commissions for the care of women victims of violence meet in the presence of at least half of their members. They shall take their decisions by a majority of the members present.

The secretariat of the public prosecutor’s office at the court provides the secretariat of the commission.

CHAPTER V MEASURES AND INITIATIVES TO PREVENT VIOLENCE

Article 17

Public authorities shall take all necessary measures to prevent violence against women. To this end, public authorities shall ensure the development and implementation of policies and programs aimed at raising awareness of the risks of violence against women, and improving women’s image in society, and shall raise awareness of their rights.

CHAPTER VI ENTRY INTO FORCE

Article 18

This Law shall enter into force six (6) months after the date of its publication in the Official Gazette.

Definition of domestic violence

2. (1) For the purposes of this Act, “domestic violence”, within the context of a domestic relationship, means engaging in any of the following acts or courses of conduct -

(a) physical abuse, which includes -
   (i) physical assault or any use of physical force against the complainant;
   (ii) forcibly confining or detaining the complainant; or
   (iii) physically depriving the complainant of access to food, water, clothing, shelter or rest;
(b) sexual abuse, which includes -
   (i) forcing the complainant to engage in any sexual contact;
   (ii) engaging in any sexual conduct that abuses, humiliates or degrades or otherwise violates the sexual integrity of the complainant;
   (iii) exposing the complainant to sexual material which humiliates, degrades or violates the complainant’s sexual integrity; or
   (iv) engaging in such contact or conduct with another person with whom the complainant has emotional ties;
(c) economic abuse, which includes -
   (i) the unreasonable deprivation of any economic or financial resources to which the complainant or dependant of the complainant is entitled under any law, requires out of necessity or has a reasonable expectation of use, including household necessities, and mortgage bond repayments or rent payments in respect of a shared household;
   (ii) unreasonably disposing of moveable or immovable property in which the complainant or a family member or dependant of the complainant, has an interest or a reasonable expectation of use;
   (iii) destroying or damaging, property in which the complainant, or a family member or a dependant of the complainant, has an interest or a reasonable expectation of use; or
   (iv) hiding or hindering the use of property in which the complainant, or a family member or dependant of the complainant, has an interest or a reasonable expectation of use;
(d) intimidation, which means intentionally inducing fear in the complainant, or a family member or dependant of the complainant by -
   (i) committing physical abuse against a family member or dependant of the complainant;
   (ii) threatening to physically abuse the complainant, or a family member or dependant of the complainant;
   (iii) exhibiting a weapon; or
   (iv) any other menacing behaviour, including sending, delivering or causing to be delivered an item which implies menacing behaviour;
(e) harassment, which means repeatedly following, pursuing or accosting the complainant, or a family member or dependant of the complainant, or making persistent unwelcome communications, and includes but is not limited to -
   (i) watching, or loitering outside or near the building or place where such person resides, works, carries on business, studies or happens to be;
   (ii) repeatedly making telephone calls or inducing a third person to make telephone calls to such person, whether or not conversation ensues; or
   (iii) repeatedly sending, delivering or causing the delivery of letters, telegrams, packages, facsimiles, electronic mail or other objects or messages to such person’s residence, school or workplace;
(f) entering the residence or property of the complainant, without the express or implied consent of the complainant, where the persons in question do not share the same residence;
(g) emotional, verbal or psychological abuse, which means a pattern of degrading or humiliating conduct towards a complainant, or a family member or dependant of the complainant, including -
   (i) repeated insults, ridicule or name calling;
   (ii) causing emotional pain; or
   (iii) the repeated exhibition of obsessive possessiveness or jealousy, which is such as to constitute a serious invasion of the complainant’s, or the complainant’s dependant or family member’s privacy, liberty, integrity or security; or
(h) where applicable, threats or attempts to do any of the acts referred to in this subsection.

(2) For the purposes of subsection (1)(g), a person psychologically abuses a child if that person repeatedly -
   (a) causes or allows that child to see or hear the physical, sexual, or psychological abuse of a person with whom that child has a domestic relationship; or
(b) puts that child, or allows that child to be put, at risk of seeing or hearing the abuse referred to in paragraph (a); but the person who suffers such abuse is not culpable in terms of this subsection.

(3) With the exception of harassment as described in subsection (1)(e) and emotional, verbal or psychological abuse as described in subsection (1)(f), any single act described in this section may amount to domestic violence.

(4) A number of acts that form part of a pattern of behaviour may amount to domestic violence, even though some or all of those acts, when viewed in isolation, may appear to be minor or trivial.

Definition of domestic relationship
3. (1) For the purposes of this Act a person is in a “domestic relationship” with another person if, subject to subsection (2) -
(a) they are or were married to each other, including a marriage according to any law, custom or religion, or are or were engaged to be so married;
(b) they, being of different sexes, live or have lived together in a relationship in the nature of marriage, although they are not, or were not, married to each other;
(c) they have, have had or are expecting a child together, excluding situations -
   (i) where the child is conceived as a result of rape; or
   (ii) where the parties contributed gametes for artificial insemination, in vitro fertilisation or similar fertilization techniques, but have no other relationship;
(d) they are parent and biological or adoptive child;
(e) they -
   (i) are or were otherwise family members related by consanguinity, affinity or adoption, or stand in the place of such family members by virtue of foster arrangements; or
   (ii) would be family members related by affinity if the persons referred to in paragraph (b) were married to each other, and they have some connection of a domestic nature, including, but not limited to -
      (aa) the sharing of a residence; or (bb) one of them being financially or otherwise dependant on the other; or
(f) they, being of different sexes, are or were in an actual or a perceived intimate or romantic relationship.

(2) Subject to subsection (3), where a “domestic relationship” is based directly or indirectly on past marriage or engagement, past cohabitation or any other past intimate relationship, the “domestic relationship” continues for one year after the dissolution of the marriage or engagement, the cessation of cohabitation or the end of any other intimate relationship, but, where a child is born to any couple, their “domestic relationship” continues throughout the lifetime of that child or for one year after the death of the child.

(3) If, in an application for a protection order, a court is satisfied that good reasons exist not to restrict the continuation of a relationship to one year as provided for in subsection (2), the court may extend that period to exceed one year.

(4) For the purposes of subsection (1)(e), a customary union must be taken to give rise to a relationship of affinity as if it were a civil marriage.

PART II - PROTECTION ORDERS

Who may apply for protection order
4. (1) Any person who is in a domestic relationship may, in the manner provided for in section 6, apply for a protection order against another person in that domestic relationship.

(2) Notwithstanding any other law, an application may be brought on behalf of a complainant by any other person who has an interest in the well-being of the complainant, including but not limited to a family member, a police officer, a social worker, a health care provider, a teacher, traditional leader, religious leader or an employer.

(3) An application made under subsection (2), must be taken to have been made by the complainant
[There is no full stop at the end of this sentence in the Government Gazette; there are no additional words.]

(4) An application made under subsection (2) must be made with the written consent of the complainant, except in circumstances where the complainant is -
(a) a minor;
(b) mentally incapacitated;
(c) unconscious;
(d) regularly under the influence of alcohol or drugs; or
(e) at risk of serious physical harm, but, in the case of paragraph (d) or (e), the court must approve the making of the application.

(5) Notwithstanding any other law, a minor may apply for a protection order without the assistance of an adult person if the court is satisfied that the minor has sufficient understanding to make the proposed application, but the court must not proceed with the application unless the court is satisfied that the alleged domestic violence consists of the conduct contemplated in section 2(1)(a), (b) or (d).

(6) A person on whose behalf an application for a protection order is made under this section must not be compelled to give testimony in any subsequent proceedings relating to the same matter.

Jurisdiction
5. (1) A court of a district where the -
(a) complainant permanently or temporarily resides, is employed or carries on business;
(b) respondent resides, is employed or carries on business; or
(c) cause of action arose, has jurisdiction to grant a protection order under this Act.
(2) For the purposes of subsection (1)(a) or (b), no minimum period of residence is required.

Manner of application for a protection order
6. (1) A person who requires a protection order may, in the prescribed form and manner, make an application to the court.
(2) An application referred to in subsection (1) must be accompanied by an affidavit deposed to by the applicant and which affidavit must state -
   (a) the facts on which the application is based;
   (b) the nature of the order applied for; and
   (c) the police station where any breach of the protection order is most likely to be reported.
(3) An application made under subsection (1) may be accompanied by supporting affidavits deposed to by persons who have knowledge of the matter.
(4) The clerk of the court, or a prosecutor assigned to the court concerned, must inform an applicant who approaches him or her for the purpose of making an application of the relief available under this Part and must assist the applicant to prepare the application.
(5) If it is the wish of the complainant, his or her physical address may be omitted from the application, in which case the court may not make an order forbidding the respondent to enter the complainant’s residence.
(6) The application prepared under subsection (1), and supporting affidavits, if any, must, in the prescribed form and manner and during the prescribed times, be lodged with the clerk of the court who must, as soon as is reasonably possible, submit the documents to the court.
(7) Any person who intentionally gives false information in respect of an application for a protection order commits an offence and is liable on conviction to a fine which does not exceed N$4000 or imprisonment for a period which does not exceed one year, or to both the fine and imprisonment.

Criteria for granting of and contents of protection order
7. (1) Subject to subsection (2), a court must grant a protection order if it is satisfied that there is evidence that the respondent is committing, or has committed domestic violence towards or in connection with the complainant.
(2) A court must not grant a protection order -
   (a) solely in respect of behaviour which took place before the commencement of this Act; or
   (b) subject to subsection (3), in respect of minor or trivial acts or incidents of domestic violence.
(3) Where an application for a protection order is based on behaviour which appears minor or trivial or unlikely to recur, the court must nevertheless consider whether the behaviour forms part of a pattern of behaviour which establishes a need for protection.
(4) In determining what to include in a protection order, a court must have regard to -
   (a) the history of domestic violence by the respondent towards the complainant;
   (b) the nature of the domestic violence;
   (c) the existence of immediate danger to persons or property;
   (d) the complainant’s perception of the seriousness of the respondent’s behaviour; and
   (e) the need to preserve the health, safety and wellbeing of the complainant, any child or other person who is in the care of the complainant.
(5) For the purposes of subsection (1), a respondent who encourages another person to commit an act which would amount to domestic violence if engaged in by the respondent must be taken to have committed such an act personally.

Granting of interim protection orders 8. (1) The court must, as soon as is reasonably possible after receiving an application submitted to it under section 6(6), consider that application.
(2) In considering any application for a protection order and before making a decision on the application, the court may, subject to section 12(8) -
   (a) require oral evidence or further evidence of any nature and that evidence forms part of the record of the proceedings;
(3) After considering an application as contemplated in subsection (1) the court -
(a) must, if it is satisfied that there is sufficient evidence as contemplated in section 7(1), grant, in the prescribed form and manner, an interim protection order notwithstanding the fact that the respondent has not been given notice of the proceedings and an opportunity to be heard;
(b) may, if the circumstances so require, refer the matter for an enquiry, in which case, the court must give such directives as may be prescribed for the conducting of any subsequent proceedings;
(c) may, grant part of the relief applied for and refer any outstanding issues to an enquiry, in which case, paragraph (b) will apply; or
(d) may, if it considers that the application has no merit, dismiss the application.

(4) An interim protection order must -
(a) call upon the respondent to, on or before the return date, show cause why the interim protection order should not be confirmed; and
(b) contain any other prescribed information.

(5) The return date is 30 days from the date of the interim protection order but the court may extend this period if it is necessary to ensure that it is not less than 10 days after the service of an interim order as contemplated in section 9(1), and the interim protection order remains in force up the end of the extended return date.

(6) The clerk of the court must send a copy of the interim protection order to the station commander of the police station named in the application and that station commander must cause police protection, to the extent reasonably necessary and possible, to be provided to the complainant or any person in the care of the complainant who is at risk until such time as the interim protection order is made final and served on the respondent or discharged.

(7) If the interim protection order involves children, the clerk of the court must send a copy to the Permanent Secretary of the Ministry responsible for child welfare and such copies as may be prescribed to any other prescribed persons, to consider such action as may be provided for in legislation relating to the care and protection of children.

Service of interim protection order
9. (1) An interim protection order together with any other prescribed information must, within the prescribed period and in the prescribed form and manner, be served on the respondent.
(2) On receipt of a return of service of the protection order, the clerk of the court must, within the prescribed period and in the prescribed form and manner, serve a certified copy of the interim protection order on the applicant.
(3) An interim protection order has the same legal effect as a final protection order and, once it has been served on the respondent, it is enforceable under section 17.

Confirmation where respondent fails to oppose
10. If the respondent does not give notice of an intention to oppose the confirmation of the protection order on or before the return date contemplated in section 8, and the court is satisfied that proper service has been effected on the respondent, the court must confirm the interim protection order without holding the enquiry contemplated in section 12.

Effect of notice to oppose
11. (1) If the respondent gives notice of an intention to oppose the confirmation of the protection order on or before the return date, the clerk of court must set a date for an enquiry which date must not be more than 30 days from the date of receipt of the respondent’s notice and he or she must, in the prescribed form and manner, notify the applicant and the respondent of the date for such enquiry.
(2) Notwithstanding subsection (1), the respondent may request the clerk of court to set an earlier date for the enquiry and the clerk of court may, where possible, allow the request as long as the clerk of court gives, in the prescribed manner, at least 24 hours notice of the date of the enquiry to the applicant.
(3) A notice of intent to oppose the confirmation of an interim protection is not a ground for a stay of such order, which remains in force until the court makes a decision on whether or not to confirm it.

Procedure for enquiry
12. (1) On the date set under section 11, the court must enquire into the matter of confirmation of the interim protection order.
(2) An enquiry referred to in subsection (1) must be conducted in the manner prescribed under this Act.
(3) Any party to an enquiry may call any witness to support his or her case.
(4) The court may, at its own motion, cause to be summoned as a witness any person, including the applicant or respondent, whose evidence may, in its opinion, be relevant in the matter.
(5) Any witness at an enquiry may be examined or cross-examined by the applicant, the respondent, or a representative of either the applicant or the respondent appointed in terms of subsection (7).
(6) The Civil Proceedings Evidence Act, 1965 (Act No. 25 of 1965) in so far as it relates to the admissibility and sufficiency of evidence, the competency, compellability and privileges of witnesses applies to an enquiry conducted under this Act.
(7) An applicant or a respondent may be represented at an enquiry by a legal practitioner or by any person duly authorised by such applicant or respondent, as the case may be.
(8) Except with the permission of the court, a person whose presence is not necessary must not be present at an enquiry, but both the applicant and the respondent are entitled to be accompanied by two persons of their choice to provide support.
(9) To the extent that subsection (8) provides for a limitation of the fundamental right to a public hearing, contemplated in Article 12(1)(a) of the Namibian Constitution, in that it authorizes the exclusion of the public from such a hearing, such limitation is enacted on the authority of the proviso to sub-article (1)(a) of that Article.
(10) The court must not grant a request for a postponement unless it is satisfied that the party making the request would be severely prejudiced if the postponement is not granted.
Republic of Namibia 12 Annotated Statutes Combating of Domestic Violence Act 4 of 2003
(11) If a court postpones an enquiry it must extend any interim protection order which is in force accordingly.
(12) If a court postpones an enquiry in the absence of one of the parties, it must direct that notice of the new date for the enquiry be served in the prescribed manner on the party who is not present.
(13) If, on the date and at the time fixed for the enquiry, the respondent fails to appear in person at the court and the court is satisfied that notice of the enquiry was correctly served on the respondent as contemplated in section 9(1), the court may - (a) proceed to hear and determine the matter in the absence of the respondent; or (b) where the court is satisfied having regard to the material before it, that it is appropriate to do so, postpone the matter and, if necessary, order that the respondent be summoned to appear in court on the date on which the matter has been postponed to. (14) If at the time fixed for the enquiry, the respondent appears in court, but neither the applicant nor the complainant, as the case maybe, appears either in person or through the representative contemplated in subsection (7), the court may - (a) if it is satisfied that the applicant or complainant no longer wishes to pursue the matter, dismiss the application; or (b) after having received a reasonable excuse for such non-appearance, postpone the enquiry on reasonable terms; or (c) if it is satisfied, having regard to the material before it, that it is appropriate for evidence to be given by affidavit, the court may, on the application of any other party, order the attendance for cross-examination of the person who made such affidavit.
(15) Unless an application has been dismissed as contemplated in subsection (14)(a), if the applicant fails to appear, either in person or, if applicable, through the representative contemplated in subsection (7), the court must direct the station commander of the police station named in the application to enquire into the reasons for such non- appearance, to ensure that no intimidation of the applicant has taken place, to provide appropriate police protection in the event of any intimidation, and to ascertain whether the applicant still wishes to proceed with the application.
(16) After holding the enquiry, the court may - (a) confirm or discharge the interim order in its entirety; (b) confirm specified provisions of the interim order; (c) cancel or vary specified provisions of the interim order; (d) discharge the interim order and substitute another order for the interim order; (e) if the respondent is present at the enquiry, at the request of the applicant or at its own initiative, add provisions which were not contained in the interim order.
(17) A protection order granted at the conclusion of an enquiry is a final protection order.

Final protection orders
13. (1) A final protection order granted under section 10 or section 12 must be in the prescribed form and must be served on the respondent either in person at the conclusion of the enquiry or in the prescribed manner and within the prescribed period.
(2) Where an interim protection order is confirmed with or without modifications after an enquiry which the respondent fails to attend, the court must extend the interim protection order until such date as the final protection order is served on the respondent and the interim protection order has full force and effect until this date regardless of whether or not the respondent has been notified of the extension.
(3) The clerk of the court must send a copy of the final protection order to the station commander of the police station named in the application and that station commander has the duty to put all police personnel at that station on notice that the complainant and any other person protected by the order in question are at particular risk.
(4) If the final protection order involves children, the clerk of court must send a copy to the Permanent Secretary of the Ministry responsible for child welfare and such copies as may be prescribed to any prescribed persons, to consider such action as may be provided for in legislation relating to the care and protection of children.

Terms of protection order
14. (1) A protection order must include a provision restraining the respondent from subjecting the complainant to domestic violence.

(2) A protection order may, at the request of the applicant or on the court’s own motion, include any of the following provisions -

(a) a provision directing the respondent to surrender any firearm or other specified weapon in the possession of the respondent, which may also include if appropriate -

(i) a provision suspending any firearm license in the name of the respondent for the duration of the protection order;

(ii) a provision authorising the police to search for and seize any weapon at any specified place where there is probable cause to believe that the weapon may be located;

(b) “no-contact” provisions which -

(i) forbid the respondent to be, except under conditions specified in the order, at or near specified places frequented by the complainant or by any child or other person in the care of the complainant, including but not limited to -

(aa) the residence, workplace or educational institution of the complainant, or any child or other person in the care of the complainant;

(bb) a shelter or other residence where the complainant is temporarily living; or

(cc) the residences of specified family members;

(ii) forbid the respondent from making, except under conditions specified in the order, any communication to the complainant, any child or other person in the care of the complainant or specified members of the complainant’s family, including direct or indirect personal, written, telephonic or electronic contact, but a “no-contact” provision may be extended to a person other than the complainant or any child or other person in the care of the complainant, only where consent has been given by that person, and in the case of any other child, only where consent has been given by a parent of that child or by a person under whose care that child is;

(c) if an act of physical violence has been committed, a provision granting the complainant and dependants of the complainant exclusive occupation of a joint residence, regardless of whether the residence is owned or leased jointly by the parties or solely by either one of them, which may also include if appropriate -

(i) a provision directing that the contents of the joint residence (or certain specified contents) remain in the residence for the use of the person given possession;

(ii) a provision directing a police officer to remove the respondent from the residence;

(iii) a provision authorising the respondent to collect personal belongings from the residence under police supervision, but, the court must take the following factors into consideration in respect of any order under this paragraph -

(aa) the length of time that the residence has been shared by the complainant and the respondent, but without prejudicing the complainant on the grounds that he or she has at any stage fled the common residence to assure his or her safety or the safety of any child or other person in the care of the complainant;

(bb) the accommodation needs of the complainant and any other occupants of the residence, considered in light of the need to secure the health, safety and wellbeing of the complainant or any child or other person in the care of the complainant; and

(cc) any undue hardship that may be caused to the respondent or to any other person as a result of such order;

(dd) in the case of communal land, the respective customary law or practice which governs the rights of ownership to or occupation of that communal land;

(d) a provision directing the respondent to -

(i) pay rent for the complainant by a specified date of each month in respect of a residence; or

(ii) otherwise make arrangements for any other accommodation or shelter; sufficient for the reasonable needs of the complainant and any dependent of the complainant if the respondent is legally liable to support the complainant and the dependent and the complainant does not wish to have exclusive occupation of the joint residence or the court determines that it is more just in the circumstances for the respondent to remain in the joint residence;

(e) a provision directing a police officer to accompany, within a specified time, the complainant or another person designated by the complainant, to the joint residence to supervise the removal of personal belongings of the complainant or any child or other person in the care of the complainant;

(f) a provision granting either party possession of specified personal property, including but not limited to means of transport, agricultural implements, livestock, furniture, chequebooks, credit cards, children’s clothing and toys, identification documents, keys, personal documents or other necessary personal effects, but the order must not be made in respect of property which is not owned by either party or which is jointly owned by either party and another person;

(g) a provision restraining the complainant or the respondent or both from taking, converting, damaging or otherwise dealing in property in which the other party may have an interest or a reasonable expectation of use;

(h) a provision temporarily directing the respondent to make periodic payments in respect of the maintenance of the complainant, and of any child of the complainant, if the respondent is legally liable to support the complainant or the child, as an emergency measure where no such maintenance order is already in force;
(i) a provision granting temporary sole custody -
   (i) of a child of the complainant to any appropriate custodian other than the respondent; or
   (ii) of any child of the complainant or any child in the care of a complainant to the complainant or to another appropriate custodian;
if the court is satisfied that this is reasonably necessary for the safety of the child in question;
(j) a provision temporarily -
   (i) forbidding all contact between the respondent and any child of the complainant;
   (ii) specifying that contact between the respondent and a child of the complainant, must take place only in the presence and under the supervision of a social worker or a family member designated by the court for this purpose;
   or (iii) allowing such contact only under specified conditions designed to ensure the safety of the complainant, any child who may be affected, and any other family members, if the court is satisfied that this is reasonably necessary for the safety of the child in question;
(k) any other provisions that the court deems reasonably necessary to ensure the safety of the complainant or any child or other person who is affected.

Duration of final protection orders
15. Unless the court decides otherwise, a final protection order has the following durations:
(a) a provision granting the complainant exclusive occupation of a residence owned –
   (i) by the complainant, remains in force for any period set by the court;
   (ii) by the respondent, remains in force for any period set by the court up to a maximum of six months;
   (iii) jointly by the complainant and the respondent, remains in force for any period set by the court up to a maximum of one year;
(b) a provision granting the complainant exclusive occupation of a leased residence remains in force for any period set by the court, but must not extend beyond the duration of the current lease period;
(c) a provision directing that the complainant enjoys possession of household effects must, if made in conjunction with an order granting the complainant exclusive occupation of a joint residence, remain in force for the same period as the provision in that order;
(d) a provision concerning temporary custody of a child and access to a child remains in force until it is superseded by another order of a relevant court;
(e) a provision concerning maintenance remains in force for any period set by the court up to a maximum of six months; and any other provision of a final protection order remains in force for three years.

Offences
16. (1) A person who, without lawful justification, breaches a protection order commits an offence and is liable on conviction to a fine which does not exceed N$8000 or to imprisonment for a period which does not exceed two years or to both the fine and imprisonment.
(2) In criminal proceedings relating to a protection order, a completed return of service constitutes sufficient evidence that the protection order was served on the respondent.
(3) A respondent who intentionally causes another person to engage in behaviour that would amount to a violation of a protection order if engaged in by the respondent is deemed to have breached such order.
(4) Except in the case of physical abuse as contemplated in section 2(1)(a), it is a defence to a charge for an offence referred to in subsection (1) or (3) to prove that the complainant voluntarily consented to the alleged breach of a protection order.
(5) A complainant who, with the intent to induce a police officer to perform any act or to exercise any power provided for in this Act in relation to the breach of a protection order, intentionally provides false information, or intentionally fails to provide information about consent given by him or her as contemplated in subsection (4), commits an offence and is liable, on conviction, to a fine which does not exceed N$4000 or to imprisonment for a period which does not exceed one year, or to both the fine and such imprisonment.
(6) Any person who, after having been summoned under section 8(2) or 12(4) or (13) fails, without a reasonable or lawful excuse, to so appear commits an offence and is liable on conviction to a fine which does not exceed N$4 000 or to imprisonment for a period which does not exceed one year or to both the fine and imprisonment.
(7) Subject to necessary changes, Part III of this Act, except for section 22(1), applies in respect of a criminal offence referred to in subsection (1).

Modification or cancellation of protection orders
17. (1) The following persons may, in writing, apply to the court which granted a protection order requesting the modification or cancellation of such protection order -
   (a) the complainant;
   (b) an applicant; or
(c) the respondent.

(2) Where a person referred to in subsection (1)(a) or (b) wants to cancel or modify a protection order he or she must, in the prescribed manner submit an application to that effect to the clerk of court and that application must be accompanied by an affidavit and any other prescribed information.

(3) If the application referred to in subsection (2), is for cancellation of a protection order, the court must, on receipt of that application, grant the application if it is satisfied on the evidence that the application is in accordance with the wishes of the complainant, made freely and voluntarily, and that cancellation will not endanger the complainant or any child or other person concerned in the matter.

(4) If the application referred to in subsection (2), is for modification of a protection order, the court must proceed as if the application for modification were an original application for a protection order and, subject to necessary changes, the procedure set out in sections 9, 10, 11 and 12 apply in respect of the application.

(5) Where the application referred to in subsection (2) is made by the respondent, the court may grant the application only after an enquiry held in accordance with the procedure set out in section 12 with at least 10 days prior notice to the applicant and, if the complainant was not the applicant, to the complainant.

(6) In an application made as contemplated in subsection (5) the court may, whether or not it appears that it is the wish of the complainant to oppose the modification or cancellation, grant the respondent’s request only if it is satisfied on the basis of all the information before it, including the record pertaining to the original protection order, that such modification or cancellation will not endanger the complainant or any child or other person concerned in the matter.

(7) In any proceedings concerning a request for modification or cancellation of protection order under this section, the court on its own motion or at the request of either of the parties, may request an evaluation of the relevant circumstances by a social worker.

(8) Where only some of the terms of a protection order are modified or cancelled as contemplated in this section, the rest of the protection order remains in force.

Appeals
18. (1) Where a court has made or refused to make a protection order, or included or refused to include a particular provision in a protection order, the applicant or the respondent may appeal to the High Court, but, the appeal must be lodged within one month of the decision in question.

(2) An appeal lodged under this section must, subject to necessary changes, be conducted in accordance with and be governed by Chapter XI of the Magistrates’ Courts Act, 1944 (Act No. 32 of 1944).

(3) Where an appeal is lodged in terms of this section against a final protection order, the interim order remains in force until the conclusion of the appeal.

Pending proceedings
19. The fact that other civil or criminal proceedings are pending in relation to the actions which are the basis for an application for a protection order or for an allegation that a protection order has been breached, is not a bar to the grant of a protection order or to a criminal charge for breach of such an order.

Costs
20. (1) There is no charge to an applicant for the service of any notice or order effected under this Act.

(2) Notwithstanding subsection (1), the court holding an enquiry may, having regard to the conduct of the parties involved in the enquiry so far as it may be relevant, make such order as the court may consider just relating to costs which have been incurred as a result of the enquiry.

(3) In making the order contemplated in subsection (2), the court must have regard to the conduct and means of the person against whom the order for costs is to be made.

PART III - CRIMINAL PROVISIONS

Domestic violence offences
21. (1) The offences listed in the First Schedule are domestic violence offences when they are committed or alleged to have been committed against a person, or in relation to a person, with whom the person charged with those offences has a domestic relationship.

(2) Any person found guilty of a domestic violence offence is liable on conviction to the penalties ordinarily applicable to the offence in question.

Complaints
22. (1) Without derogating from any other law, a charge in respect of a domestic violence offence may be laid by the complainant or by any person who has an interest in the well-being of the complainant, including but not limited to a family member, a police officer, a social worker, a health care provider, a teacher or an employer.

(2) Subject to subsection (4) a person who, in good faith, gives any information regarding a domestic violence offence, or lays a charge in respect of such offence, does not incur any liability for defamation or otherwise in respect of the giving of such information or laying of such charge.

(3) A person who intentionally gives false information regarding a domestic violence offence, or lays a false charge in respect of such an offence, commits an offence and is liable on conviction to a fine which does not exceed N$4000 or to imprisonment for a period which does not exceed one year, or to both the fine and imprisonment.

(4) Subsection (2) does not prevent any person from instituting civil proceedings against a person who gives information or lays a charge in the circumstances contemplated in subsection (3).

Arrest and seizure of weapons
23. (1) If a police officer reasonably suspects that a domestic violence offence has been committed, the police officer may take one or more of the following actions with respect to the person suspected of committing that offence, having due regard to the wishes of the complainant-

(a) arrest the person without a warrant; or
(b) issue a formal warning, copies of which must, in the prescribed form and manner, be filed with the police and the Office of the Prosecutor-General.

(2) Any police officer who reasonably suspects that a domestic violence offence has been committed may-

(a) question any person present at the scene of the offence to determine whether there are weapons at the scene; and
(b) on observing or learning that a weapon is present at the scene, search any person, premises, vehicle or other place and seize any weapon that the officer reasonably believes would expose the complainant to a risk of serious bodily injury.

Rights of complainant where person is charged with domestic violence offence
24. It is the duty of the prosecutor in criminal proceedings where a person is charged with a domestic violence offence to consult with the complainant in order-

(a) to ensure that all relevant information has been obtained from the complainant which includes all information relevant to the question whether the accused should be released on bail and whether any conditions should be imposed if the accused is released on bail; and
(b) to provide such information to the complainant as will be necessary to lessen the impact of the trial on the complainant.

Complainant’s submission in respect of sentence
25. (1) The court must, if reasonably possible and within reasonable time, notify the complainant or the complainant’s next of kin, if the complainant is deceased, of the time and place of sentencing in a case of a domestic violence offence against the complainant.

(2) At the time of sentencing, the complainant, the complainant’s next of kin, if the complainant is deceased, or a person designated by the complainant or the complainant’s next of kin has the right to appear personally and has the right to reasonably express any views concerning the crime, the person responsible, the impact of the crime on the complainant, and the need for restitution and compensation.

(3) A complainant, or the complainant’s next of kin, if the complainant is deceased, who is unwilling or unable to appear personally at sentencing has the right to inform the court of his or her views on an appropriate sentence by means of an affidavit.

Inspection-General to issue directives
26. (1) The Inspector-General must issue directives on the duties of police officers in respect of matters pertaining to domestic violence.

(2) Without derogating from the generality of subsection (1), directives issued under subsection (1) may include directives-

(a) on police protection to complainants of domestic violence and their children or other persons in their care regardless of the source of the request and including such protection to such persons where an applicant intends to make an application for a protection order until such time as the relevant court is open;
(b) to ensure that the necessary priority and prompt action are given to calls and cases alleging violence in domestic relationships or where a protection order has been or is being breached;
(c) to ensure that complainants of domestic violence and witnesses are interviewed in such a way that they are able to speak freely;
(d) on information to be given by police officers to complainants, alleged perpetrators and family members who are present at the scene of an alleged domestic violence offence with regard to assistance for medical treatment, the availability of shelters or other appropriate services, the availability of transport for such treatment or to such shelters, procedures to obtain protection orders and the contents of such orders, the laying of criminal charges or any other matter relevant to domestic violence, and the way and the form in which such information is to be given.

(3) The Inspector-General must, at least once every year, submit a report to the Minister responsible for police on the directives issued in terms of subsection (1) and on the training provided to police officers to carry out the duties imposed on such police officers in terms of this Act, the regulations made under section 31 and the directives issued under subsection (1).

Records of domestic violence incidents
27. (1) Whenever a police officer intervenes, in any manner, in a case involving domestic violence or receives a report of an incident involving domestic violence he or she must, regardless of whether criminal charges are laid or pursued, complete the prescribed form, which form must include any prescribed information.
(2) A copy of any form completed in terms of this section must be retained at the police station in question, and the original forwarded to the Inspector-General.
(3) The Inspector-General must compile annual statistics from the information collected under this section and forward the statistics to the Minister responsible for police.

Annual reports to be tabled in National Assembly
28. On receipt of the report referred to in section 26(3) and the statistics compiled under 27(3), the Minister responsible for police must prepare a consolidated report which he or she must, at least once in every year, table in the National Assembly, but any information which might reveal the identity of the parties must not be disclosed in the consolidated report.

PART V - GENERAL

Record of proceedings to be kept
29. (1) The court must keep a record of the proceedings at enquiries and those records must be accessible to any person on conditions and payment of fees as may be prescribed.
(2) Any fees payable under this section must be prescribed by the Minister in consultation with the Minister responsible for finance.

Privacy
30. (1) Unless otherwise authorised by the court in the public interest and on such conditions as the court considers appropriate, a person must not publish any information concerning legal proceedings held under Part II which reveals or might reveal the identity of an applicant, a complainant or any child or other person involved in such proceedings.
(2) A person who contravenes subsection (1) commits an offence and is liable on conviction to a fine which does not exceed N$10,000 or to imprisonment for a period which does not exceed one year, or to both the fine and imprisonment.
(3) To the extent that this section provides for a limitation of the fundamental rights contemplated in Article 21(1)(a) of the Namibian Constitution, in that it authorizes the interference with a person’s freedom of speech and expression, such limitation is enacted on authority of subarticle (2) of that Article.

Evidence of psychological effect of domestic violence
31. (1) Evidence of the psychological effects of domestic violence is admissible in any proceedings held under this Act or under any other law, in order to prove -
(a) that the act which forms the subject matter of a charge of a domestic violence offence or an application for a protection order has been committed;
(b) the extent of the harm suffered by the complainant, to enable the court to impose an appropriate sentence upon conviction of the perpetrator; or
(c) defences or grounds for mitigation of sentence in respect of the commission of a criminal act by a person who has suffered past domestic violence against the perpetrator of that violence.
(2) The court must determine the weight to be attached to the evidence referred to in subsection (1) after such evidence has been heard, with due consideration to -
(a) the qualifications and experience of the person who gives such evidence; and
(b) all the other evidence given in the case.

Regulations
32. (1) The Minister may make any regulations relating to -
(a) any prescribed forms referred to in this Act;
(b) prescribed methods of service referred to in Part II of this Act;
(c) the procedure for enquiries in terms of section 12;
(d) procedures for ensuring the speedy hearing, verdict and sentencing in respect of domestic violence offences;
(e) procedures for notification to the complainant of the time and place of sentencing, and for the submission of affidavits, as contemplated in section 25;
(f) any other matter which is permitted or required to be prescribed for under this Act; and
(g) any other matter aimed at furthering the objectives of this Act.

(2) A regulation made under this section may provide for a penalty for a contravention or failure to comply with it and in the case of a fine it must not exceed N$2000 or in the case of imprisonment the period must not exceed six months.

Amendments and savings
33. (1) The laws specified in the Second Schedule are amended to the extent indicated in that Schedule.
(2) Notwithstanding subsection (1), this Act applies only to acts committed or courses of conduct occurring after the commencement of this Act, and any proceedings commenced before the commencement of this Act must be dealt with according to the existing law.

Short title and commencement
34. (1) This Act is called the Combating of Domestic Violence Act, 2003 and it will come into operation on a date to be determined by the Minister by notice in the Gazette. (2) Different dates may be determined under subsection (1) for the commencement of different provisions of the Act.

FIRST SCHEDULE

SECOND SCHEDULE

AMENDMENT OF THE CRIMINAL PROCEDURE ACT, 1977 (ACT NO. 51 OF 1977)
1. The Criminal Procedure Act, 1977 (Act No. 51 of 1977) is amended -
   (a) in section 60A by the substitution for the word “rape” of the expression “rape or a domestic violence offence”; and
   (b) in section 62 by the addition of the following subsection:-

   “(3) If an accused who is in custody on a charge of a domestic violence offence is released on bail, the court shall, notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (1), impose the following further conditions of bail, unless it finds special circumstances which would make any or all of these conditions inappropriate, which reasons must be entered in the record of the proceedings -
   (a) an order prohibiting any direct or indirect contact with the victim during the pendency of the proceedings;
   (b) an order prohibiting the possession of any firearm or other specified weapon; and
   (c) where the accused is legally liable to maintain the complainant or any child or other dependant of the complainant, an order requiring that the accused support the complainant and child or other dependant at the same or greater level as prior to the arrest.”.

   (c) in section 153 by the substitution for subsections (3A) and (3B) of the following subsections:-

   “(3A) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsections (1), (2), (5) and (6) but subject to the provisions of subsection (3B), in criminal proceedings relating to a charge that the accused committed or attempted to commit -
   (a) any sexual or indecent act towards or in connection with any complainant;
   (b) any act for the purposes of procuring or furthering the commission of a sexual or indecent act towards or in connection with any complainant; or
(c) any domestic violence offence as defined in the Domestic Violence Act, 2003; the court before which such proceedings are pending shall, to the extent authorised thereto by the provisos to Article 12(1)(a) and (c) of the Namibian Constitution, direct that any person whose presence is not necessary at such proceedings, shall not be present at those proceedings, unless the complainant in such proceedings, or, if he or she is a minor, his or her parent or guardian or a person in loco parentis, otherwise requests.

(3B) Any person whose presence is not necessary at criminal proceedings referred to in paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) of subsection (3A), shall not be present at such proceedings while the complainant in such proceedings is giving evidence, unless such complainant, or, if he or she is a minor, his or her parent or guardian or a person in loco parentis, otherwise requests.”.

The Arms and Ammunition Act, 1996 (Act No. 7 of 1996) is amended in Schedule I by the addition of the following:
“A domestic violence offence involving physical abuse as defined in the Domestic Violence Act, 2003”.

Combating of Rape Act, 2000

Rape
2. (1) Any person (in this Act referred to as a perpetrator) who intentionally under coercive circumstances -
(a) commits or continues to commit a sexual act with another person; or
(b) causes another person to commit a sexual act with the perpetrator or with a third person, shall be guilty of the offence of rape;
(2) For the purposes of subsection (1) “coercive circumstances” includes, but is not limited to -
(a) the application of physical force to the complainant or to a person other than the complainant;
(b) threats (whether verbally or through conduct) of the application of physical force to the complainant or to a person other than the complainant;
(c) threats (whether verbally or through conduct) to cause harm (other than bodily harm) to the complainant or to a person other than the complainant under circumstances where it is not reasonable for the complainant to disregard the threats;
(d) circumstances where the complainant is under the age of fourteen years and the perpetrator is more than three years older than the complainant;
(e) circumstances where the complainant is unlawfully detained;
(f) circumstances where the complainant is affected by -
(i) physical disability or helplessness, mental incapacity or other inability (whether permanent or temporary); or
(ii) intoxicating liquor or any drug or other substance which mentally incapacitates the complainant; or
(iii) sleep,
to such an extent that the complainant is rendered incapable of understanding the nature of the sexual act or is deprived of the opportunity to communicate unwillingness to submit to or to commit the sexual act;
(g) circumstances where the complainant submits to or commits the sexual act by reason of having been induced (whether verbally or through conduct) by the perpetrator, or by some other person to the knowledge of the perpetrator, to believe that the perpetrator or the person with whom the sexual act is being committed, is some other person;
(h) circumstances where as a result of the fraudulent misrepresentation of some fact by, or any fraudulent conduct on the part of, the perpetrator, or by or on the part of some other person to the knowledge or the perpetrator, the complainant is unaware that a sexual act is being committed with him or her;
(i) circumstances where the presence of more than one person is used to intimidate the complainant.
(3) No marriage or other relationship shall constitute a defence to a charge of rape under this Act.

Law on Temporary Restraining Orders, 2009 109

[...]

Article 1

For the purpose of this Act, the following definitions apply:

(a) “police officer” means a police officer as defined in Article 2(a) of the Police Act 2012, and a police officer as referred to in Article 2(c) of the same Act, in so far as he has been tasked with executing the police duty;

(b) “restraining order” means an order to immediately vacate a specific place or residence, and / or stay away from that place or residence and / or having no contact with the person(s) who live(s) at that place or residence other than incidentally;

(c) “respondent” means the person against whom the Restraining Order is made.

Article 2

(1) The mayor can make a restraining order against a person if facts or circumstances show that his or her presence in the residence seriously and immediately endangers the safety of one or more persons living with him (other than incidentally) in the residence. The restraining order shall apply for a period of ten days, subject to extension in accordance with Article 9. By or pursuant to measures introduced by local council, further rules may be set out about the nature of the facts and circumstances that may give rise to a restraining order.

(2) A restraining order may only be made against an adult.

(3) If the mayor intends to impose a restraining order on account of child abuse or a serious suspicion of the same, he will contact the Center for Domestic Violence and Child Abuse as referred to in Article 4.1.1 of the Social Support Act 2015 in order to discuss his intention to make a restraining order.

(4) The restraining order shall contain:
   (a) a description of the place it applies to and the length of time it applies for;
   (b) the facts and circumstances that led to the making of the restraining order, and
   (c) the names and details of the persons to whom the restraining order applies.

(5) Further rules with regard to the restraining order may be set out by ministerial regulations.

(6) The respondent will indicate where or how he can be contacted. If the respondent cannot provide this information straight away, he will notify the mayor within 24 hours of the restraining order coming into effect.

(7) In case of the circumstances being so urgent as to prevent the restraining order from being put in writing, the restraining order may be made orally. The mayor will still be responsible for its prompt registration and publication. In case the place of residence of the respondent is unknown, publication may take place by filing the restraining order with the municipal secretary.

(8) The mayor will inform without delay the details of the restraining order and the consequences of non-compliance with the person(s) with whom the respondent shares a household. The mayor will also share the details of the restraining order with the authority tasked by the mayor to offer advice or assistance, and if the restraining order is made on account of child abuse or a serious suspicion thereof, with the Center for Domestic Violence and Child Abuse as referred to in Article 2(3).

(9) The mayor may withdraw the restraining order if the respondent has accepted an offer of assistance and this has been confirmed by the authority tasked by the mayor to offer advice or assistance as referred to in Article 2(8) above. The respondent’s acceptance of assistance implies that the person(s) who live in the home or who reside there other than incidentally will not obstruct but rather cooperate with the assisting authority if requested to so.

Article 3
(1) The mayor has the power to grant powers and duties referred to in Article 2(1), (3), (7) and (8) and Article 5(1) of this Act to the Deputy Public Prosecutor. Article 10:9, first paragraph, of the General Administrative Law Act does not apply.

(2) The Deputy Public Prosecutor will immediately and without delay inform the mayor of any restraining order he has imposed.

Article 4

(1) In case the danger referred to in Article 2(1) arises, either the mayor or a police officer who intends to apply for a restraining order, is authorized to enter the house without the consent of the resident, insofar as this is reasonably required in order to fulfill his duties.

(2) The police officer has the power to claim the house key(s) from the respondent and is authorized to search the respondent’s clothing for the same if necessary. The police officer will provide the respondent with a confirmation of receipt in exchange for the key(s).

(3) In order to ensure the respondent’s compliance with the restraining order, police officers are authorized to enter any place to which the restraining order applies, unless they do not have the permission from the occupant to do so.

Artikel 5

(1) In case the respondent has no legal representation, and requests legal counsel, the mayor shall inform the legal aid board who in turn will ensure the respondent is appointed legal counsel.

(2) Articles 28, first paragraph, 37, 38, 43, 44 and 51 will apply mutatis mutandis.

Article 6

(1) If a request for a provisional order as referred to in Section 8:81 of the General Administrative Law Act is made against the restraining order:

(a) in deviation of section 8:83 (1) of that Act, the respondent will be heard by the interim judge within three days of the request;

(b) in deviation from section 8:84 (1) of this Act, the interim judge shall give judgment immediately after hearing the parties, unless there are special circumstances, in which case the interim judge shall give judgment within 24 hours of hearing the case.

(2) When considering the order, the judge will also take into consideration the facts and circumstances that occurred after the restraining order was imposed.

(3) Notwithstanding section 8:41(1) and 8:82(1) of the General Administrative Law Act, no court fees shall be levied by the court registrar.

Article 7

The judge shall allow minors, who are part of the respondent’s household and who have reached the age of twelve, the opportunity to give their opinion, unless the prompt handling of the case opposes this. The judge also has the power to give minors who have not yet reached the age of twelve the opportunity to make their opinion known in a manner to be determined by him.

Article 8
(1) The registrar shall immediately send a copy of the judgment or the minutes of the oral judgment of the interim judge, and a copy of the judgment or the minutes of the court’s oral judgment within two weeks of the date of the judgment free of charge to:

(a) the husband, civil partner, or other life companion or adult with whom the Respondent shares the household;

(b) the police of the municipality where the restraining order was made;

(c) in case minors are involved: the Center for Domestic Violence and Child Abuse, as referred to in Article 4.1.1 of the Social Support Act 2015.

(2) The registrar shall immediately orally inform the respondent, the respondent’s legal counsel and the mayor of the restraining order. The mayor shall inform the persons referred to in 8(1)(a), insofar as they were not present at the session at which the decision was made, as well as the police, orally.

Article 9

(1) The mayor has the power to extend a restraining order up to a maximum of four weeks after the date it was made if the threat of danger, or serious suspicion thereof, continues. Articles 2, 4 and 6 to 8 apply mutatis mutandis.

(2) The appeal against the restraining order may also relate to a decision to extend the restraining order as referred to in the first paragraph, insofar as the party involved disputes this decision.

(3) In the event of an appeal, the appellant will, if possible, submit a copy of the decision he / she disputes.

(4) The second and third paragraphs will apply mutatis mutandis to a request for provisional relief.

Article 10

(1) The order by which the restraining order comes into effect or is extended by application of Article 2(1) or 9(1), will be stored for five years at the municipal secretariat and subsequently destroyed. The documents received during this period concerning the restraining order will be added.

(2) The personal data included in the decisions or in the other documents referred to in the first paragraph above will be processed with a view to imposing, renewing and checking compliance with the restraining order.

Article 11

(1) The respondent who acts in violation of a restraining order issued pursuant to Article 2(1) or Article 9(1), shall be imprisoned for up to two years or receive a fine of the fourth category.

(2) The offenses made punishable in the paragraph above are criminal offences.

3 Meaning of domestic violence
(1) In this Act, domestic violence, in relation to any person, means violence against that person by any other person with whom that person is, or has been, in a domestic relationship.
(2) In this section, violence means—
(a) physical abuse:
(b) sexual abuse:
(c) psychological abuse, including, but not limited to,—
(i) intimidation:
(ii) harassment:
(iii) damage to property:
(iv) threats of physical abuse, sexual abuse, or psychological abuse: (iva) financial or economic abuse (for example, denying or limiting access to financial resources, or preventing or restricting employment opportunities or access to education):
(v) in relation to a child, abuse of the kind set out in subsection (3).
(3) Without limiting subsection (2)(c), a person psychologically abuses a child if that person—
(a) causes or allows the child to see or hear the physical, sexual, or psychological abuse of a person with whom the child has a domestic relationship; or
(b) puts the child, or allows the child to be put, at real risk of seeing or hearing that abuse occurring;—
but the person who suffers that abuse is not regarded, for the purposes of this subsection, as having caused or allowed the child to see or hear the abuse, or, as the case may be, as having put the child, or allowed the child to be put, at risk of seeing or hearing the abuse.
(4) Without limiting subsection (2),—
(a) a single act may amount to abuse for the purposes of that subsection:
(b) a number of acts that form part of a pattern of behaviour may amount to abuse for that purpose, even though some or all of those acts, when viewed in isolation, may appear to be minor or trivial.
(5) Behaviour may be psychological abuse for the purposes of subsection (2)(c) which does not involve actual or threatened physical or sexual abuse.

4 Meaning of domestic relationship
(1) For the purposes of this Act, a person is in a domestic relationship with another person if the person—
(a) is a spouse or partner of the other person; or
(b) is a family member of the other person; or
(c) ordinarily shares a household with the other person; or
(d) has a close personal relationship with the other person.
(2) For the purposes of subsection (1)(c), a person is not regarded as sharing a household with another person by—
[...]
(4) Without limiting the matters to which a court may have regard in determining, for the purposes of subsection (1)(d), whether a person has a close personal relationship with another person, the court must have regard to—
(a) the nature and intensity of the relationship, and in particular—
(i) the amount of time the persons spend together:
(ii) the place or places where that time is ordinarily spent:
(iii) the manner in which that time is ordinarily spent;—
but it is not necessary for there to be a sexual relationship between the persons:
(b) the duration of the relationship.

5 Object
(1) The object of this Act is to reduce and prevent violence in domestic relationships by—
(a) recognising that domestic violence, in all its forms, is unacceptable behaviour; and
(b) ensuring that, where domestic violence occurs, there is effective legal protection for its victims.
(2) This Act aims to achieve its object by—
(a) empowering the court to make certain orders to protect victims of domestic violence:
(b) ensuring that access to the court is as speedy, inexpensive, and simple as is consistent with justice:
(c) providing, for persons who are victims of domestic violence, appropriate safety programmes:
(d) requiring respondents and associated respondents to attend non-violence programmes that have the primary objective of stopping or preventing domestic violence:
(e) providing more effective sanctions and enforcement in the event that a protection order is breached.

(3) Any court which, or any person who, exercises any power conferred by or under this Act must be guided in the exercise of that power by the object specified in subsection (1).

Part 2

Protection orders

Applications

7 Application for protection order
(1) A person who is or has been in a domestic relationship with another person may apply to the court for a protection order in respect of that other person.

(2) Where the person who is eligible to apply for a protection order is under 16 years of age, the application must be made by a representative in accordance with section 9(2).

(3) Where the person who is eligible to apply for a protection order is a person to whom section 11 applies, the application must be made by a representative in accordance with that section.

(4) Where the person who is eligible to apply for a protection order is aged 16 years or older but is unable, in the circumstances specified in section 12(1)(b), to make the application personally, an application may be made on that person’s behalf by a representative appointed in accordance with section 12.

8 Contents of application
Any application for a protection order may seek—
(a) a direction under section 16 that the order apply for the benefit of a particular person with whom the applicant has a domestic relationship:
(b) a direction under section 17 that the order apply against a particular person, being a person whom the respondent has encouraged to engage in behaviour that, if engaged in by the respondent, would amount to domestic violence against the applicant, a child of the applicant’s family, or a person referred to in paragraph (a).

9 Applications by minors
(1) Subject to subsections (2), (2A), and (4), a minor may make an application for a protection order under this Act.

(2) A minor under 16 years of age must make the application for a protection order by a representative pursuant to rules of court.

(2A) Subject to sections 11 and 12, a minor aged 16 years may make an application either on his or her own behalf under subsection (4), or by a representative pursuant to rules of court.

(3) Nothing in subsection (2) or subsection (2A) prevents a minor under the age of 17 on whose behalf an application for a protection order is made by a representative from being heard in the proceedings; and where the minor expresses views on the need for and outcome of the proceedings, the court must take account of those views to the extent that it thinks fit, having regard to the age and maturity of the minor.

(4) Subject to sections 11 and 12, a minor—
(a) who is aged 17 years or over; and
(b) who wishes to apply for a protection order—must make the application on his or her own behalf, without a next friend or guardian ad litem, and orders may be made on the application, and enforced, as if the minor were of full age.

10 Applications against minors
(1) No application for a protection order may be made against a minor under the age of 17 years, unless the minor is or has been married or in a civil union or de facto relationship.

(2) The court must not make a direction under section 17 that a protection order apply against a minor under the age of 17 years, unless the minor is or has been married or in a civil union or de facto relationship.

(3) For the avoidance of doubt, it is hereby declared that—
(a) an application for a protection order may be made against a minor who is or has been married, or in a civil union or de facto relationship, or who has attained the age of 17 years, and orders may be made on the application, and enforced; and
(b) the court may make a direction under section 17 that a protection order apply against such a minor, as if the minor were of full age.

11 Applications on behalf of persons lacking capacity
This section applies to any person aged 16 years or over who—

(a) lacks, wholly or partly, the capacity to understand the nature, and to fore-see the consequences, of decisions in respect of matters relating to his or her personal care and welfare; or

(b) has the capacity to understand the nature, and to foresee the consequences, of decisions in respect of matters relating to his or her personal care and welfare, but wholly lacks the capacity to communicate decisions in respect of such matters.

Where a person to whom this section applies is eligible to apply for a protection order, then, in any of the circumstances referred to in any of paragraphs (a) to (c), the application must be made, on that person’s behalf, by a representative in accordance with rules of court:

(a) in any case where no one has power, under an appointment made under the Protection of Personal and Property Rights Act 1988, to make such an application on the first-mentioned person’s behalf:

(b) even though a person has power, under such an appointment, to make such an application, in any case where the person so appointed has re-fused or failed to do so:

(c) in any case where the first-mentioned person is a minor who is not a child.

Notwithstanding anything in the Protection of Personal and Property Rights Act 1988, an application must not be made under that Act for an order under section 10(1)(i) of that Act solely for the purpose of the commencement of proceedings under this Act.

Applications on behalf of certain other persons

This section applies where—

(a) a person aged 16 years or over (other than a person to whom section 11 applies) is eligible to apply for a protection order; and

(b) that person is unable, whether by reason of physical incapacity or fear of harm or other sufficient cause, to make the application personally; and

(c) it is desirable that the protection order be sought on an application with-out notice.

Where this section applies, the court or a Registrar may, on an application with-out notice made by an adult person who is not under disability, appoint any adult person to be a representative of another person for the purpose of making and prosecuting, on behalf of that other person, an application for a protection order.

Where an application for the appointment of a representative is made pursuant to subsection (2), the court or Registrar must make the appointment sought if the court or, as the case requires, the Registrar is satisfied,—

(a) that reasonable steps have been taken to ascertain the wishes of the person to whom the application relates in relation to the matter; and

(b) where the wishes of that person have been able to be ascertained,—

(i) that the person does not object to the appointment; or

(ii) that the person’s objection is not freely made; and

(c) that it is in the best interests of the person to whom the application relates to make the appointment; and

(d) that the proposed appointee—

(i) consents in writing to the appointment; and

(ii) is not under disability; and

(e) that there is unlikely to be any conflict between the interests of the pro-posed appointee and the interests of the person in respect of whom the application is made.

The fact that an application for a protection order is made, on a person’s behalf, by a representative appointed pursuant to this section does not prevent the per-son on whose behalf the application is made from being heard in the proceedings.

Without limiting subsection (3)(b), where—

(a) a representative appointed pursuant to this section applies, on another person’s behalf, for a protection order; and

(b) at any time before the application is determined, the other person objects to the continuation of the proceedings,—then, unless the court is satisfied that the objection is not freely made, no further steps may be taken in the proceedings.

Application without notice for protection order

A protection order may be made on an application without notice if the court is satisfied that the delay that would be caused by proceeding on notice would or might entail—

(a) a risk of harm; or

(b) undue hardship—
to the applicant or a child of the applicant’s family, or both.

Without limiting the matters to which the court may have regard when deter-mining whether to grant a protection order on an application without notice, the court must have regard to—
(a) the perception of the applicant or a child of the applicant’s family, or both, of the nature and seriousness of the respondent’s behaviour; and
(b) the effect of that behaviour on the applicant or a child of the applicant’s family, or both.
(3) A protection order made on an application without notice is a temporary order that, subject to sections 76 to 80, and unless it is sooner discharged, becomes final by operation of law 3 months after the date on which it is made.
(4) Where a protection order is made on an application without notice, the respondent may,—
(a) notify the court, in accordance with section 76, that he or she wishes to be heard on whether a final order should be substituted for the temporary protection order:
(b) apply pursuant to section 22 for the modification or discharge of the standard condition relating to weapons:
(c) apply pursuant to section 46 for a variation or discharge of any special conditions of the protection order:
(d) apply pursuant to section 47 for the protection order to be discharged:
(e) where a direction is made under section 51D, in respect of the respondent, notify the court, in accordance with section 51E, that he or she objects to the direction.
(5) Where a protection order is made on an application without notice and, pursuant to section 17, the court directs that the order applies against another per- son, that associated respondent may,—
(a) notify the court, in accordance with section 76 (as applied by section 79), that he or she wishes to be heard on whether a final order should be substituted for the temporary protection order, in so far as the order relates to him or her:
(b) apply pursuant to section 22 for the modification or discharge of the standard condition relating to weapons, in so far as the standard condition relates to him or her:
(c) apply pursuant to section 46 for a variation or discharge of any special condition of the protection order, in so far as the special condition relates to him or her:
(d) apply pursuant to section 47 for the protection order to be discharged, in so far as the order relates to him or her:
(e) where a direction is made under section 51D, in respect of the associated respondent, notify the court, in accordance with section 51E, that he or she objects to the direction.

Scope of protection orders
14 Power to make protection order
(1) The court may make a protection order if it is satisfied that—
(a) the respondent is using, or has used, domestic violence against the applicant, or a child of the applicant’s family, or both; and
(b) the making of an order is necessary for the protection of the applicant, or a child of the applicant’s family, or both.
(2) For the purposes of subsection (1)(a), a respondent who encourages another person to engage in behaviour that, if engaged in by the respondent, would amount to domestic violence against the applicant, or a child of the applicant’s family, or both, is regarded as having engaged in that behaviour personally.
(3) Without limiting section 3(4)(b) or the matters that the court may consider in determining, for the purposes of subsection (1)(b) of this section, whether the making of an order is necessary for the protection of the applicant, or a child of the applicant’s family, or both, where some or all of the behaviour in respect of which the application is made appears to be minor or trivial when viewed in isolation, or appears unlikely to recur, the court must nevertheless consider whether the behaviour forms part of a pattern of behaviour in respect of which the applicant, or a child of the applicant’s family, or both, need protection.
(4) For the avoidance of doubt, an order may be made under subsection (1) where the need for protection arises from the risk of domestic violence of a different type from the behaviour found to have occurred for the purposes of paragraph (a) of that subsection.
(5) Without limiting the matters that the court may consider when determining whether to make a protection order, the court must have regard to—
(a) the perception of the applicant, or a child of the applicant’s family, or both, of the nature and seriousness of the behaviour in respect of which the application is made; and
(b) the effect of that behaviour on the applicant, or a child of the applicant’s family, or both.
15 Existence of other proceedings not to preclude granting of protection order
A court must not decline to make a protection order merely because of the existence of other proceedings (including, but not limited to, proceedings relating to the role of providing day-to-day care for, or contact with, or custody of a minor) between or relating to the parties, whether or not those proceedings also relate to any other person.
16 Protection of persons other than applicant
(1) Where the court makes a protection order, that order applies for the benefit of any child of the applicant’s family.
(1A) A protection order continues to apply for the benefit of a child of the applicant’s family until—
(a) the child ceases to be a child of the applicant’s family; or
(b) the order sooner lapses or is discharged.
(1B) If a child of the applicant’s family having attained the age of 17 years continues to ordinarily or periodically reside with the applicant (an adult child), a protection order continues to apply for the benefit of the adult child until—
(a) the adult child ceases to ordinarily or periodically reside with the applicant; or
(b) the order sooner lapses or is discharged.
(2) Subject to subsection (3), where the court makes a protection order, it may direct that the order also apply for the benefit of a particular person with whom the applicant has a domestic relationship.
(3) No direction may be made pursuant to subsection (2) in respect of a person unless the court is satisfied that—
(a) the respondent is engaging, or has engaged, in behaviour that, if the respondent and the person were or, as the case may be, had been in a domestic relationship, would amount to domestic violence against the person; and
(b) the respondent’s behaviour towards the person is due, in whole or in part, to the applicant’s domestic relationship with the person; and
(c) the making of a direction under this section is necessary for the protection of the person; and
(d) where practicable, the person consents to the direction being made.
(4) Subsections (2) to (5) of section 14 apply, with the necessary modifications, in respect of an application for a direction pursuant to subsection (2) of this section.
(5) If the applicant dies at any time after a protection order is made for the protection of the applicant, then, notwithstanding the death of the applicant, the order (if it has not sooner lapsed or been discharged) continues to apply for the benefit of—
(a) a child who at the time of the applicant’s death was a child of the applicant’s family, until that child attains the age of 17 years; and
(b) a person in respect of whom a direction has been made under subsection (2), until the order lapses or is discharged.
(6) Subsections (1A), (1B), and (5) apply in respect of a protection order regardless of whether the protection order is made before or after the commencement of those subsections.

17 Protection from respondent’s associates
(1) Subject to subsection (2), where the court makes a protection order against the respondent, the court may also direct that the order apply against a person whom the respondent is encouraging, or has encouraged, to engage in behaviour against a protected person, where that behaviour, if engaged in by the respondent, would amount to domestic violence.
(2) No direction may be made pursuant to subsection (1) in respect of a person unless the court is satisfied that—
(a) the person is engaging, or has engaged, in behaviour against a protected person, where that behaviour, if engaged in by the respondent, would amount to domestic violence; and
(b) the making of a direction under this section is necessary for the protection of the protected person.
(3) A direction may be made pursuant to subsection (1) whether the behaviour against a protected person was engaged in before or after the person became a protected person.
(4) Subsections (2) to (5) of section 14 apply, with the necessary modifications, in respect of an application for a direction pursuant to subsection (1) of this section.

18 Mutual orders
Where the court grants an application for a protection order, it must not also make a protection order in favour of the respondent unless the respondent has made an application for a protection order and the court has determined that application in accordance with this Act.

Standard conditions of protection orders
19 Standard conditions of protection order
(1) It is a condition of every protection order that the respondent must not—
(a) physically or sexually abuse the protected person; or
(b) threaten to physically or sexually abuse the protected person; or
(c) damage, or threaten to damage, property of the protected person; or
(d) engage, or threaten to engage, in other behaviour, including intimidation or harassment, which amounts to psychological abuse of the protected person; or
(e) encourage any person to engage in behaviour against a protected person, where the behaviour, if engaged in by the respondent, would be prohibited by the order.
(2) Without limiting subsection (1), but subject to section 20, it is a condition of every protection order that at any time other than when the protected person and the respondent are, with the express consent of the protected person, living in the same dwellinghouse, the respondent must not,—
(a) watch, loiter near, or prevent or hinder access to or from, the protected person’s place of residence, business, employment, educational institution, or any other place that the protected person visits often; or
(b) follow the protected person about or stop or accost the protected person in any place; or
(c) without the protected person’s express consent, enter or remain on any land or building occupied by the protected person; or
(d) where the protected person is present on any land or building, enter or remain on that land or building in circumstances that constitute a trespass; or
(e) make any other contact with the protected person (whether by telephone, electronic message, correspondence, or otherwise), except such con- tact—
   (i) as is reasonably necessary in any emergency; or
   (ii) as is permitted under any order or written agreement relating to the role of providing day-to-day care for, or contact with, or custody of any minor; or
   (iii) as is permitted under any special condition of the protection order; or
   (iv) as is necessary for the purposes of attending a family group conference within the meaning of section 2 of the Oranga Tamariki Act 1989; or
   (v) as is necessary for the purposes of attending a settlement conference convened under section 46Q of the Care of Children Act 2004.

(3) Where, pursuant to a direction made under section 17, a protection order applies against an associated respondent, the provisions of this section apply, with all necessary modifications, in respect of the associated respondent.

(4) References in subsection (2) of this section to the express consent of a protected person include the express consent of a person (other than the respondent or, as the case may be, the associated respondent) who is specified, in a special condition of the protection order imposed pursuant to section 27(3), as a person who is entitled to consent, on the protected person’s behalf, in relation to the matter, and to withdraw such consent.

Further provisions relating to standard condition prohibiting contact

(1) The standard condition contained in section 19(2) (in this section referred to as the non-contact condition) has effect except while the protected person and the respondent are, with the express consent of the protected person, living in the same dwellinghouse.

(2) The non-contact condition is automatically suspended for any period during which the protected person and the respondent, with the express consent of the protected person, live in the same dwellinghouse.

(3) Where the non-contact condition is suspended in accordance with subsection (2), and the protected person subsequently withdraws his or her consent to the respondent living in the same dwellinghouse, then (unless the protection order has been sooner discharged) the non-contact condition automatically revives.

(4) The non-contact condition—
   (a) may become suspended in accordance with subsection (2) on 1 or more occasions:
   (b) may revive in accordance with subsection (3) on 1 or more occasions.

(5) Subject to section 22, on the making of a protection order,
   (a) where the protection order is a temporary order, any firearms licence held by the respondent is deemed to be suspended:
   (b) any of the provisions of this section apply, with all necessary modifications, in respect of the associated respondent.

   References in this section to the consent of a protected person, or to the withdrawal of a protected person’s consent, include, as the case requires,—
   (a) the consent of a person (other than the respondent or, as the case may be, the associated respondent) who is specified, in a special condition of the protection order imposed pursuant to section 27(3), as a person who is entitled to consent, on the protected person’s behalf, in relation to the matter:
   (b) the withdrawal of consent by such a person.

Standard condition relating to weapons

(1) Subject to section 22, it is a condition of every protection order—
   (a) that the respondent must not possess, or have under his or her control, any weapon; and
   (b) that the respondent must not hold a firearms licence; and
   (c) that the respondent must,—
   (i) as soon as practicable after the service on him or her of a copy of the protection order, but in any case no later than 24 hours after such service; and
   (ii) on demand made, at any time, by any constable,— surrender to a constable—
   (iii) any weapon in the respondent’s possession or under the respondent’s control, whether or not any such weapon is lawfully in the respondent’s possession or under the respondent’s control; and
   (iv) any firearms licence held by the respondent.

(2) Subject to section 22, on the making of a protection order,—
   (a) where the protection order is a temporary order, any firearms licence held by the respondent is deemed to be suspended:
(b) where the protection order is a final order, any firearms licence held by the respondent is deemed to be revoked.

(3) The respondent does not fail to comply with the standard condition contained in subsection (1) merely by having in his or her possession, or having under his or her control, any weapon or any firearms licence, where,—

(a) in the case of a weapon, the weapon was in his or her possession, or under his or her control, immediately before the making of the protection order; and

(b) in the case of a weapon or a firearms licence, the weapon or licence is in his or her possession, or under his or her control, during the period necessary to comply with the terms of that standard condition that relate to the surrender of the weapon or licence.

(4) Subject to section 22, where, pursuant to that section, a protection order is varied so as to include the standard condition relating to weapons,—

(a) the reference in subsection (1)(c)(i) to service of a copy of the protection order is to be read as a reference to service of a copy of the order by which the standard condition is so included:

(b) the references in subsections (2) and (3)(a) to the making of a protection order are to be read as references to the making of the order by which the standard condition is so included,— and the provisions of this Act apply accordingly with all necessary modifications.

(5) Subject to section 22, where, pursuant to a direction made under section 17, a protection order applies against an associated respondent, the provisions of this section apply, with all necessary modifications, in respect of the associated respondent.

22 Court may dispense with, modify, discharge, or re-impose standard condition relating to weapons

Special conditions of protection orders
27 Court may impose special conditions

(1) Where the court makes a protection order, it may impose any conditions that are reasonably necessary, in the opinion of the court, to protect the protected person from further domestic violence by the respondent, or the associated respondent, or both.

(2) Without limiting subsection (1), a condition imposed under subsection (1) may relate to—

(a) the manner in which arrangements for access to a child are to be implemented:

(b) the manner and circumstances in which the respondent or the associated respondent, or both, may make contact with the protected person.

(3) Without limiting subsection (1), the court may impose, as a condition of a protection order, a condition specifying a person who, for the purposes of sections 19(2), 20, and 28, is entitled—

(a) to consent on behalf of the protected person; and

(b) to withdraw such consent.

(4) Where the court imposes a condition under this section, it may specify the period during which the condition is to have effect.

(5) In the absence of a direction under subsection (4), and subject to section 28, a special condition has effect for the duration of the protection order, unless sooner varied or discharged.

28 Further provisions relating to certain special conditions
This section applies to any special condition of a protection order, where the special condition is inconsistent with the protected person and the respondent living in the same dwellinghouse.

Subject to sections 27(4) and 46, a special condition to which this section applies has effect except while the protected person and the respondent are, with the express consent of the protected person, living in the same dwellinghouse.

A special condition to which this section applies is automatically suspended for any period during which the protected person and the respondent, with the express consent of the protected person, live in the same dwellinghouse.

Where a special condition to which this section applies is suspended in accordance with subsection (3), and the protected person subsequently withdraws his or her consent to the respondent living in the same dwellinghouse, then (unless the protection order has been sooner discharged, and subject to sections 27(4) and 46) the special condition automatically revives.

A special condition to which this section applies—
(a) may become suspended in accordance with subsection (3) on 1 or more occasions:
(b) may revive in accordance with subsection (4) on 1 or more occasions.

Where, pursuant to a direction made under section 17, a protection order applies against an associated respondent, the provisions of this section apply, with all necessary modifications, in respect of the associated respondent.

References in this section to the consent of a protected person, or to the withdrawal of a protected person’s consent, include, as the case requires,—
(a) the consent of a person (other than the respondent or, as the case may be, the associated respondent) who is specified, in a special condition of the protection order imposed pursuant to section 27(3), as a person who is entitled to consent, on the protected person’s behalf, in relation to the matter:
(b) the withdrawal of consent by such a person.

Interim care and contact orders

Interim orders in respect of child of applicant’s family

This section applies when—
(a) an application has been made to the Family Court for a protection order; and
(b) there is a child of the applicant’s family.

The Family Court may make 1 or more of the following orders if it considers the order or orders are necessary to protect the welfare and best interests of the child concerned:
(a) an interim order or orders about the role of providing day-to-day care for, or about contact with, a child of the applicant’s family:
(b) any interim order or orders varying any order of the kind referred to in paragraph (a).

An order must not be made under subsection (2) in respect of a child of the applicant’s family of or over the age of 16 years unless there are special circumstances.

Duration of interim order

An interim order made under section 28B ceases to have effect (if it has not ceased to have effect sooner) on the earlier of—
(a) the date that is 1 year after the day on which the order is made; or
(b) the date that the child attains the age of 16 years, unless the Family Court in special circumstances orders otherwise on or after making the order.

Application for parenting order under Care of Children Act 2004 must be made

Where 1 or more interim orders have been made under section 28B, a party in whose favour an order has been made must as soon as possible (if that party has not already done so) make an application under the Care of Children Act 2004 for a parenting order.

For the purposes of section 16(1) of the Legal Services Act 2000, proceedings that relate to, or arise out of, an application for a protection order under Part 2 of the Domestic Violence Act 1995 include proceedings commenced pursuant to an application referred to in subsection (1).
(c) the order is discharged pursuant to section 80.
(2) A final protection order continues in force until it is discharged pursuant to section 47.

46 Power to vary protection order
(1) The court may, if it thinks fit, on the application of the applicant or the respondent, vary a protection order—
(a) by varying or discharging any special condition of the protection order:
(b) by imposing any special condition:
(c) by varying or discharging a direction made pursuant to section 51D:
(d) by making a direction pursuant to section 51D.
(2) Where a protection order applies against an associated respondent, the court may, if it thinks fit, on the application of the applicant or the associated respondent, vary the protection order, in so far as it relates to the associated respondent,—
(a) by varying or discharging any special condition of the protection order:
(b) by imposing any special condition:
(c) by varying or discharging a direction made pursuant to section 51D:
(d) by making a direction pursuant to section 51D.
(3) The court may, if it thinks fit, on the application of the applicant, vary a protection order—
(a) by directing, pursuant to section 16(2), that the protection order also apply for the benefit of a particular person:
(b) by directing, pursuant to section 17, that the protection order apply against a particular person.
(4) Where an application is made under this section in respect of a temporary protection order, the Registrar must assign a hearing date, which must be—
(a) as soon as practicable; and
(b) unless there are special circumstances, in no case later than 42 days after the application is made.

47 Power to discharge protection order
(1) The court may, if it thinks fit, on the application of the applicant or the respondent, discharge a protection order.
(2) On an application under subsection (1), the court may discharge a protection order even though the order—
(a) applies for the benefit of a specified person pursuant to a direction made under section 16(2); or
(b) applies against an associated respondent pursuant to a direction made under section 17.
(3) Where a protection order to which subsection (2) relates is discharged, the order ceases to have effect for the benefit of the specified person or, as the case requires, against the associated respondent, as if that person had applied for and been granted a discharge of the order pursuant to subsection (4).
(4) Where a protection order—
(a) applies for the benefit of a specified person pursuant to a direction made under section 16(2); or
(b) applies against an associated respondent pursuant to a direction made under section 17,— the specified person or, as the case may be, the associated respondent may apply for the order to be discharged in so far as it relates to him or her.
(5) On an application under subsection (4), the court may, if it thinks fit, discharge a protection order in so far as it relates to that specified person or, as the case may be, that associated respondent.
(6) Where an application is made under this section in respect of a temporary protection order, the Registrar must assign a hearing date, which must be—
(a) as soon as practicable; and
(b) unless there are special circumstances, in no case later than 42 days after the application is made.

48 Variation or discharge on behalf of protected person
Sections 9, 11, and 12, so far as applicable and with the necessary modifications, apply in relation to—
(a) any application, on behalf of a protected person, for the variation or discharge of a protection order under this Act; and
(b) the defending, on behalf of a protected person, of any such application made by the respondent or the associated respondent—as they apply in relation to the making of an application for a protection order.

Enforcement of protection orders
49 Offence to breach protection order
(1) Every person commits an offence who breaches a protection order by—
(a) doing any act in contravention of the protection order; or
(b) failing to comply with any condition of the protection order.
(2) It is a defence in a prosecution for an offence under subsection (1) if the defendant proves that he or she had a reasonable excuse for breaching the protection order.
(3) Every person who is convicted of an offence against this section is liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 3 years.
(4) To avoid doubt, a failure to comply with a direction made under section 51D is not a breach of a protection order under subsection (1)(b).

50 Power to arrest for breach of protection order
Where a protection order is in force, any constable may arrest, without warrant, any person who the constable has good cause to suspect has—
(a) contravened the protection order; or
(b) failed to comply with any condition of the protection order.

Part 2A Programmes

51A Interpretation
In this Part, unless the context otherwise requires,— approval means an approval of a service provider under section 51B that has not been suspended or cancelled assessment, in relation to a respondent, means an assessment of the respondent undertaken by a service provider to determine—
(a) the extent to which the respondent poses a safety risk to any person or the public; and
(b) what, if any, non-violence programme is the most appropriate for the respondent to attend non-violence programme means a programme that—
(a) is provided by a service provider; and
(b) is provided to a respondent; and
(c) has the primary objective of stopping or preventing domestic violence on the part of the respondent programmes means—
(a) safety programmes; and
(b) non-violence programmes respondent means the person against whom an application has been made for an order under this Act, and includes an associated respondent safety programme means a programme that—
(a) is provided by a service provider; and
(b) is provided to a protected person; and
(c) has the primary objective of promoting (whether by education, information, support, or otherwise) the protection of the protected person from domestic violence service provider means a person or an organisation that has been granted an approval to do either or both of the following:
(a) undertake assessments:
(b) provide programmes.

Approval of service providers
51B Service providers
(1) The Secretary may decide to grant, suspend, or cancel an approval of a person or an organisation as a service provider.
(2) A person or an organisation seeking an approval under subsection (1) must follow the process (if any) prescribed by regulations made under section 127(a)(i).
(3) In deciding whether to grant, suspend, or cancel an approval under subsection (1), the Secretary must apply the criteria (if any) prescribed by regulations made under section 127(a)(ii).
(4) The Secretary must publish on an Internet site maintained by or on behalf of the Ministry of Justice a list of service providers.

Safety programmes
51C Safety programmes for protected persons
(1) Where the court makes a protection order,— the applicant, or the applicant’s representative, may request the Registrar to authorise the provision of a safety programme to all or any of the following persons:

(i) the applicant;
(ii) a child of the applicant’s family;
(iii) a specified person; and

(b) a specified person (other than a child) may request the Registrar to authorise the provision of a safety programme to that specified person if no request has been made under paragraph (a)(iii).

(2) Where, at the time the protection order is made, the applicant has not made a request pursuant to this section, and the applicant is not legally represented, the Judge or the Registrar must cause the applicant to be informed of the applicant’s right to make such a request.

(3) A request may be made under subsection (1) at any time while the protection order remains in force.

(4) Where a request is made to a Registrar under subsection (1), the Registrar must arrange for the matter to be referred to a service provider without delay.

(5) The number of safety programme sessions to be provided to a protected person by a service provider to whom a referral has been made under subsection (4) is to be determined by the Registrar following discussion with the service provider.

(6) Every lawyer acting for an applicant for a protection order must—

(a) ensure that the applicant is aware of the applicant’s right to make a request under this section; and
(b) where the applicant wishes to exercise that right, take such further steps as the lawyer considers necessary to enable the applicant to do so.

Non-violence programmes

\[51D\] Direction to attend assessment and non-violence programme

(1) On making a protection order, the court must direct the respondent to—

(a) undertake an assessment; and
(b) attend a non-violence programme.

(2) The court need not make a direction under subsection (1) if—

(a) there is no service provider available; or
(b) the court considers that there is any other good reason for not making a direction.

\[51E\] Direction to attend non-violence programme made on application without notice

(1) This section applies where the court makes a direction under section 51D on an application made without notice.

(2) Where this section applies,—

(a) the direction does not take effect until 10 working days after a copy of the direction is served on the respondent; and
(b) the respondent may, within those 10 working days, notify the court that he or she objects to the direction.

(3) Where the respondent notifies the court, in accordance with subsection (2)(b), that he or she objects to the direction,—

(a) the Registrar must, if the respondent wishes to be heard, assign a hearing date, which must be—

(i) as soon as practicable; and
(ii) unless there are special circumstances, in no case later than 42 days after receipt of the notice of objection; and
(b) the direction is suspended from the date on which the court receives the notice of objection until the court, after considering the respondent’s objection, confirms (whether with or without variation) or discharges the direction.

(4) Nothing in this section or section 51F gives the court power to review any order or decision other than the direction to which the notice relates, but nothing in this section limits section 76 or 79.

\[51F\] Court may confirm or discharge direction after considering objection made under section 51E

(1) After considering an objection, made under section 51E, to a direction, the court may—

(a) confirm the direction; or
(b) vary the direction; or
(c) discharge the direction.

(2) Where, pursuant to subsection (1), the court confirms or varies a direction, then, if the respondent is before the court, the Judge must warn the respondent that non-compliance with the direction is an offence punishable by imprisonment.

(3) Failure to give the warning required by subsection (2) does not affect the validity of the direction confirmed or varied.

\[51G\] Referral of respondent to service provider

(1) After the court has made a direction under section 51D, the Registrar must, without delay,—
(a) arrange for the respondent to be referred to a service provider; and
(b) notify the service provider of the direction made under section 51D.

(2) This section is subject to section 51E.

51H Service provider to meet with respondent
As soon as possible after receiving a notification under section 51G, the service provider must arrange to meet with the respondent to—
(a) undertake an assessment of the respondent; and
(b) determine whether there is an appropriate non-violence programme for the respondent to attend.

51I Service provider to notify Registrar about safety concerns
(1) This section applies if a service provider has concerns about the safety of a protected person—
(a) after undertaking an assessment of the respondent; or
(b) during the provision of a non-violence programme to a respondent.

(2) The service provider must, without delay, notify the Registrar of those concerns.

(3) On receiving a notification under subsection (2), the Registrar must—
(a) forward a copy of the notification to a Judge; and
(b) arrange for the protected person to be advised of the service provider’s concerns.

(4) On receiving a copy of a notification under subsection (3)(a), the Judge may make such orders or directions as the Judge thinks fit in the circumstances.

51J Referral to different service provider
(1) This section applies if a service provider, after undertaking an assessment of the respondent, determines that there is an appropriate non-violence programme for the respondent to attend; but

(2) The service provider must—
(a) notify the Registrar; and
(b) send to the Registrar the following information:
(i) the result of the assessment of the respondent undertaken by the service provider; and
(ii) any other information relating to the respondent that is held by the service provider.

(3) After receiving a notification under subsection (2)(a) and the information referred to in subsection (2)(b), the Registrar must make a new referral under section 51G to a service provider that is able to provide an appropriate programme to the respondent.

51K Judge may discharge direction to attend non-violence programme in certain cases
(1) This section applies if a service provider, after undertaking an assessment of a respondent, determines that—
(a) there is an appropriate non-violence programme for the respondent to attend but that—
(i) the respondent’s attendance at the programme should be delayed to enable other matters to first be addressed; or
(ii) it would not be appropriate for the respondent to attend the programme; or
(b) there is not an appropriate non-violence programme for the respondent to attend.

(2) The service provider must notify the Registrar, and the Registrar must bring the matter to the attention of a Judge.

(3) When a matter is brought to the attention of a Judge under subsection (2), the Judge must—
(a) discharge the direction made under section 51D(1)(b); and
(b) make such other orders or directions as the Judge thinks fit in the circumstances.

51L Service provider and respondent to settle terms of attendance at non-violence programme
(1) Before providing a non-violence programme to a respondent, the service provider must settle in writing with the respondent the terms of attendance, which must include—
(a) the number of programme sessions that the respondent must attend; and
(b) the place, date, and time of the first programme session, and all subsequent sessions, that the respondent must attend.

(2) The service provider must provide to the Registrar a copy of the terms of attendance that the service provider has settled with the respondent.

(3) If a service provider is not able to settle with a respondent the terms of attendance, the service provider must notify the Registrar.

(4) On receipt of a notice under subsection (3), the Registrar must—
(a) settle the terms of attendance with the respondent and the service provider; or
(b) bring the matter to the attention of a Judge.
When a matter is brought to the attention of a Judge under subsection (4)(b), the Judge may make such further directions as the Judge thinks fit in the circumstances.

51M | Notice to be given to court if continued provision of non-violence programme inappropriate
--- | ---
(1) | Subsection (2) applies if at any time during the provision of a non-violence programme the service provider considers that—
(a) | it is no longer appropriate or practicable for the service provider to provide the programme to the respondent; or
(b) | the respondent is not participating fully in the programme, and that this is significantly affecting the respondent’s ability to benefit fully from the programme.
(2) | The service provider must—
(a) | notify the Registrar; and
(b) | send to the Registrar all information relating to the respondent that is held by the service provider.
(3) | After receiving a notification under subsection (2)(a) and the information referred to in subsection (2)(b), the Registrar must—
(a) | make a new referral under section 51G to a different service provider; or
(b) | bring the matter to the attention of a Judge.
(4) | When a matter is brought to the attention of a Judge under subsection (3)(b), the Judge may make such other orders or directions as the Judge thinks fit in the circumstances.

Non-compliance with direction to attend assessment and non-violence programme

51N | Notice of non-compliance with direction
--- | ---
(1) | This section applies if the court makes a direction under section 51D and the respondent fails to do either or both of the following:
(a) | undertake an assessment with the service provider to whom notice of the direction has been given under section 51G;
(b) | attend a non-violence programme in accordance with terms of attendance settled under section 51L.
(2) | The service provider must give written notice to the Registrar of the respondent’s failure.
(3) | Notice under subsection (2) must be given within 7 days of the respondent’s failure.

51O | Powers of Registrar on receipt of notice under section 51N
--- | ---
(1) | On receiving a notice under section 51N, the Registrar must, without delay,—
(a) | exercise the powers under section 82, as if he or she were the court referred to in that section, to call the respondent before the court; or
(b) | bring the matter to the attention of a Judge so that the Judge may consider whether to exercise the power conferred by section 51P in relation to the respondent.
(2) | If the Registrar exercises the powers under section 82 in the manner allowed by subsection (1)(a), then, subject to any regulations made under this Act, section 82 applies so far as applicable and with the necessary modifications as if the respondent were a witness in proceedings.

51P | Judge may call respondent before court
--- | ---
(1) | If, under section 51O(1)(b), a Registrar brings a matter to the attention of a Judge, subsection (2) applies.
(2) | A Judge may exercise the powers under section 82 to call the respondent before the court.
(3) | If a Judge exercises the powers under section 82, that section applies, so far as applicable and with all necessary modifications, as if the respondent were a witness in proceedings.

51Q | Respondent called before court
--- | ---
(1) | If a respondent appears before the court under section 51O(1)(a) or 51P(2), the court may, after hearing from the respondent, confirm, vary, or discharge the direction or change the terms of attendance.
(2) | If the court confirms or varies a direction under subsection (1), the Judge must warn the respondent that non-compliance with the direction is an offence punishable by imprisonment.
(3) | Failure to give the warning required by subsection (2) does not affect the validity of the direction confirmed or varied.

Completion of non-violence programme

51R | Notice of completion and outcome of non-violence programme
--- | ---
(1) | When a respondent has completed a non-violence programme, the service provider must, without delay, provide to the Registrar a report that—
(a) states whether, in the opinion of the service provider, the respondent has achieved the objectives of the non-violence programme; and
(b) advises of any concerns that the service provider has about the safety of any protected person.

(2) On receiving a report under subsection (1), the Registrar must—
(a) forward a copy of that report to a Judge; and
(b) arrange for the protected person to be notified—
(i) that the respondent has completed a non-violence programme; and
(ii) that a report has been provided by the service provider of that non-violence programme under subsection (1); and
(iii) of any concerns that the service provider has about the safety of the protected person advised in that report.

(3) On receiving a copy of a report under subsection (2)(a), the Judge may make such orders or directions as the Judge thinks fit in the circumstances.

Confidentiality of information
51S Confidentiality of information disclosed to service provider
(1) In this section, unless the context otherwise requires, information includes any statement or admission.

(2) Information received by a service provider in the course of providing a programme may not—
(a) be disclosed to any other person; or
(b) be admitted as evidence in any court or before any person acting judicially.

(3) However, nothing in subsection (2) prohibits the disclosure of information received by a service provider in the course of providing a programme if that disclosure is made—
(a) for the purpose of giving a notification to a Registrar under—
(i) section 51I(2):
(ii) section 51J(2):
(iii) section 51K(2):
(iv) section 51L(3):
(v) section 51M(2):
(b) for the purpose of a Registrar making a referral under—
(i) section 51I(3):
(ii) section 51M(3)(a):
(c) for the purpose of any proceedings under—
(i) section 51O:
(ii) section 51P:
(d) for the purposes of investigating or prosecuting—
(i) an offence against section 51T; or
(ii) an offence committed or alleged to have been committed during the provision of a programme:
(e) in circumstances in which the service provider believes, on reasonable grounds, that the disclosure is necessary to prevent or lessen a serious threat to public safety or the safety of any person:
(f) with the authority of the person who disclosed the information to the service provider.

Enforcement of directions
51T Offence to fail to comply with direction
A respondent who fails, without reasonable excuse, to comply with a direction made under section 51D commits an offence and is liable on conviction to—
(a) a fine not exceeding $5,000; or
(b) a term of imprisonment not exceeding 6 months.

Part 3
Orders relating to property
Occupation orders
52 Application for occupation order
Any person aged 16 years or over who is or has been in a domestic relationship with another person may apply for an order granting the applicant the right to live in a dwelling house which, at the time the order is made, either party to the proceedings owns or in which either has a legal interest (including, but not limited to, a tenancy).

53 Power to make occupation order
(1) Subject to section 74 of this Act and to subsection (2), on hearing an application for an occupation order, the court may, notwithstanding anything in the Property (Relationships) Act 1976, make an order granting to the applicant the right to personally occupy a specified dwellinghouse.
The court may make an order under subsection (1) only if it is satisfied that the order—
(a) is necessary for the protection of the applicant; or
(b) is in the best interests of a child of the applicant’s family.

An order may be made under this section in respect of a dwellinghouse whether or not—
(a) the parties have ever lived in the same dwellinghouse, whether in the dwellinghouse to which the order relates or any other dwellinghouse; or
(b) either party lives in the dwellinghouse at the time the order is made.

In determining whether to make an order under this section, the court must have regard to the reasonable accommodation needs of all persons who may be affected by the order.

An order made under this section may—
(a) for such period or periods; and
(b) on such terms and conditions relating to the occupation of the dwelling-house to which the order relates,— as the court thinks fit.

Effect of occupation order

The person in whose favour an occupation order is made is entitled, to the exclusion of the person against whom the order is made, to personally occupy the dwellinghouse to which the order relates, together with any land, buildings, or improvements appurtenant to that dwellinghouse which are used, or ordinarily would be used, for the purposes of a household.

An occupation order is enforceable as if it were an order for the recovery of land made pursuant to section 79(2)(c) of the District Court Act 2016.

Power to vary or discharge occupation order

On the application of either party, or of the personal representative of either party, the court may, if it thinks fit, make an order—
(a) extending or reducing any period specified by the court pursuant to section 53(5); or
(b) varying or discharging any terms and conditions imposed by the court pursuant to section 53(5); or
(c) discharging the occupation order.

Where an application is made under this section in respect of a temporary occupation order, the Registrar must assign a hearing date, which must be—
(a) as soon as practicable; and
(b) unless there are special circumstances, in no case later than 42 days after the application is made.

Tenancy orders

Any person aged 16 years or over who is or has been in a domestic relationship with another person may apply to the court for an order vesting in the applicant the tenancy of any dwellinghouse of which, at the time the order is made, the other party to the proceedings is—
(a) the sole tenant; or
(b) a tenant holding jointly, or in common, with the applicant.

In this section, dwellinghouse includes—
(a) any furniture or other household effects let with the dwellinghouse; and
(b) any land, outbuildings, or parts of buildings included in the tenancy.

Power to make tenancy order

Subject to section 74 of this Act and to subsection (2), on hearing an application for a tenancy order, the court may, notwithstanding anything in the Property (Relationships) Act 1976, make an order vesting in the applicant the tenancy of a specified dwellinghouse.

The court may make an order under subsection (1) only if it is satisfied that the order—
(a) is necessary for the protection of the applicant; or
(b) is in the best interests of a child of the applicant’s family.

In determining whether to make an order under this section, the court must have regard to the reasonable accommodation needs of all persons who may be affected by the order.

Effect of tenancy order

Where a tenancy order takes effect, then, unless the tenancy is sooner lawfully determined,—
(a) the applicant becomes the tenant of the dwellinghouse upon and subject to the terms and conditions of the tenancy in force at the time the order is made; and
(b) the other party ceases to be a tenant.

(2) Every tenancy order has effect and may be enforced as if it were an order of the court for possession of the land granted in favour of the applicant.

(3) Nothing in this Act or in any tenancy order—

(a) limits or affects the operation of any enactment or rule of law for the time being applicable to—

(i) any tenancy to which section 56 applies; or

(ii) the dwellinghouse held under the tenancy; or

(b) authorises the court to vary any express or implied term or condition of the tenancy except by—

(i) vesting the tenancy pursuant to section 57; or

(ii) revesting the tenancy pursuant to section 59.

59 Power to discharge tenancy order and revest tenancy

(1) On the application of a party against whom a tenancy order is made, or that party’s personal representative, the court may, if it thinks fit, make an order discharging the tenancy order and revesting the tenancy accordingly.

(2) Where an application is made under this section in respect of a temporary tenancy order, the Registrar must assign a hearing date, which must be—

(a) as soon as practicable; and

(b) unless there are special circumstances, in no case later than 42 days after the application is made.

(3) Where any revesting order made under subsection (1) takes effect, then, unless the tenancy is sooner lawfully determined, the person in whose favour it is made becomes the tenant of the dwellinghouse upon and subject to the terms and conditions of the tenancy in force at the time of the making of the revesting order.

General provisions relating to occupation orders and tenancy orders

60 Application without notice for occupation order or tenancy order

(1) An occupation order or a tenancy order may be made on an application without notice only if the court is satisfied that—

(a) the respondent has physically or sexually abused the applicant or a child of the applicant’s family; and

(b) the delay that would be caused by proceeding on notice would or might expose the applicant or a child of the applicant’s family to physical or sexual abuse.

(2) Any occupation order or tenancy order made on an application without notice is a temporary order that, subject to sections 76 to 80, and unless it is sooner discharged, becomes final by operation of law 3 months after the date on which it is made.

(2A) When a temporary order becomes a final order pursuant to subsection (2), the final order comes into effect immediately.

(3) An occupation order or a tenancy order may be made on an application without notice only where the court has made or, at the same time, makes a protection order, unless the court considers that there are special reasons for not making a protection order.

(4) Where an occupation order or a tenancy order is made on an application without notice while the applicant and the respondent are living in the same dwellinghouse, that occupation order or tenancy order expires,—

(a) on its discharge by the court; or

(b) on the discharge of a temporary protection order made in conjunction with that occupation order or tenancy order; or

(c) if no such protection order has been made and the court has not sooner discharged the occupation order or tenancy order, at the close of the seventh day after the date of the making of the occupation order or tenancy order.

(5) Where an occupation order or a tenancy order is made on an application without notice, the respondent may,—

(a) notify the court, in accordance with section 76, that he or she wishes to be heard on whether a final order should be substituted for the temporary order:

(b) in the case of an occupation order, apply pursuant to section 55 for the order to be varied or discharged:

(c) in the case of a tenancy order, apply pursuant to section 59 for the order to be discharged and the tenancy revested.

61 Procedure for occupation orders and tenancy orders

(1) Where an application is made for an occupation order, the court may treat that application as an application for a tenancy order or an occupation order or both, and may, if it is satisfied that—

(a) it has jurisdiction to make a tenancy order; and

(b) the making of a tenancy order is appropriate; and

(c) section 74 has been complied with in respect of the making of a tenancy order other than a temporary order,— make a tenancy order (whether or not it makes an occupation order).
Where an application is made for a tenancy order, the court may treat that application as an application for an occupation order or a tenancy order or both, and may, if it is satisfied that—
(a) it has jurisdiction to make an occupation order; and
(b) the making of an occupation order is appropriate; and
(c) section 74 has been complied with in respect of the making of an occupation order other than a temporary order,—make an occupation order (whether or not it makes a tenancy order).

Ancillary furniture orders (62-70)

General provisions relating to property orders (71-75)

Part 4
Procedure

Temporary orders
76 Respondent to notify intention to appear
(1) Where the court makes a temporary order under this Act, the respondent is entitled to notify the court that he or she wishes to be heard on whether a final order should be substituted for the temporary order.
(2) The temporary order must contain a notice to the respondent that clearly states—
(a) the respondent’s right under subsection (1); and
(b) that, subject to sections 51E, 78, and 79, if the respondent does not take any steps in the proceedings, the temporary order becomes final in accordance with section 77 by operation of law 3 months after the date on which it is made.
(3) Where the respondent notifies the court, in accordance with subsection (1), that he or she wishes to be heard, the Registrar must assign a hearing date, which must be—
(a) as soon as practicable; and
(b) unless there are special circumstances, in no case later than 42 days after the receipt of the respondent’s notice.

77 Procedure where respondent does not require hearing
(1) Subject to sections 51E, 78, and 79 and to subsections (2) and (3), unless the respondent notifies the court in accordance with section 76(1) that he or she wishes to be heard, or the order is sooner discharged, a temporary order becomes final by operation of law 3 months after the date on which it is made.
(1A) When a temporary order becomes a final order pursuant to subsection (1), the final order comes into effect immediately.
(2) No temporary order becomes final pursuant to subsection (1) unless—
(a) the respondent has been served with a copy of the order not less than 10 clear days before the 3 month period specified in subsection (1) elapses; and
(b) the respondent has not notified the court, before that period elapses, that he or she wishes to be heard.
(3) Where, pursuant to subsection (2)(a), a temporary order does not become final, the court may from time to time extend the period within which the temporary order can be served. No such extensions may extend that period by more than 3 months in total, and the temporary order continues in force until the expiry of any such extensions.
(4) Where the period for service is extended pursuant to subsection (3), and, at the expiry of the period or periods, the temporary order has not been served, the order lapses.

78 Court may require hearing before order becomes final
(1) Where, on or after making a temporary order, the court considers that there is good reason why the order should not become final in accordance with section 77 without a hearing at which the applicant or the respondent, or both, are present or represented, the court, of its own motion, may direct that there be a hearing.
(2) A direction made under subsection (1) may—
(a) relate to the whole, or to specified parts, of the order made or sought; and
(b) be made even though the respondent does not wish to be heard.
(3) Where the direction under subsection (1) relates to specified parts of the order made or sought, the remaining parts of the order may become final in accordance with section 77.
(4) Where, pursuant to subsection (1), the court directs that there be a hearing, the Registrar must assign a hearing date, which must be as soon as practicable.
Without limiting section 82, where the court makes a direction under subsection (1), it may issue a summons, in accordance with section 82(4), requiring the respondent to attend the court at a place and time specified in the summons.

79 Application of sections 76 to 78 to other affected persons
(1) The provisions of sections 76, 77, and 78, so far as applicable and with the necessary modifications, apply to an associated respondent as if the person were the respondent.
(2) Where, pursuant to section 76, the associated respondent notifies the court that he or she wishes to be heard, but the respondent does not do so, the temporary order becomes final in accordance with section 77(1) in so far as it relates to the respondent, even though a hearing is required on whether the order is to become final in respect of the associated respondent.
(3) No occupation order, tenancy order, ancillary furniture order, or furniture order that is a temporary order becomes final unless the court is satisfied that—
(a) notice has been given pursuant to section 74 to any person having an interest in the property affected by the order; and
(b) the person so notified takes no steps in the proceedings.

79A Review of contact arrangements
(1) When making a temporary protection order, the Family Court may direct the Registrar to convene a review before a Family Court Judge of the arrangements for contact between the respondent and a child of the applicant’s family.
(2) On receiving a direction under subsection (1), the Registrar must—
(a) appoint a time and place for the holding of the review; and
(b) inform the applicant and respondent of the date, time, and place of the review, and invite them to attend.
(3) Only the following persons may attend the review:
(a) the applicant;
(b) the respondent;
(c) a lawyer representing the applicant;
(d) a lawyer representing the respondent;
(e) a lawyer appointed under section 81;
(f) any lawyer appointed under section 7(1) of the Care of Children Act 2004 to act for a child who in proceedings under this Act is a child of the applicant’s family;
(g) any other persons whom the Family Court Judge permits to be present.
(4) If both the applicant and the respondent attend or are represented at the review, the Judge may—
(a) make an interim order relating to contact under section 28B;
(b) impose any condition under section 27 relating to the matter set out in subsection (2)(a) of that section;
(c) give any directions that the Judge considers necessary.
(5) The provisions of this section, so far as applicable and with the necessary modifications, apply to an associated respondent as if the person were a respondent.

80 Procedure where hearing required
(1) Where, pursuant to section 76 or section 79, the respondent or an associated respondent or any person to whom section 79(3) applies notifies the court that he or she wishes to be heard, or in any other case where a hearing is required or held, the court may at the hearing—
(a) discharge the temporary order; or
(b) make the temporary order a final order (whether with or without variation); or
(c) in a case to which section 78(3) or section 79(2) applies and where part of the temporary order has become final in accordance with section 77,—
(i) confirm the temporary order to the extent that it has not already become final;
(ii) confirm the temporary order to the extent that it has not already become final, but exercise, in relation to that part of the temporary order so confirmed, any power conferred by this Act to vary or alter the terms and conditions of the order, or to impose new terms and conditions:
(iii) discharge the temporary order to the extent that it has not already become final; or
(d) on good cause being shown, adjourn the hearing to a fixed time and place.
(2) Where, pursuant to subsection (1)(a), the court discharges a temporary tenancy order, the discharge of that order has effect as if the order had been discharged under section 59, and the tenancy revests accordingly.
(3) Where, pursuant to subsection (1)(c), the court confirms part of a temporary order (whether with or without variation), that part of the temporary order becomes final, but that confirmation does not affect the order to the extent that it has already become final.
Where a hearing is adjourned under subsection (1)(d) to another day, the court must not, at the adjourned hearing, exercise that power to adjourn the hearing to a further date unless there are special reasons for doing so.

Where a hearing is adjourned pursuant to subsection (1)(d) to a specified date, the temporary order continues in force until that date.

When a temporary order becomes a final order pursuant to section 80(1)(b), the temporary order is automatically discharged.

Where the part of a temporary order not already a final order is confirmed under section 80(1)(c)(i) or (ii), the temporary order is automatically discharged.

General provisions

When a temporary order becomes a final order pursuant to section 80(1)(b), the temporary order is automatically discharged.

Where the part of a temporary order not already a final order is confirmed under section 80(1)(c)(i) or (ii), the temporary order is automatically discharged.

Court may appoint lawyer

In any proceedings under this Act (not being criminal proceedings), the court may appoint a lawyer—

(a) to assist the court; or

(b) to represent a child—

(i) in any proceedings on an application made, on behalf of that child, in accordance with section 9(2), for a protection order; or

(ii) in any proceedings relating to or arising out of a protection order made, under this Act, on any such application made on that child’s behalf; or

(c) to represent any other person (being a person to whom section 11 applies)—

(i) in any proceedings on an application made, on behalf of that person, in accordance with section 11(2), for any order made, under this Act, on any such application made on that person’s behalf.

A lawyer appointed under subsection (1)(c) may call any person as a witness in the proceedings, and may cross-examine witnesses called by any party to the proceedings or by the court.

The fees and expenses of a lawyer appointed under subsection (1)(a) or (b) must—

(a) be determined in accordance with regulations made under section 16D of the Family Court Act 1980 or, if no such regulations are made, by the Registrar of the court; and

(b) be paid in accordance with that determination out of public money appropriated by Parliament for the purpose.

The fees and expenses of a lawyer appointed under subsection (1)(c) must—

(a) be determined in accordance with regulations made under this Act or, if no such regulations are made, by the Registrar of the court; and

(b) be paid in accordance with that determination out of public money appropriated by Parliament for the purpose.

An invoice rendered by a lawyer appointed under this section for fees and expenses must be given to the Registrar of the court in which the proceedings were heard, and the Registrar may decide to adjust the amount of the invoice.

If the lawyer is dissatisfied with the decision of the Registrar as to the amount of the invoice, the lawyer may, within 14 days after the date of the decision, apply to a Judge of the court to review the decision; and the Judge may make such order varying or confirming the decision as the Judge considers fair and reasonable.

Power of court to call witnesses

In any proceedings before a court under this Act (not being criminal proceedings), the court may, of its own motion, call as a witness any person whose evidence may, in its opinion, be of assistance to the court.

Without limiting subsection (1), the power conferred by that subsection includes power to call as a witness—

(a) any party to the proceedings:

(b) the spouse or partner of such party:

(c) an associated respondent:

(d) a specified person.

Where the court calls a witness under this section,—

(a) the witness has the same privilege to refuse to answer any question as the witness would have if called by a party to the proceedings; and

(b) the witness may be examined and re-examined—

(i) by the court:

(ii) by or on behalf of any party to the proceedings:

(iii) by any lawyer appointed pursuant to section 81 in respect of the proceedings.
Sections 159 and 161 to 165 of the Criminal Procedure Act 2011, so far as applicable and with the necessary modifications, apply to every person called as a witness by the court under this section as if that person had been called by a party to the proceedings.

The expenses of any witness called by the court under this section are payable—

(a) in accordance with the scale of witnesses’ expenses prescribed by regulations made under this Act; and

(b) in the first instance, out of public money appropriated by Parliament for the purpose.

Conduct of proceedings

No person may be present during the hearing of any proceedings under this Act (other than criminal proceedings) except the following persons:

(a) officers of the court:

(b) the parties to the proceedings:

(c) any lawyer representing any party to the proceedings:

(d) any lawyer appointed pursuant to section 81 in respect of the proceedings:

(da) any lawyer appointed under section 7(1) of the Care of Children Act 2004 to act for a child who in proceedings under this Act is a child of the applicant’s family:

(e) where, pursuant to any provision of this Act, any person is bringing or defending the proceedings on behalf of another person,—

(i) the person so bringing or defending the proceedings:

(ii) the person on whose behalf the proceedings are so brought or defended:

(f) witnesses:

(fa) accredited news media reporters:

(g) any person who is nominated by the applicant for a protection order or by a protected person in accordance with subsection (2):

(h) any other person whom the Judge permits to be present.

For the purposes of any proceedings to which this section applies, any party to the proceedings (being an applicant for a protection order or a protected person) may nominate a reasonable number of persons (being members of his or her family, whanau, or family group, or any other person) to attend any hearing of those proceedings for the purpose of providing support to that person.

Any witness and any accredited news media reporter must leave the courtroom if asked to do so by the Judge.

No person present in the courtroom pursuant to subsection (1)(g) is entitled to be heard at the hearing, and the court may exclude any such person from the hearing at any time.

Nothing in this section limits any other power of the court—

(a) to hear proceedings in private; or

(b) to permit a McKenzie friend to be present; or

(c) to exclude any person from the court.

Standard of proof

Every question of fact arising in any proceedings under this Act (other than criminal proceedings) must be decided on the balance of probabilities.

Orders by consent

Subject to section 18, in any proceedings before a court under this Act, the court may make any order under this Act by the consent of all of the parties to the proceedings.

Explaination of orders

Where, in any proceedings under this Act (other than criminal proceedings), the respondent or associated respondent, as the case may be, is before the court, then on making an order (other than an order discharging an order made under this Act), the Judge must explain to that person—

(a) the effect of the order; and

(b) the consequences that may follow if the person fails to comply with the terms of the order; and

(c) the means by which the order can be varied or discharged.

A Registrar may give the explanation required by subsection (1).

Failure to give the explanation required by subsection (1) does not affect the validity of the order made.

Where the court makes an order under this Act, the copy of the order that is given to or served on the respondent (and, where applicable, the associated respondent) must include a notice stating—
(a) the consequences that may follow if the person fails to comply with the terms of the order; and
(b) the means by which the order can be varied or discharged.
(5) Failure to include in a copy of an order made under this Act the notice required by subsection (4) does not affect the validity of the order made.

88 Copies of orders to be sent to Police
(1) On the making of a temporary order or a final order under this Act (including any order varying or discharging an order made under this Act or any order made in substitution for any such order), the Registrar of the court in which the order is made must ensure that a copy of the order is made available, without delay, to the District Commander at the appropriate Police District Headquarters.
(2) Where a copy of an order is made available to a District Commander in accordance with subsection (1), the District Commander must ensure that a copy of that order, or a copy of that copy, is made available, without delay, to the officer in charge of the Police station nearest to where the protected person or, as the case requires, each protected person, resides.
(3) For the purposes of this section, a copy of an order, or a copy of a copy of an order, may be made available in any of the following ways:
   (a) by sending the copy by means of electronic transmission (whether by way of facsimile transmission, electronic mail, or other similar means of communication):
   (b) by entering the copy on a database maintained in electronic form, where that database may be accessed by the person or persons to whom the copy is required to be made available:
   (c) by making the copy available in such manner as is prescribed by regulations made under this Act:
   (d) by making the copy available in such other manner as is appropriate in the circumstances.

89 Information on service of certain orders to be communicated to Police
Where any person serves a copy of a protection order, or a copy of any order varying a protection order, on any person (being the respondent or an associated respondent) to whom the standard condition relating to weapons applies, the person so serving the order must, without delay, give notice to the officer in charge of the Police station nearest to where the copy of the order was served, of—
   (a) the place where the copy of the order was so served; and
   (b) the date and time of service.

90 Police to consider exercise of powers under Arms Act 1983
(1) This section applies where a copy of an order, or a copy of a copy of an order, is made available to the officer in charge of a Police station in accordance with section 88(2), except where—
   (a) the order discharges a protection order, and no other protection order is made in substitution for that protection order; or
   (b) the order discharges an order made under Part 3, and no other order under that Part is made in substitution for that order; or
   (c) the order varies an order made under Part 3.
(2) Where this section applies, the officer in charge of the Police station must immediately establish whether or not the respondent and any associated respondent named in the order hold a firearms licence.
(3) Where this section applies, and the officer in charge of the Police station knows that the respondent or any associated respondent, or both, hold a firearms licence (whether that knowledge arises from any inquiries carried out in accordance with subsection (2), or the terms of the protection order, or otherwise howsoever), then, except where the firearms licence is deemed to be revoked pursuant to section 21(2), the officer in charge must arrange for an appropriate person to consider immediately whether or not the powers conferred by sections 27(1) and 27A of the Arms Act 1983 (which relate to the revocation of a firearms licence) should be exercised in that case.
(4) Where this section applies, the officer in charge of the Police station must, in every case, arrange for an appropriate person to consider immediately whether or not the powers conferred by section 60A of the Arms Act 1983 (which relates to the seizure of a firearm in cases of domestic violence) should be exercised in that case.

Appeals
91 Appeals to High Court
(1AA) This subsection applies to a decision of a court, in proceedings under this Act, to—
   (a) make or refuse to make an order; or
   (b) dismiss the proceedings; or
   (c) otherwise finally determine the proceedings.
(1) A party to proceedings in which there is made a decision to which subsection (1AA) applies, or any other person prejudicially affected by the decision, may appeal to the High Court against the decision.
The High Court Rules 2016 and sections 126 to 130 of the District Court Act 2016, with all necessary modifications, apply to an appeal under subsection (1) as if it were an appeal under section 124 of that Act.

On the ex parte application of the appellant, the court appealed from may order that the appellant must not be required under section 126(1) of the District Court Act 2016 to give the Registrar of the High Court security for costs.

Subsection (3) overrides subsection (2).

Subject to section 93, the decision of the High Court on an appeal to that court under this section is final.

Sections 9, 11, and 12, so far as applicable and with the necessary modifications, apply in relation to—

(a) the making and prosecution of an appeal under section 91 or section 93; and

(b) the defending of any such appeal—
as they apply in relation to the making of an application for a protection order.

A party to any appeal under section 91 may, with the leave of the Court of Appeal, appeal to the Court of Appeal against any determination of the High Court on a question of law arising in that appeal.

On an appeal to the Court of Appeal under this section, the Court of Appeal has the same power to adjudicate on the proceedings as the High Court had.

The decision of the Court of Appeal on an appeal to that court under this section, and on an application to it under this section for leave to appeal, is final.

Every appeal under section 91 or section 93 must be heard as soon as practicable after the appeal is lodged.

Except where the court making the order appealed from otherwise directs,—

(a) the operation of an order made under this Act is not suspended by an appeal under section 91 or section 93; and

(b) every order made under this Act may be enforced in the same manner in all respects as if no such appeal were pending.

Enforcement of New Zealand orders overseas

Subject to subsections (2) and (3), the Secretary may request the appropriate court or authority in a foreign country to make arrangements for the enforcement in that country of a protection order made by a New Zealand court.

Where a person wishes a request to be transmitted to a foreign country pursuant to subsection (1), the person must make a request in writing in the first instance to the Registrar of the court in which the protection order was made.

Where, on receiving a request made pursuant to subsection (2), the Registrar is satisfied that—

(a) the request is made by or on behalf of a protected person; and

(b) the request relates to a protection order made by a New Zealand court; and

(c) orders of that nature may be enforced in the foreign country to which the request relates; and

(d) there are reasonable grounds for believing that enforcement of the order in the foreign country is necessary for the protection of the protected person,— the Registrar must send the request to the Secretary for transmission to the foreign country in accordance with subsection (1).

Where, pursuant to this section, a Registrar or the Secretary receives a request for the transmission of a protection order to a foreign country, the Registrar or, as the case requires, the Secretary may require the person by or on whose behalf the request is made to supply to the Registrar or, as the case requires, the Secretary such information or evidence (including certified copies of the order) as may be necessary—

(a) to enable the Registrar to determine whether or not the request satisfies the requirements of subsection (3); and

(b) to secure enforcement of the order in the foreign country.

Where, in relation to a request made under subsection (2), a Registrar or the Secretary imposes a requirement pursuant to subsection (4), the Registrar or, as the case requires, the Secretary may refuse to take any action, or further action, in relation to that request until that requirement is complied with.

Nothing in this section prevents—

(a) a protected person from applying to a court or other appropriate authority in a foreign country for enforcement, in that country, of a protection order; or
(b) the variation or discharge, pursuant to this Act, of a protection order that is enforced in a foreign country.
(7) In this section, the term enforcement includes registration and enforcement; and enforced has a corresponding meaning.

Enforcement of foreign protection orders
97 Registration of foreign protection orders
(1) A foreign protection order may be registered in a court in accordance with this section.
(2) Where the Secretary receives—
(a) a certified copy of a foreign protection order; and
(b) a certificate—
(i) that is signed by an officer of a court in the foreign country in which the order was made; and
(ii) that contains a statement that the order is, at the date of the certificate, enforceable in the foreign country; and
(c) written information tending to show that a person for whose protection the order was made—
(i) is present in New Zealand; or
(ii) is proceeding to New Zealand; or
(iii) is about to proceed to New Zealand,— the Secretary must send the documents to a Registrar of a court for the purposes of registration.
(3) The Registrar of the court must register the foreign protection order by filing a certified copy of the order in the court.
(4) Where the Registrar of a court receives the documents described in subsection (2) other than from the Secretary, the Registrar may register the order if he or she is satisfied that the nature of the documents is such that, if they had been transmitted to the Secretary, they would have been sent to the Registrar by the Secretary.

98 Copies of registered foreign protection orders to be sent to Police
Where a foreign protection order is registered pursuant to section 97, sections 88 to 90 apply—
(a) in relation to that order; and
(b) in relation to any variation of that order pursuant to section 99(c),— as if the foreign protection order were a protection order made under this Act.

99 Effect of registration
Subject to section 101, upon registration pursuant to section 97, a foreign protection order—
(a) has effect; and
(b) may be enforced; and
(c) in the terms in which it has effect in New Zealand, may be varied,— as if it were a protection order made under this Act on the date of registration.

100 Variation of registered foreign protection order
(1) Where, pursuant to section 99(c), a court makes an order varying a foreign protection order, the Registrar of the court—
(a) must, in the prescribed manner, notify the court or the appropriate authority in the country in which the order was made of the variation; and
(b) unless the Registrar is the Registrar of the court in which the foreign protection order is registered, must forward to the Registrar of that court a copy of the order varying the foreign protection order.
(2) The Registrar of the court in which the foreign protection order is registered, on receiving notice of the variation of that order, must note the court records accordingly.

106 Evidence of orders made in foreign country

Nothing in this Part precludes a court from receiving evidence of an order made in a foreign country (whether or not that country is a prescribed foreign country) with respect to the protection of any person from domestic violence.

Part 6

Non-publication of information relating to protected person on public registers

Interpretation

107 Interpretation

In this Part, unless the context otherwise requires,— code of practice or code means a code of practice issued under section 122 direction means a direction made under section 109

Privacy Commissioner means the Privacy Commissioner appointed under the Privacy Act 1993

public register has the same meaning as in section 58 of the Privacy Act 1993 relevant information, in relation to any person, means information that discloses, or is likely to disclose, the whereabouts of that person.

Applications for directions

108 Protected person may apply for direction that identifying information on public register not be publicly available

(1) Where a protection order is in force, any protected person may at any time apply to the agency responsible for administering any public register for a direction that any relevant information—

(a) that relates to that protected person, or to any protected person who is a child of the applicant’s family, or to both; and

(b) that is included, or is about to be included, on that public register—must not be made available to the public.

(2) Every application under subsection (1)—

(a) must be made in the prescribed manner (if any); and

(b) must be made in the prescribed form (if any); and

(c) must, so far as practicable, specify with due particularity the relevant information in respect of which the direction is sought, so that the agency may locate that relevant information.

(3) An agency to which an application is made under subsection (1) must, without delay, and in no case after the expiry of the prescribed period after receiving the application,—

(a) decide, in accordance with section 109, whether the application is to be granted or declined; and

(b) notify the applicant of its decision in accordance with section 110.

109 Agency to determine application

Where an application is made under section 108(1) to an agency, the agency may make the direction sought if the agency is satisfied that—

(a) a protection order is in force in respect of the applicant; and

(b) making the direction would not unduly compromise the public register to which the application relates.

110 Agency to notify applicant of decision

(1) Where an agency makes a decision in respect of an application made under section 108(1), the agency must give written notice of its decision to the applicant.

(2) Where the application is declined, the notice under subsection (1) must—

(a) specify the reasons for the decision; and

(b) notify the applicant of that person’s right to complain to the Privacy Commissioner pursuant to section 118, including the time within which that complaint must be made.

(3) Where an agency makes a direction in relation to a protection order, the agency must also give written notice of that direction to the Registrar of the court that made that protection order.

111 Information not to be disclosed pending determination of application or complaint

Where an application is made, pursuant to section 108(1), to an agency, then unless the application is sooner withdrawn, section 112 applies, as if the direction sought by the applicant had been made, from the expiry of the prescribed period after the date on which the application is received by the agency—

(a) until the expiry of the prescribed period after notice of the agency’s decision on that application is communicated to the applicant; and
(b) where, before the expiry of the period referred to in paragraph (a), the Privacy Commissioner extends the period within which a complaint relating to that decision may be made under section 118, until the expiry of that period as so extended; and
(c) if a complaint relating to that decision is made under section 118, until the complaint is finally dealt with or is withdrawn, whichever occurs first.

Effect of direction
112 Effect of direction
(1) Notwithstanding any other enactment, but subject to section 116 and to any regulations made under this Act, where, in respect of any public register, an agency makes a direction in respect of any relevant information, and for as long as that direction remains in force,—
   (a) that relevant information must not be included in—
   (i) any copy (including a printout) of the whole or any part of the public register; or
   (ii) any index to the register; or
   (iii) any extract from, or certificate as to information recorded on, the register—that is made available to the public after the direction is made; and
   (b) that relevant information must not be made available for inspection by members of the public (other than the person to whom the relevant information relates) who wish to inspect the register or any index to the register; and
   (c) no application made, by or in relation to the person to whom the relevant information relates, for the inclusion of any information on the public register, to the extent that the application contains relevant information relating to that person, must be made available for inspection by members of the public (other than the person to whom the relevant information relates);— but that relevant information is, for all other purposes, deemed to be included on the public register.
(2) The references in paragraphs (a) to (c) of subsection (1) to relevant information relate only to such relevant information relating to the person to whom the direction relates as the agency concerned is reasonably able to identify, having regard to the information provided by the applicant for the direction in his or her application under section 108(1).

113 Direction not applicable to relevant information subsequently included in register
(1) Where, in relation to a public register, a direction applies in relation to relevant information, then—
   (a) paragraphs (a) and (b) of subsection (1) of section 112 apply only in relation to relevant information included, or about to be included, on that public register at the date on which the direction is made; and
   (b) paragraph (c) of that subsection applies only in relation to an application of the kind referred to in that paragraph, where the application has been made before the date on which the direction is made.
(2) One or more directions relating to the same public register may be in force, at the same time, in relation to the same person.

Duration of direction
114 Duration of direction
(1) Where—
   (a) a direction is made in respect of a protection order; and
   (b) at the time the direction is made, the protection order is a final order,— then, unless the direction is sooner revoked or ceases to be in force pursuant to subsection (3), the direction expires at the end of the period of 5 years after the date on which the direction is made.
(2) Where—
   (a) a direction is made in respect of a protection order; and
   (b) at the time the direction is made, the protection order is a temporary order,— the following provisions apply:
   (c) subject to paragraph (d), the direction, unless sooner revoked, expires at the end of the period of 4 months after the date on which the direction is made:
   (d) if, before the expiry of the period referred to in paragraph (c),—
   (i) the applicant for the direction supplies, to the agency by which the direction is made, satisfactory evidence that the temporary protection order has become final by operation of law in accordance with section 77, or a copy of a copy of a final protection order made in substitution for the temporary protection order; or
   (ii) pursuant to section 115, a Registrar notifies the agency that a final protection order has been made in substitution for the temporary protection order,— then, unless the direction is sooner revoked or ceases to be in force pursuant to subsection (3), the direction continues in force and expires at the end of the period of 5 years after the date on which the direction is made.
(3) Where—
A direction made by an agency is in force in respect of a final protection order; and either,—

(i) the person on whose application the direction was made notifies that agency that the protection order has been discharged; or

(ii) pursuant to section 115, a Registrar notifies the agency that the protection order has been discharged,—the direction ceases to be in force on the expiry of the prescribed period after the date on which the agency receives that notification.

(4) Where, on the application of any person, an agency makes a direction, that agency must, on the application of that person, revoke that direction.

(5) The fact that a direction expires or is revoked or ceases to be in force pursuant to this section does not prevent the making of another direction in respect of the same relevant information.

Registrar to notify agency of making or discharge of protection order

Where, in accordance with section 110(3), an agency notifies a Registrar of a court that a direction has been made in relation to a protection order, then,—

(a) in the case of a temporary protection order, on the making of a final protection order in substitution for that temporary order; or

(b) on the discharge of that protection order (whether a temporary order or a final order),— the Registrar of the court that made that substitute order or, as the case requires, discharged the order must, without delay, notify that fact to the agency.

Disclosure of relevant information with consent

116 Disclosure of relevant information with consent of protected person

(1) This section applies to any information the disclosure or making available of which would otherwise be prohibited by section 111 or section 112.

(2) Notwithstanding sections 111 and 112, but subject to subsection (3), where, in respect of any information to which this section applies, the person to whom the information relates—

(a) is requested, in writing, to authorise the agency concerned to disclose or make available some or all of that information; and

(b) gives such authority,—

the information may be disclosed or made available, but only in accordance with, and to the extent permitted by, that authority.

(3) Nothing in this section authorises any information to which this section applies to be disclosed or made available in circumstances in which that information could not, apart from this section, be lawfully disclosed or made available.

Police safety orders

124A Interpretation

In this Part, unless the context otherwise requires,— constable has the meaning given to it by section 4 of the Policing Act 2008

District Court includes a Justice or Justices, or a Community Magistrate or Community Magistrates, presiding over the District Court; but does not include a Registrar.
Police safety order or order means an on-the-spot order issued by a qualified constable under section 124B in the prescribed form.

Qualified constable means a constable who is of or above the level of position of sergeant.

Registrar means any Registrar of the District Court; and includes a Deputy Registrar.

124B Qualified constable may issue Police safety order
(1) A qualified constable may issue an order against a person (person A) who is, or has been, in a domestic relationship with another person (person B) if the constable—
   (a) does not arrest person A for an offence against any enactment involving the use of violence against person B; but
   (b) has reasonable grounds to believe, having regard to the matters specified in subsection (2), that the issue of an order is necessary to ensure the safety of person B.
(2) When considering whether to issue an order against person A, the constable must have regard to the following matters:
   (a) whether, in the circumstances, he or she considers it is likely that—
      (i) person A has used, or is using, domestic violence against person B:
      (ii) person A has used, or is using, domestic violence against any other person with whom he or she has a domestic relationship:
   (b) whether there is a likelihood that person A will use, or again use, domestic violence against person B:
   (c) the welfare of any children residing with person B:
   (d) the hardship that may be caused if the order is issued:
   (e) any other matter the constable considers relevant.
(3) A constable who is not a qualified constable may issue an order under this section only if he or she is specifically authorised by a qualified constable to issue that order.

124C Consent to issue of Police safety order not required
An order may be issued without the consent of the person for whose safety the order is proposed to be issued.

124D Police safety order not to be issued against child
An order may not be issued against a child.

124E Effect of Police safety order
(1) A person against whom an order is issued must immediately—
   (a) surrender to a constable—
      (i) any weapon in his or her possession or control; and
      (ii) any firearms licence held by him or her:
   (b) vacate any land or building occupied by a person at risk, whether or not he or she has a legal or equitable interest in the land or building.
(2) It is a condition of every order that the person against whom the order is issued must not—
   (a) physically or sexually abuse a person at risk; or
   (b) threaten to physically or sexually abuse a person at risk; or
   (c) damage, or threaten to damage, property of a person at risk; or
   (d) engage, or threaten to engage, in other behaviour, including intimidation or harassment, that amounts to psychological abuse of a person at risk; or
   (e) encourage any person to engage in behaviour against a person at risk, where the behaviour, if engaged in by the person against whom the order is issued, would be prohibited by the order; or
   (f) watch, loiter near, or prevent or hinder access to or from the place of residence, business, or employment of a person at risk, or an educational institution attended by a person at risk, or any other place that a person at risk visits often; or
   (g) follow a person at risk about or stop or accost a person at risk in any place; or
   (h) where a person at risk is present on any land or building, enter or remain on that land or building in circumstances that constitute a trespass; or
   (i) make any other contact with a person at risk (whether by telephone, electronic message, correspondence, or otherwise), except such contact as is reasonably necessary in any emergency.
(3) In this section, person at risk means—
   (a) the person named in the order for whose safety the order is issued; and
   (b) any child residing with that person.

124F Suspension of firearms licence on issue of Police safety order
On the issue of an order, and for the period that the order is in force,— any firearms licence held by the person against whom the order is issued is deemed to be suspended; and the person against whom the order is issued is deemed, for all purposes, not to be the holder of a firearms licence.

124G Suspension of parenting orders, etc.
(1) This section applies where—
(a) an order is issued; and
(b) a child is residing with a person named in the order for whose protection the order is issued (a protected child); and
(c) a parenting order or day-to-day care or contact agreement is in force in respect of a protected child; and
(d) the person against whom the order is issued is a party to that parenting order or agreement.
(2) While an order continues in force against any person, the provisions of a parenting order or an agreement affording to that person the day-to-day care of, or contact with, a protected child are suspended.

124H Prompt service of Police safety order required
(1) An order issued under section 124B must be served by a constable as soon as practicable on the person against whom the order is issued.
(2) If an order issued under section 124B has not been served within 48 hours from the time of issue, the order lapses.

124I Detention by constable
(1) A constable who is proposing to issue a Police safety order under section 124B against any person may detain that person for a period, not exceeding 2 hours, that may be necessary to enable the constable to do 1 or more of the following:
(a) obtain authorisation under section 124B(3) to issue the order:
(b) issue the order:
(c) serve the order.
(2) If a person who is detained under subsection (1) fails or refuses to remain at the place where he or she is detained, that person—
(a) commits an offence and is liable on conviction to the penalty specified in subsection (4); and
(b) may be arrested without warrant.
(3) To avoid doubt, subsection (2) applies in respect of a person detained under subsection (1)(a) regardless of whether an order is issued.
(4) The maximum penalty for an offence against subsection (2)(a) is a fine not exceeding $500.
(5) In this section, detain includes move the person to a Police station.

124J Police safety order to be explained
(1) A constable who issues an order must, if and to the extent that it is reasonably practicable to do so in the circumstances, either at the time of issue or service of the order, explain to the person against whom the order is issued—
(a) the purpose, duration, and effect of the order; and
(b) the consequences that may follow if the person against whom the order is issued contravenes the order.
(2) A constable who issues an order must also, either before or after issue and service of the order, explain to the person for whose safety the order is issued the matters set out in subsection (1)(a) and (b).

124K Duration of Police safety order
(1) An order comes into force immediately on being served on the person against whom the order is issued.
(2) An order continues in force for the period specified in the order, but that period must not exceed 5 days.
(3) In considering the period to be specified in the order, the qualified constable must have regard to the matters set out in section 124B(2).

124L Contravention of Police safety order
(1) Subsection (2) applies where a person who has been served with an order refuses or fails to comply with—
(a) the order; or
(b) any condition of the order.
(2) If this subsection applies, a constable may take the person into custody by—
(a) using such force as is reasonably necessary; or
(b) executing a warrant to arrest issued in respect of that person under section 124O(1)(a).
(3) Where a person has been taken into custody under subsection (2), the constable may apply to the District Court, by making a complaint in the prescribed form, for a direction or an order under section 124N.
(4) A person who is taken into custody under subsection (2)(a) must be brought before the District Court within 24 hours.
124M
Issue of summons where person cannot be brought before District Court within 24 hours
(1)
If a person who is taken into custody under section 124L(2)(a) is not brought before the District Court within 24 hours, that person must, at or before the expiry of that period,— (a) be released; and
(b)
be served by a constable with a summons requiring him or her to appear before the District Court at the place and time specified in the summons.
(2)
A summons served under subsection (1)(b) must be in the prescribed form.
(3)
If a person who has been served with a summons under subsection (1)(b) does not attend personally at the place and time specified in the summons, the District Court or a Registrar may issue a warrant, in the prescribed form, to—
(a) arrest him or her; and (b) bring him or her before the court.

124N Jurisdiction of District Court
(1)
If the District Court presided over by 1 or more Justices, or 1 or more Community Magistrates, is satisfied that a person has refused or failed to comply with a Police safety order, the court may,—
(a)
if the order has not expired, direct that another order, which is to continue in force for a period not exceeding 5 days specified by the court, be—(i) issued against the person in substitution of the earlier order for the safety of the person named in the earlier order; and (ii) served by a constable or officer of the court as soon as practicable; or (b)
if the order has expired, direct that another order, which is to continue in force for a period not exceeding 5 days specified by the court, be—(i) issued against the person for the safety of the person named in the earlier order; and (ii) served by a constable or officer of the court as soon as practicable; or (c)
if it considers it appropriate in the circumstances to do so,— (i) adjourn the proceedings to a specified time and place to enable a District Court Judge to consider whether a temporary protection order should be issued under subsection (2)(b); and make a direction of the kind specified in paragraph (a) or (b), as the case may require.
(ii)
(2)
If the District Court presided over by a District Court Judge is satisfied that a person has refused or failed to comply with a Police safety order, the Judge may—
(a) make a direction of the kind specified in subsection (1)(a) or (b); or (b) issue, without application from any person, a temporary protection order under section 14 as if—(i) every reference in that section to the respondent were a reference to the person who the Judge is satisfied has refused or failed to comply with the Police safety order (person R); and (ii)
every reference in that section to the applicant were a reference to the person named in the Police safety order for whose safety the order was issued (person S).
(3)
A District Court Judge may issue a temporary protection order under subsection (2)(b) in the absence of person R, person S, or both.
(4)
Subsection (2)(b) is subject to subsection (5).
(5)
A District Court Judge may only issue an order of the kind referred to in subsection (2)(b) if person S—(a) does not object; and (b)
has not made an application for a protection order against person R that is currently pending determination by a court.
(6)
Where the court makes a direction of the kind specified in subsection (1)(a) or (b), the court may direct that the person against whom the order is to be issued be detained in the custody of the court for a period, not exceeding 2 hours, that may be necessary to enable the order to be issued and served on that person.

124O
Issue of warrant to arrest person who contravenes Police safety order or fails to attend adjourned proceedings
(1)
Subsection (2) applies if—
(a) a person against whom a Police safety order is issued refuses or fails to comply with the order, or any condition of the order; or (b) a person who the District Court is satisfied has refused or failed to comply with a Police safety order does not attend personally at the time and place to which proceedings have been adjourned under section 124N(1)(c)(i).
(2)
The District Court or a Registrar may issue a warrant in the prescribed form.
(3)
A warrant to arrest a person under this section—
(a) must be directed either—
(i) specifically to a constable; or (ii) generally to every constable; but
(b) may be executed by any constable.

(4) For the purpose of executing a warrant issued under this section, the constable executing it may at any time enter on to any premises, by force if necessary, if the constable has reasonable grounds to believe that the person against whom it is issued is on those premises.

(5) The constable executing the warrant—
(a) must have the warrant with him or her; and
(b) must produce it on initial entry and, if requested, at any subsequent time; and
(c) if he or she is not in uniform, produce evidence that he or she is a constable.

(6) A person who is arrested under this section must, as soon as possible, be brought before the District Court to enable it to exercise its jurisdiction under section 124N.

124P Protection order to be issued and served
(1) Where the District Court makes a temporary protection order under section 124N(2)(b), the Registrar of that court must—
(a) immediately issue the order; and
(b) wherever practicable, serve a copy of the order on the person against whom the order is made before that person leaves the court.

(2) For the purpose of subsection (1), the court may direct that the person against whom the order is made be detained in the custody of the court for a period, not exceeding 2 hours, that may be necessary to enable the order to be issued and a copy served on that person.

124Q Protection order to be sent to Family Court
(1) Immediately after the issue of a protection order under section 124N, the District Court must send a copy of the order to the Family Court nearest to the residence of the person for whose safety the Police safety order and temporary protection order were issued.

(2) On receipt of a copy of an order under subsection (1), the Registrar of the Family Court must enter the order in the records of the Family Court.

124R Protection order treated as if made by Family Court
As soon as an order has been entered in the records of the Family Court under section 124Q(2), the order is to be treated as if it were a temporary protection order made by that court.

124S Police employees, etc, protected from proceedings
No action or proceedings may be brought against the Crown or any constable in respect of any thing done, or omitted to be done, for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this Part, where the Crown or the constable acted in good faith and with reasonable care.

45. NICARAGUA

Integral Law on Violence against Women and to Reform Law No. 641 "Penal Code", 2012

The President of the Republic of Nicaragua

To its inhabitants, be aware:

That

The National Assembly

WHEREAS

I

The existing regulations to stop gender-based violence against women have not obtained the results sought for the effective protection of their life, liberty and personal integrity, for which the enactment of an autonomous law of a special nature is indispensable to comprehensively addresses this problem, typifying and sanctioning the different manifestations of violence against women.

II

The State of Nicaragua has signed and ratified several international instruments such as the "Convention for the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women," the "Inter-American Convention on the Prevention, Punishment and Eradication of Violence against Women," the "Convention on the Rights of the Child ", and the" International Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities ", among others. These instruments oblige the State to establish special rules that ensure effective equality before the Law, to eliminate discrimination and explicitly prohibit violence against women in any of its manifestations.

III

The Political Constitution of the Republic of Nicaragua establishes the constitutional recognition of human rights, individual rights, the right to life, physical, mental and moral integrity, not to be subjected to torture, to honor, to dignity, to personal freedom, security, legal capacity; it also broadly recognizes the rights of detainees and defendants; however, it is necessary to establish minimum guarantees for the victims of crimes.

THEREFORE

in use of its powers,

HAS ADOPTED

The following:

COMPREHENSIVE LAW AGAINST VIOLENCE TOWARDS WOMEN AND REFORMS TO LAW No. 641, "PENAL CODE"

TITLE I

PROVISIONS AND GENERAL PRINCIPLES

Chapter I

Object, scope and policies

---

The purpose of this Law is to act against violence against women, with the purpose of protecting the human rights of women and guaranteeing them a life free of violence, which improves their development and well-being according to the principles of equality and non-discrimination; establish comprehensive protection measures to prevent, punish and eradicate violence and provide assistance to women victims of violence, promoting changes in the sociocultural and patriarchal patterns that sustain power relations.

Art. 2. Scope of application of the Law

The present Law will be applied both in the public and in the private sphere to those who commit violence against women in an isolated manner or repeatedly. The effects of this Law will be applicable to whoever is or has been linked by relationship of consanguinity, affinity, subject to guardianship, spouse, ex-spouse, cohabitant in a stable union, ex-partner in stable union, boyfriends, ex-boyfriends, affective relationship, strangers, as well as any other interpersonal relationship that can generate this type of violence.

Violence in the public sphere: is an act or omission, intentional or reckless, that takes place in the community, in the workplace or in an institution or any other place, and that is perpetrated against the rights of women by any person or by the State, authorities or public officials.

Violence in the private sphere: is the one that occurs within the family or in any other interpersonal relationship, whether the aggressor shares or has shared the same address as the woman.

Art. 3. Public policies of integral protection of the victim of violence

The State through the competent organ shall:

a) Guarantee to all women, the effective exercise of their rights, ensuring their rapid, transparent and effective access to the services established for that purpose.

b) Strengthen and promote dissemination and awareness campaigns on violence against women, informing about the rights, resources and public and private services to prevent, punish and eradicate it.

c) Improve public policies on prevention of violence against women and eradicate gender discrimination; develop, implement and monitor an action plan for the prevention, punishment, awareness and eradication of violence against women.

d) Guarantee economic, professional, technological, scientific and other resources to the State institutions to ensure the awareness, prevention and eradication of violence against women, as well as the appropriate sanction to those responsible for it and the implementation of socio-educational measures to avoid recidivism.

e) Generate and reinforce minimum standards for early detection and addressing violence, in accordance with the purpose of the Law, in information, care, emergency, protection, support, shelter and integral recovery services, as well as establishing a system for the most effective coordination of existing services at the municipal, departmental, regional and national levels.

f) Promote the collaboration and participation of entities, associations and organizations that act against violence against women from civil society.

g) Promote permanent training and specialization of justice operators, who intervene in the process of information, care and protection for victims.

h) Promote the permanent training and specialization of the officials of the Women's and Children's Commissariat, and of the Public Prosecution.

i) Establish and strengthen emergency and protective measures that guarantee the rights protected in this Law, as well as the personal, physical, emotional, labor and patrimonial protection of women victims of violence.

j) Open a free and accessible telephone line connected to the police agencies and the Public Prosecutor's Office, intended to provide information and advice on existing resources in terms of prevention of violence against women and assistance to those who suffer from it.
Chapter II
Principles, sources and rights

Art. 4. Guiding principles of the Law

The guiding principles contained in this article are established in order to guarantee the legal equality of persons, in accordance with the international instruments subscribed and ratified by the Republic of Nicaragua:

a) Principle of access to justice: State institutions, justice system operators and community authorities must guarantee women, without any distinction, effective access to the services and resources they grant, eliminating all types of barriers and obstacles of any kind that prevent this access.

b) Principle of speed: The procedure established by this Law must be processed quickly, promptly and without any delay, until a resolution is obtained within the established deadlines, failure to comply with the responsibilities of the officials leads to administrative measures and sanctions, as applicable.

c) Principle of concentration: Once the trial has begun, it must conclude on the same day when all the evidence provided by the parties is presented. If this is not possible, it will continue for the least number of consecutive days in accordance with the provisions of articles 288 and 289 of Law No. 406, "Criminal Procedure Code of the Republic of Nicaragua".

d) Principle of inter-institutional coordination: Ensure that the service providers of the Women’s and Children’s Commissariat, Public Prosecutor’s Office, Public Defender’s Office, Institute of Legal Medicine, Judicial Power, Women’s Special Procurator’s Office, Special Prosecutor’s Office for Children, Ministry of Education, Ministry of Health, Ministry of Family, Adolescence and Childhood, Ministry of Women, National Penitentiary System and municipal authorities coordinate actions that require the protection of people affected by violence.

e) Principle of real equality: Any action of the justice system will seek to achieve equality of people without any distinction for reasons of gender, age, ethnicity and disability. Ensuring respect and protection of human rights, taking into account cultural, economic, physical and social differences that prevail among themselves, to resolve issues with equality criteria.

f) Holistic principle: The protection of women who experience violence requires medical, legal, psychological and social attention in a comprehensive and timely manner to detect, protect and restore rights.

g) Principle of due diligence of the State: The State has the obligation to act with due diligence to prevent, investigate, punish and eradicate violence against women, in order to guarantee the life, safety and protection of victims of violence.

h) Principle of the best interests of the child: The best interests of the boy, girl or adolescent are understood to be those that favor their full physical, psychological, moral, cultural and social development, in accordance with the evolution of their faculties that benefit them in the maximum degree and especially the recognition, validity, satisfaction and enjoyment of their rights, liberties and guarantees in an integrated manner.

i) Principle of non-discrimination: Is the elimination of all distinctions, exclusions or restrictions based on birth, nationality, political belief, race, age, sex, language, religion, opinion, origin, economic position, social status, disability, whose objective or result is to diminish or suppress the recognition, enjoyment or exercise of human rights and fundamental freedoms. Actions or omissions that have no intention of discriminating but have a discriminatory result are also discrimination.

j) Principle of no secondary victimization: The State must guarantee that the authorities that integrate the justice system and other institutions that attend, prevent, investigate and punish violence, must deploy special prevention measures to avoid situations of incomprehension, unnecessary reiterations and discomfort that can be applied to the victims.

k) Principle of non-violence: Violence against women constitutes a violation of fundamental freedoms, limiting all or part of the recognition, enjoyment and exercise of human rights.

l) Principle of full gender equality: Gender relations should be based on the full equality of men and women and should not be based on a relationship of power or domination, in which a man subordinates, submits or seeks to control the woman.
m) Principle of protection for victims: The victims of the punishable acts described here have the right to access the courts for free and must be treated promptly, without undue delay or useless formalities and obtain a resolution in the deadlines established by the Law, without detriment to the rights of the accused or accused persons.

n) Principle of publicity: The trial will be public, unless at the request of the victim of violence, the court decides that it is held totally or partially behind closed doors, the victim must be informed in advance and in a timely manner so to be able to make use of her rights.

ñ) Compensation principle: The administration of justice will guarantee the necessary mechanisms to ensure that the victim of violence has effective access to compensation and reparation for damage or other just and effective means of compensation as part of the restoration process of her well-being.

Art. 5. Sources of interpretation

Are sources of interpretation of this Law, the Political Constitution of the Republic of Nicaragua, international codes, laws and human rights instruments signed and ratified by the State of Nicaragua.

In particular, the following are sources of interpretation for this law:

a) The Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women; and

b) Guarantee research and the preparation of statistical diagnostics on causes, frequencies and consequences of violence against women, in order to define the measures to be implemented to prevent, address, punish and eradicate all types of violence;

c) Publish every six months the general and statistical information on cases of violence against women; and
d) Promote a culture of reporting violence against women within the framework of the effectiveness of institutions, to guarantee their safety and integrity.

The State institutions within the framework of their competence shall comply with the measures established in this Law, without prejudice to the participation of civil society in order to comply with them.

Chapter II

Nature and actions of preliminary and precautionary measures

Art. 23. Preventive nature

Preliminary and precautionary measures are preventive in nature, to protect the female victim who has been aggressed in her physical, psychological, sexual and patrimonial integrity, as well as any action that violates or threatens the rights contemplated in this Law, avoiding thus new acts of violence.

Art. 24. Precautionary measures

When faced with actions or omissions that may constitute crimes referred to in this Law, the National Police through the Women's and Children's Commissariat, the heads of district and municipal delegations or the Public Prosecutor's Office, may order and adopt the following precautionary measures:

a) Order the immediate abandonment of the home by the alleged aggressor, regardless of its ownership, since violence is a risk to the physical, mental, sexual and patrimonial integrity of a woman. The aggressor will not be able to remove the household goods or assets. He will only be authorized to take his personal goods, tools, work and study tools;

b) Prohibit or restrict the presence of the alleged aggressor in the house, work center, study places usually frequented by the woman or any place where she is, within a minimum radius of two hundred meters. When the alleged aggressor and the victim work or study in the same center, this measure will be ordered and adapted to guarantee the integrity of the woman;

c) Order the reinstatement of the woman to the address where she is prevented from entering or from where she was expelled with violence, intimidation or any means of coercion, regardless of the ownership of the real estate. In the same resolution the exit of the alleged aggressor will be ordered;

d) Guarantee the necessary medical, psychological and psychiatric attention to the victim;

e) Order the medical, psychological and social examination of children and adolescents who are direct and indirect victims of acts of violence and give them due attention;

f) Request the intervention of the Ministry of Family, Adolescence and Children in case of denunciation of a violation of children's rights. Likewise, the collaboration of specialized organizations that provide support, protection, advice, counseling and necessary follow-up may be requested;

g) Prohibit the alleged aggressor from carrying out acts of intimidation, persecution, harassment or disturbance against the woman, any member of the family group or persons related to the complainant, either by herself or through third parties, by any electronic means, written and visual audio;

h) Abduct and immediately retain firearms or sharp and blunt weapons that are in the hands of the alleged aggressor, regardless of whether or not he carries a permit; and of his profession or trade. In all cases the weapons retained must be remitted to the National Police and their destination determined in accordance with the provisions of Law No. 510, "Special Law for the Control and Regulation of Firearms, Ammunition, Explosives and Other Related Materials," Law No. 228, "Law of the National Police" and Law No. 406, "Criminal Procedure Code of the Republic of Nicaragua" and Law No. 641, "Penal Code";

i) Prohibit the alleged aggressor from introducing or maintaining weapons in the dwelling to intimidate, threaten or cause harm to any of the members of the family group.

j) To create an inventory of the personal property existing in the family home, in order to safeguard the patrimony of the woman and her children. This measure will be executed when the measure of literal a) and c) of this article is applied; and
k) Order that the woman can take with her, those goods that guarantee her well-being and the family group’s well-being, if she decides, for security reasons, to leave the home she shares with the aggressor.

The above measures can only be adopted by observing criteria of proportionality, rationality, necessity and urgency.

Art. 25. Precautionary measures

The judge or the court at the request of the Public Prosecutor or the victim constituted as a private party, may order the following precautionary measures:

a) Order the alleged aggressor to undergo the psychological or psychiatric treatment that the judge deems necessary;

b) Impose to the alleged aggressor that he provide sufficient guarantees as determined by the judge to compensate the possible damages caused to the woman;

c) Provisionally grant the guardianship of children, adolescents or persons with disabilities to whomever he considers suitable for such a function, if it was entrusted to the alleged aggressor, in case they are involved at the time of the commission of any of the crimes contained in the present Law;

d) Impose on the alleged aggressor the obligation to provide the woman victim of violence, the necessary support to guarantee her subsistence, in the event that she does not have the financial means to do so and there is a dependency relationship with the alleged aggressor. The application of this measure will be of a provisional nature according to the time fixed for its validity in this Law;

e) Impose on the alleged aggressor the obligation to provide sons and daughters with food that guarantee their subsistence, until the competent authority dictates the way of assessing the food in harmony with the provisions of the Law on the matter;

f) Suspend the right of the alleged aggressor to visit his children and interfere in the exercise of guardianship, care, upbringing and education, when they have been victims of violence or when they find themselves under the tutelage of the mother who has been a victim of violence, whether they are in their home, shelter or any other place that provides security;

h) Guarantee the exercise of legal actions in matters of food prohibiting the aggressor from holding acts and contracts on movable and immovable property, as well as the displacement of the movable property of the common residence to any other place. The judge will make an inventory of said assets, both at the time of issuing these measures and when suspending them;

i) Prohibit the aggressor from approaching the protected person in any place where he is, as well as approaching his home, his place of work or any other that is frequented by her. The judge will set a minimum distance between the aggressor and the victim that cannot be exceeded under penalty of incurring criminal responsibility. The removal measure may be agreed independently of the fact that the person affected or those whom they intend to protect had previously left the place;

j) Prohibit the aggressor from communicating with the persons indicated, under penalty of incurring criminal responsibility;

k) Prevent the aggressor for carrying weapons;

l) Suspend the aggressor if he holds public office, when the fact for which he is being investigated has to do with the functions he performs; and

m) Order the prohibition to migrate for the alleged aggressor.

TITLE IV
PROCEDURE AND APPLICATION OF PRELIMINARY AND PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES

Chapter I
Duration of precautionary measures
Art. 26. Duration of precautionary measures

The preliminary measures shall be applied at the request of the victim or offended person or by any person or institution acting on their behalf, in a preventive manner for a maximum period of twenty days, which may be extended once only. The resolution that orders the measures or the extension of these must be dictated in a motivated manner.

Once the corresponding process has begun, be it in criminal or family proceedings, at the request of the judge, the judge will decide on the maintenance of all or some of the precautionary measures that apply, according to the nature of the proceeding under his jurisdiction.

In its resolution the judge ratifies precautionary measures and order precautionary measures, he will do so with due motivation, justifying that they are proportional and necessary, establishing the term, which may not be longer than one year.

The judge must examine the need for the maintenance of the measures every three months and when the circumstances cease or change substantially, he will replace them with other measures to be less burdensome. At any time, the extraordinary review of measures will proceed, at the request of one party.

Chapter II
Request, implementation and competence of precautionary measures

Art. 27. Of the request for precautionary measures

In the claim itself, the victim or offended, any person or institution acting on behalf of her, may request orally or in writing the application of precautionary measures before the competent authority, in both cases the authority that receives the request, will prepare a document that must contain:

a) Names, surnames and address of the victim;

b) Identification data of the alleged aggressor, and address if known;

c) List of the facts denounced and indicate the evidence that supports them;

d) Description of the applicable precautionary measures; and

e) Place to receive notifications.

Art. 28. Application of precautionary measures

Once the request has been presented, the competent authority will immediately order the application of any of the measures requested. However, without prejudice to what is requested by the party, the competent authority may order ex officio the application of other measures based on the protection of the physical, psychological, sexual and patrimonial integrity of the victim.

The resolution ordering the application of a precautionary measure must be notified and executed within the following twenty-four hours and no appeal will be made against it.

The resolution will be notified to the accused, in person, through the Police Station for Women and Children or the Directorate of Judicial Assistance of the National Police or the Public Prosecutor’s Office. The notification may be made at the address or in any place where the alleged aggressor is located and at any time for the offenses established in this Law.

Art. 29. Body competent for the execution and surveillance of preliminary and precautionary measures

During the time of the execution of preliminary and precautionary measures, the authority that dictates them must follow up on them.

For the enforcement and implementation of precautionary measures issued by the judicial authority, it will be assisted by the Police Station for Women and Children or the Directorate of Judicial Assistance of the National Police.
In case of non-compliance with any of the measures established in this Law by the alleged aggressor, an investigation will be opened for the crime of disobedience or contempt of authority.

PART II - JURISDICTION OF THE COURT

Jurisdiction

27. Only the High Court of the Federal Capital Territory, Abuja empowered by an Act of Parliament shall have the jurisdiction to hear and grant any application brought under this Act

Application of Protection Order

28. (1) An application for a protection order may, be made before the High Court following a complaint of violence by the complainant and such order, if granted, shall be effective throughout the Federal Republic of Nigeria and no time limit or prescription shall apply in relation to a person seeking to apply for such protection order.

(2) Any complainant may, in the prescribed manner, apply to the Court for a protection order.

(3) If the complainant is not represented by counsel, the police officer with whom a complaint of violence has been lodged shall inform the complainant of the remedies he or she may be entitled to under this Act including the right to lodge a criminal complaint against the respondent if a criminal offence has been committed under this Act.

(4) Notwithstanding the provisions of any other law, the application may be brought on behalf of the complainant by any other person, including a police officer, a protection officer, an accredited service provider, a counsellor, health service provider, social worker or teacher who has interest in the well-being of the complainant.

Provided that the application shall be brought with the written consent of the complainant, except in circumstances where the complainant is -

(a) A minor;

(b) Mentally retarded;

(c) Unconscious; or

(d) A person who the court is satisfied is unable to provide the required consent.

(5) Notwithstanding the provisions of any other law, any minor, or any person on behalf of a minor, may apply to the Court for a protection order without the assistance of a parent guardian or any other person and supporting affidavit by persons who have knowledge of the matter concerned may accompany the application.

(6) The application and affidavits shall be filed in Court.

Consideration of Application

29.(1) The Court shall as soon as is reasonably possible, consider an application submitted to it under section 30 (6) of this Act and may, for that purpose, consider such additional evidence as it deems fit, including oral evidence or evidence by affidavit, which shall form part of the record of the proceedings.

(2) If the Court is satisfied that there is prima facie evidence that the respondent is committing, has committed or that there is imminent likelihood that he may commit an act of domestic violence, the Court shall, notwithstanding the fact that the respondent has not been given notice of the proceedings contemplated in subsection (1) of this section, issue an interim protection order against the respondent, in the prescribed manner.

(3) An interim protection order shall be served on the respondent in the prescribed manner and must call on the respondent to show cause on the return date, specified in the order why a protection order should not be issued.
(4) A copy of the application referred to in section of this Act and the record of any evidence taken under subsection (1) of this section shall be served on the respondent together with the interim protection order.

(5) If the Court does not issue an interim protection order under subsection (2) of this section, the Court shall direct the Registrar of the Court to cause certified copies of the application concerned and any supporting affidavit to be served on the respondent in the prescribed manner, together with a prescribed notice calling on the respondent to show cause on the return date, specified in the notice, why a protection order should not be issued.

(6) An interim protection order shall be served on the respondent in the prescribed manner and shall call on the respondent to show cause on the return date, specified in the order why a protection order, should not be issued.

(7) The return dates referred to in subsections (3) and (5) of this section may not be less than 5 days after service has been effected upon the respondent.

Issuing of Protection Orders

30. (1) If the respondent does not appear on a return date contemplated in section 29 (3) or (5) of this Act, and if the Court is satisfied that-

(a) proper service has been effected on the respondent, and
(b) the application contains a prima facie evidence that the respondent has committed, is committing or that there is an imminent likelihood that he may commit an act of domestic violence, the court shall issue a protection order in the prescribed form.

(2) If the respondent appears on the return date in order to oppose the issuing of a protection order, the court shall proceed to hear the matter and consider -

(a) any evidence previously received under section 29 (1) of this Act; and
(b) such further affidavits or oral evidence as it may direct, which shall form part of the record of the proceedings.

(3) The Court may, on its own accord or on the request of the complainant, if it is of the opinion that it is just or desirable to do so, order that in the examination of witnesses, including the complainant, a respondent who is not represented by a legal practitioner-

(a) is not entitled to cross-examine directly a person who is in a domestic relationship with the respondent; and
(b) shall put any question to such a witness by stating the question to the Court, and the court is to repeat the question accurately to the witness.

(4) The Court shall, after a hearing as contemplated in subsection (2) of this section, issue a protection order in the prescribed form if it finds, on a balance of probabilities, that the respondent has committed, is committing or that there is an imminent likelihood that he may commit an act of domestic violence.

(5) Upon the issuing of a protection order, the Registrar of the Court shall, in the prescribed manner, cause-

(a) the original of such order to be served on the respondent; and
(b) a certified copy of such order, and the original warrant of arrest contemplated in section 33 (1) (a), to be served on the complainant.

(6) The Registrar of the Court shall, in the prescribed manner, forward certified copies of any protection order and of the warrant of arrest contemplated in section 33 (1) (a) to the police station of the complainant’s choice.

(7) Subject to the provisions of section 31 (7) of this Act, a protection order issued under this section remains in force until it is set aside, and the execution of such order shall not be automatically suspended upon the filing of an appeal.

Court’s Powers in Respect of Protection Orders

31. (1) The Court may, by means of a protection order referred to in section 48 or 29 of this Act, prohibit the respondent from-

(a) committing any act of domestic violence;
(b) enlisting the help of another person to commit any such act;
(c) entering a shared household provided that the court may impose this prohibition only if it appears to be in the best interests of the complainant;
(d) entering a specified part of such a shared household;
(e) entering the complainant’s residence;
(f) entering the complainant’s place of employment;
(g) preventing the complainant from entering or remaining in the shared household or a specified part of the shared household;
(h) alienating or disposing the shared household or encumbering same;
(i) renouncing his or her rights in the shared household except in favour of the complainant; or
(j) committing any other act as specified in the protection order.

(2) The Court may impose any additional condition, which it deems reasonably necessary to protect and provide for the safety, health or well-being of the complainant, including an order-

(a) to seize any arm or dangerous weapon in the possession or under the control of the respondent;
(b) that a police officer shall accompany the complainant to a specified place to assist with arrangements regarding the collection of personal property;
(c) directing the respondent to secure alternative accommodation for the complainant;
(d) order a temporal relocation to any safe place as may be deem fit in the interest of the complainant; or
(e) approve a mediation channel upon submission by the complainant.
(3) In ordering a prohibition under subsection 1 (c) of this section, the Court may impose on the respondent obligations as to the discharge of rent or mortgage payments having regard to the financial needs and resources of the complainant and the respondent.
(4) The Court may order the respondent to pay emergency monetary relief having regard to the financial needs and resources of the complainant and the respondent, and such order has the effect of a civil judgment of a court.
(5) The Court may issue any direction to ensure that the complainant's physical address is not disclosed in any manner, which may endanger the safety, health or well-being of the complainant.
(6) If the court is satisfied that it is in the best interests of any child, it may:-
(a) refuse the respondent contact with such child; or
(b) order contact with such child on such conditions as it may consider appropriate.
(7) The Court may not refuse to issue a protection order or impose any condition or make any order which it is competent to impose or make under this section, merely on the grounds that other legal remedies are available to the complainant.
(8) If the Court is of the opinion that any provision of a protection order deals with a matter that should, in the interests of justice, be dealt with further under any other relevant law, including the Matrimonial Causes Act, Cap. M7 Laws of the Federation, 2004, Child's Rights Act, the Court shall order that such a provision shall be in force for such limited period as the court determines, in order to afford the party concerned the opportunity to seek appropriate relief under such law.

Power of Police
32. (1) A police officer, at the scene of an incident of violence or as soon thereafter as reasonably possible or to whom a report of violence has been made, shall have the duty of-
(a) assisting a victim of violence to file a complaint regarding the violence;
(b) providing or arranging safe transport for the victim to an alternative residence, safe place or shelter where such is required;
(c) providing or arranging transportation for the victim to the nearest hospital or medical facility for treatment of injuries where such treatment is needed;
(d) explaining to the victim his or her rights to protection against violence and remedies available in terms of this Act;
(e) explaining to the victim that he or she has the right to lodge a criminal complaint in addition to any remedy provided under this Act; and
(f) accompanying the victim to victim's residence to collect personal belongings.
(2) A police officer may, without an order from the Court or a warrant of arrest, arrest any person whom-
(a) he or she suspects upon reasonable grounds to have committed any of the offences under Part 1 of this Act; and
(b) a complaint has been made for having committed any of the offences under Part I of this Act.
(3) A police officer in carrying out his or her duties under this Act shall have the power to-
(a) remove or supervise the removal of a person excluded from a shared residence where the court has issued such an order under this Act;
(b) remove or supervise the removal of any dangerous weapon used in order to commit an act of violence as contemplated in this Act;
(c) collect and store fingerprints including DNA of accused and convicted offenders; and
(d) perform any other act considered necessary in order to ensure the safety and well-being of the complainant.

Warrant of Arrest upon Issuing Protection Order
33. (1) Whenever a court issues a protection order, the court shall make an order-
(a) authorizing the issue of a warrant for the arrest of the respondent, in the prescribed form; and
(b) suspending the execution of such warrant subject to compliance with any prohibition, condition, obligation or order imposed under section 31 of this Act.
(2) The warrant referred to in subsection (1)(a) of this section remains in force unless the protection order is set aside, or it is cancelled after execution.
(3) The Registrar of the Court shall issue the complainant with a second or further warrant of arrest, if the complainant files an affidavit in the prescribed form in which it is stated that such warrant is required for her or his protection and that the existing warrant of arrest has been-
(a) executed or cancelled; or
(b) lost or destroyed.
(4) A complainant may hand the warrant of arrest together with an affidavit in the prescribed form, where it is stated that the respondent has contravened any prohibition, condition, obligation or order contained in a protection order, to any police officer.

(5) If it appears to the police officer concerned that, subject to subsection (5), there are reasonable grounds to suspect that the complainant may suffer imminent harm as a result of the alleged breach of the protection order by the respondent, the police officer shall forthwith arrest the respondent for allegedly committing the offence referred to in Part I of this Act.

(6) If the police officer concerned is of the opinion that there are insufficient grounds for arresting the respondent under subsection (5), he or she shall hand a written notice to the respondent which-

(a) specifies the name, the residential address and the occupation or status of the respondent;
(b) calls upon the respondent to appear before a court, and on the date and at the time specified in the notice, on a charge of committing the offence referred to in section 31 (1); and
(c) contains a certificate signed by the police officer concerned to the effect that he or she handed the original notice to the respondent and that he or she explained the import thereof to the respondent.

(7) The police officer shall forward a duplicate original of a notice referred to in subsection (6) to the Registrar of the Court concerned, and the mere production in the Court of such a duplicate original shall be a prima facie proof that the original was handed to the respondent specified therein.

(8) In considering whether or not the complainant may suffer imminent harm, as contemplated in subsection (5), the police officer shall take into account the-

(a) risk to the safety, health or well-being of the complainant;
(b) seriousness of the conduct comprising an alleged breach of the protection order; and
(c) length of time since the alleged breach occurred.

(9) Whenever a warrant of arrest is handed to a police officer under subsection (4) (a) of his section, the police officer shall inform the complainant of his or her right to

Variation or Setting aside of Protection Order

34. (1) A complainant or a respondent may, upon written notice to the other party and the court concerned, apply for the variation or setting aside of a protection order referred to in section 30 in the prescribed manner.

(2) If the Court is satisfied that a good cause has been shown for the variation or setting aside of the protection order, it may issue an order to this effect, provided that the Court shall not grant such an application to the complainant unless it is satisfied that the application is made freely and voluntarily.

(3) The Registrar of the Court shall forward a notice as prescribed to the complainant and the respondent if the protection order is varied or set aside as contemplated in subsection (1) of this section.

Discharge

35. Where a protection order has been made, any of the following persons may apply to have it discharged-

(a) if the application for the order was made by a commissioner in respect of any dependent person by -

49. PALAU

Family Protection Act, 2012

AN ACT

To offer protection and create effective remedies to deter acts of family violence, expand and strengthen the ability of police officers to assist family violence victims, enforce the law effectively against family abusers, and establish family violence as a serious crime which will not be excused or tolerated, by bringing to bear strong law enforcement and appropriate legal penalties for acts of family violence and abuse, and for other related purposes.

[...]

Section 1. Short Title. This Act shall be known and may be cited as the APalau Family Protection Act.

Section 2. Legislative Findings. The Olbiil Era Kelulau finds and declares that: family violence, is a serious crime against society; the number of people in Palau who are regularly abused by family members is unacceptably high; a significant number of women who are assaulted are pregnant; victims of family violence comes from all social and economic backgrounds and ethnic groups; spousal abuse is often accompanied by child abuse; and that children, even when they are not themselves physically assaulted, can suffer deep and lasting emotional effects from exposure to abuse and violence within a family. Furthermore, family violence is not limited to just the better known physical violence, but can also be emotional, psychological, and spiritual. It is therefore the intent of the Olbiil Era Kelulau to ensure the victims of family violence receive the maximum protection under the law.

The Olbiil Era Kelulau further finds and declares that, even though many of the existing criminal statutes are applicable to acts of family violence, this Family Protection Act will beneficially re-focus law enforcement specifically on family violence and help to improve the Republic=s ability to respond to the needs of family violence victims.

Section 3. Amendment. Title 21 of the Palau National Code, entitled, A Domestic Relations shall be amended to add a new Chapter, which shall state as follows:

CHAPTER 8
OFFENSES AGAINST THE FAMILY AND AGAINST INCOMPETENTS PART I - GENERAL OFFENSES

800. Definitions

[...]

In this part, unless a different meaning plainly is required:
A Bodily injury means physical pain, illness, or any impairment of physical condition.
A Dating relationship means a romantic, courtship, or engagement relationship, often but not necessarily characterized by actions of an intimate or sexual nature, but does not include a casual acquaintanceship or ordinary fraternization between persons in a business or social context.
A Incompetent person means a person who because of disease, disorder or defect is unable to care for himself or herself.
A Minor means a person less than eighteen years of age.
A Serious bodily injury means bodily injury that creates a substantial risk of death or that causes serious, permanent disfigurement, or protracted loss or impairment of the function of any bodily member or organ.
A Substantial bodily injury means bodily injury which causes:
(1) A major avulsion, laceration, or penetration of the skin;
(2) A burn of at least second degree severity;
(3) A bone fracture;
(4) A serious concussion; or
(5) A tearing, rupture, or corrosive damage to the esophagus, viscera, or other internal organs.

801. Endangering the welfare of a minor in the first degree.
(a) Except as provided in subsection (b) below, a person commits the offense of endangering the welfare of a minor in the first degree if, having care or custody of a minor, the person:
(1) Intentionally or knowingly allows another person to inflict serious or substantial bodily injury on the minor; or
(2) Intentionally or knowingly causes or permits the minor to inject, ingest, inhale, or otherwise introduce into the minor=s body any controlled substance listed in 34 PNC Chapter 31 that has not been prescribed by a physician for the minor.
(b) It shall be a defense to prosecution under 21 PNC sections 801(a)(1) if, at the time the person allowed another to inflict serious or substantial bodily injury on a minor, the person reasonably believed the person would incur serious or substantial bodily injury in acting to prevent the infliction of serious or substantial bodily injury on the minor.
(c) Endangering the welfare of a minor in the first degree is a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned for a period of not more than five years, or fined up to ten-thousand dollars ($10,000), or both.

802. Endangering the welfare of a minor in the second degree.
(a) Except as provided in 21 PNC section 801(b) above, a person commits the offense of endangering the welfare of a minor in the second degree if, having care or custody of a minor, the person:
(1) Recklessly allows another person to inflict serious or substantial bodily injury on the minor; or
(2) Recklessly causes or permits the minor to inject, ingest, inhale, or otherwise introduce into the minor=s body any controlled substance listed in 34 PNC Chapter 31 that has not been prescribed by a physician for the minor.

(b) A person commits the offense of endangering the welfare of a minor in the second degree if:

(i) Intentionally or knowingly violates a court order issued pursuant to 21 PNC section 302, or intentionally or knowingly takes, entices, conceals, or detains the minor from any other person who has a right to custody pursuant to a court order, judgment, or decree; and

(ii) Removes the minor from the Republic of Palau;

(b) The person intentionally or knowingly takes, entices, conceals, or detains a minor less than twelve years old from that minor=s lawful custodian, knowing that the person had no right to do so; or

(c) The person, in the absence of a court order determining custody or visitation rights, intentionally or knowingly takes, detains, conceals, or entices away a minor with the intent to deprive another person or a public agency of their right to custody, and removes the minor from the Republic of Palau.

(2) It is an affirmative defense to a prosecution under this section that the person had a good cause@ for the violation of a court order for the taking, detaining, concealing, or enticing away of the minor, or for removing the minor from the Republic of Palau; provided that the person asserting the affirmative defense filed a report with the clerk of the court detailing the whereabouts of the minor, the person who took, enticed, detained, concealed, or removed the minor or child, and the circumstances of the event as soon as the filing of the report was practicable; and provided further that the person asserting the affirmative defense also filed a request for a custody order as soon as the filing of the request was practicable.

As used in this section, A good cause means a good faith and reasonable belief that the taking, detaining, concealing, entic

(3) The identity and address of the person reporting under subsection (2) above shall remain confidential unless the information is released pursuant to a court order.

(4) Custodial interference in the first degree is a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned for a period of not more than five years, or fined up to ten-- thousand dollars ($10,000), or both.

805. Custodial interference in the second degree.

(1) A person commits the offense of custodial interference in the second degree if:

(a) The person intentionally or knowingly takes, entices, conceals, or detains from lawful custody any incompetent person, or

(b) For purposes of this section, an Incompetent person means a person who because of disease, disorder or defect is unable to care for himself or herself.

(2) Custodial interference in the second degree is a misdemeanor, if the minor or incompetent person is taken, enticed, concealed, or detained within the Republic of Palau, and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned for a period of not more than one year, or fined up to one-thousand dollars ($1,000), or both. If the minor or incompetent person is taken, enticed, concealed, or detained outside of the Republic of Palau under this section, custodial interference in the second degree is a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned for a period of not more than five years, or fined up to ten-thousand dollars ($10,000), or both.

806. Abuse of family or household members; penalty.

(a) It shall be unlawful for any person, singly or in concert, to physically abuse a family or household member or to refuse compliance with the lawful order of a police officer under subsection (d) of this section. The police, in investigating any complaint of abuse of a family or household member, upon request, may transport the abused person to a hospital or safe shelter.

For the purposes of this section, a family or household member means spouses, former spouses, persons in a dating relationship, persons who have a child in common, parents, children, persons related by consanguinity, and persons jointly residing or formerly residing in the same dwelling unit.

(b) Any police officer, with or without a warrant:

(1) may arrest a person if the officer has reasonable grounds to believe that the person is physically abusing, or has physically abused, a family or household member and that the person arrested is guilty thereof; or

(2) shall arrest a person if the officer has reasonable grounds to believe that the person is physically abusing, or has physically abused, a family or household member and that the person arrested is guilty thereof, and the officer has reasonable grounds to believe the physical abuse is occurring, or has occurred, in the presence of or within five hundred feet of a minor child or children.

(c) A police officer who has reasonable grounds to believe that the person is physically abusing, or has physically abused, a family or household member shall prepare a written report.

(d) Any police officer, with or without a warrant, may take the following course of action where the officer has reasonable grounds to believe that there was physical abuse or harm inflicted by one person upon a family or household member, regardless of whether the physical abuse or harm occurred in the officer’s presence:

(1) The police officer may make reasonable inquiry of the family or household member upon whom the officer believes physical abuse or harm has been inflicted and other witnesses as there may be;

(2) Where the police officer has reasonable grounds to believe that there is probable danger of further physical abuse or harm being inflicted by one person upon a family or household member, the police officer lawfully may order the person to leave the premises for a period of separation of twenty-four hours, during which time the person shall not initiate any contact, either by telephone or in person, with the family or household member; provided that the person is allowed to enter the premises with police escort to collect any necessary personal effects;

(3) Where the police officer makes the finding referred to in paragraph (2) above and the incident occurs after 12:00 P.M. on any Friday, or on any Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday, the order to leave the premises and to initiate no further contact shall commence immediately and be in full force, but the twenty-four hour period shall be enlarged and extended until 4:30 P.M. on the first day following the weekend or legal holiday;

(4) All persons who are ordered to leave as stated above shall be given a written warning citation stating the date, time, and location of the warning and stating the penalties for violating the warning. A copy of the warning citation shall be retained by the police officer and attached to a written report that shall be submitted in all cases. A third copy of the warning citation shall be given to the abused person; and

(5) If the person so ordered refuses to comply with the order to leave the premises or returns to the premises before the expiration of the period of separation, or if the person so ordered initiates any contact with the abused person, the person shall be placed under arrest for the purpose of preventing further physical abuse or harm to the family or household member.

(e) Abuse of a family or household member and refusal to comply with the lawful order of a police officer under subsection (d) above are misdemeanors and the person shall be sentenced as follows:

(1) For the first offense the person shall serve a minimum jail sentence of forty-eight hours; and

(2) For a second offense that occurs within one year of the first conviction, the person shall serve a minimum jail sentence of thirty days.

Upon conviction and sentencing of the defendant, the court shall order that the defendant immediately be incarcerated to serve the mandatory minimum sentence imposed; provided that the defendant may be admitted to bail pending appeal pursuant to 18 PNC Chapter 6. The court may stay the imposition of the sentence if special circumstances exist. The court shall make findings as to the special circumstances on the record.

(f) Whenever a court sentences a person pursuant to subsection (e), it also shall require that the offender undergo any available domestic violence intervention programs ordered by the court. However, the court may suspend any portion of a jail sentence, except for the mandatory sentences under subsection (e)(1) and (2) above, upon the condition that the defendant remain arrest-free and conviction-free or complete court-ordered intervention.

(g) For a third or any subsequent offense that occurs within two years of a second or subsequent, conviction, the offense shall be a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned for a period of not more than five years, or fined up to ten-thousand dollars ($10,000), or both.

(h) Where the physical abuse consists of intentionally or knowingly impeding the normal breathing or circulation of the blood of the family or household member by applying pressure on the throat or the neck, abuse of a family or household member is a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned for a period of not more than five years, or fined up to ten-thousand dollars ($10,000), or both.

(i) Any police officer who arrests a person pursuant to this section shall not be subject to any civil or criminal liability; provided that the police officer acts in good faith, upon reasonable belief, and does not exercise unreasonable force in effecting the arrest.
(j) This section shall not preclude the physically abused or harmed family or household member from pursuing any other remedy under law or in equity.

(k) When a person is ordered by the court to undergo any domestic violence intervention, that person shall provide adequate proof of compliance with the court’s order. The court shall order a subsequent hearing at which the person is required to make an appearance, on a date certain, to determine whether the person has completed the ordered domestic violence intervention. The court may waive the subsequent hearing and appearance where a court officer has established that the person has completed the intervention ordered by the court.

807. Harassment by stalking.
(a) A person commits the offense of harassment by stalking if, with intent to harass, annoy, or alarm another person, or in reckless disregard of the risk thereof, that person engages in a course of conduct involving pursuit, surveillance, or nonconsensual contact upon the other person on more than one occasion without legitimate purpose.
(b) A person convicted under this section may be required to undergo a counseling program as ordered by the court.
(c) For purposes of this section, A non consensual contact means any contact that occurs without that individual’s consent or in disregard of that person’s express desire that the contact be avoided or discontinued. Nonconsensual contact includes direct personal visual or oral contact and contact via telephone, facsimile, or any form of electronic communication, defined as any transfer of signs, signals, writing, images, sounds, data, or intelligence of any nature transmitted in whole or part by a wire, radio, electromagnetic, photo-electronic, or photo-optical system, including electronic mail transmission.
(d) Harassment by stalking is a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned for a period of not more than one year, or fined up to one-thousand dollars ($1,000), or both. For a second offense that occurs within one year of the first conviction, the person shall serve a minimum jail sentence of not less than thirty days.
(e) For a third or any subsequent offense that occurs within five years of a second or subsequent conviction, the offense shall be a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned for a period of not more than five years, or fined up to ten-thousand dollars ($10,000), or both.

808. Customary or traditional reconciliation; no bar to criminal prosecution.
Nothing in this chapter shall preclude customary or traditional reconciliation. However, resolution of the matter through customary or traditional reconciliation shall not preclude or interfere with the institution of criminal charges and prosecution for violation of any offense under this Chapter. The Office of the Attorney General, or any other agency charged with the duty of law enforcement, shall institute a no drop policy in the filing and prosecution of cases involving domestic abuse.

PART II - DOMESTIC ABUSE RESTRAINING ORDERS AND PROTECTIVE ORDERS

820. Definitions.
As used in this part:
A Dating relationship means a romantic, courtship, or engagement relationship, often but not necessarily characterized by actions of an intimate or sexual nature, but does not include a casual acquaintance or ordinary fraternization between persons in a business or social context.

A Domestic abuse means:
(1) Physical harm, bodily injury, assault, or the threat of imminent physical harm, bodily injury, or assault, extreme psychological abuse or malicious property damage between family or household members; or
(2) Any act that would constitute an offense under 21 PNC section 806, or under 17 PNC Chapter 28 committed against a minor family or household member by an adult family or household member.

A Extreme psychological abuse means an intentional or knowing course of conduct directed at an individual that seriously alarms or disturbs consistently or continually bothers the individual, and that serves no legitimate purpose; provided that such course of conduct would cause a reasonable person to suffer extreme emotional distress.

A Family or household member means spouses, former spouses, persons who have a child in common, parents, children, persons related by consanguinity, persons jointly residing or formerly residing in the same dwelling unit, and persons who have or have had a dating relationship.

An Incapacitated person means a person who, for reasons other than being a minor, is unable to receive and evaluate information or make or communicate decisions to such an extent that the individual lacks the ability to meet essential requirements for physical health, safety, or self-care even with appropriate and reasonably available technological assistance.

A Law enforcement officer means any public servant, whether employed by the Republic of Palau or political subdivisions thereof, or any state thereof, vested by law with a duty to maintain public order or, to make arrests for offenses or to enforce the criminal laws, whether that duty extends to all offenses or is limited to a specific class of offenses.
A Malicious property damage means an intentional or knowing damage to the property of another, without his or her consent, with intent to thereby cause emotional distress.

821. Court jurisdiction.
An application for relief under this chapter may be filed in any court in the Republic of Palau. Actions under this chapter shall be given docket priorities by the court.

822. Order for protection.
(a) There shall exist an action known as a petition for an order for protection in cases of domestic abuse.
(b) A petition for relief under this chapter may be made by:
(1) Any family or household member on the member=s own behalf or on behalf of a family or household member who is a minor or who is an incapacitated person or who is physically unable to go to the appropriate place to complete or file the petition; or
(2) Any agency of the Republic of Palau on behalf of a person who is a minor or who is an incapacitated person or a person who is physically unable to go to the appropriate place to complete or file the petition on behalf of that person.
(c) A petition for relief shall be in writing upon forms provided by the court and shall allege, under penalty of perjury, that: a past act or acts of abuse may have occurred; threats of abuse make it probable that acts of abuse may be imminent; or extreme psychological abuse or malicious property damage is imminent; and be accompanied by an affidavit made under oath or a statement made under penalty of perjury stating the specific facts and circumstances from which relief is sought.
(d) The court shall designate an employee or appropriate non judicial agency to assist the person in completing the petition.
(e) The clerk of the court shall accept a petition for an order for protection without assessment of a filing fee.

823. Temporary restraining order.
(a) Upon petition to any court, an ex parte temporary restraining order may be granted without notice to restrain either or both parties from contacting, threatening, or physically abusing each other. The order may be granted to any person who, at the time the order is granted, is a family or household member as defined in 21 PNC section 820 or who filed a petition on behalf of a family or household member. The order shall enjoin the respondent or person to be restrained from performing any combination of the following acts:
(1) Contacting, threatening, or physically abusing the protected party;
(2) Contacting, threatening, or physically abusing any person residing at the protected party=s residence; or
(3) Entering or visiting the protected party=s residence.
The ex parte temporary restraining order may also enjoin or restrain both of the parties from taking, concealing, removing, threatening, physically abusing, or otherwise disposing of any animal identified to the court as belonging to a household, until further order of the court.
(b) For any person who is alleged to be a family or household member by virtue of a dating relationship, the court may consider the following factors in determining whether a dating relationship exists:
(1) The length of the relationship;
(2) The nature of the relationship; and
(3) The frequency of the interaction between the parties.
(c) The court may issue the ex parte temporary restraining order orally, if the person being restrained is present in court. The order shall state that there is probable cause to believe that a past act or acts of abuse have occurred, or that threats of abuse make it probable that acts of abuse may be imminent. The order further shall state that the temporary restraining order is necessary for the purposes of: preventing acts of abuse or preventing a recurrence of actual domestic abuse and ensuring a period of separation of the parties involved. The order shall also describe in reasonable detail the act or acts sought to be restrained. Where necessary, the order may require either or both of the parties involved to leave the premises during the period of the order; may also restrain the party or parties to whom it is directed from contacting, threatening, or physically abusing the applicant=s family or household members; and may enjoin or restrain both parties from taking, concealing, removing, threatening, physically abusing, or otherwise disposing of any animal identified to the court as belonging to a household, until further order of the court. The order shall not only be binding upon the parties to the action, but also upon their officers, agents, servants, employees, attorneys, or any other persons in active concert or participation with them. The order shall enjoin the respondent or person to be restrained from performing any combination of the following acts:
(1) Contacting, threatening, or physically abusing the protected party;
(2) Contacting, threatening, or physically abusing any person residing at the protected party=s residence; or
(3) Entering or visiting the protected party=s residence; or
(4) Taking, concealing, removing, threatening harm, physically abusing, or otherwise disposing of any animal identified to the court as belonging to a household, until further order of the court.
(d) If a divorce or a child custody proceeding is pending, a petition for a temporary restraining order may be filed in that same proceeding to the extent practicable. Any decree or order issued in a divorce or child custody proceeding subsequent to the... petition being filed or an order being issued pursuant to this section, in the discretion of the court hearing the divorce or child custody proceeding, may supersede in whole or part the orders issued pursuant to this section. The factual findings and rulings made in connection with the granting or denying of a temporary restraining order may not have binding effect in any other court proceeding, including child custody determinations under 21 PNC section 302, and the court in such proceedings may give de novo consideration to the facts and circumstances alleged in making later determinations affecting the parties, including determination of custody and visitation.

(e) When a temporary restraining order is granted and the respondent or person to be restrained knows of the order, a knowing or intentional violation of the restraining order is a misdemeanor. A person convicted under this section shall be referred to the Ministry of Health for behavioral health assessment and mandatory counseling, or referred to any other domestic violence intervention programs as ordered by the court. The court additionally shall sentence a person convicted under this section as follows:

1. For a first conviction for violation of the temporary restraining order, the person shall serve a mandatory minimum jail sentence of forty-eight hours and be fined not less than one hundred fifty dollars ($150) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500); provided that the court shall not sentence a defendant to pay a fine unless the defendant is or will be able to pay the fine; and

2. For the second conviction for violation of the temporary restraining order, the person shall serve a mandatory minimum jail sentence of thirty days, and be fined not less than two hundred fifty dollars ($250) nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000); provided that the court shall not sentence a defendant to pay a fine unless the defendant is or will be able to pay the fine.

3. For the third and any subsequent conviction for violation of the temporary restraining order, the person shall serve a mandatory minimum jail sentence of six months and be fined not less than five hundred dollars ($500) nor more than five thousand dollars ($5,000); provided that the court shall not sentence a defendant to pay a fine unless the defendant is or will be able to pay the fine.

Upon conviction and sentencing of the defendant, the court shall order that the defendant immediately be incarcerated to serve the mandatory minimum sentence imposed; provided that the defendant may be admitted to bail pending appeal pursuant to 18 PNC Chapter 6. The court may stay the imposition of the sentence if special circumstances exist. The court shall make findings as to the special circumstances on the record. The court may suspend any jail sentence, except for the mandatory sentences under paragraphs (1), (2) and (3), upon condition that the defendant remain alcohol and drug-free, conviction-free, or complete court-ordered assessments or intervention. Nothing in this section shall be construed as limiting the discretion of the judge to impose additional sanctions authorized in sentencing for a misdemeanor.

(f) Any fines collected pursuant to subsection (e) shall be deposited into a separate account within the National Treasury solely for use in creating and facilitating domestic violence intervention programs.

824. Period of order; hearing.

(a) A temporary restraining order granted pursuant to this chapter shall remain in effect at the discretion of the court, for a period not to exceed one hundred eighty days from the date the order is granted or until the effective date, as defined in 21 PNC section 826, of a protective order issued by the court, whichever occurs first.

(b) On the earliest date that the business of the court will permit, but no later than fifteen days from the date the temporary restraining order is granted, the court, after giving due notice to all parties, shall hold a hearing on the application requiring cause to be shown why the order should not continue. In the event that service has not been effected, the court may set a new date for the hearing; provided that the date shall not exceed ninety days from the date the temporary restraining order was granted. All parties shall be present at the hearing and may be represented by counsel.

The protective order may include all orders stated in the temporary restraining order and may provide further relief, as the court deems necessary to prevent domestic abuse or a recurrence of abuse, including orders establishing temporary visitation with regard to minor children of the parties and orders to either or both parties to participate in domestic violence intervention.

825. Protective order; additional orders.

(a) If, after hearing all relevant evidence, the court finds that the respondent has failed to show cause why the order should not be continued and that a protective order is necessary to prevent domestic abuse or a recurrence of abuse, the court may order that a protective order be issued for a further fixed reasonable period as the court deems appropriate.

The protective order may include all orders stated in the temporary restraining order and may provide for further relief as the court deems necessary to prevent domestic abuse or a recurrence of abuse, including orders establishing temporary visitation and custody with regard to minor children of the parties and orders to either or both parties to participate in domestic violence intervention services.

(b) A protective order may be extended for such further fixed reasonable period as the court deems appropriate. Upon application by a person or agency capable of petitioning under 21 PNC section 822, the court shall hold a hearing to determine whether the protective order should be extended. In making a determination, the court shall consider evidence of abuse and threats of abuse that occurred prior to the initial restraining order and whether good cause exists to extend the protective order.

The extended protective order may include all orders stated in the preceding restraining order and may provide such further relief as the court deems necessary to prevent domestic abuse or a recurrence of abuse, including orders establishing temporary visitation and custody with regard to minor children of the parties and orders to either or both parties to participate in domestic violence intervention services. The court may terminate the extended protective order at any time with the mutual consent of the parties.

826. Effective date.
The temporary restraining order shall be effective as of the date of signing and filing; provided that if a temporary restraining order is granted orally in the presence of all the parties and the court determines that each of the parties understands the order and its conditions, if any, then the order shall be effective as of the date it is orally stated on the record by the court until further order of the court. Protective orders orally stated by the court on the record shall be effective as of the date of the hearing if the respondent attends the hearing or, if the respondent was served but failed to appear, then upon service of the protective order upon the respondent until further order of the court; provided that all oral protective orders shall be reduced to writing and issued forthwith. The judiciary shall provide forms that will enable the court to issue all temporary restraining orders forthwith.

827. Notice of order.
(a) Any order issued under this chapter shall either be personally served upon the respondent, or served by certified mail, unless the respondent was present at the hearing in which case the respondent shall be deemed to have notice of the order. A filed copy of each order issued under this chapter shall be delivered to the Bureau of Public Safety.
(b) Except as otherwise provided in this chapter or in the order, a law enforcement officer may use a reliable copy, facsimile telecommunication, or other reliable reproduction of an order issued pursuant to this chapter in lieu of the original order for purposes of this section. Any such copy, facsimile telecommunication, or other reproduction shall be a complete reproduction of the entire original order and may only be transmitted from law enforcement officer to law enforcement officer until served.

828. Assistance of police in service or execution.
When an order is issued under this chapter upon request of the petitioner, the court may order the police to serve the order and related documents upon respondent and to accompany the petitioner and assist in placing the petitioner in possession of the dwelling or residence.

829. Right to apply for relief.
(a) A person’s right to apply for relief shall not be affected by the person’s leaving the residence or household to avoid abuse.
(b) The court shall not require security or bond of any party unless it is deemed necessary in exceptional cases.

830. Modification of order.
Upon application, notice to all parties, and hearing, the court may modify the terms of an existing order for protection. The court may deny, without hearing, a motion to dismiss or to modify the terms of an existing order for protection if the motion, on its face, does not allege facts sufficient to establish a material change in the circumstances of the parties since the issuance or last modification of the order.

831. Copy to law enforcement agency.
(a) Any order for protection granted pursuant to this chapter shall be transmitted by the clerk of the court within twenty-four hours to the police unit nearest the petitioner’s residence.
(b) Each police department shall make available to other law enforcement officers, through a system for verification, information as to the existence and status of any order for protection issued pursuant to this chapter.

832. Violation of an order for protection.
(a) Whenever an order for protection is granted pursuant to this chapter, a respondent or person to be restrained who knowingly or intentionally violates the order for protection is guilty of a misdemeanor. A person convicted under this section shall be referred to the Ministry of Health for behavioral health assessment and mandatory counseling, or referred to any other domestic violence intervention programs as ordered by the court. The court additionally shall sentence a person convicted under this section as follows:
(1) For a first conviction for violation of the order for protection:
(A) That is in the nature of non-domestic abuse, the person may be sentenced to a jail sentence of forty-eight hours and be fined not more than one hundred fifty dollars ($150); provided that the court shall not sentence a defendant to pay a fine unless the defendant is or will be able to pay the fine;
(B) That is in the nature of domestic abuse, the person shall be sentenced to a mandatory minimum jail sentence of not less than forty-eight hours and be fined not less than one hundred fifty dollars ($150) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500); provided that the court shall not sentence a defendant to pay a fine unless the defendant is or will be able to pay the fine;
(2) For a second conviction for violation of the order for protection:
(A) That is in the nature of non-domestic abuse, and occurs after a first conviction for violation of the same order that was in the nature of non-domestic abuse, the person shall be sentenced to a mandatory minimum jail sentence of not less than forty-eight hours and be fined not more than two hundred fifty dollars ($250); provided that the court shall not sentence a defendant to pay a fine unless the defendant is or will be able to pay the fine;
(B) That is in the nature of domestic abuse, and occurs after a first conviction for violation of the same order that was in the nature of domestic abuse, the person shall be sentenced to a mandatory minimum jail sentence of not less than thirty days and be fined not less than two hundred fifty dollars ($250) nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000); provided that the court shall not sentence a defendant to pay a fine unless the defendant is or will be able to pay the fine;
(C) That is in the nature of non-domestic abuse, and occurs after a first conviction for violation of the same order that was in the nature of domestic abuse, the person shall be sentenced to a mandatory minimum jail sentence of not less than forty-eight hours and be fined not more than two hundred fifty dollars ($250); provided that the court shall not sentence a defendant to pay a fine unless the defendant is or will be able to pay the fine;
(D) That is in the nature of domestic abuse, and occurs after a first conviction for violation of the same order that is in the nature of non-domestic abuse, the person shall be sentenced to a mandatory minimum jail sentence of not less than forty-eight hours and be fined not more than one hundred fifty dollars ($150); provided that the court shall not sentence a defendant to pay a fine unless the defendant is or will be able to pay the fine;
(3) For any subsequent violation that occurs after a second conviction for violation of the same order for protection, the person shall be sentenced to a mandatory minimum jail sentence of not less than sixty days and be fined not less than two hundred fifty dollars ($250) nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000); provided that the court shall not sentence a defendant to pay a fine unless the defendant is or will be able to pay the fine.

Upon conviction and sentencing of the defendant, the court shall order that the defendant immediately be incarcerated to serve the mandatory minimum sentence imposed; provided that the defendant may be admitted to bail pending appeal pursuant to 18 PNC Chapter 6. The court may stay the imposition of the sentence if special circumstances exist. The court shall make findings as to the special circumstances on the record.

The court may suspend any jail sentence, except for the mandatory sentences under sub-paragraphs (1)(B) and (2)(A) to (D), upon condition that the defendant remain alcohol and drug-free, conviction-free, or complete court-ordered assessments or intervention. Nothing in this section shall be construed as limiting the discretion of the judge to impose additional sanctions authorized in sentencing for a misdemeanor offense. All remedies for the enforcement of judgments shall apply to this chapter.

(b) Any fines collected pursuant to subsection (a) shall be deposited into a separate account within the National Treasury solely for use in creating and facilitating domestic violence intervention programs.

Section 4. Severability clause.
If any provision of this Act, or the application thereof to any person, thing or circumstance, is held invalid, the invalidity shall not affect the provisions or application of this Act that can be given effect without the invalid provisions or application, and to this end the provisions of this Act are severable.

Section 5. Amendment.
Chapter 28 of Title 17 of the Palau National Code is hereby amended to state as follows:

Sex Crimes

2800. Definitions of terms in this chapter.
In this chapter, unless a different meaning plainly is required:

Section 7. Effective Date. This Act shall take effect upon its approval by the President of the Republic of Palau or upon its becoming law without such approval, except as otherwise provided by law.

50. PANAMA

Domestic Violence and Violence Against Children and Adolescents, 2001

Reforms and adds articles to the Criminal and Judicial Code, on domestic violence and mistreatment of children and adolescents, repeals articles of Law 27 of 1995 and establishes other provisions.

THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY DECREES:

CHAPTER I

OBJECTIVE, DEFINITIONS AND SCOPE

Article 1. The provisions of this Law are intended to protect children, adolescents, and all persons associated with the situations described in Article 3 of this Law, from the various manifestations of domestic violence and mistreatment, in accordance with the guiding principles of the Political Constitution, the Family Code and the international treaties and agreements of which the Republic of Panama is a signatory.

Article 2. For the purposes of this Law, the following terms are defined as follows:
1. Aggressor. Whoever performs any omission or action described in the definition of violence, to the detriment of the people who are protected by this Law.
2. Cohabiting. Hold a consensual relationship similar to that of spouses.
3. Abuse. Action and speech offenses, serious or intolerable, that undermine the obligations of affection and respect that should govern relations between people.
4. Protection measure. Mandate issued in writing by the competent authority, in which measures are dictated so that an aggressor refrains from incurring or performing certain acts or conducts constituting domestic violence.
5. Relationship of partnership. It is the relationship between spouses, ex-spouses, people who cohabit or have cohabited, support or have maintained an intimate consensual relationship and those who have procreated a son or daughter between them.
6. Survivor victim. Person who suffers or has suffered physical, verbal, psycho-emotional, sexual or patrimonial mistreatment.
7. Violence. Any action, omission or negligent treatment committed by a person that harms the physical, psychological, sexual, patrimonial or liberty of the persons who are subject of this Law.
8. Domestic violence. Behavior pattern in which physical force, sexual or psychological violence, intimidation or persecution against a person by their spouse, ex-spouse, or relatives with whom they cohabit or have cohabited, live or have lived under the same roof or hold or have sustained a legally recognized relationship, or with whom holds a consensual relationship, or with a person with whom a child has been procreated, to cause physical harm to the person or others, causing emotional harm.

9. Physical violence. Use of force or coercion, on the part of the aggressor, against the surviving victim to get her to do something that she does not want or stop doing something that she wants, above her rights.

10. Patrimonial violence. Action or deliberate omission that involves damage, loss, transformation, theft, destruction, retention or distraction of objects, work instruments, personal documents, property, rights to other economic resources destined to satisfy the basic needs of the persons included in article 3 of the present Law. The unjustified limitation to access and management of common property will also be considered as patrimonial violence.

11. Sexual violence. Action that forces a person, through the use of force, intimidation, coercion, blackmail, bribery, manipulation, threat, use of substances or drugs or any other mechanism that affects their volition, to participate in sexual interactions that by themselves do not necessarily constitute crimes against modesty and sexual freedom. Likewise, it is considered sexual violence that the aggressor obliges the aggrieved person to perform some of these acts with third parties, or to witness them.

12. Psychological violence. Any act of omission performed by one person against another, intended to coerce, degrade or control the actions, behavior, beliefs, feelings or decisions of the persons to whom this Law is applicable. It is manifested through intimidation, manipulation, direct threat or indirect, permanent surveillance, harassment or disparagement of personal value, destruction of objects valued by the person, deprivation of access to food, humiliation, isolation or any other conduct that entails harm to psychological health, self-determination or personal development.

Article 3. The measures and precepts enshrined in this Law are applicable to:
1. Married couples.
2. De facto unions.
3. Relationships of less than five years whose intention of permanence can be accredited.
4. Relationship by consanguinity, affinity or adoption.
5. Non-common minor children living or not in the family.
6. People who have procreated a son or a daughter together.
Likewise, shall be applied to the situations indicated in the previous numerals, even when they have ended at the time of the aggression.

CHAPTER II
PROTECTION MEASURES

Article 4. Without prejudice to the initiation or continuation of the respective civil, criminal, family or administrative proceeding, the authority, when it becomes aware of the fact, is immediately empowered, according to its competence, to apply, in favor of the persons who are surviving victims of domestic violence, the following protection measures:
1. Order the provisional arrest of the aggressor, for a term not exceeding twenty-four hours.
2. Order the alleged aggressor to vacate the dwelling house that he shares with the surviving victim, regardless of who owns the dwelling.
3. Proceed with the search for the purpose of immediately rescuing or succoring the alleged survivor of the act of violence, in accordance with constitutional and legal guarantees.
4. Authorize the surviving victim, if so requested, to provisionally settle in a different domicile from the common one to protect her from future aggressions, respecting the confidentiality of the domicile.
5. Prohibit the introduction or maintenance of weapons in the common home, as well as seizing them in order to ensure that they are not used to intimidate, threaten or cause harm.
6. Prohibit the alleged aggressor from approaching the common domicile or the one where the surviving victim is located, in addition to the place of work, study or other habitually frequented by it.
7. Reintegrate the aggrieved person who has had to leave the common domicile, if so requested and, consequently, immediately apply the measure established in number 1 of this article.
8. Suspend the alleged aggressor, the guardianship and upbringing of their minor children, taking into account the gravity of the acts of violence and / or the damage or direct or indirect danger to which the minors are subjected. The competent authority may give as a first option the protective guardianship of the child or adolescent, to the non-aggressor parent.
9. Suspend the regulation of visits to the alleged aggressor, taking into account the seriousness of the acts of violence and / or the direct or indirect harm or danger to which the minors are subject.
10. Send notifications to the immigration and boarding authorities, in which the impediment to leaving the country is ordered to the sons and daughters who are minors.
11. Lift the inventory of movable assets of the residential nucleus, to ensure the common heritage.
12. Grant in exclusive use to the aggrieved person, the personal property necessary for the proper functioning of the family unit.
13. Immediately notify the competent authority so that it fixes provisionally the alimony in favor of the surviving victim, in the cases that merit, depending on the protection measures applied.

14. Order the alleged aggressor, in case there are serious indications of liability against him, to cover the cost of repair of the goods or medical attention. Said cost will be discounted, in case of civil conviction.

When the violence is repeated, the competent authority will order special protection for the surviving victim, which will be under the competence of the National Police authorities. This special protection may be effective where the surviving victim requests it.

Article 5. When the official who is aware of the act of violence considers that a protection measure that is not within his competence must be applied, he will send an authenticated copy of the file to the competent official with the corresponding request to apply the suggested measure to another that it is considered to be relevant, within seventy-two hours. Once the file is returned to the official who requested the measure, the latter will proceed in the appropriate jurisdiction.

Article 6. The protection measures shall have a maximum duration of six months, without prejudice to the fact that they may be extended for the duration of the process, in accordance with the evaluation made by the authority that is aware of the case. Failure to comply with any of the measures of protection by the aggressor will result in the authority applying a sanction for contempt (disrespect).

CHAPTER III
COMPETENCIES

Article 7. The protection measures listed in Article 4 of this Law can be applied by the administrative police officers, the traditional authorities in the indigenous zones, the agents of the Public Prosecutor’s Office and the authorities of the Judicial Organ, each in accordance with their competence.

Article 8. The indigenous authorities established and recognized in their Organic Laws, which administer justice in accordance with the customs and traditions of the indigenous peoples, may apply the protection measures established in their respective domestic systems and, in a supplementary manner, those established in Article 4 of this Law, in accordance with its competence.

Article 9. In the acts of violence that are presented in their jurisdictions, the clerks and night judges must, provisionally, take cognizance of the fact, apply the pertinent protection measures and remit the file initiated, in which they will indicate the adopted measures, to the competent authority within seventy-two hours, counted from the moment in which the aforementioned measure is applied. It is understood that said authorities may not decide the merits of the case or promote or accept agreements or withdrawals.

Article 10. Protective measures may be applied ex officio or at the request of an interested party, verbally or in writing, once the authority becomes aware of the act of violence or at any time it deems it necessary.

Article 11. Recourse against the protection measures can be made in accordance with the law and the competence of the relevant authorities.

CHAPTER IV
CRIMINAL AND PROCEDURAL PROVISIONS

Article 12. Item e) is added to paragraph 2 of article 46 of the Criminal Code, as follows:

Article 46. The penalties that this Code establishes are:

1. [...] 2. Accessories:

   e) Supervised community service.

Article 13. Chapter V of Title V of the Criminal Code is as follows:

Chapter V
Of Domestic Violence and the Abuse of Children and Adolescents
Article 215 A. Any person who physically, sexually, patrimonial or psychologically attacks or harasses another will be punished with imprisonment from 1 to 3 years or with a curative security measure, consisting of a multidisciplinary therapeutic treatment program with specialized care, approved by the court of the case.

The psychological aggression must be checked by the forensic psychiatrist or by a forensic psychologist.

For the purposes of this Chapter, the norms contemplated in the types described are applicable to:
1. Married couples.
2. De facto unions.
3. Relationships of less than five years whose intention of permanence can be accredited.
4. Relationship by consanguinity, affinity or adoption.
5. Non-common minor children living or not in the family.
6. People who have procreated a son or a daughter together.

Likewise, they will be applied to the situations indicated in the previous numbers, even when they have ended at the time of the aggression.

Article 215 B. If the conduct described in the previous article produces the permanent weakening of a sense or of an organ, a visible and permanent sign in the face, or if inferred on a pregnant woman causing the premature delivery of the baby, the penalty will be 2 to 4 years in prison.

If the behavior described in the previous article produces incurable bodily or psychic harm, the loss of a sense, of an organ or limb, impotence or loss of ability to procreate, permanent alteration of the vision, permanent deformation of the face or body or permanent incapacity to work, the penalty will be 3 to 5 years in prison.

Article 215 C. In the cases of primary aggressor, the judge of the case may sanction with a curative security measure, consisting of a multidisciplinary therapeutic treatment program, according to article 115 of the Criminal Code, duly monitored by the Department of Correction of the Ministry of Government and Justice, or with community service supervised by the competent authority within the district where he resides. In case of breach of the curative security measure or supervised community service, the judge must replace it with the corresponding prison sentence.

Article 215 D. A person who mistreats a child or adolescent under 18 years of age shall be punished with imprisonment of 2 to 6 years or with a curative security measure, or both.

The following behaviors typify child abuse:
1. Causing, allowing, or permitting physical, mental or emotional harm, including physical injury caused by corporal punishment.
2. Use them, or induce them to be used, for profit, in begging, pornography, propaganda or advertising not appropriate for their age.
3. Employing them in jobs that are prohibited or contrary to morality, or that endanger their life or health.
4. Impose negligent treatment and ill-treatment that may affect their physical and mental health.

Article 215 E. The public servant or individual who has knowledge of the execution of any of the facts set forth in this Title, and does not make it known to the authorities, shall be punished with a 50 to 150 days fine. When the commission of the crime is not proven, the public servant or individual will be exempt from any legal responsibility on the basis of the complaint.

Article 14. The title of Chapter I of Title VI of the Criminal Code is as follows:

Rape, Misconduct and Sexual Harassment

Article 17. For the offenses described in articles 215 A and 215 D of the Criminal Code, the judge of the case may, at the time of imposing the sanction of imprisonment to the aggressor, order that the sanction should be performed during weekends, in order to preserve the aggressor’s source of income.

Article 18. Article 1984 A of the Judicial Code is as follows:
Article 1984 A. In cases of domestic violence, the person concerned should be discharged when he/she has reached the age of majority, provided that the following conditions are met:
1. That the defendant is not a recidivist in this crime or other intentional crimes foreseen in the Panamanian criminal law.
2. That the accused present a certificate of good conduct and evaluation by two (2) psychiatrists or mental health doctors, appointed by the Public Ministry.
3. That the accused be treated by a multidisciplinary mental health team, when the judge of the case deems it necessary, under the supervision of the latter.
   In the case of property violence, even if the affected person is a minor, the withdrawal will be accepted when the damage has been compensated.

Article 19. Before subjecting a child or adolescent to any kind of procedure, the authority shall provide for a psychological and/or psychiatric evaluation by a professional working for the Public Prosecutor’s Office, in order to ensure that the procedure will not cause any socio-emotional harm.

Article 20. The court of the case shall take the necessary measures so that the surviving victim of any of the crimes contemplated in this Act receives the treatment that allows them physical and psychological recovery, as well as social reintegration, which must be supported by the aggressor.

Article 21. The Office of the Public Prosecutor may, at the request of the surviving victim or its legal representative, order that the victim receives therapeutic treatment during the investigation.

CHAPTER V
PUBLIC POLICIES

Article 22. The Ministry of Youth, Women, Children and Family shall be responsible for the follow-up, coordination, promotion and evaluation of progress in the implementation of this Law. Accordingly, it will submit annual reports to the Executive Body and to the Committee on Women’s Affairs, Rights of the Child, Youth and Family of the Legislative Assembly.

Article 23. The Ministry of Government and Justice, together with the Ministry of Youth, Women, Children and Family, shall coordinate, promote, develop and supervise outreach programs, through the use of mass media, aimed at preventing and eradicating violence; in addition, it shall promote and encourage programs for the dissemination of this Law. Likewise, it will formulate and execute training programs for the personnel of the National Police in order to guarantee their effective and timely intervention in the cases of violence described in this Law.

Article 24. The Ministry of Health will strengthen and train the staff of health centers, regional and national hospitals, in the prevention and care of cases of violence foreseen by this Law.

Article 25. All health centers, emergency rooms, medical centers, hospitals, and clinics, public or private, must respond to the cases of violence regulated by this Law.

Those working in these institutions will not be able to deny medical care to survivors of violence, without prejudice to the fact that they can subsequently be referred to other centers for their continued care, provided that their transfer does not imply risks to their health and integrity.

Article 26. The Executive Body, through the Ministry of Health and with the advice of the Public Ministry, will regulate and design the forms to record the aggressions caused by the different types of violence indicated by this Law.

Article 27. Health personnel and administrative staff working in the different health institutions of the country shall document, through forms distributed by the Ministry of Health, the medical history, clinical findings, diagnosis and provisional incapacity of the patient who declares to be a survivor victim of domestic violence or child/adolescent abuse.

The form in question, duly stamped and signed, will be sent to the Institute of Legal Medicine within forty-eight hours following the patient’s reception, so that the Institute evaluates the medical report contained therein and continues with the procedures that are carried out for this purpose. In case of children and adolescents, it will be sent to the corresponding Child and Adolescent Court.

The certificate issued by the appropriate doctor that treats the surviving victim must indicate the corresponding total physical and physical disability.
Article 28. The Ministry of Education shall incorporate content aimed at promoting values based on the principles of tolerance, respect for differences and diversity, as well as gender equality and equity in curricula at all levels of education. In addition, it will promote programs aimed at the peaceful resolution of conflicts, in order to prevent domestic violence and abuse of children and adolescents.

Article 29. The Ministry of Government and Justice and the municipalities of the Republic will train the night judges and the clerks regarding the correct application of this Law, so that each of these officials, during the exercise of their attributions, have the necessary knowledge and sensibility to deal with the issues of domestic violence and child abuse.

Article 30. In all cases, the authority shall keep a record of the facts of domestic violence and abuse of children and adolescents, which shall include the generalities of the parties involved and a description of the events that will be sent to the National Commission of Criminal Statistics (CONADEC) of the Ministry of Government and Justice, with the objective of creating a database of the persons involved in the facts regulated by this Law. The surviving victim shall have the right to be provided, at no cost, with a certified copy of said registration.

Article 31. The civil society will actively intervene in the dissemination, training, coordination and execution of this Law, together with the various State bodies responsible for developing public policies on this matter.

Article 32. Private entities or independent professionals, as well as non-governmental organizations that provide care for survivors of violence or abused children and adolescents who qualify as subjects of free processional sponsorship, may deduct from their income statements the cost of this services. To that end, the corresponding account must be duly documented and approved by the judge of the case. In the case of the private sector, the bills presented as cost of care to these surviving victims will be subject to payment execution.

Law to Criminalize Femicide and Violence Against Women, 2013 125

[...]

CHAPTER I
GENERAL DISPOSITION

Article 1. This Law aims to guarantee the right of women of any age to a life free of violence, protect the rights of women victims of violence in a context of unequal power relations, as well as prevent and punish all forms of violence against women, in compliance with the obligations contracted by the State.

Article 2. This Law shall apply when the conducts described in it are directed against a woman of any age, by the mere fact of being a woman, in a context of unequal power relations, in the public or private sphere and in any other type of relationship, be it labor, teaching, academic, community or of any kind.

This Law must be interpreted according to the principles contained in the Political Constitution of the Republic, laws and international treaties or conventions on human rights ratified by the Republic of Panama, such as the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women and its Optional Protocol and the Inter-American Convention on the Prevention, Punishment and Eradication of Violence against Women, or Convention of Belém do Pará.

Article 3. Violence against women shall be understood as any action, omission or discriminatory practice based on belonging to the female gender in the public or private sphere, which puts women at a disadvantage with respect to men, causes them death, damage or physical, sexual, psychological, economic or patrimonial suffering, as well as threats of such acts, coercion or arbitrary deprivation of liberty, which includes those perpetrated by the State or its agents.

Article 4. For the purposes of this Law, the following terms shall be understood as:

1. Sexual stalking. Pursue, peek, observe secretly, wait cautiously for a woman, for sexual or other purposes.

20. Labor and salary violence. [...]

21. Media violence. The publication or dissemination of stereotyped messages and images through any mass media, that directly or indirectly promote the exploitation of women or their images, insult, defame, dishonor, humiliate or threaten the dignity of women, as well as the use of women in pornographic messages and images, legitimizing inequality of treatment or constructing socio-cultural patterns that reproduce inequality or generate violence against women.

22. Obstetric violence. [...]

23. Patrimonial and economic violence. Action or omission, in the context of unequal power relations between men and women, that affects the use, enjoyment, administration, availability or accessibility of a woman to material goods, causing damage, loss, transformation, theft, destruction, retention or destruction of objects, work instruments, personal documents, property, rights or other economic resources, as well as the unjustified limitation to access and management of common economic resources or assets.

24. Political violence. [...]

25. Psychological violence. Any act or omission that may consist of negligence, abandonment, neglect, jealousy, insults, humiliation, devaluation, marginalization, indifference, destructive comparisons, rejection, restriction to self-determination and / or threats.

26. Sexual violence. Action of physical or psychological violence against a woman, whatever her relationship with the aggressor, with the intention of violating the sexual freedom and integrity of women, including rape, sexual humiliation, forcing them to witness pornographic material, forcing them to support or witness sexual relations with third parties, record or disseminate without consent images by any means, forced prostitution, and the denial of the right to make use of family planning methods, both natural and artificial, or to adopt protection measures against sexually transmitted infections, including HIV, even in marriage or in any relationship.

27. Symbolic violence. [...]

CHAPTER II
GUIDING PRINCIPLES

Article 5. Responsibility. The State is responsible for respecting the rights of women and for contributing to the elimination of violence against women, included in the international instruments ratified by the Republic of Panama, such as the Inter-American Convention on the Prevention, Punishment and Eradication of Violence against Women, the Belém do Pará Convention, the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women and other human rights conventions.

Article 6. Integrality. Attention to women victims of violence, which includes indirect victims, must include information, prevention, orientation, protection, sanction, reparation and biopsychosocial stabilization.

Article 7. Autonomy. The State recognizes and protects the independence of women to make their own decisions without interference.
Article 8. Coordination. Public or private entities and media will carry out coordinated and articulated actions in order to provide prevention, attention and comprehensive responses in all forms of violence against women.

Article 9. Differentiated attention. The State will guarantee high-priority attention to the needs and specific circumstances of women in situations of vulnerability or at risk, in order to guarantee their effective access to the rights set forth in this Law.

Article 10. Equality in income. It implies that there is equal remuneration and assessment for work, without distinction of gender, including domestic work.

Article 11. Equality of respect. It implies the recognition of women as persons and that they shall be given equal respect, just like men.

Article 12. Non-discrimination. Promote equality and equity in the participation of women with respect to men, in work, politics and the right to association, creating the necessary conditions for the elimination of political environments hostile to women. In the labor field, it is prohibited to request pregnancy test to access paid employment. The merits of women to occupy a position should be evaluated on equal terms to men’s, without discrimination for the mere fact of being a woman.

CHAPTER III
RIGHTS OF WOMEN VICTIMS OF VIOLENCE

Article 13. Women have the right to a dignified life free of physical, sexual, psychological and patrimonial violence, the right to privacy, not to be subjected to torture or cruel and degrading treatment, or any form of discrimination. They also have the right to real and effective equality, to freedom and autonomy, to the free development of the personality, to physical, mental, sexual and reproductive health, and to personal security, in addition to the rights recognized in the law or in the treaties and international agreements ratified by the Republic of Panama.

3. Receive guidance, legal advice and free, immediate and specialized technical-legal assistance, from the moment in which the constitutive act of violence is brought to the attention of the authority. It is up to the State to guarantee this right. This right is extended to their families.

4. Receive compensation when care, support and full recovery generate costs. The court in charge of the criminal case will order that the aggressor cover the costs of the care and assistance described in the preceding paragraphs, if there is a conviction against him. In these cases, the victim will not be required to guarantee any kind of security.

5. Receive clear, complete, truthful and timely information regarding their rights in general and the mechanisms and procedures established in this Law and other concordant norms, taking into account the ethnic, cultural and generational diversity.

6. Give informed consent for medical-legal examinations in cases of sexual violence and choose the gender of the doctor for the practice of these examinations, within the possibilities offered by the service. The entities providing health services will promote the availability of doctors of both genders for the care of victims of violence.

7. Receive immediate, comprehensive assistance and multidisciplinary, medical, psychological, psychiatric and forensic specialized care in the terms and conditions established in the legal system for the victims, their children, as well as support for training and employment and assistance of an interpreter in case they do not speak Spanish.

8. Access to truth, justice, reparation and guarantees of non-repetition in the face of acts constituting violence, to be heard personally by the judicial authority and by the competent administrative authority.

9. Obtain stabilization of their situation in accordance with the terms provided in this Law.
10. Decide if they can be confronted with the aggressor in any of the “attention spaces” and in the administrative, judicial or other procedures.

11. To receive, in the case of women with disabilities, deprived of liberty or belonging to any other group of people in a situation of special vulnerability, a dignified and equal treatment with all the members of the family, to have adequate spaces and conditions of equity, opportunities and autonomy so that they can exercise their rights, as well as to guarantee their participation in matters related to their family and social environment.

12. Receive compensation for the damage, which must include, in addition to financial compensation, measures aimed at providing the victim with medical, psychological, moral and social reparation.

13. Receive a safe, dignified and free shelter including for other family members who may be at risk.

14. Receive humane treatment and respect for their integrity and the full exercise of their rights, avoiding revictimization.

15. Be valued and educated free of stereotypes of behavior and sociocultural practices based on concepts of inferiority or subordination.

16. Decide on their reproductive life according to the law, as well as the number of pregnancies and when to have them.

17. Obtain protection of their privacy, guaranteeing the confidentiality of the proceedings, except for the requests of the judicial authorities.

18. Participate in the process and receive information about the status of the case.

19. Have efficient mechanisms to denounce officials for failure to comply with established deadlines and other irregularities.

CHAPTER IV
OBLIGATIONS OF THE STATE

Article 15. For the purposes of this Law, the State shall have the following obligations:
1. Strengthen and institutionalize the bodies responsible for dealing with violence against women and ensure the sustainability of the National Committee Against Violence Against Women.

2. Assign a budget item for the National Committee Against Violence Against Women in the budget of the National Institute for Women to guarantee compliance with the objectives of the public awareness and prevention policies provided for in this Law.

The State shall provide the Public Ministry and the Institute of Legal Medicine and Forensic Sciences with the budgetary, physical, material, scientific and human resources required for the operation of these specialized prosecutor’s offices.

Article 58. The Judicial Body will create specialized courts that will be exclusively aware of the crimes of Violence against Women established in this Law, which will operate twenty-four hours a day in each Judicial District, in accordance with the rules of competencies. These courts will be established progressively throughout the Republic. The State will provide the Judicial Branch with the budgetary resources required for the operation of these specialized courts.

Article 59. The competent judge will follow up on the fulfillment of the penalty of multidisciplinary therapeutic treatment specialized in violence against women.

Article 60. The multidisciplinary therapeutic treatment referred to in the previous article will be under the responsibility of the Ministry of Health and the Social Security Fund which, together with the National Institute for Women, the University of Panama and the National System of Gender Training, will capacitate mental health professionals (psychiatry, psychology, social work) to evaluate and provide individual and group therapeutic treatment, following up with aggressors or offenders until its conclusion.

The follow-up will consist of the submission of periodic reports to the competent judge, who will not end the process until having received final certification of the conclusion of the treatment by the team in charge.

CHAPTER X
ATTENTION TO WOMEN VICTIMS OF VIOLENCE DURING THE PROCESS

Article 61. At least one integral care center will be built by province, with multiple services, for women victims of violence, with properly trained and sensitized personnel, subject to the responsibility of the National Institute for Women in coordination with the Public Ministry and other public institutions and private entities, who will manage and contribute within their assigned budgets.

Article 62. At least one shelter and / or reception center for women survivors of violence per province will be built. The hostels will have trained and specialized personnel in the field. In the province of Panama, shelters will be built in Panama Centro, San Miguelito, Panama East and Panama West to a minimum of four shelters.

The location cannot be disclosed to unauthorized people. It is up to the shelters to ensure the safety of the women and their children and other persons in the family circle who are temporarily in them. The shelters will work in coordination with the comprehensive care centers.

Article 63. In the care measures, women in special risk situations will be taken into account. A center for urgent cases of violence against women and guidance in general will be established through a three-digit telephone line, which operates around the clock.

When the situation requires it, the transport service of the victims and their children will be included in a reserved location to guarantee their protection and safety.

Article 64. Comprehensive care centers shall provide the necessary follow-up to the victims for their physical and psychological recovery through comprehensive programs, with the purpose that they may participate fully in public, social and private life. This attention will be extended to the sons and daughters who accompany it and must include information on the institutions responsible for providing free legal advice and representation.

Article 65. Criminal Code, 2007126

Article 91. It is an aggravating or mitigating circumstance, depending on the nature, the motives and the effects of the crime when the victim is a close relative of the offender. For the purposes of criminal law, close relatives are: the spouse, partner or companion, persons within the fourth degree of consanguinity or second of affinity, and also the family relation acquired through adoption.

Article 174. Those who, through violence or intimidation and by using their genital organs, have sexual intercourse with a person of either sex, shall be punished with imprisonment from five to ten years.

This sanction will also be imposed on anyone who has a carnal contact under the same conditions. The same penalty shall be imposed on anyone who, without the consent of the affected person, practices acts of oral sex on the same, or introduces for sexual purposes, any object or any non-genital part of his or her body, in the anus or vagina.

The penalty will be eight to twelve years in prison, in any of the following circumstances:

1. When the violation causes the victim impairment of his/her psychological capacity.
2. When the event causes the victim physical damage that causes incapacity for over thirty days.
3. If the victim becomes pregnant.
4. If the act was perpetrated by a close relative or guardian.
5. When the author is a minister of religion, educator or is charged, by any title, with guardianship, upbringing or temporary care.
6. If the act was committed with abuse of authority or trust.
7. When it is committed with the assistance of two or more persons or observers.
8. When sexual contact is done using degrading or humiliating means.

The penalty will be ten to fifteen years, if the violation is committed, by knowing their situation, against a sick person, a carrier of an incurable sexually transmitted disease or of immunodeficiency virus.

Article 200. Whoever harasses or physically, psychologically or economically attacks another member of the family will be punished with five to eight years' imprisonment and multidisciplinary therapeutic treatment in a public or private health center with specialized attention, provided that the conduct does not constitute crimes sanctioned by a more severe penalty.

In any of these cases, the competent authority will apply the corresponding protection measures in favor of the victims.

This penalty will be applied to physical injuries that produce a disability not exceeding thirty days. For the purposes of this article, the behaviors described are applicable in case of:
1. Married couples.
2. De facto unions.
3. Relationships of less than five years whose intention of permanence can be accredited.
5. People who have procreated a son or a daughter together.
6. Non-common minor children living or not in the family.

Likewise, shall be applied to the situations indicated in the above numbers, even when they have ended at the time of the aggression. In case of non-compliance with the security measure imposed, the Compliance Judge must replace it with the corresponding prison sentence.

Article 201. The penalty referred to in the previous article shall be from six to nine years in prison, if the physical injuries caused determine an incapacity exceeding thirty but not more than sixty days.

If such injuries produce some of the effects set forth in article 137 of this Code, the sanction established in the aforementioned article shall apply for acts of domestic violence.

11. CONDITIONS RELATING TO COUNSELLING AND MEDIATION.
A court may direct either or both the defendant and the complainant to participate in—
(a) counselling; or
(b) mediation; or
(c) both counselling and mediation.

Division 3 - Interim Protection Orders.

12. COURT MAY MAKE INTERIM PROTECTION ORDER.
   (1) In this division “court” includes the Village Court.
   (2) A court may make an interim protection order if the court believes on reasonable grounds that the complainant is in danger of any form of domestic violence.
   (3) The court may impose conditions in an interim protection order in the same way that it may impose conditions in a protection order issued under Division 2 of this Part.
   (4) A court may make an interim protection order whether or not the defendant or complainant is in court.
   (5) In avoidance of doubt, a court may make an interim protection order even though an application was also made under Section 7 for a protection order.
   (6) A court may include the name of a family member in an interim protection order made for the benefit of the complainant if the court believes on reasonable grounds that the family member is in danger of any form of domestic violence.

13. FORM OF AN INTERIM PROTECTION ORDER.
   (1) Subject to Subsection (2), an interim protection order is to be made in the prescribed form.
   (2) A failure to comply with Subsection (1) does not affect the validity of the interim protection order.

14. COMMENCEMENT AND DURATION OF INTERIM PROTECTION ORDERS.
   (1) An interim protection order or a renewed interim protection order commences at the time it is served on the defendant.
   (2) An interim protection order remains in force for not more than 30 days, and may be renewed only once for a further 30 days.
   (3) An interim protection order remains in force for 30 days unless—
      (a) it is revoked; or
      (b) it is renewed; or
      (c) it is replaced by a protection order.

15. EVIDENCE.
   (1) A court may make an interim protection order on such evidence as the court considers sufficient and appropriate having regard to the interim nature of the order.
   (2) Without limiting Subsection (1), if the complainant is unable to attend the court because of his or her injuries, the court may accept affidavit evidence on behalf of the complainant.
16. COURT MAY MAKE PROTECTION ORDER.
(1) Following an application made under Section 7, a court may make a protection order against a defendant if the court believes on reasonable grounds that—
(a) the defendant has committed an act of domestic violence against the complainant; or
(b) the defendant is likely to commit an act of domestic violence against the complainant.

(2) In deciding whether to make a protection order, the court must take into account the following:
   (a) the need to ensure that the complainant is protected from domestic violence; and
   (b) the safety and well-being of the complainant; and
   (c) the safety and well-being of other family members; and
   (d) any other matter the court considers relevant.

(3) The court may include the name of a family member in a protection order made for the benefit of the complainant, if the court believes on reasonable grounds that the defendant has committed, or is likely to commit, an act of domestic violence against that family member.

17. ABSENT DEFENDANT.
(1) Subject to Subsection (2), a court may proceed to hear and determine an application for a protection order if the defendant is not present.

(2) The court must be satisfied on reasonable grounds that—
   (a) the defendant has been served with a summons to appear at the hearing; or
   (b) the defendant was required by conditions of bail to appear at the hearing; or
   (c) having regard to the circumstances of the case, all reasonable efforts have been made to give the defendant notice of the hearing.

18. FORM OF PROTECTION ORDER.
(1) Subject to Subsection (2), a protection order is to be made in the prescribed form.

(2) A failure to comply with Subsection (1) does not affect the validity of the protection order.

19. COMMENCEMENT AND DURATION OF PROTECTION ORDER.
(1) A protection order or an extension to an existing protection order commences at the time it is served on the defendant.

(2) A protection order continues in force for the period specified in the order, unless it is revoked or the period of the order is varied.

(3) The period specified in a protection order must not exceed two years and is to be for such period as the court considers necessary to protect a person.

(4) Where a period is not specified in an order, the order remains in force for six months.

Division 5.-Offence and Compensation.

20. OFFENCE TO BREACH FAMILY PROTECTION ORDER.
(1) A person who breaches a condition or conditions of a family protection order or an interim protection order is guilty of an offence.
   Penalty: A fine not exceeding K10,000.00 or imprisonment for a term not exceeding three years or both.

(2) It is not a defense to an offence under Subsection (1) that the defendant has paid an amount of money or given other valuable consideration in accordance with his or her custom to the complainant.

(3) It is a defense to an offence under Subsection (1) that the defendant establishes a reasonable excuse.

21. COMPENSATION.
In addition to any order for protection, a court may order the defendant to pay compensation in accordance with custom or otherwise to the complainant if the complainant as a result of an act of domestic violence suffered—
(a) personal injury; or
PART IV.- MISCELLANEOUS.

22. POWER OF COURT TO MAKE ORDER ON OWN INITIATIVE.
(1) A court may, on its own initiative, make a family protection order against a person if-
   (a) the person pleads guilty to, or is found guilty of, an offence under Section 6 or an offence under any other law that involves conduct that amounts to domestic violence; and
   (b) the court is satisfied that the order could be made against the person under this Act.

(2) If a family protection order is already in force, the court may vary the order.

23. SPOUSE MAY GIVE EVIDENCE.
If a person is charged with an offence under this Act-
(a) the person’s spouse is a competent and compellable witness in any legal proceedings in connection with the offence; and
(b) the person’s spouse may be called to give evidence without the consent of the person.

24. VARIATION AND REVOCATION OF ORDERS.
(1) An application to vary or revoke a family protection order may be made by any person to whom the order applies.
(2) An application under Subsection (1) must be made to the court that made the order.

25. NO APPLICATION FEES.
Notwithstanding the provisions of any other law, policy, practice or procedure, no fees or charges are payable to a court in relation to the making of an application for a family protection order.

26. REGULATIONS.
The Head of State, acting with, and in accordance with the advice of the National Executive Council, may make regulations not inconsistent with this Act prescribing all matters required or permitted by this Act to be prescribed or necessary or convenient to be prescribed for carrying out or giving effect to this Act.

52. PARAGUAY

Law Against Domestic Violence, 2000 129

CHAPTER I
GENERAL PROVISIONS

Article 1 - Scope and protected goods.
This law establishes the rules of protection for any person who suffers injuries, physical, psychological or sexual abuse by any of the members of the family group, including the one originated by kinship, marriage or de facto union, even where the cohabitation has ceased; likewise, in case of non-cohabiting partners and children, whether or not the latter are common. Any affected person may report these facts to the Justice of the Peace of the place, orally or in writing, in order to obtain protection measures for their personal safety or that of their family. The complaints will be free of charge. In cases in which the affected person was not in a position to make the complaint on his / her own, the relatives or those who have knowledge of the fact may do so. In cases where the complaint is made before the National Police or in the health centers, it will be sent to the Justice of the Peace immediately.

Article 2 - Urgent protection measures.
Ascertained the likelihood of the facts reported, the Magistrate will order a special protection procedure in favor of the victim, and in the same act may adopt the following protection measures, according to the circumstances of the case and what is requested by the victim:

a) order the exclusion of the accused from the home where the family group lives;
b) prohibit the defendant's access to housing or places that entail danger to the victim;
c) in case of leaving the victim's home, arrange the delivery of personal objects and those of the minor children, depending on the case, as well as the furniture of indispensable use;
d) order the reinstatement of the victim who has left the home for reasons of personal security; excluding in this case the author of the offense;
e) prohibit the introduction or maintenance of weapons, psychotropic and / or toxic substances in the home, when they are used to intimidate, threaten or cause harm to members of the family group; and
f) any other that protects the victim, at the discretion of the Court.

In all cases, the measures ordered shall remain in force until the Judge who issued them orders their removal, either ex officio or at the request of a party, because the causes that gave rise to them have ceased, or the proceedings have ended.

Together with the implementation of the protection measures ordered, the Judge will arrange for the delivery of a copy of the background information on the case to the accused and will set a date and time for the hearing contemplated in Article 4 of this Law.

Article 3 - Additional assistance to victims.
Victims of domestic violence have the right to urgent and personalized attention from the Public Health and National Police institutions. In this sense, the following is established:

Public Health institutions must:
a) urgently assist the injured person and grant the treatment by qualified professionals, arrange all relevant examinations, and refer the patient to specialized institutions, if necessary; and
b) deliver a copy of the diagnosis to the patient and to the corresponding Justice of the Peace, within twenty-four hours.

The National Police must:
a) assist the victim who is in danger, even when the victim inside her / his home, whenever her / his relatives or those who have knowledge require it;
b) arrest the accused in case of finding him in flagrant undertaking of punishable acts, in accordance with the provisions of Article 239 of the Criminal Procedure Code;
c) send a copy of the minutes to the competent Magistrate's Court within twenty-four hours; and
d) comply with the protection measures ordered by the Justice of the Peace, whose execution was in his charge.

Article 4 - Hearing.
Once the measures indicated in Article 2 have been ordered and all the proceedings and background of the case have been duly notified, the Justice of the Peace shall order a hearing within three days of receiving the complaint, so that the parties may appear to substantiate the special protection procedure.

In case of unjustified absence of the accused to the first subpoena, the accused will be escorted by law enforcement. The victim is not obliged to appear personally. The parties must offer and complete their evidence at the same hearing.

At the beginning of the hearing, the Justice of the Peace will inform the parties about their rights.

Article 5 - Of the resolution.
Once the proceedings mentioned in Article 4 have been completed, the Justice of Peace will issue a decision, which may ratify, modify, adopt new measures, or annul those previously established. In the first cases, the Justice must establish the duration of the measures. The resolution will be read to the parties at the same hearing.

If necessary, the resolution will include the adoption of permanent measures aimed at protecting the family group or any of its members and may provide assistance to reeducation or therapeutic treatment programs.

Article 6 - Of the appeal.
The appeal shall be well-founded, and raised within two days after the hearing, before the Justice of the Peace, who shall remit the proceedings without further proceedings to the corresponding Civil and Commercial Court of First Instance.

The appeal will be granted without suspensive effect when the action is made.

Article 7 - Resolution.
The Judge in Civil and Commercial matters will summon the other party in two days to hear this, and will issue a ruling within three days, which will be enforceable.

Article 8 - Supplementary procedure.
The Civil Procedure Code will be applied supplementary, provided that the actions established in this law are not deprived of efficiency, speed and procedural economy.

Article 9 - Obligations of the State.
The Secretariat of Women of the Presidency of the Republic will be responsible for monitoring and evaluating the application of this Law, by:
a) intervening in public policies for the prevention of domestic violence;
b) coordinating joint actions of the Health Services, National Police, Judiciary and Public Ministry, as well as the specialized intergovernmental and non-governmental organizations, to provide adequate preventive and supportive care to women and other members of the family group, victims of domestic violence;
c) disclosing and promoting the knowledge of this law; and
d) Keeping a record of data on domestic violence, with all the pertinent information, periodically requesting the Peace Courts of the different circumscriptions the necessary data for the updating of said registry.

Article 10 - The special protection procedure established in this Law shall be carried out without adversely affecting the application of the criminal sanctions applicable to the defendant in case of perpetration of punishable acts typified in the Penal Code.

Article 11 - Communicate to the Executive Power.
Approved the Bill by the Honorable Chamber of Senators, on 4 July 2000, and by the Honorable Chamber of Deputies, on 22 September 2000, being sanctioned on the same day, in accordance with the provisions of Article 207, 3, of the National Constitution.
53. PERU

Act to Prevent, Punish and Eradicate Violence Against Women and Members of the Family Group, 2015

[...]

TITLE I
SUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS FOR THE PREVENTION, SANCTION AND ERADICATION OF VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN AND MEMBERS OF THE FAMILY GROUP

CHAPTER I
GENERAL PROVISIONS

Article 1. Object of the Law

The purpose of this Law is to prevent, eradicate and punish all forms of violence produced in the public or private sphere against women because of their status as such, and against members of the family group; especially when they are in a situation of vulnerability, by age or physical situation such as girls, boys, adolescents, older adults and people with disabilities.

For this purpose, it establishes mechanisms, measures and integral policies of prevention, attention and protection of the victims as well as reparation of the damage caused; and provides for the prosecution, punishment and reeducation of sentenced aggressors in order to guarantee women and the family group a life free of violence by ensuring the full exercise of their rights.

Article 2. Guiding principles

In the interpretation and application of this Law, and in general, in any measure that the State adopts through its public powers and institutions, as well as in the action of society, the following principles are preferably considered:

1. Principle of equality and non-discrimination: Equality between women and men is guaranteed. Prohibit all forms of discrimination. Understand discrimination, any kind of distinction, exclusion or restriction, based on gender, whose purpose or result is to undermine or cancel the recognition, enjoyment or exercise of the rights of the people.

2. Principle of the best interests of the child: In all measures concerning children adopted by public or private social welfare institutions, courts, administrative authorities or legislative bodies, the best interests of the child must be taken into consideration.

3. Principle of due diligence: The State adopts without delay, all policies aimed at preventing, punishing and eradicating all forms of violence against women and members of the family group. The corresponding sanctions must be imposed on the authorities that break this principle.

4. Principle of immediate and timely intervention: The operators of justice and the National Police of Peru, in the face of an act or threat of violence, must act in a timely manner, without delay for procedural, formal or other nature, providing for the exercise of the protective measures provided for in the law and other regulations, in order to effectively assist the victim.

5. Principle of simplicity and orality: All processes for violence against women and members of the family group are developed considering the minimum formalism, in friendly spaces for presumed victims, favoring that they trust the system and collaborate with it for adequate sanction to the aggressor and the restitution of the violated rights.

6. Principle of reasonableness and proportionality: The prosecutor or judge in charge in any process of violence, should weigh the proportionality between the possible damage caused and the measures of protection and rehabilitation to be adopted. For it must make a judgment of reasonableness according to the circumstances of the case, issuing decisions that allow effective protection to the life, health and dignity of the victims. The adoption of these measures is appropriate to the phases of the cycle of violence and the different typologies that presents violence against women and members of the family group.

Article 3. Approaches

Operators, when applying this Law, shall consider the following approaches:

1. Gender approach. Recognizes the existence of asymmetrical circumstances in the relationship between men and women, built on the basis of differences in gender that constitute one of the causes of violence against women. This approach should guide the design of strategies of intervention aimed at achieving equality of opportunities between men and women.

2. Comprehensive approach. Recognizes that violence against women brings together multiple causes and factors that are present in different areas, at the individual, family, community and structural levels. Therefore, it is necessary to establish interventions at different levels and different disciplines.

3. Intercultural approach. Recognizes the need for dialogue between different cultures that are integrated into Peruvian society, in a way that allows recovery, from the diverse cultural contexts, of all those expressions that are based on respect for another person. This approach does not admit discriminatory cultural practices that tolerate the violence or hinder the enjoyment of equality rights between people of different genders.

4. Human rights approach. Recognizes that the main objective of any intervention within the framework of this Law must be the realization of human rights, identifying the holders of rights and what they are entitled to according to their particular needs; identifying, also, the obligors or holders of duties and the obligations that correspond to them. Efforts are being made to strengthen the capacity of rights holders to claim these rights and the holders of duties to fulfill their obligations.

5. Approach of intersectionality. Recognizes that women's experience of violence is influenced by factors and identities such as their ethnicity, color, religion; political or other opinion; national or social origin, heritage; marital status, sexual orientation, seropositive status, immigrant or refugee status, age or disability; and, where appropriate, includes measures aimed at specific groups of women.

6. Generational approach. Recognizes that it is necessary to identify the power relations between different ages of life and their links to improve living conditions or common development. It considers that childhood, youth, adulthood and old age must have a connection, because together they are paying to a common history and must be strengthened generationally. Presents long-term contributions considering the different generations and placing the importance of building co-responsibilities among them.

Article 4. Scope of application of the Law
The provisions of this Law apply to all types of violence against women because of their status as such and against members of the family group.

CHAPTER II
DEFINITION AND TYPES OF VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN AND MEMBERS FROM THE FAMILY GROUP

Article 5. Definition of violence against women.
Violence against women is any action or conduct that causes them death, physical, sexual or psychological damage or suffering because of their condition, both in the public and private spheres. Violence against women is understood as:

a. The one that takes place within the family or domestic unit, or in any other interpersonal relationship, whether the aggressor shares or has shared the same address as the woman. It includes, among others, rape, physical or psychological abuse and sexual abuse.

b. The one that takes place in the community, is perpetrated by any person and includes, among others, rape, sexual abuse, torture, trafficking of persons, forced prostitution, kidnapping and sexual harassment in the workplace, as well as in educational institutions, health centers or any other place.

c. The one which is perpetrated or tolerated by agents of the State, wherever it occurs.

Article 6. Definition of violence against members of the family group.
Violence against any member of the family group is any action or conduct that causes death, damage or physical, sexual or psychological suffering and that occurs in the context of a relationship of responsibility, trust or power, from one member to another of the family group. Special consideration is given to girls, boys, adolescents, seniors and people with disabilities.

Article 7. Subjects of protection of the Law.
Are subjects of protection of the Law:
a. Women throughout their life cycle: girl, adolescent, young, adult and older adult.
b. The members of the family group. Understand as such, the spouses, ex-spouses, cohabitants, ex-survivors; stepparents, stepmothers; ascendants and descendants; the collateral relatives of the spouses and cohabitants up to the fourth degree of consanguinity and second degree of affinity; and to those who, without having any of the aforementioned conditions, live in the same home, provided that contractual or labor relations do not exist; and those who have procreated children in common, regardless of whether they live together or not, at the time of violence.

Article 8. Types of violence.
The types of violence against women and members of the family group are:
a) Physical violence. It is the action or behavior, which causes damage to bodily integrity or health. This includes abuse due to negligence, neglect or deprivation of basic needs, which have caused physical damage or that may cause it, regardless of the time required for recovery.
b) Psychological violence. It is the action or conduct, tending to control or isolate the person against their will, to humiliate or shame and that can cause psychological damages. Psychological damage is the affectation or alteration of some of the mental functions or capacities of the person, produced by a fact or a set of situations of violence, which determines a temporary or permanent, reversible or irreversible impairment of the previous integral functioning.
c) Sexual violence. Actions of a sexual nature that are committed against a person without their consent or under duress. They include acts that do not involve penetration or any physical contact. Likewise, they are considered as exposure to pornographic material and that violate the right of people to decide voluntarily about their sexual or reproductive life, through threats, coercion, use of force or intimidation.
d) Economic or patrimonial violence. Is the action or omission that is aimed at causing a loss in economic resources or assets of any person, through:
1. the disturbance of the possession or ownership of their property;
2. the loss, theft, destruction, retention or misappropriation of objects, work tools, personal documents, assets, values and patrimonial rights;
3. the limitation of economic resources destined to satisfy their needs or deprivation of the indispensable means to live a dignified life; as well as the evasion of the fulfillment of their alimentary obligations;
4. the limitation or control of their income, as well as the perception of a lower salary for the same task, within the same place of work.

CHAPTER III
RIGHTS OF WOMEN AND OF THE FAMILY GROUP

Article 9. Right to a life free of violence.
Women and members of the family group have the right to a life free of violence, to be valued and educated, to be free from all forms of discrimination, stigmatization and stereotyped patterns of behavior, social and cultural practices based on concepts of inferiority and subordination.

Article 10. Right to integral assistance and protection.
The entities that make up the National System for the Prevention, Punishment and Eradication of Violence against Women and Members of the Family Group allocate specialized human, logistical and budgetary resources in order to detect violence, care for victims, protect and restore their rights.
The rights considered in this article are:
a. Access to information. Victims of violence against women and members of the family group have the right to receive full information and advice appropriate to their personal situation, through the services, agencies or offices of the State at its three levels of government and according to their particular needs. It is the duty of the National Police of Peru, the Public Prosecutor's Office, the Judiciary and all justice operators to report, under responsibility, with professionalism, impartiality and in strict respect of the right of privacy and confidentiality of the victim, about their rights and the complaint mechanisms. In all the institutions of the justice system and in the National Police of Peru, information on the rights of victims of violence and the care services provided for free by the State must be displayed in a visible place, in Spanish or in the local language. For this purpose, it is mandatory to provide an information booklet to the victim in her own language. The Ministry of the Interior verifies compliance with this obligation.
b. Legal assistance and public defense. The State must provide legal assistance, immediately, free of charge, specialized and in its own language, to all victims of violence, and must provide them with public defense services to guarantee the effective exercise of their rights. It is the victim's right that his / her declaration be received by specialized personnel and in an adequate environment that safeguards their dignity and privacy. The defense of the victims of violence against women and members of the family group, in those places where the Ministry of Women and Vulnerable Populations cannot provide the service, is provided by the Victim Assistance Units and Witnesses of the Public Prosecutor's Office, and the Ministry of Justice and Human Rights. The Ministry of Justice and Human Rights and the Ministry of Women and Vulnerable Populations promote the involvement of the bar associations in the matter.

c. Promotion, prevention and health care. The promotion, prevention, attention and integral recovery of the physical and mental health of victims of violence against women and members of the family group is free in any health establishment in the State and includes medical care; diagnostic help exams (laboratory, imaging and others); hospitalization, medication, psychological and psychiatric treatment; and any other activity necessary or required for the restoration of their health. The Ministry of Health is in charge of the free provision of health services for the integral recovery of the physical and mental health of the victims. Regarding the medical and psychological care provided, the Ministry of Health must safeguard the adequate obtaining, conservation of the documentation of evidence of the acts of violence. This obligation extends to all public and private services that serve victims of violence, who, in addition, must issue the corresponding certificates of qualification of the physical and psychological damage of the victim according to the medical-legal parameters of the Institute of Legal Medicine and Sciences of the Public Ministry.

d. Social care. The State attends to victims of violence against women and members of the family group in social programs, guaranteeing the confidentiality of cases and providing them with dignified treatment, provided that the criteria and rules established in current regulations are met.

Article 11. Labor rights
The worker who is a victim of the violence referred to in this Law has the following rights:

a. Not to be dismissed for reasons related to such acts of violence.

b. To change workplace, if possible, and without detriment to their remunerative and category rights. The same applies to the work schedule, where relevant.

c. To the justification of absences and delays to the workplace resulting from such acts of violence. These absences cannot exceed five working days in a period of thirty calendar days or more than fifteen working days in a period of one hundred and eighty calendar days. For this purpose, a justification is considered to be the report filed with the police unit or before the Public Prosecutor's Office.

d. To the suspension of the employment relationship. The judge in charge of the process may, at the request of the victim and depending on the seriousness of the situation, grant up to a maximum of five consecutive months of suspension of the employment relationship without remuneration. The reinstatement of the worker to their work center must take place in the same conditions existing at the time of the suspension of the employment relationship.

Article 12. Rights in the field of education
The victim of the violence referred to in this Law has, among others, the following rights:

a. To change place and study schedule without affecting their rights.

b. To the justification of absences and delays derived from acts of violence. These absences or delays cannot exceed five days in a period of thirty calendar days or more than fifteen days in a period of one hundred and eighty calendar days.

c. Specialized attention in the educational field regarding the consequences of violence, so that the educational service responds to their needs without detriment to its quality. It is the obligation of the State to formulate specific measures to favor the permanence of the victims in the educational environment and, if appropriate, encourage their reintegration.

TITLE II
PROCEDURES OF GUARDIANSHIP ON CASES OF VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN AND MEMBERS OF THE FAMILY GROUP

CHAPTER I
SPECIAL PROCESS

Reports of acts of violence against women and members of the family group are regulated by the rules provided for in this Law and, in a supplementary manner, by the Criminal Procedure Code, promulgated by Legislative Decree 957, and Law 27337, Code of Children and Adolescents.

The family courts or those who fulfill their functions are competent to hear complaints about acts of violence against women or against members of the family group.

Article 15. Complaint.
The complaint can be presented in writing or orally. When dealing with a verbal complaint, a report is drawn up with no other requirement than to provide a succinct account of the facts. The complaint may be filed by the injured party or by any other person on his/her behalf, without the need to representation. It can also be filed by the Ombudsman's Office. No attorney's signature, fee or any other formality is required. Without prejudice to the above, health and education professionals must report cases of violence against women or members of the family group they know in the performance of their activity. When the National Police of Peru knows of cases of violence against women or members of the family group, in any of its police stations of the national scope, it must bring the facts to the attention of the family courts or those that perform their functions within the twenty-four hours of being aware the fact, submitting the report that summarizes the act.

Article 16. Trial hearing.
Within a maximum period of seventy-two hours following the filing of the complaint, the family court or its equivalent proceeds to evaluate the case and resolves, in an oral hearing, the issuance of the required protective measures that may be necessary. Likewise, ex officio or at the request of the victim, in the oral hearing, it pronounces on precautionary measures that safeguard pretensions of alimony, visitation regimes, possession, suspension or extinction of parental authority, liquidation of patrimonial regime and other related aspects that are necessary to guarantee the welfare of the victims. Once the proceedings have been analyzed, the family court or its equivalent proceeds to refer the case to the criminal prosecutor’s office for the initiation of criminal proceedings in accordance with the rules of the Code of Criminal Procedure, promulgated by Legislative Decree 957.

Article 17. Flagrancy.
In case of flagrante delicto, linked to acts of violence against women and members of the family group, the National Police of Peru proceeds to the immediate arrest of the aggressor, even breaking into his home or the place where the events are taking place. In these cases, the Police drafts a record in which the delivery of the detainee and the other circumstances of the intervention are recorded, having to immediately communicate the facts to the criminal prosecutor for the corresponding investigations and to the family court or its equivalent so that pronounce on protective measures and other measures for the welfare of the victims. Once the actions foreseen in article 16 have been carried out, the family court or its equivalent communicates the acts to the corresponding criminal prosecutor’s office.

In the actions of justice operators, caused by acts that constitute violence against women and members of the family group, the double victimization of aggrieved persons through reiterative declarations and humiliating content shall be avoided. The operators of the justice system must follow concrete guidelines of action that avoid discriminatory procedures towards the victimized people.

Article 19. Declaration of the victim and single interview
When the victim is a girl, child, adolescent or woman, their declaration must be made in a single interview, which has the quality of pre-constituted evidence. The declaration of the victim of legal age, at the discretion of the prosecutor, can be made under the same technique.
The judge can only practice an extension declaration of the victim in cases that require clarification, supplement or specify a point about his statement.

The sentence that ends the process for crimes related to acts of violence against women and members of the family group may be acquittal or condemnatory. In the first case, the judge indicates the term to the protective measures ordered by the family court or equivalent. The precautionary measures that safeguard the civil claims that have been decided in that instance cease in their effects, unless they have been confirmed in a specialized instance.
In the case of a conviction, in addition to what is established in article 394 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, promulgated by Legislative Decree 957, and when appropriate, it contains:
1. The continuity or modification of the protective measures ordered by the family court or equivalent.
2. The therapeutic treatment in favor of the victim.
3. Specialized treatment for the convicted.
4. The continuity or modification of the precautionary measures that safeguard civil claims of tenure, visitation, suspension, extinction or loss of parental authority, alimony, among others.

5. The measures that the local governments and communities of the habitual domicile of the victim and the aggressor must adopt, to guarantee compliance with the protection measures, unless they have been confirmed in a specialized instance.

6. The registration of the sentence in the Single Registry of Victims and Aggressors for Violence against Women and Members of the Family Group, under the responsibility of the Public Ministry.

7. Any other measure in favor of the victims or their relatives.

In the event that the parties to the process use a language other than Spanish, the sentence shall be translated. In cases where translation is not possible, the judge guarantees the presence of a person who can inform them of its content.

Article 21. Functional responsibility
Whoever omits, refuses or delays any act in his / her charge, in the proceedings originated by acts of violence against women or against members of the family group commits an offense sanctioned in articles 377 or 378 of the Criminal Code, as the case may be.

CHAPTER II
PROTECTIVE MEASURES

Article 22. Protective measures
Among the protective measures that can be issued in the proceedings for acts of violence against women and members of the family group are, among others, the following:

1. Removal of the aggressor from the home.

2. Impediment of proximity to the victim in any form, at a distance determined by the judicial authority.

3. Prohibition of communication with the victim via epistolary, telephone, electronic; also, via chat, social networks, institutional network, intranet or other networks or forms of communication.

4. Prohibition of the right of possession and carrying of weapons to the aggressor, having to notify the National Superintendence of Control of Security Services, Weapons, Ammunition and Explosives for Civil Use to proceed to revoke the possession and use license, and for the weapons that are in possession of persons in respect of which the measure of protection has been issued to be confiscated.

5. Inventory of assets.

6. Any other required for the protection of the personal integrity and life of victims or relatives.

Article 23. Validity and implementation of protection measures
The validity of the measures issued by the family court or its equivalent extends until the sentence issued in the criminal court or until the decision by which it is decided not to file a criminal complaint for a refusal, unless these pronouncements are challenged.

The National Police of Peru is responsible for executing the protection measures issued, for which it must have a graphic and georeferenced map of all victims that have been notified about the protective measures applied to them; and, likewise, to enable a communication channel to effectively attend to their requests for safekeeping, being able to coordinate with the vigilance services in order to provide a timely response.

Article 24. Non-compliance with protective measures
Anyone who disobeys, fails to comply with or resists a measure of protection issued in proceedings originated by acts of violence against women or against members of the family group commits a crime of resistance or disobedience to the authority provided for in the Criminal Code.

Article 25. Protection of victims in investigation proceedings
In the course of processes for violence against women and members of the family group, confrontation and conciliation between the victim and the aggressor is prohibited. The reconstruction of the facts must be practiced without the presence of the victim, unless the victim over fourteen years of age requests it, without prejudice to the provisions of article 194, paragraph 3, of the Code of Criminal Procedure, promulgated by Legislative Decree 957.

Article 26. Content of medical certificates and reports
The certificates of physical and mental health issued by physicians of public health establishments of different sectors and institutions of the State and levels of government, have probative value about the state of physical and mental health in the processes of violence against women and the members of the family group. Equally valuable are certificates issued by parish health centers and private establishments whose operation is authorized by the Ministry of Health. The corresponding certificates of qualification of the physical and psychological damage of the victim must be in accordance with the medical-legal parameters of the Institute of Legal Medicine and Forensic Sciences of the Public Prosecutor’s Office. The medical certificates contain detailed information on the results of the physical and psychological evaluations to which the victim has been subjected. If it is the case, the certificates of the physical evaluations must necessarily include the qualification of days of optional care as well as the qualification of days of incapacity.

Within the framework of the care provided by all public and private health care centers, they must safeguard the adequate collection, preservation and documentation of evidence of acts of violence. The psychological reports of the Women's Emergency Centers and other specialized state services have probative value of mental health status in the processes of violence against women and members of the family group. In the public sector, the issuance of certificates and the medical consultation that originates them, as well as complementary examinations or tests to issue diagnoses are free. For the purposes of this Law, it is not necessary to hold a special expert ratification hearing; therefore, the presence of professionals is not required to ratify the certificates and evaluations they have issued to grant them probative value.

TITLE III
PREVENTION OF VIOLENCE, ATTENTION AND RECOVERY OF VICTIMS AND REEDUCATION OF AGRESSORS

CHAPTER I
PREVENTION OF VIOLENCE, ATTENTION AND RECOVERY OF VICTIMS

Article 27. Promotion, prevention and recovery services for victims of violence
The protection of women and members of the family group against acts of violence is a matter of public interest. The State is responsible for promoting the prevention of such acts and the recovery of the victims. It is the State's policy to create care and prevention services against violence.

The creation and management of temporary shelter homes, programs aimed at men to prevent violent behavior and other protection services in favor of victims of violence against women and members of the family group will be in charge of the local and regional governments and the Ministry of Women and Vulnerable Populations. It is the function of said Sector to promote, coordinate and articulate the implementation of said services in each locality.

Article 28. Assessment of the risk of victims of intimate partner violence
In cases of intimate partner violence, the National Police of Peru and the Public Prosecutor's Office apply the risk assessment form in women victims of intimate partner violence as a measure to prevent femicide. The file serves as an input for the pronouncement on protection measures and must be updated when circumstances warrant. In the case of other members of the family group, a risk assessment form is applied to identify vulnerabilities and specific protection needs.

When the National Police of Peru knows the cases through its police stations, it must include among its actions the risk assessment form and send it to the family court or equivalent, according to the process regulated in this Law.

Article 29. Implementation and registration of temporary shelters
It is a permanent policy of the State to create temporary shelters. The Ministry of Women and Vulnerable Populations implements and manages the registry of temporary shelter homes that meets quality standards in the provision of services. The information in this registry is confidential and will be used for the processes of articulation, protection and technical assistance. Local, provincial and district governments, and regional governments and private institutions that manage temporary shelters will provide information and access to the Ministry of Women and Vulnerable Populations for the fulfillment of their monitoring and evaluation functions. The Ministry of Women and Vulnerable Populations approves the minimum requirements to create and operate temporary refuge homes, as well as the minimum standards of quality of service provision.

CHAPTER II
REEDUCATION OF PERPETRATORS

Article 30. Reeducation of perpetrators
It is a policy of the State to create treatment services that contribute to the reeducation of aggressors who have committed acts of violence against women and members of the family group in order for the aggressor to stop all types of violence against them.

Article 31. Prison treatment for the social reintegration of aggressors deprived of liberty
The National Penitentiary Institute incorporates the axis of prevention of violence against women and members of the family group within the different prison treatment programs aimed at the prison population. The person sentenced to effective imprisonment for crimes related to violence against women and members of the family group, after evaluation, must follow a reeducation treatment of a multidisciplinary and differentiated nature, taking into account the approaches included in this Law in order to facilitate their social reintegration. The fulfillment of the treatment is a mandatory requirement for the granting of penitentiary benefits, pardons and commutation of the sentence, according to the current legal framework, which cannot be granted without the corresponding psychological and social report. pronounce on the evolution of differentiated treatment. The Ministry of Women and Vulnerable Populations provides technical assistance for the design of the reeducation program.

Article 32. Treatment for aggressors in a free environment
In the proceedings for crimes related to acts of violence against women and members of the family group, the judge may impose psychosocial, psychiatric or self-help treatment to the aggressor, through assistance and therapies specialized in violence against women and members of the family group, using the various programs developed by the institutions for the protection of the family. This measure can be applied since the beginning of the procedure. It is the obligation of local governments to implement, in coordination with the Ministry of Women and Vulnerable Populations, attention and intervention services for males and aggressors. In the trials for crimes related to acts of violence against women and members of the family group, the criminal courts must decide in the condemnatory sentence about the specialized treatment for the aggressor that does not comply with the effective prison sentence. The submission to a treatment service for reeducation of aggressors in public or private institutions is considered as a rule of conduct, without prejudice to the corresponding penal sanction.

TITLE IV
NATIONAL SYSTEM FOR THE PREVENTION, SANCTION AND ERADICATION OF VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN AND MEMBERS OF THE FAMILY GROUP

Article 33. Creation, purpose and competence of the system
Create the National System for the Prevention, Punishment and Eradication of Violence against Women and Members of the Family Group, in order to coordinate, plan, organize and execute articulated, integrated and complementary actions for the State’s action in the prevention, attention, protection and reparation of the victim, the sanction and reeducation of the aggressor, in order to achieve the eradication of violence against women and members of the family group. It is a functional system.

Article 34. Members of the system
The National System for the Prevention, Punishment and Eradication of Violence against Women and the members of the Family Group are integrated by the entities that make up the high-level multisectoral commission, which has a technical secretariat, and regional, provincial and district agreement to eradicate violence against women and members of the family group.

Article 35. High Level Multisectoral Commission
The High Level Multisectoral Commission is established with the aim of directing the National System for the Prevention, Punishment and Eradication of Violence against Women and Members of the Family Group and formulating the guidelines and the evaluation of the provisions of this regulation. The Commission is chaired by the owner or representative of the senior management of the Ministry of Women and Vulnerable Populations and integrated by the holders or representatives of the top management of the institutions that are determined in the regulations of this Law. The Ministry of Women and Vulnerable Populations is the governing body in matters of prevention, protection and attention to violence against women and members of the family group and is responsible for coordinating and monitoring the effective implementation and compliance of the present Law. The General Directorate against Gender Violence of the mentioned ministry is constituted as the technical secretariat of the Commission, which summons specialists from different sectors and representatives of civil society with the purpose of constituting a national working group. The regulation of this Law regulates the functioning of the Commission.

Article 36. Functions of the Multisectoral Commission
The functions of the Multisectoral Commission are the following:
1. Approve and disseminate the basic protocol for joint action and the guidelines for intersectoral intervention articulated in prevention, care, protection, punishment and reeducation to eradicate violence against women and members of the family group, taking into account the reports issued by the National Observatory of Violence against Women and Members of the Family Group.
2. Follow up and monitor national plans that address violence against women and members of the family group, taking into account the reports issued by the National Observatory of Violence against Women and Members of the Family Group.
3. Coordinate with the Ministry of Economy and Finance for the allocation of resources to the sectors involved in the application of this Law, prior inter-sector budgetary planning.
4. Guarantee the organic and administrative adaptation of the entities responsible for the implementation of the guidelines issued by the Commission for the best application of this Law.
5. Promote the creation of regional observatories of violence against women and members of the family group.
6. Promote the creation of regional, provincial and district bodies responsible for combating violence against women and members of the family group.

Article 37. Regional conciliation authority
The regional coordination body is responsible for preparing, implementing, monitoring and evaluating public policies in charge of combating violence against women and members of the family group at a regional level, and promoting compliance with this regulation. Its composition is determined in the regulations of this Law.

Article 38. Provincial conciliation authority
The provincial coordination body is responsible for preparing, implementing, monitoring and evaluating the public policies in charge of combating violence against women and members of the family group at the provincial level, and promoting compliance with this regulation. Its composition is determined in the regulations of this Law.

Article 39. District Court of Arbitration
The district court of arbitration is responsible for preparing, implementing, monitoring and evaluating public policies in charge of combating violence against women and members of the family group at the district level, and promoting compliance with this standard. Its composition is determined in the regulations of this Law.

Article 40. Instruments and mechanisms for the articulation of the system Instruments and mechanisms of articulation of the system:
- The Joint Action Base Protocol.
- The Single Registry of Victims and Aggressors.
- The National Observatory of Violence against Women and Members of the Family Group.
- The Center for Higher Studies against Violence against Women and the Members of the Family Group.

Article 41. Base Protocol for Joint Action
The Base Protocol of Joint Action in prevention, care, protection, early detection and continued intervention, sanction and reeducation in the face of violence against women and members of the family group contains the guidelines for intersectoral articulation and procedures to ensure global and integral action of the different administrations and services involved. It constitutes an instrument of obligatory compliance under responsibility.

The Protocol must consider in a special way the situation of women who, because of their status as such and crossing other variables, are more exposed to violence or greater difficulties in accessing the services provided for in this Law, such as those belonging to indigenous, Andean and Amazonian populations, people of African descent, those in situations of social exclusion and women with disabilities, among others. A similar consideration should include the protocol regarding members of the family group from the human, generational and intercultural rights approach.

Article 42. Unique Registry of Victims and Aggressors
In order to implement an intersectoral system for registering cases of violence against women and members of the family group, called the Single Registry of Victims and Aggressors, the Public Prosecutor’s Office, in coordination with the National Police of Peru, the Judiciary and the Ministry of Women and Vulnerable Populations, is responsible for the registration of these cases, which includes all the data of the victim and the aggressor, the classification, the causes and consequences of violence, the existence of previous complaints and other necessary information.

Article 43. National Observatory of Violence against Women and Members of the Family Group
The National Observatory of Violence against Women and Members of the Family Group, under the Ministry of Women and Vulnerable Populations, aims to monitor, collect, produce and systematize data and information by following public policies and international commitments assumed by the State in this matter. Its mission is to develop a permanent information system that provides inputs for the design, implementation and management of public policies aimed at the prevention and eradication of violence against women and members of the family group.

The Observatory prepares reports, studies and proposals for the effectiveness of the National System for the Prevention, Punishment and Eradication of Violence against Women and Members of the Family Group.

Article 44. Center for Higher Studies
The Center for Higher Studies against Violence against Women and Members of the Family Group, under the direction of the Ministry of Women and Vulnerable Populations, aims to contribute to the articulated and multidisciplinary intervention through a continuous integral system of specialization and improvement of the operators in their role in the comprehensive fight against violence against women and members of the family group, for timely and effective care, including the evaluation of its impact.

The Center for Higher Studies has close coordination with the Judicial Academy, the School of Public Prosecutions, the Judicial Investigation Center of the Judiciary, the Center for Constitutional Studies of the Constitutional Court, the Center for Studies in Justice and Human Rights of the Ministry of Justice and Human Rights, universities and research centers to influence the prioritization of training and research activities on violence against women and members of the family group. All the actions carried out and promoted by the Center for Higher Studies must incorporate the approaches of gender, integrality, interculturality, human rights, intersectionality, generational and disability that underlie this Law.

Article 45. Sectoral responsibilities
The sectors and institutions involved, and regional and local governments, in addition to adopting mechanisms of training, capacitation and permanent specialization, in accordance with their organic laws and other applicable regulations, are responsible for:

If the acts are committed while the woman or child is pregnant or committed in the presence of her child, the penalty to be applied shall be the maximum period of penalty prescribed in the section.

In addition to imprisonment, the perpetrator shall (a) pay a fine in the amount of not less than One hundred thousand pesos (P100,000.00) but not more than three hundred thousand pesos (300,000.00); (b) undergo mandatory psychological counseling or psychiatric treatment and shall report compliance to the court.

SECTION 7. Venue.- The Regional Trial Court designated as a Family Court shall have original and exclusive jurisdiction over cases of violence against women and their children under this law. In the absence of such court in the place where the offense was committed, the case shall be filed in the Regional Trial Court where the crime or any of its elements was committed at the option of the complainant.

SECTION 8. Protection Orders.- A protection order is an order issued under this act for the purpose of preventing further acts of violence against a woman or her child specified in Section 5 of this Act and granting other necessary relief. The relief granted under a protection order serve the purpose of safeguarding the victim from further harm, minimizing any disruption in the victim’s daily life, and facilitating the opportunity and ability of the victim to independently regain control over her life. The provisions of the protection order shall be enforced by law enforcement agencies. The protection orders that may be issued under this Act are the barangay protection order (BPO), temporary protection order (TPO) and permanent protection order (PPO). The protection orders that may be issued under this Act shall include any, some or all of the following reliefs:

(a) Prohibition of the respondent from threatening to commit or committing, personally or through another, any of the acts mentioned in Section 5 of this Act;

(b) Prohibition of the respondent from harassing, annoying, telephoning, contacting or otherwise communicating with the petitioner, directly or indirectly;

(c) Removal and exclusion of the respondent from the residence of the petitioner, regardless of ownership of the residence, either temporarily for the purpose of protecting the petitioner, or permanently where no property rights are violated, and if respondent must remove personal effects from the residence, the court shall direct a law enforcement agent to accompany the respondent has gathered his things and escort respondent from the residence;
(d) Directing the respondent to stay away from petitioner and designated family or household member at a distance specified by the court, and to stay away from the residence, school, place of employment, or any specified place frequented by the petitioner and any designated family or household member;

(e) Directing lawful possession and use by petitioner of an automobile and other essential personal effects, regardless of ownership, and directing the appropriate law enforcement officer to accompany the petitioner to the residence of the parties to ensure that the petitioner is safely restored to the possession of the automobile and other essential personal effects, or to supervise the petitioner’s or respondent’s removal of personal belongings;

(f) Granting a temporary or permanent custody of a child/children to the petitioner;

(g) Directing the respondent to provide support to the woman and/or her child if entitled to legal support. Notwithstanding other laws to the contrary, the court shall order an appropriate percentage of the income or salary of the respondent to be withheld regularly by the respondent’s employer for the same to be automatically remitted directly to the woman. Failure to remit and/or withhold or any delay in the remittance of support to the woman and/or her child without justifiable cause shall render the respondent or his employer liable for indirect contempt of court;

(h) Prohibition of the respondent from any use or possession of any firearm or deadly weapon and order him to surrender the same to the court for appropriate disposition by the court, including revocation of license and disqualification to apply for any license to use or possess a firearm. If the offender is a law enforcement agent, the court shall order the offender to surrender his firearm and shall direct the appropriate authority to investigate on the offender and take appropriate action on matter;

(i) Restitution for actual damages caused by the violence inflicted, including, but not limited to, property damage, medical expenses, childcare expenses and loss of income;

(j) Directing the DSWD or any appropriate agency to provide petitioner may need; and jurisdiction over the place of residence of the petitioner: Provided, however, That if a family court exists in the place of residence of the petitioner, the application shall be filed with that court.

SECTION 11. How to Apply for a Protection Order. – The application for a protection order must be in writing, signed and verified under oath by the applicant. It may be filed as an independent action or as incidental relief in any civil or criminal case the subject matter or issues thereof partakes of a violence as described in this Act. A standard protection order application form, written in English with translation to the major local languages, shall be made available to facilitate applications for protection order, and shall contain, among other, the following information:

(a) names and addresses of petitioner and respondent;
(b) description of relationships between petitioner and respondent;
(c) a statement of the circumstances of the abuse;
(d) description of the reliefs requested by petitioner as specified in Section 8 herein;
(e) request for counsel and reasons for such;
(f) request for waiver of application fees until hearing; and
(g) an attestation that there is no pending application for a protection order in another court.

If the applicant is not the victim, the application must be accompanied by an affidavit of the applicant attesting to (a) the circumstances of the abuse suffered by the victim and (b) the circumstances of consent given by the victim for the filling of the application. When disclosure of the address of the victim will pose danger to her life, it shall be so stated in the application. In such a case, the applicant shall attest that the victim is residing in the municipality or city over which court has territorial jurisdiction, and shall provide a mailing address for purpose of service processing.

An application for protection order filed with a court shall be considered an application for both a TPO and PPO.

Barangay officials and court personnel shall assist applicants in the preparation of the application. Law enforcement agents shall also extend assistance in the application for protection orders in cases brought to their attention.

SECTION 12. Enforceability of Protection Orders. – All TPOs and PPOs issued under this Act shall be enforceable anywhere in the Philippines and a violation thereof shall be punishable with a fine ranging from Five Thousand Pesos (P5,000.00) to Fifty Thousand Pesos (P50,000.00) and/or imprisonment of six (6) months.

SECTION 13. Legal Representation of Petitioners for Protection Order. – If the woman or her child requests in the applications for a protection order for the appointment of counsel because of lack of economic means to hire a counsel de parte, the court shall immediately direct the Public Attorney's Office (PAO) to represent the petitioner in the hearing on the application. If the PAO determines that the applicant can afford to hire the services of a counsel de parte, it shall facilitate the legal representation of the petitioner by a counsel de parte. The lack of access to family or conjugal resources by the applicant, such as when the same are controlled by the perpetrator, shall qualify the petitioner to legal representation by the PAO. However, a private counsel offering free legal service is not barred from representing the petitioner.

SECTION 14. Barangay Protection Orders (BPOs); Who May Issue and How. – Barangay Protection Orders (BPOs) refer to the protection order issued by the Punong Barangay ordering the perpetrator to desist from committing acts under Section 5 (a) and (b) of this Act. A Punong Barangay who receives applications for a BPO shall issue the protection order to the applicant on the date of filing after ex parte determination of the basis of the application. If the Punong Barangay is unavailable to act on the application for a BPO, the application shall be acted upon by any available Barangay Kagawad. If the BPO is issued by a Barangay Kagawad the order must be accompanied by an attestation by the Barangay Kagawad that the Punong Barangay was unavailable at the time for the issuance of the BPO. BPOs shall be effective for fifteen (15) days. Immediately after the issuance of an ex parte BPO, the Punong Barangay or Barangay Kagawad shall personally serve a copy of the same on the respondent, or direct any barangay official to effect its personal service.

The parties may be accompanied by a non-lawyer advocate in any proceeding before the Punong Barangay.

SECTION 15. Temporary Protection Orders. – Temporary Protection Orders (TPOs) refers to the protection order issued by the court on the date of filing of the application after ex parte determination that such order should be issued. A court may grant in a TPO any, some or all of the reliefs mentioned in this Act and shall be effective for thirty (30) days. The court shall schedule a hearing on the issuance of a PPO prior to or on the date of the expiration of the TPO. The court shall order the immediate personal service of the TPO on the respondent by the court sheriff who may obtain the assistance of law enforcement agents for the service. The TPO shall include notice of the date of the hearing on the merits of the issuance of a PPO.

SECTION 16. Permanent Protection Orders. — Permanent Protection Order (PPO) refers to protection order issued by the court after notice and hearing.

Respondents non-appearance despite proper notice, or his lack of a lawyer, or the non-availability of his lawyer shall not be a ground for rescheduling or postponing the hearing on the merits of the issuance of a PPO. If the respondents appears without counsel on the date of the hearing on the PPO, the court shall appoint a lawyer for the respondent and immediately proceed with the hearing. In case the respondent fails to appear despite proper notice, the court shall allow ex parte presentation of the evidence by the applicant and render judgment on the basis of the evidence presented. The court shall allow the introduction of any history of abusive conduct of a respondent even if the same was not directed against the applicant or the person for whom the applicant is made.

The court shall, to the extent possible, conduct the hearing on the merits of the issuance of a PPO in one (1) day. Where the court is unable to conduct the hearing within one (1) day and the TPO issued is due to expire, the court shall continuously extend or renew the TPO for a period of thirty (30) days at each particular time until final judgment is issued. The extended or renewed TPO may be modified by the court as may be necessary or applicable to address the needs of the applicant.

The court may grant any, some or all of the reliefs specified in Section 8 hereof in a PPO. A PPO shall be effective until revoked by a court upon application of the person in whose favor the order was issued. The court shall ensure immediate personal service of the PPO on respondent.

The court shall not deny the issuance of protection order on the basis of the lapse of time between the act of violence and the filing of the application.

Regardless of the conviction or acquittal of the respondent, the Court must determine whether or not the PPO shall become final. Even in a dismissal, a PPO shall be granted as long as there is no clear showing that the act from which the order might arise did not exist.

SECTION 17. Notice of Sanction in Protection Orders. — The following statement must be printed in bold-faced type or in capital letters on the protection order issued by the Punong Barangay or court:

"VIOLATION OF THIS ORDER IS PUNISHABLE BY LAW."

SECTION 18. Mandatory Period For Acting on Applications For Protection Orders – Failure to act on an application for a protection order within the reglementary period specified in the previous section without justifiable cause shall render the official or judge administratively liable.

SECTION 19. Legal Separation Cases. — In cases of legal separation, where violence as specified in this Act is alleged, Article 58 of the Family Code shall not apply. The court shall proceed on the main case and other incidents of the case as soon as possible. The hearing on any application for a protection order filed by the petitioner must be conducted within the mandatory period specified in this Act.

SECTION 20. Priority of Application for a Protection Order. — Ex parte and adversarial hearings to determine the basis of applications for a protection order under this Act shall have priority over all other proceedings. Barangay officials and the courts shall schedule and conduct hearings on applications for a protection order under this Act above all other business and, if necessary, suspend other proceedings in order to hear applications for a protection order.

SECTION 21. Violation of Protection Orders. — A complaint for a violation of a BPO issued under this Act must be filed directly with any municipal trial court, metropolitan trial court, or municipal circuit trial court that has territorial jurisdiction over the barangay that issued the BPO. Violation of a BPO shall be punishable by imprisonment of thirty (30) days without prejudice to any other criminal or civil action that the offended party may file for any of the acts committed.

A judgment of violation of a BPO may be appealed according to the Rules of Court. During trial and upon judgment, the trial court may motu proprio issue a protection order as it deems necessary without need of an application.

Violation of any provision of a TPO or PPO issued under this Act shall constitute contempt of court punishable under Rule 71 of the Rules of Court, without prejudice to any other criminal or civil action that the offended party may file for any of the acts committed.
SECTION 22. Applicability of Protection Orders to Criminal Cases. – The foregoing provisions on protection orders shall be applicable in impliedly instituted with the criminal actions involving violence against women and their children.

SECTION 23. Bond to Keep the Peace. – The Court may order any person against whom a protection order is issued to give a bond to keep the peace, to present two sufficient sureties who shall undertake that such person will not commit the violence sought to be prevented.

Should the respondent fail to give the bond as required, he shall be detained for a period which shall in no case exceed six (6) months, if he shall have been prosecuted for acts punishable under Section 5(a) to 5(f) and not exceeding thirty (30) days, if for acts punishable under Section 5(g) to 5(l).

The protection orders referred to in this section are the TPOs and the PPOs issued only by the courts.

SECTION 24. Prescriptive Period. – Acts falling under Sections 5(a) to 5(f) shall prescribe in twenty (20) years. Acts falling under Sections 5(g) to 5(l) shall prescribe in ten (10) years.

2. The implementation, monitoring and execution of the measures contained in the PNCVD compete to the body of the public administration responsible for the area of citizenship and gender equality.

Article 4a
Retrospective analysis of homicide situations in domestic violence
1. The Public administration services with intervention in the protection of victims of domestic violence carry out a retrospective analysis of the situations of homicide occurring in the context of domestic violence and which have already been the subject of judicial decision, by trial or archived, in order to draw conclusions that would allow the implementation of new preventive methodologies at the level of the procedures.
2. For the purposes of the preceding paragraph, a retrospective analysis team of homicide in domestic violence consists of:
   a) A representative appointed by the Ministry of Justice;
   b) A representative appointed by the Ministry of Health;
   c) A representative appointed by the Ministry of Solidarity, Employment and Social security;
   (d) A representative of the General Secretariat Of the Ministry of Internal Affairs (Sgmai);
   (e) A representative of the public administration body responsible for the area of citizenship and gender equality;
   (f) A representative of the Public Prosecutor’s Office;
   (g) A representative of the territorially competent security force in the area where the crime has been committed.
3. In addition to the elements referred to in the preceding paragraph, one or more representatives of local entities, including civil society organisations, who have intervened in the case, may also be part of the team.
4. The analysis provided for in paragraph 1 shall consist solely of the analysis of the following elements:
   a) documentation contained in the judicial process;
   b) Technical documentation of the entities represented in the team;
   c) Statements provided by the technicians who accompanied the case;
   d) Other documentation of a technical nature deemed relevant.
5. For the purposes of this article, public or private entities with intervention in this field shall provide all documentation and provide other relevant information requested for that purpose.
6. Whenever justified, the retrospective domestic Violence Homicide Analysis Team produces recommendations with the objective of implementing new preventive methodologies at the level of procedures.
7. The elements of the retrospective Homicide Analysis team on domestic violence are subject to the duty of confidentiality.
8. The representatives of the entities that are part of the retrospective analysis team of homicide in domestic violence do not have, for the exercise of these functions, the right to receive any type of remuneration or allowance.
9. The procedure provided for in this article shall be regulated by a decree approved by the members of the government responsible for the areas of internal administration, Citizenship and gender equality, health, justice and social Security.

Changes:
Amended by article 2 of Law No. 129/2015-Diary of the Republic N.º 172/2015, Series I of 2015-09-03, in force from 2015-10-03

Chapter III
Principles

Article 5
Principle of equality
All victims, regardless of ancestry, nationality, social condition, gender, ethnicity, language, age, religion, disability, political or ideological convictions, sexual orientation, culture and educational level enjoy fundamental rights, which are inherent to the dignity of the human person, and are guaranteed equal opportunities for living without violence and preserving their physical and mental health.
Article 6
Principle of respect and recognition
1. The victim is assured, in all phases and instances of intervention, treatment with respect for his/her personal dignity.
2. The State shall ensure that the victims who are particularly vulnerable will have the possibility of benefiting from specific treatment, as adapted as possible to their situation.

Article 7
Principle of the respect for the victim’s will
The intervention is limited to the full respect of the victim’s will, without prejudice of other provisions applicable under criminal law and criminal procedural law.

Article 8
Principle of confidentiality
Without prejudice to the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, the services of technical support to the victim ensure the proper respect for their private life, guaranteeing the confidentiality of the information they provide.

Article 9
Principle of consent
1. Without prejudice for the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, any assistance to the victim should be preceded by the victim’s informed consent.
2. The intervention for specific support, under the terms of this law, to the young victims of domestic violence, aged 16 years or older, depends solely on his consent.
3. The intervention for specific support, under the terms of this law, to the child or young victim of domestic violence, under the age of 16 years, depends on the consent of the legal representative, or, in their absence, or if they are the offender, the entity designated by the law, combined with the consent of the child or youth aged 12 years or older.
4. The consent of the child or youth aged 12 to 16 years is sufficient to legitimize the intervention of specific support under this law, if circumstances prevent the reception, in good time, of a declaration with the consent of a legal representative, or in his absence, or if they are the offender, the entity designated by law.
5. The child or young person victim of domestic violence, under the age of 12, has the right to decide, according to his/her age and degree of maturity, on the specific support under this law.
6. The victim may, at any time, revoke freely his/her consent.
7. The provisions of this article shall not prejudice the urgency procedures laid down by articles 91 and 92 of the Protection Children and youth in danger law, approved by Law No. 147/99, of 1 September.

Article 10
Protection of the victim who lacks the ability to provide his/her consent
1. Outside the scope of the criminal procedure, any intervention to support the victim who lacks the ability to provide his/her consent may only be made for their direct benefit.
2. When, under the law, the adult suffers from mental disturbance, sickness or a similar reason, and lacks the ability to consent to an intervention, this intervention may not be carried out without the authorization of its representative, or, in its absence or if they are the offender, an authority, person or body designated under the law.
3. The victim concerned shall, to the extent of their ability, participate in the authorization procedure.

Article 11
Principle of information
The State shall ensure that the victim is provided with adequate information for the protection of their rights, in particular on support services and legal measures available, ensuring that it is provided with the information in good time and in the language that the victim understands.

Article 12
Principle of equitable access to healthcare
The state, considering health needs, ensures appropriate measures to ensure that the victim has equitable access to appropriate quality healthcare.

Article 13
Professional obligations and rules of conduct
Any technical assistance or support to the victim should be developed in compliance with professional standards and obligations, as well as the rules of conduct applicable to each specific case.

Chapter IV
Victim status

Section I

56. PUERTO RICO

Domestic Abuse Prevention and Intervention Act, 1989 (As amended) 137

To establish a body of measures addressed to prevent and fight domestic abuse in Puerto Rico; characterize the crimes of Abuse, Aggravated Abuse; Abuse Through Threat; Abuse Through Restriction of Liberty; and Conjugal Sexual Assault, and fix penalties; empower the Courts to issue Orders for Protection for the victims of domestic abuse and establish a speedy and expeditious procedure for the handling and adjudication of said orders; establish measures addressed to the prevention of domestic abuse and direct the Women’s Affairs Commission to divulge, and orient the community on the scope of this Act, and to appropriate funds.

STATEMENT OF MOTIVES

Domestic abuse is a type of antisocial behavior that is a serious problem in Puerto Rican families. It is the physical and emotional mistreatment which a person suffers at the hands of a spouse or former spouse, or at the hands of a person with whom there has been an intimate relationship. Although men as well as Women may be victims of conjugal abuse, studies show that Women are usually the victims of the aggressive and violent conduct that we call conjugal abuse. The National Crime Survey Bureau of Justice Statistics conducted a study from 1978 to 1982 and found that around 2.1 million women in the United States were victims of conjugal abuse at least once in an average period of twelve (12) months. (Special Report of August 1986, pages 1-5.) The investigators figure that 60% of all married women in Puerto Rico are victims of conjugal abuse. Although the great majority of the incidents of domestic abuse are not reported to the law enforcement agencies, police statistics in Puerto Rico reveal an alarming trend. In 1983, eighty one percent (81%) of the murders or homicides of women were perpetrated by a family member or friend, which dropped to 58% in 1984, but in 1985, it rose to 64%. The police do not

Domestic violence is one of the most serious and complex problems in our society. Domestic violence lacerates the integrity and dignity of all victims, regardless of the sex, civil status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or immigrant status of the persons involved in the relationship. Upon developing the public policy on this matter, we must aspire to overcome the difficulties that domestic violence presents to every victim, especially to women and children, when preserving their physical and emotional integrity, assuring their safety, and saving their lives.

Domestic violence is one of the clearest manifestations of the effects inequality has on relationships between men and women. The inequality that causes domestic violence manifests itself in consensual intimate relationships, regardless of the sex, civil status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or the immigrant status of the persons involved in the relationship. Discriminatory ideas, attitudes, and conduct also permeate those social institutions called upon to resolve and prevent the problem of domestic violence and its consequences. The efforts of these institutions to identify, understand, and handle abuse have been limited, and are often inadequate.

The Government of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico reaffirms its constitutional commitment to protect the life, security, and dignity of men and women, regardless of sex, civil status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or immigrant status. It also

Be it enacted by the Legislature of Puerto Rico:

CHAPTER I. — GENERAL PROVISIONS

Section 1.1. — Title. (8 L.P.R.A. § 601 note)

This Act shall be known as the "Domestic Abuse Prevention and Intervention Act".

Section 1.2. — Public Policy. (8 L.P.R.A. § 601)

The Government of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico recognizes that domestic violence is one of the most serious and complex problems in our society. Domestic violence lacerates the integrity and dignity of all victims, regardless of the sex, civil status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or immigrant status of the persons involved in the relationship. Upon developing the public policy on this matter, we must aspire to overcome the difficulties that domestic violence presents to every victim, especially to women and children, when preserving their physical and emotional integrity, assuring their safety, and saving their lives.

Domestic violence is one of the clearest manifestations of the effects inequality has on relationships between men and women. The inequality that causes domestic violence manifests itself in consensual intimate relationships, regardless of the sex, civil status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or the immigrant status of the persons involved in the relationship. Discriminatory ideas, attitudes, and conduct also permeate those social institutions called upon to resolve and prevent the problem of domestic violence and its consequences. The efforts of these institutions to identify, understand, and handle abuse have been limited, and are often inadequate.

The Government of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico reaffirms its constitutional commitment to protect the life, security, and dignity of men and women, regardless of sex, civil status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or immigrant status. It also recognizes that domestic violence violates the integrity of a person, his/her family, and members thereof, and constitutes a serious threat to the stability and preservation of the civilized coexistence of our People.

As public policy, the Government of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico assertively repudiates domestic violence as it contravenes the values of peace, dignity, and respect that the People wish to keep for individuals, families, and the general community. This public policy promotes the development, establishment, and strengthening of effective measures to offer protection and assistance to victims, options for the rehabilitation of the offenders, and strategies for the prevention of domestic abuse.

Section 2.1. — Restraining orders. (B.P.R.A. § 621)

Any person who has been the victim of domestic abuse or conduct which constitutes said offense as classified in this Act or in the Penal Code of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico or in any other special law, within the context of an intimate relationship, as defined in subsection (m) of Section 1.3 of this Act, may resort to the court and request a restraining order motu proprio, through legal counsel, or through a law enforcement officer without the need of having made previous reports or complaints. When the court so deems or has issued a restraining or anti-stalking order, the court shall immediately order the defendant to surrender to the Puerto Rico Police for custody, any firearm belonging to the defendant for which a license to bear or own or carry firearms, or for target shooting or hunting or of any other kind, as the case may be. The order to surrender any firearm, as well as the suspension of any kind of firearm license, shall take effect compulsorily. Likewise, when such an order is issued by a court, the same shall have the effect of suspending the license to own or bear any firearm of any kind, such as, but not limited to, those used for target-shooting or hunting or otherwise, even when said firearm is part of the gear used by the accused in his/her profession. Said restriction shall apply at the very least for the same period of time the order is in effect. Any infringement of the terms of the restraining order which results in a conviction shall entail the permanent revocation of any kind of license to own a firearm which the defendant may hold, at which time, any firearms belonging to him/her shall be seized. The objective of this statute is to eliminate the possibility for the accused to be able to use any firearm to inflict bodily harm or to threaten or intimidate the petitioner or the members of his/her family unit.

(a) Adjudicate provisional custody of the petitioner’s minor [children].
(b) Suspend any filial relations with the minor children of the respondent party when the petitioner is sheltered. To make such a determination the court shall have to consider the following elements:
   1. The capacity of the shelter for providing security for the persons involved in the filial relations process.
   2. That the shelter possesses the resources needed to transport the minors to the place where the filial relations are to take place.
   3. The distance between the shelter and the place where the filial relations are to take place.
   4. The danger which the respondent party represents, if any, to those persons involved in the filial relations process: children of either sex, shelter personnel and the mother.
   5. The presence of a resource approved by the petitioner as intermediary in the filial relations process.
   6. That the respondent has not incurred conduct constituting domestic violence in the presence of the minors as established in Section 3 of this Act;
   7. That no protective order has been issued in favor of the minors against the respondent party.
   8. The duration of the pattern of domestic violence.
   9. The time transpired from the last contact with the minors and whoever is petitioning for filial relations.
   10. The quality of the relationship of the minors with the respondent.
   11. Whether the respondent party has failed to comply with any protective order.
   12. Whether the respondent party has incurred threatening conduct against the shelter personnel.
   13. Whether the respondent party has verbally, physically or emotionally attacked the minors.
   14. Whether the respondent party has affected the emotional health of the minors. Should any of the elements described in this subsection fail to concur, the court, looking after the welfare of the minor, shall make any other determination based on Sections 50, 51 and 52 of the Comprehensive Child Welfare and Protection Act [Current Act 246-2011, “Child Safety, Well-being, and Protection Act”].
(c) Order the respondent to leave the dwelling which he/she shares with the petitioner regardless of any right claimed thereon.
(d) Order the respondent to abstain from molesting, harassing, pursuing, intimidating, threatening or interfering in any way with the exercise of provisional custody over the minor children that have been adjudicated to one of them.
(e) Order the respondent to abstain from entering any place in which the petitioner is when, at the discretion of the court, said limitation is needed to prevent the respondent from molesting, intimidating, threatening or in any other way interfering with the petitioner or with the minor children whose provisional custody has been adjudicated to him/her.
(f) Order the respondent to pay support for the minor children when their custody has been awarded to the petitioner, or for the minors and to the petitioner, when there is a legal obligation to do so.
(g) Restrain the respondent from concealing or removing the minor [children] of the parties from the jurisdiction.
(h) Forbid the respondent from disposing in any way of [separate] property of the petitioner, or the property of the legal conjugal partnership, or community property, if any. Provided, That when the administration of a business, trade or industry is involved, the respondent must submit a monthly financial statement of the administrative matters to the court.

(i) Order whatever provisional measures are needed regarding the possession and use of the residence of the parties, and on the personal property listed and comprised in subsections (1), (2), (3), (4), (4)(a), (5), and (6) of Article 249 of the Code of Civil Procedure [32 L.P.R.A. § 1130], which establishes those properties that are exempted from attachment.

(j) Order the respondent to pay financial compensation from privative property for damages caused by conduct constituting domestic abuse. Said compensation can include, but shall not be limited to compensation for moving expenses, expenses for the repair of property, legal expenses, medical, psychiatric, psychological, counselling, guidance, lodging, housing and other similar expenses, without prejudice to other civil actions to which the petitioner is entitled. (l) Issue any order needed to enforce the purposes and public policy of this Act.

Section 2.1A. — Prohibition against the issuance of mutual restraining orders. (8 L.P.R.A. § 621a)

The court shall not issue mutual restraining orders to the parties, unless each of the parties:

(a) Has filed an independent petition requesting a protection order against the other party;

(b) has been notified of the petition filed by the other party;

(c) proves in an evidentiary hearing that the other party incurred conduct which constitutes domestic violence, and

(d) proves that the domestic violence did not occur within a self-defense context.

Section 2.2. — Jurisdiction. (8 L.P.R.A. § 622)

Any Judge of the Court of First Instance or a Municipal Judge, may issue an Order for Protection pursuant to this Act. Every Order for Protection may be reviewed by any Part of a higher court, and in those instances that it is pertinent, in the Family Relations Parts.

Section 2.3. — Procedure. (8 L.P.R.A. § 623)

Any person may request the civil remedies established in this Act for him/herself or on behalf on any other person when said person suffers from a mental or physical disability, in case of an emergency or when the person is unable to request said remedies personally.

An employer may request a protective order in favor of female or male employees or visitors and of any other person found at his/her workplace if one of his/her female or male employees is or has been the victims of domestic violence or of conduct constituting a crime as typified in this Act; and if the acts of conduct constituting domestic violence have occurred at his/her workplace.

Before initiating this procedure, the employer must give notice about his/her intention of requesting the protective order to the female or male employee who is or has been the victim of domestic violence or of conduct constituting a crime as typified in this Act.

The right to request the remedies herein established shall not be affected because the petitioning party has abandoned his/her residence to avoid domestic violence.

(a) Initiation of action. The procedure to obtain an order for protection can be initiated:

(1) By filing a verbal or written petition; or

(2) Within any case pending between the parties; or

(3) By request of the Prosecuting Attorney in a penal procedure, or as a condition for probation or parole.

To help those persons who are interested in obtaining an order for protection under this Act, the Court Administration shall have simple forms to request and further said order, available in the Office of the Clerk of the Courts of Puerto Rico and in the offices of the municipal judges. It shall also provide them with help and orientation to complete and present them.

Section 2.4. — Service. (8 L.P.R.A. § 624)

(a) Once a petition for an Order for Protection has been filed according to the provisions of this Act, the Court will issue a summons to the parties under admonishment of contempt, for an appearance within a term that shall not exceed five (5) days.

(b) The service of the summons and a copy of the petition, shall be done in accordance With the Rules of Civil Procedure of Puerto Rico and shall be served by a marshal of the Court or by any other Law Enforcement Officer as soon as possible, and shall have preference over any other type of summons, except those of a similar nature. The Court shall keep a file for each case, in which every summons issued under the law shall be registered.
(c) Nonappearance of any person duly summoned under the scope of this Act shall be punishable as contempt of the Court which issued the summons.

(d) When the petition is filed, service thereof shall be performed as established in the Rules of Civil Procedure of Puerto Rico.

(e) By request of the petitioner, the Court may direct that service of the summons be made by any person over 18 years of age who is not a party to the case.

Section 2.5. — Ex Parte Orders. (8 L.P.R.A. § 625)

Notwithstanding what is established in other legal provisions, the Court may issue an Order for Protection ex parte if it is determined that:

(a) Diligent attempts have been made to serve the respondent with a copy of the summons issued by the Court and of the petition that has been filed before the Court, which have been unsuccessful, or

(b) There is a probability that giving prior notice to the respondent will provoke the irreparable harm which the Order for Protection is intended to prevent, or

(c) When the petitioner shows that there is a substantial probability of immediate risk of abuse. Whenever the court issues an ex parte order for protection, it shall do so provisionally, it shall immediately serve the respondent with a copy thereof or in any other manner, and shall give the party an opportunity to object to it. To such effect, it shall docket a hearing to be conducted within twenty (20) days following the issue of said ex parte order, unless the respondent requests a postponement to such effect. During said hearing, the court may render the order ineffective, or extend its effects for the term it deems necessary.

Section 2.6. — Contents of the Order for Protection. (8 L.P.R.A. § 626)

(a) Every restraining order shall specifically state the determinations of the court, the remedies prescribed, and the term of its effectiveness.

(b) Every restraining order shall establish the date and time of issue and specifically notify all the parties that any violation thereof shall constitute contempt of court, which could result in imprisonment, a fine, or both.

(c) Any ex-parte restraining order shall include the date and time of issue, as well as the effective term thereof. It shall also indicate the date, time, and place that the hearing for the extension or annulment thereof shall be held and the grounds for issuing said ex-parte order.

(d) The Court shall issue the number of copies of the Restraining Order that the victim requests, up to a maximum of five (5) copies.

(e) Together with the restraining order, the Court shall include recommended guidelines on the precautionary measures to be taken by the victim of domestic violence to increase the effectiveness thereof. These guidelines shall include the following recommendations, among others:

1. The victim shall be advised to notify and furnish a copy of the Restraining Order, as well as a photograph of the aggressor or the person against whom the order is issued, to the following:
   a. the State and Municipal Police Stations closest to his/her home;
   b. the controlled-access entrances to the community or development where he/she lives, so that the aggressor or person against whom the order is issued may be identified;
   c. his/her closest neighbors;
   d. at his/her workplace, so that security personnel therein are aware of the order issued;
   e. at the children’s school, so that the father/mother against whom the order has been issued is not called for an appointment at the same time as the victim.

2. Furthermore, the petitioner shall be advised that, at all times, he/she must:
   a. keep a copy of the restraining order with him/her;
   b. immediately notify the Police of any violation to the restraining order;
   c. never allow the aggressor or person against whom the restraining order is issued into his/her home;
   d. never agree to meet with the aggressor or person against whom a restraining order has been issued, or any person that the victim knows has a connection with such aggressor, at any private or public place;
   e. never accept telephone calls or answer messages sent via instant messenger or social networks on the Internet or any other communications media sent by the aggressor or person against whom the restraining order is issued, or from any other person that the victim knows has a connection therewith.
   f. take precautions when walking outside and try never to be alone in public places or in parking lots when returning to his/her motor vehicle;
   g. if the victim sees the party or the person against whom the restraining order has been issued, the former shall go to the nearest police station or any other safe place and notify the Police.
Given that this is a voluntary provision, failure to comply with this measure shall not constitute a violation of any Act whatsoever or a transfer of responsibility to the victim. In addition to the provisions set forth herein, the Court may include any other deemed pertinent.

Section 2.7. — Notice to Parties and Law Enforcement Agencies. (8 L.P.R.A. § 627)
(a) A copy of every Order for Protection shall be filed in the Office of the Clerk of the Court that issues it. The Clerk of the Court shall provide a copy thereof by petition of the parties or of any interested person.
(b) Any order issued under this Act shall be served personally to the respondent, whether through a marshal of the Court, a Law Enforcement Officer, any person over 18 years of age who is not a party to the case, or according to the procedure established in the Rules of Civil Procedure.
(c) The Office of the Clerk of Court shall send copies of the orders issued under this Act to the Police branch in charge of keeping a record of protection orders thus issued. Likewise, the Office of the Clerk of Court shall send a copy of said orders to be entered in the Domestic Abuse and Stalking Restraining Orders Electronic File, in accordance with the procedures established in Act No. 420-2000, known as the ‘Restraining Orders Electronic File Act’. Pursuant to Act No. 420-2000, the Police shall include all the information contained in the restraining order, as well as any procedural incidents regarding the notice to the parties and agencies involved.
(d) The Police of Puerto Rico shall provide adequate protection to the party in whose behalf an order for protection is issued.
(e) The Office of the Secretary of the Court shall send to the Child Support Administration of the Department of the Family, copies of the protection orders providing for a minor’s support payment, in conformity with the provisions of subsection (e) of Section 2.1 of this Act.

Section 2.8. — Noncompliance with Orders for Protection. (8 L.P.R.A. § 628)
Any knowingly committed violation of an order for protection issued pursuant to this Act shall be punished as a felony in the third degree in its lesser half. Notwithstanding the provisions of Rule 11 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure, as amended, even though an order to those effects has not been issued, every law enforcement officer must make an arrest if presented with an order for protection issued pursuant to this Act or a similar Act against the person to be arrested, or if the officer determines that such an order exists after having communicated with the pertinent authorities and has reasonable grounds for believing that the provisions thereof have been violated.

CHAPTER III. — DELINQUENT CONDUCT; PENALTIES, AND OTHER MEASURES

Section 3.1. — Abuse. (8 L.P.R.A. § 631)
Any person who employs physical force or psychological abuse, intimidation, or persecution against his/her spouse, former spouse, or the person with whom he/she cohabits or has cohabited, the person with whom he/she shares a child in common, regardless of the sex, civil status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or the immigrant status of the persons involved in the relationship, in order to cause physical harm to the person, the property held in esteem by him/her, except that which is privately owned by the offender, or to another person, or to cause serious emotional harm, shall be guilty of a fourth-degree felony in the upper end of the range. The court may impose the penalty of restitution besides the established penalty of imprisonment.

Section 3.2. — Aggravated Abuse. (8 L.P.R.A. § 632)
The penalty corresponding to a third-degree felony in the lower end of the range shall be imposed if abuse, as classified in this Act, has been committed against the spouse, former spouse, or the person with whom he/she cohabits or has cohabited, or with whom he/she has or has previously had a consensual relationship, or with whom he/she shares a child in common, regardless of the sex, civil status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or the immigrant status of the persons involved in the relationship, upon the existence of one or more of the following circumstances:
(a) When entering the residence of the person or the place in which he/she is sheltered and the abuse is committed therein, in the case of spouses or cohabiters who are separated, or when there is a restraining order directing one of the persons to vacate the residence, regardless of the sex, civil status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or the immigrant status of the persons involved in the relationship; or
(b) when grave bodily harm is inflicted on the person; or
(c) when it is committed with a lethal weapon under circumstances that do not indicate the intention of killing or maiming; or
(d) when committed in the presence of minors; or
(e) when it is committed after an order for protection or resolution has been issued against the person charged, in aid of the victim of abuse;

(f) the person is induced, incited or forced to be drugged with controlled substances, or with any other substance or means that alters the will of the person, or to become intoxicated with alcoholic beverages; or

(g) when child abuse as defined in Act No. 177 of August 1, 2003 [Current Act 246-2011, "Child Safety, Well-being, and Protection Act"], is committed and simultaneously incurred.

(h) if the victim is forced or induced by means of physical force or psychological abuse to participate or become involved in unwanted sexual relations with third parties.

(i) When committed against a pregnant woman.

(j) When committed against a person under sixteen (16) years of age and the aggressor is eighteen (18) years of age or older. The court may impose the penalty of restitution besides the established penalty of imprisonment.

Section 3.3. — Abuse by Threat. (8 L.P.R.A. § 633)

Any person who threatens to cause harm to his/her spouse, former spouse, or the person with whom he/she cohabits or has cohabited, or with whom he/she has or has had a consensual relationship, or with whom he/she shares a child in common, regardless of the sex, civil status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or the immigrant status of the persons involved in the relationship, or to destroy property cherished by the victim, except that which is exclusively owned by the offender or another person, shall be guilty of a fourth-degree felony in the upper end of the range. The court may impose the penalty of restitution besides the established penalty of imprisonment.

Section 3.4. — Abuse by Restriction of freedom. (8 L.P.R.A. § 634)

Any person who uses violence or intimidation against his/her spouse, former spouse, or the person with whom he/she cohabits or has cohabited, or with whom he/she shares a child in common, regardless of the sex, civil status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or the immigrant status of the persons involved in the relationship, who uses the pretext of suffering from, or that one of the aforementioned persons suffers from a mental disease or defect to restrict the victim of liberty with his/her knowledge, shall be guilty of a third-degree felony in the lower end of the range. The court may impose the penalty of restitution besides the established penalty of imprisonment.

Section 3.5. — Conjugal Sexual assault. (8 L.P.R.A. § 635)

As set forth below imprisonment shall be imposed on any person that commits a nonconsensual sexual act against a current spouse or former spouse, or the person with whom he/she cohabits or has cohabited, or with whom he/she has or has had a consensual relationship, or with whom he/she shares a child in common, regardless of the sex, civil status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or the immigrant status of the persons involved in the relationship, or to destroy property cherished by the victim, except that which is exclusively owned by the offender or another person, shall be guilty of a fourth-degree felony in the upper end of the range. The court may impose the penalty of restitution besides the established penalty of imprisonment.

Section 3.6. — Deviation from Procedure. (8 L.P.R.A. § 636)

After trial and upon conviction, or if the accused pleads guilty to any of the offenses classified in this Act, the court may, motu proprio or at the request of the prosecutor or the defense, suspend all procedures and release the convict on probation; provided, that he/she enrolls in a diversion program for persons who exhibit abusive behavior in an intimate relationship, as defined in subsection (m) of Section 1.3 of this Act. Prior to making any determination to that respect, the Court shall hear the Prosecution.

The diversion alternative shall only be available under the following circumstances:
(a) If it involves a person who has not been previously convicted and imprisoned as the result of a final and binding judgment or is benefitting from a diversion program under this Act or a suspended sentence for committing offenses established in this Act or similar offenses established in the laws of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico or the United States against his/her spouse, former spouse, person with whom he/she cohabits or has cohabited, person with whom he/she has or has had a consensual relationship, or person with whom he/she shares a child in common, regardless of the sex, civil status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or the immigrant status of the persons involved in the relationship.
(b) If it is a person who has not violated an order for protection issued by any court pursuant to this Act or any other similar provision.
(c) An agreement is made between the Prosecuting Attorney's Office, the accused and the agency, body, public or private institution to which the accused shall be referred.
(d) If as part the agreement and the participation in the re-education program, the person renders a statement accepting the commission of the crime charged and acknowledging his/her behavior. The court shall take into consideration the opinion of the victim as to whether or not this benefit should be granted, and shall impose the terms and conditions it deems reasonable, as well as the duration of the probation requested, upon prior agreement with the entity that shall render the services, which term shall never be less than one (1) year nor more than three (3) years.

If the person benefitted by the probation established in this section fails to meet the conditions thereof, the court, after holding a hearing, may revoke the probation and pronounce judgment. If the person benefitted by the probation established in this section does not violate any of the conditions thereof, the court, after holding a hearing, may revoke the probation and pronounce judgment. If the person benefited by the probation established in this section does not violate any of the conditions thereof, the court, upon previous recommendation of the competent personnel in charge of the program to which the accused was referred in the exercise of its discretion, and after holding a hearing, may hand down a suspended imposition of sentence to him/her. A suspended imposition of sentence pursuant to this section shall be conducted without the pronouncing of judgment by the court, but the case file shall be kept in the court, confidentially, inaccessible to the public, and separate from other cases for the purpose of being used by the courts to determine, in subsequent proceedings, if the person qualifies for the benefits of this section, and to be considered a recidivist, if such person subsequently commits any of the offenses classified in this Act. In such cases, it shall be the responsibility of the prosecuting attorney to always make an allegation of recidivism. A suspended imposition of sentence shall not be considered a conviction for purposes of disqualification or incompetence imposed by law on convicts for the commission of a crime, and the exonerated person shall be entitled, after a suspended imposition of sentence, to have the Superintendent of the Puerto Rico Police Department return any file of fingerprints and photographs in the custody of such Department taken in connection with the violation of the crimes that caused charges to be filed. A suspended imposition of sentence under this section may only be granted once to any person.

Section 3.7. — Special Provisions on Bail, Parole, Permits to Prisoners to Leave Institutions and Others. (8 L.P.R.A. § 637)

A. Bail. — When a person is accused for violating the provisions of this Act, or when at the time of the alleged violation the person was subject to the terms of an Order for Protection issued pursuant to this Act or any other similar one, or who had previously been convicted of or had pleaded guilty for a violation of the provisions of this Act or a violation of any other similar legal provision, prior to setting the bail, in addition to the provisions of the Rules of Criminal Procedure, as amended, the court, on imposing the bail, shall take into consideration whether the person has a record of having violated an order of a court or government agency.

B. Conditions for Freedom on Bail. The court may impose on the accused conditions for bail and shall take into consideration if the person has a record of domestic violence or a record for the commission of violent acts and if the person represents a potential threat for the Victim of the crime or any other person. In addition to the conditions established in the Rules of Criminal Procedure, as amended, the court may impose the following conditions:
(1) Avoid all direct or indirect contact with the victim of the alleged acts that constitute the crimes typified in this Act, with the person's family, except the children procreated by the accused and the victim, unless the court believes that it is necessary in the best interests of the children, to prevent paternal or maternal-filial contact. In making the decision to regulate or forbid the accused to contact the children, the court shall take the following factors into consideration:
   (a) if the accused represents a danger for the well-being of the minors.
   (b) if the record of the accused shows a dangerous conduct that could be in detriment to the well-being of the minors.
   (c) if in the record of the accused there is evidence of physical and emotional abuse of the minors.
   (d) the opinion manifested by the minors When they have so requested it directly or through an adult or assistant professional; Provided, that the judge may hear the minors in private to protect their physical and/or emotional integrity.
(2) Avoid all contact with the persons that shelter the victim.
(3) Abandon the residence he shares with the victim of the alleged crime.
(4) Abstain from intimidating or pressuring the victim or the witnesses, personally, by telephone, or any other means or through the intervention of third parties, to prevent their testifying or to have them withdraw the criminal charges filed against him/her.
(5) Comply with the orders on custody, child support, paternal filial relationships, community property, and any other related orders, issued pursuant to this Act or any other similar one.

C. Permits to Confined Persons to Leave the Institutions and Parole —

In addition to what is established in Act No. 116 of July 22, 1974 as amended, and any other Act or regulations to such effects, the Corrections Administrator or the Parole Board, on making determinations for the granting of permits to leave the penal institutions or the public or private treatment centers, or on granting Parole to confined persons convicted for a Violation of the provisions of this Act, shall take into consideration the following circumstances:
(1) If the person has a record of domestic Violence, or a record of commission of other violent acts, (2) If the person has a record of having violated orders of a court or a government agency,
(3) If the person represents a potential threat to any other person,
(4) The opinion of the injured party, or of the persons who testified in the case, and any other circumstance it deems pertinent.

D. Executive Mercy or Pardon —

On considering the petition for Executive Mercy or Pardon of a person convicted for any crime that constitutes domestic violence, the Parole Board shall notify the injured party and the persons who testified in the case, to give them the opportunity to be heard.

E. Prior to freeing any person under the provisions of this Section 3.7, the court, the Parole Board, the Corrections Administration and/ or the Executive shall notify the same to the victim or injured party with sufficient time so that such person can take the necessary measures to ensure his safety.

Section 3.8. — Arrest. (8 L.P.R.A. § 638)

Notwithstanding the provisions of Rule 11 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure, as amended every law enforcement officer shall make an arrest, even though there is no order to such effects, if he has grounds to believe that the person to be arrested has committed, even though not in his presence, or that is committing in his presence, a Violation to the criminal provisions of this Act.

Section 3.9. — Signing and Swearing of Charges. (8 L.P.R.A. § 639)

Notwithstanding the provisions of Rule 5 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure, as amended, the prosecuting attorneys and the members of the Puerto Rico Police shall sign and swear all charges for violation to the provisions of this Act when the acts that constitute the crime are known to them through information and belief. In no case in which the abovementioned circumstances concur, shall the person who is the victim of the alleged facts that constitute the crime be required to sign the accusation.

Section 3.10. — Assistance to the Victim of Abuse. (8 L.P.R.A. § 640)

Whenever a law enforcement officer intervenes with a person claiming to be a victim of abuse, regardless of his/her sex, civil status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or immigrant status, such officer shall take every measure he/she deems necessary to protect the victim from further abuse. Law enforcement officers shall take the following steps, among others:
(a) If the person indicates that he/she has suffered injuries, blows or wounds that require medical assistance, although not visible, he shall give the person the needed first aid treatment, shall volunteer to make arrangements for the person to receive adequate medical treatment and shall provide transportation to a medical services center where the person can be treated.
(b) If the person expresses concern for his/her safety, he/she shall make the arrangements needed to transport the person to a safe place.
(c) When the victim of Abuse requests it, the law enforcement officer shall protect him/her by accompanying and providing assistance at all times while he/she takes his/her personal belongings from his/ her residence or from any other place where the same may be.
(d) Advise the victim of abuse on the importance of preserving the evidence.
(e) Provide the victim with information as to her/his rights, and of the government and private services available for victims of Abuse, including, but not limited to the remedies provided under the Victims and Witnesses Protection and Assistance Act, number 77 of July 9, 1986, and Act No. 91 of July 13, 1988. He shall also give the victim a copy of the Guide for Victims of Domestic Abuse.

Section 3.11. — Preparing of Reports. (8 L.P.R.A. § 641)

Whenever a law enforcement officer intervenes in an incident of domestic abuse, a written report on the same shall be prepared. Said report shall contain the allegations of the persons involved and of the witnesses, the type of investigation conducted and how the incident was resolved. The law enforcement officer shall include any statement of the victim in said report, with regard to the frequency and severity of previous incidents of domestic abuse and on the number of times the person has resorted to the Police or any private or public entity or specific person to seek help. This report shall be prepared for every intervention even though no criminal charges are filed against the alleged aggressor. These reports shall be kept separate from reports or incidents of other nature. The Police Superintendent shall establish a system to compile information that allows that a copy to be kept of each intervention report in the police station where it was originated and that will expedite the centralized compiling thereof in the Statistics Division of the Puerto Rico Police. The Statistics Division of the Puerto Rico Police shall receive a monthly copy of every intervention report prepared pursuant to this section, shall compile the information contained therein, and shall prepare an annual public statistical report on the incidents of domestic abuse in Puerto Rico. A copy of this report shall be remitted to the Office of the Women's Advocate, as well as to the Legislature, which shall distribute it to all the offices of the different committees.

The Courts Administration shall provide information on the restraining orders requested and issued, to the Statistics Division of the Police as well as useful information, so that it the report may contain, among others, the following information:
1. Population group mostly affected by domestic abuse.
2. Ages of said groups, divided by number of incidences.
3. Number of persons who requested restraining order.
4. Number of persons who withdrew said request for restraining orders.
5. Number of persons who obtained restraining orders.
6. Number of persons who did not obtain restraining orders.
7. Number of situation in which dual or reciprocal restraining orders were issued.
8. Number of situations in which there are minors, and child support orders were issued. The Police Superintendent shall establish rules to guarantee confidentiality regarding the identity of the persons involved in incidents of domestic abuse.

Section 4.1. — Functions of the Women's Affairs Commission. (8 L.P.R.A. § 651)

The Women’s Advocate Office, created by Act No. 20 of April 11, 2001, and in harmony with the public policy enunciated in this Act, shall be responsible for, and in harmony with the public policy stated in this Act, shall be responsible for:

(b) Studying, investigating and publishing reports on the domestic abuse problem in Puerto Rico, its manifestations, scope, consequences and the options for confronting and eradicating it.
(c) Identifying groups and sectors in which domestic abuse is manifested, educating them and making them aware of the skills they need to combat it.
(d) Creating an awareness among assistance professionals regarding the needs of victims of abuse and their families.
(e) Developing strategies to encourage changes in the policies and procedures in government agencies in order to improve their response to the needs of the victims of abuse.
(f) Establishing and encouraging the establishment of programs of information, support and counseling services for abuse victims. (g) Encouraging the establishment of shelters for abuse victims.
(h) Encouraging programs of services for boys and girls who come from homes where there is abuse, in coordination with the Department of Social Services.
(i) Providing training and orientation services for assistance professionals on the treatment and counselling of abuse victims.
(j) Evaluating the progress in the implementation of this Act and submit annual reports to the Governor and the Legislature.
(k) Analyzing and carrying out studies on the needs for intervention, education and retraining programs for persons who engage in conduct that constitutes abuse, for their rehabilitation.
(l) Formulating guidelines on the minimum requirements that must be met by the deviation services contemplated by Section 3.6 of this Act, which must be taken into consideration by the courts in determining deviations.

Section 4.2. — Confidentiality of Communications. (8 L.P.R.A. § 652)
The Women's Advocate Office shall take steps to guarantee the confidentiality of the communications and information it receives from its clients during the course of rendering services to prevent domestic violence and intervene with its victims. All communications between the persons attended to in the Women's Advocate Office and its personnel shall be privileged and shall be protected by the confidentiality privilege established in the Rules of Evidence of Puerto Rico. Likewise, all communications between a victim of domestic violence and any other public entity or body, which renders services to victims of domestic abuse, shall enjoy the same privilege and confidentiality, in harmony with Rule 26-A of the Rules of Evidence of Puerto Rico and the Bill of Rights of Victims and Witnesses of Crime.

Section 4.3. — Substitute Address Register. (8 L.P.R.A. § 652a)

The Criminal Justice Information System shall incorporate the creation of a Substitute Address Register for Victims of Domestic Violence for the purpose of establishing strategies and protecting the victims, by enabling government agencies and instrumentalities to respond to requests for public records without disclosing the location or address of domestic violence victims so as to protect them from their aggressors. This substitute address shall be used as the home, work or school address, as the case may be, of the participant in the Register or his/her children, to receive mail as established by maximum size and weight, according to the regulations adopted to such purposes. The substitute address designated for a Register participant shall have no relation whatsoever with the actual home address of the domestic violence victim.

The organization of the Substitute Address Register for Victims of Domestic Violence shall provide this protection to any person residing in Puerto Rico regardless of his/her address of origin or immigrant status. Furthermore, such protection shall be likewise extended to any victim of domestic violence who has established his/her residency in Puerto Rico or who, for such reason, has moved to another jurisdiction. For purposes of this protection, the words ‘residence,’ ‘residential,’ and ‘resides’ are to be understood within their common and ordinary meaning. In addition to the substitute address, all other addresses of the participating victim shall be subject to confidentiality of communications established by this Act.”

Section 4.4. — Collaboration of Government Agencies. (8 L.P.R.A. § 653)

The departments, offices, bureaus, commissions, boards, administrations, councils, public corporations and their subsidiaries, and all other agencies and instrumentalities of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico are hereby authorized to provide to the Criminal Justice Information System, support services and resources as necessary to carry out and comply with the duties and functions assigned thereto by this Act. Furthermore, such government entities are hereby authorized to provide any necessary support to the Criminal Justice Information System. Such authority shall be exercised subject to the legal provisions that govern said public agencies.

CHAPTER V. — SUPPLEMENTARY PROVISIONS

Section 5.1. — Independence from Civil Actions. (8 L.P.R.A. § 661)

It shall not be required nor shall it be necessary for persons protected by this act to file criminal charges in order to request and that an Order for Protection be issued.
